—The new compulsory education law will be tested in Lincoln. The Star says: "At least County Attorney Caldwell is preparing to test the law in a case recently called to his attention by Trust Officer Deavenport, in this particular instance the parents, although notified a number of times, have refused to send the children to school. Instead they have permitted the little ones to run at large. The old law which sought to enforce the attendance of children at school was thought to have been fatally defective, and no effort was made to enforce it. Now, however, there is new legislation on the subject."
—In the many years of Mr. Galley's residence in Columbus when he has been almost continually connected with the city government both as a councilman and as member of the school board, his honesty and uprightiness, his desire at all hazard to serve the people, both Democrats and Republicans alike who have elected him has been his prominent trait of character. The people of both parties recognize this by re-electing him year after year to these offices. Mr. Galley will continue to have the entire confidence of the public, notwithstanding all efforts of the Telegram to mislead the people.
—The following is the assignment of civil cases for the May, 1910, term of court, which is now in session: Robert Wagner vs. The City of Columbus; Albertina Kolm vs. J. C. —The Columbus dramatic club played "Comrades" to a large and appreciative audience in David City last Friday evening. There would have been a larger crowd to witness the play but for some G. A. E. event the same evening. Besides the fourteen in the company Mrs. L. W. Snow, Mrs. Carl Kramer and John Hoffman went down Friday and returned Saturday afternoon. All report a very pleasant time. They were entertained by the play by Miss Queen Snow to a chafing spread and a lunch was served by Mrs. Dr. Hewett Saturday just before the train left. The play, as a whole, went off better than it did here and financially was a success.
—The Platte County Signal records the death of another old settler in the county as follows: "The many friends and acquaintances of William E. Jones, in this vicinity will be shocked to learn of his death Tuesday morning at the home of his daughter, at Albion, where he was visiting. Until a little more than a year ago Mr. Jones and family were residents of Joliet township, where they had lived many years. He sold his farm there and bought a large farm near Wayne, Neb., where he has since lived. Mr. Jones, it will be remembered, died a few months since. Mr. Jones was in Platte County three or four weeks since and apparently was in his usual health. The remains were shipped to Wayne for burial."

—We respectfully submit the following to the attention of Brother Howard, and also to the fact that the state is run by republicans this year. After a lengthy list telling who were successful in securing different jobs from the state, the Lincoln Star says: "The contracts for the various small items were let, each to the lowest bidder. These included more than three hundred separate items, some exceedingly small, such as three pencils, a half dozen pens, etc. The aggregate amount of the estimated expenses for printing the house and senate journals, the reports of the various state departments, the session laws will exceed $12,000, but is estimated to be fully $2,000 lower than the same contracts were let for in other years."
—The Fremont Tribune remarks that "the power canal situation has lain dormant for a long period. It is high time something was done in that line and in harmony with this idea comes a rumor to the effect that there is a new situation which will soon develop something. A promoter who visited Omaha this week was informed upon what appeared to be high authority that a canal project is being discussed by a syndicate headed by Herman Koussin. It was said that the particular project that Mr. Koussin is behind is the one contemplating the use of the water of the Loup river, through what is known as the Columbus canal. This rumor may or may not prove true. It is at least scarce to revive hope that the entire scheme is not completely dead."
—County Sup't Leavy has just been notified of a new school law regarding the length of the term. It requires that all districts must hold school three months in a year. In order to get the state apportionment districts containing less than twenty pupils must hold school six months; between twenty and seventy-five pupils inclusive, nine months; and over seventy-five pupils nine months. This law will affect a great many schools in Platte county, compelling them to hold a longer term than heretofore. A number of schools in the county contributed to the fund by sending direct to the association.

Fiala, to secure payment of a bill of some sixty dollars due him for cigars sold to Fiala at all, but belonged to the Jetter Brewing Co. so Schostag had to put them back. Captain Bert Hardy of Hyannis, formerly of this county, goes to Rockford, Illinois, the latter part of this month to shoot a match with a man from Europe for $300 a side and gate receipts, and for the championship honors. A. B. Bowers will accompany him.—Schuyler Star.
