It is possible that the surplus accumulations of the national treasury for the current year will reach the sum of $50,000,000, as the $35,000,000 figure has been passed with two months yet to be counted in.

REPORTS from many points in northern Ohio show that the temperature Sunday night fell below freezing and that fruit trees and early vegetables suffered much damage thereby. In central and northern New York a destructive frost is also reported.

THOMAS of poor Jews have fled from Kieff, European Russia, because of a report that an anti-semitic crusade is imminent. The richer Jews have left their houses and have sought refuge in the hotels. In order to allay the excitement, troops are patrolling the street.

ROY A. Wilson of Kearney has begun a movement for some experiments which will be watched with interest by bee men of the state. He has contracted for a car-load of honey bees which he expects to put on his alfalfa ranch to note the result of using alfalfa as a honey producing plant.

THE St. Louis Globe-Democrat observes that American farmers are much successful wheat growers that 50 per cent of the crop goes abroad. England alone paid $67,000,000 for American wheat in 1919. The present prospect is that our wheat harvest of 1920 will be a record breaker.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT was treated to a cowboy's breakfast at Hugo, Colo., Monday morning. A mess tent had been erected at the side of the track, and when the president's train arrived breakfast was ready. It was partaken of standing and then the president shook hands with his guests. The train pulled out amidst a chorus of cowboy yells.

THE Kohl Torpedo factory at Case avenue and Crane streets, Cleveland, Ohio, blew up shortly after noon Monday, resulting in the loss of several lives. A large number of persons are reported injured. The explosion was terrific and the factory was completely demolished. Several nearby buildings were also destroyed and windows broken out in the entire neighborhood.

THE grand commandery by the Knights Templar of California has decided that hereafter no wine shall be served at Knights Templar banquets. It is said that the grand lodge of Masons at its annual meeting next October will take the same decisive action and order that all banquets given under the auspices of any Masonic lodge of that state be strictly temperate.

A FEMINIST man has married several women without going through the formality of securing divorces or waiting for one to die before taking another. He is now up against it good and hard, and the law part of it is a mere matter of form, but when seven wives duly loaded with wrath get after a man he will find relief in the penitentiary.—Beatrice Sun.

THE Louisiana Purchase anniversary is much in evidence in the May Review of Reviews. The editor's interesting compilation of the salient facts in that "big-brother real estate deal" of Jefferson's part in the transaction, and of the Lewis and Clark expedition, and of the subsequent results of the purchase, opens the number. These articles are models of clearness in statement and accuracy in points of fact. They bring out, as has never before been done, the real importance of the expedition to the whole American people.

May day in Omaha, says the dispatches, might have been mistaken for the advent of the Lenten season from the amount of fasting that was done as a result of the restaurant workers' strike, which, in addition to that of the tannery, carpenter, leather workers, Union Pacific men and hotel carmen, wrote the menu of abstainers to about 2,500 or 3,000. The writers, cooks, restaurant hand- lers and helpers number between 700 and 800, the tannery, carpenter and leather workers, who went out, 500, 300 and 400, respectively, while the hotel carmen, who struck March 16, number about 300, and the Union Pacific shopmen, who turned out nearly a year ago, about 250 or 300. The total is less, however, than was feared for the 1st of May, the time set for the crisis.

THOSE BIDS.
Some of the tax payers of the city are wondering if politics enters into the distribution of all the offices and for money paid out by the council, or if the city officials are really running the affairs of the city on an economical basis as they would wish to have their own business conducted. If the members of the council are recognizing their own party people only, then it is high time that the city clerk disinterested parties; but if the democratic members of the council are really intending to conduct the affairs of the city in an honest business-like way, their actions last Friday evening are rather misleading.

At a meeting of the council on April 10, Councilman A. W. Clark introduced a motion before that body to make the Telegram the official paper for the coming year. The motion was seconded by Phillipps. Mr. Galley spoke frankly upon the subject, saying that he thought the printing should be left to bids from the different newspaper offices; that it was a matter of business for the city and that all the papers represented tax payers and were therefore entitled to recognition. The motion presented by Mr. Clark named no rate for which the printing should be done, and all supposed it to be at the full legal rate, although the Telegram had been receiving one-half the legal rate the past year for the work performed. Mr. Clark contended that the city should pay full legal rate for the printing, and that it was not customary for the city to do so in good form, and he thought it was not customary for the council to let the work to bids. Galley and Sheldon both said that the council were there to demand good service, that any of the printing offices were reliable, and Mr. Galley referred the council to the action of the board in years past when the republicans held the balance of vote, and when they had let the work to the lowest bidder. Galley offered an amendment to the resolution of Mr. Clark to offer the printing to the lowest bidder. The amendment carried, Galley, Sheldon and Groves voting for, Clark and Phillipps voting against.

The notice was legally published in the next two issues of the Telegram, and bids were filed by the Argus, Telegram and JOURNAL publishers, with the city clerk. At the meeting of the council last Friday evening, when the clerk announced that the bids had been filed with him, Mayor Becker asked what the wish of the council was. Phillipps made a motion to the effect that the bids be indefinitely laid upon the table without reading and that the Telegram be made the official paper and to give the city printing contracts to that paper. The motion was seconded by Clark. Galley offered an amendment by requesting that the bids be ordered read, and the amendment was lost. When the vote was cast the Telegram received the support of all the democrats, Clark, Groves, Geitson and Phillipps, while Galley and Sheldon voted against the motion.

The legal printing amounted to between $150 and $300 the past year. As Mr. Howard says in the last issue of the Telegram under an editorial entitled "Some Day," "The best public official is the one who best guards the interest of the people." It is a good motto to follow by all.

To be fair, boys; an open field without favor will injure no one.

NEWSPAPERS AND THE FARMERS.
An exchange very sensibly remarks that it is high time that newspapers look elsewhere than to farmers for subjects for jests and cartoons. In this country there are upward of 6,000,000 of farmers who own their own land, their homes, cattle, sheep and hogs and the aggregate of their wealth is greater than the combined richness of the steel trust, the Standard Oil company and of all the railroads of the United States. They live comfortably and they enjoy life, and they will compare most favorably with those in intelligence and in education. They are sensible and conservative. They believe in law and order. They select good men as candidates for office and usually elect such. All of their influence is cast for what is best in manhood and they are intensely patriotic. As a class, they are just, upright and honest. Newspapers which hold them up to ridicule belittle themselves when they do it. Farmers are readers of newspapers, and above any other class are educated to rely upon advertisements to tell them where to go and buy goods.

J. C. F. McKesson, of Emerald, Neb., who is a large grower of fruit was interviewed by the State Journal after the severe storm of last week to damage done and he gave his opinion as follows: "It looks as if considerable damage would be done," said Mr. McKesson. "I have just come in from observing the weather conditions. The ground is frozen and ice has formed a quarter of an inch in thickness. Not much corn has been planted but what little is in the ground is liable to rot with so much moisture. Where the wheat is not covered with snow, I fear some damage will result but this will not be serious. The apple crop will probably be seriously affected but cherries and peaches are more hardy and I look for less damage to those fruits. Strawberries were in blossom and considerable damage to them may result. If they are covered over with snow and all the snow is allowed to melt under cover less damage will result. The price of corn will probably go up because of the poor conditions and there being little planted to injure, the seed may not be so bad after all. I went out this morning to plant corn but the conditions were such that I attempted nothing. Very few farmers have any in the ground. This is the worst storm so late in the season that I remember. In 1873 thirty years ago we had a raging blizzard on April 14 to 16 when stock perished and there was some loss of life. Not since then has there been a severe snow later than this date. I guess this will set a record for Nebraska."

The Union Pacific is making special arrangements for the transportation of the forty-five Germans who are coming to this country next month to study the agricultural conditions scientifically. They land in New York May 2 and proceed directly to St. Louis as the guests of Adolphus Baugh. They will then proceed west, accompanied by a representative of the Agricultural department at Washington, Mr. Busch and others, taking in Kansas City, St. Joseph and Omaha. In the latter city they will make a special trip to the packing houses and stock yards and then go west on the Union Pacific, visiting all the best sugar factories in this section of the country. The party will include many of the most prominent figures of Germany. Their mission will be to study the method and conditions of American farming with a view of introducing some of them in their native country.

Those who are intending to prepare an exhibit for the Winter Corn Show in January, 1920, and who are not familiar with the manner in which the corn was judged at the last exhibit will be interested in knowing upon what basis the awards are made. Ten ears of corn constitute an exhibit. Any variety is eligible to entry provided a standard has been adopted for it by the Corn Improvers' Association. Varieties for which standards have already been adopted may be obtained from the secretary. Anyone wishing to enter a variety not in this list may have a standard set by sending five typical ears to the secretary not later than one week before the exhibit opens. Each exhibit is judged in accordance with the standard for the variety it represents. An exhibitor can enter only one exhibit of any variety. He therefore has only one chance at the premium money for each variety entered. There is no reason therefore why anyone having corn capable of scoring over seventy per cent should not draw some premium money. Let everyone prepare to raise the best corn his farm has ever produced to win premiums at the Nebraska Corn Show next January and to represent him and Nebraska at the St. Louis World's Fair next year. Remember this is the last chance to get ready for St. Louis. These suggestions are made by T. L. Lyon, secretary, Lincoln, Nebraska.

CHARLES M. HARVEY in World's Work says that the states and territories of the Louisiana purchase produced 254,000,000 bushels of wheat in 1909, valued at $122,000,000—more than half of the wheat crop of the whole United States; 1,013,000,000 bushels of corn, or 48 per cent of the country's production; 38 per cent of the country's oats. The wheat, corn, oats, rye, barley, cotton, hay and potatoes produced in this region in 1909 brought $755,000,000, and its farm animals were valued at $225,000,000, 38 per cent of those of the whole country.

SUNSET ON PIKE'S PEAK.
BY HARRY BARD FINCH.

A messenger-light on the mountain
Fell yesterday eve,
With the sun here his rainbows of beauty
That so mortal might grow;
Forgot were the cares of the morning,
And the standards of men
White miracle wrought of the sunset
Was 'o'er us again.

Then lashed was each fast-fading murmur
With the crimson delight
A burden of blessing was heaming
Upon the steep height.
Let me dwell near the mountain's glad highlands
That smile on earth's hills,
And lend me the sun of their graces
Dropped down upon the hills,
Pueblo, Colo.

Woman's Club.
Saturday afternoon the Woman's club held their last general meeting for the year at the home of the president, Mrs. L. Gerrard. The meeting was entirely of a business nature, to finish up the work for the year. There were a few changes made in the constitution and by-laws, principally in the enforcement of dues of the members.

The club tendered a vote of thanks to Mrs. Gerrard for her efficient work for the club during the past two years. She is the first president who has served two years, and although it has been two of the most trying in the history of the club, she leaves the same in excellent condition. Mrs. Gerrard served refreshments after the club work was concluded.

The musical department at their meeting last Tuesday, at the home of Miss Whitmoyer, elected the following officers for the coming year: Leader, Mrs. Garlow; assistant leader, Mrs. Geor; secretary, Mrs. McAllister; treasurer, Mrs. Heintz.

PERSONAL MENTION
Leopold Plath was erecting a new wind mill on Ger. Entennesser's farm the first of this week.
Ford Seefeld and Joe Wetland were taking in the sights about Columbus Saturday afternoon.
Frank Henderson was on the market with some fine pork Monday morning, as were some other farmers.

Wm. Slipple took a drive into the country Monday morning in the direction of Turnov, to give his driving team a little exercise.
Miss Lillie Keating closed her school in the Joe Barnes district last week. A program and refreshments were the principal features of the day.
Several large and small bands of cattle were being driven west and southward the last few days. We presume they were going to more lucrative grazing grounds.
Mrs. E. B. Reed went to Beatrice Monday morning to be present at the bedside of her sister Ellen, whom Dr. Johnson reported as being very low with pneumonia.
The report of the route for April is: Delivered letters 5,560; postal cards 1,006; papers 2,151; circulars 944; packages 30, total 9,991. Collected letters 2,257; postal cards 111; circulars 8,267; packages 253, total 10,572. Total delivered and collected 20,563. Stamps sold $75.65.
It is hard to tell the extent of the damage to the crops by last week's storm. The farmers think the oat fields will come out all right yet, but they look to see like Paddy's nickel, "seldom and far between," and we believe that unless the weather and conditions are very favorable indeed the oat crop will be very light and weedy. The other grain and tame grasses are not hurt. And as far as we can see and hear the fruit crop will not be a total failure. The farmers say that plowing is very heavy and does not go good since that snow, but they are after it good and lively.
