SATURDAY July 11, 1920, Pike's Peak was first sighted by Fremont.

JULY 24, Pioneers' day, is a public holiday in Utah. December 4 is observed in Georgia as Arbor day and is a legal holiday.

The merchants of Nebraska City have about concluded that their street fair this week will not be well attended by the farmers as they are unusually busy at this time. The date was too early.

The highest court in Germany has decided that a master has the right to box the ears of his servant girl if he so desires. What a roar there would be in the servant's hall if that was done in this country.

No matter by whom appointed whether by Cleveland, McKinley or Roosevelt, the guilty one connected with the postal irregularities of the government should be turned out of place and brought to a speedy reckoning.

The National Editorial Association meets in Omaha this week from Tuesday to Saturday. Newspaper publishers from all over the United States will be present and discuss ways and means of conducting the great American educator, the newspaper.

The American men-of-war's men won two firsts, a second and a third in the race against the boats of the German fleet at Kiel. The Americans had five boats entered in four events while the Germans had thirty-seven, and the American crews were not familiar with the course and had not specially trained for the occasion.

POSTMASTER GENERAL PAYNE has awarded the contract for printing the money order blanks of the government to Paul Herman of Rutherford, N. J. Mr. Herman was lowest of fourteen bidders and the award of the contract, which involves the payment of between $300,000 and $350,000 during the next fiscal year, will affect a saving of nearly $45,000 on the year's contract.

GOVERNOR MICKEL'S congratulatory message to Major Brad Slaughter at Manila, over the establishment of cable communication between the Philippines and the United States direct, was filed at 9:21 o'clock Saturday morning and was at once placed on the San Francisco wire as a "pink" or rush message. The answer was received sometime Saturday afternoon and was one of the first communications to complete the electrical circuit of the world.

The new steel bridge over the Elkhorn river at Norfolk which was only this spring erected by the Union Pacific railroad, now stands high and dry over a sandbar where the river ran when the dunes were smelt. The silted stream has done it all by switching several rods to the westward and making, by its pranks the construction of either an extension to this or the building of an entirely new bridge necessary. A score of brigades spent nearly 100 hours with "hipping" and pile driving in their efforts to hold the changing current within its former banks.

A LIFE prisoner in the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus, who has served twenty-three years in confinement, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, was given permission by the warden on Saturday to pass beyond the walls that he might see for the first time an electric car. Those of us who are in the enjoyment of freedom will find it a hard matter to realize the emotions which must have filled the prisoner's breast as he was confronted by this evidence of the world's advancement within the last quarter of a century. We little imagine how easily we may be left behind in these progressive times.

Among the illustrated articles in the July magazine, one of the most timely is the one on "Forest Fires in the United States," by H. M. Suter, in the Review of Reviews. This writer, who is an expert on forestry problems and the editor of Forestry and Irrigation, published at Washington, shows how some of the most disastrous forest fires in our history might have been prevented, and outlines the most feasible measures that should be embodied in the legislation of our states. The illustrations are from photographs of actual fire scenes and of devastated areas in various parts of the country.

MARVIN HALEY of Boone county, who celebrated New Year's day in 1893 by becoming a star boarder in the state penitentiary under sentence for life, will celebrate the Fourth of July by taking his departure from that hostelry under the "Fourth of July Pardon" act. His pardon has been recommended by Warden Bremer, who gives him such a certificate of good character as may become a convict, bearing chiefly upon the question of good conduct as a prisoner. He has been known as No. 1,331. The recommendation of the warden, which was made July 24, is endorsed by Chief Justice Sullivan.

The sweeping order of the board of fire and police in Omaha banishing women, music and slot machines from all saloons in the city is creating considerable consternation among the saloon men. The edict is now in effect and Chief of Police Donahue has instructed his men to personally notify every saloon keeper who has any of these attractions in connection with his place that they must be removed. The order is a sweeping one and means the removal of all musical instruments of whatever nature. There can be no pianos, no banjos, no slot machine instruments and no slot machine gambling devices.

"LET NO GUILTY MAN ESCAPE."
President Roosevelt is acting in the postal scandal just as the country had a right to expect that he would act. He is determined that a rigid investigation into all the reports of wrong-doing shall be made, and the guilty persons be promptly punished. The postal authorities have been urged to push the inquiry with the greatest possible speed. What-ever crookedness has existed or which now exists will be quickly exposed, and the offenders will be dealt with rigorously. Let the country rest easy on these points.

Moreover, the president is in thorough harmony with the heads of the postal department in this matter of bringing the guilty persons to justice. Postmaster General Payne is working in unity with the president in this affair. The stories that the postmaster general was indifferent in the matter of pushing the inquiry into the frauds, were got up by the democrats, and were circulated by the democratic newspapers. Their object is to discredit the administration if possible, for partisan reasons. They imagine that this will win votes for the democratic party next year.

But the democrats will soon learn that no party capital can be made out of the postal irregularities. The president is a good deal more anxious than the heads of the democratic newspapers are to have the investigation rigidly pursued and the offenders punished. He has more interest in the matter than they have. He will manage the affair with more intelligence and courage than any of the democratic editors would display in a like situation. Whatever wrong was done will be exposed, and the guilty persons will be promptly and effectively dealt with. The job will be done so well by the administration that none of the democratic papers will dare say a word about it in the campaign next year, for everything that could be said would be a tribute to the president and the postmaster general and would help to bring votes to the republican party.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The busy life of Pope Leo XIII is rapidly ebbing away. The latest official statement from the bedside of the pope was a statement from Dr. Lapponi to the effect that the distinguished patient would probably survive the night. This statement was made at 1:30 a. m. this Tuesday morning. Reports from the bedside earlier in the evening were to the effect that the pope, while still conscious, was gradually growing weaker and was being kept alive solely by artificial means, such as the administration of powerful stimulants. Joachim Vincent Raphael Lodovico Pecci was born March 2, 1810, at Carpineto. On both the paternal and maternal sides he was of noble birth, his father being Count Domenico Lodovico Pecci and his mother Anna Prosperi-Busi, of a noble house at Cori. Carpineto is a town of the ancient Volsci, near Seguinia, in central Italy. It is situated in a valley of the Lepine mountains, and in the days of the temporal power of the church was in one of the papal states. It is in a classic region, with memories of Cicero and Horace clinging to the surrounding hills.

STATISTICS showing the nationality of the population of Nebraska indicate that the larger per cent of the population of the state is composed of native Americans, but 40 per cent is composed of the foreign element. Germans are found generally in seventy-six counties, and constitute the largest number of persons of foreign birth. Scandinavians have settled quite extensively in Douglas, Phelps, Saunders, Polk, Lancaster, Burt and Howard counties, but their settlements are by no means confined to these sections; Irish in Douglas, Lancaster, Greeley, Platte, Otoe, Cass, Gage and Hall; Bohemians in Douglas, Saline, Saunders, Colfax, Butler, Knox and Fillmore; English in Douglas, Lancaster, Otoe, Cass and Gage; Canadians in Douglas, Lancaster, Dodge and Custer; Russians in Clay, Douglas, Adams, York, Hamilton and Lancaster; and Austrians in Douglas, Saunders, Butler, Platte, Colfax and Polk. Other countries represented are Wales, Belgium, Holland, Switzerland, Poland, Italy, France, China, etc.

From the office of the Commissioner of Labor at Lincoln comes the report that great need of harvest hands is felt all over the South Platte country in Nebraska. Farmers are sending in requests for laborers to be sent to them, before the grain fields are in a condition of loss and waste. The Nebraska Farmer remarks: "There should be some system of furnishing needed help to every county in the state, where labor is demanded. There is each year a great lack of help to take care of the grain crops at harvest time. If arrangements are not made in advance, it is impossible to secure this help. The damage and loss that may occur from a few days' neglect would in many instances pay for the entire harvesting expense, properly managed and provided. The railroads, in conjunction with the State Labor Commissioner could arrange a system of harvest hand supply agency that would be as nearly effective in solving the harvest hand demand as could be arranged."

A NEW system of delivering certain orders to conductors and engineers on fast trains has recently been adopted by the Union Pacific and is now in practice on that system. It involves the use of what is known as the "19 train order book." By its use everything is made safer and handier for all concerned. The book is a light piece of wood bent in the form of a figure 9 with the tail piece straight. Using the straight end as a handle the station agent or operator holds up one of the wooden hoops as the train rushes by. The engineer standing on the step of his locomotive extends his arm so as to catch the hoop, and when he does so the man on the ground lets the conductor on the rear coach or way car get it in the same way. Little wire springs attached to the contrivance afford a place for inserting train orders.

The Lincoln Star says that "Nebraska has a prospect of cheaper illuminating oil in the very near future. The opening up of the oil fields and the establishment of a refinery by the Standard Oil company at Noodah, Kansas, between the hual three or four hundred miles and consequently will reduce the price, which is at present high, of this heavy transportation charge. Chief Oil Inspector Church received a telegram Tuesday morning announcing the shipment to Omaha, by the Standard Oil company, of four cars of oil from the Noodah refinery. The oil is warranted to be of a superior quality. The Noodah fields contain a number of quiet wells, but no spouters. All oil taken from the region must be pumped from the wells and there is indication of a never-failing source of supply."

The Louisville Courier Journal, which by the way should be considered as the very best democratic authority, has the following to say of the financial paragraph in the Iowa democratic state platform: "The Iowa democrats, while sensibly refusing to reaffirm the Kansas City platform, and while condemning certain points of the republican financial policy, if the republicans can be said to have such a policy, are not very happy when they come to formulating a financial policy of their own. The paragraph in their platform defining that policy is as muddy and meaningless as the modern fashion of platform making could require."

CREAM PRODUCKES
Are you milking cows and do you use a hand cream separator? If so, we want to buy your cream and will pay as much or more for it delivered at our creamery as you can realize by shipping elsewhere. You have the satisfaction of seeing it weighed and the sample taken. You take the same care back that you bring with you; no waiting on the train for cans to be returned. A shipper knows what this means. We not only want cream to churn but want perfectly sweet cream, and milk that we can sell for family use. If you do not have a separator let us sell you one. We handle only one kind—the DeLaval Baby—and back it in every way. Call at our creamery, Fitzpatrick's old hall near postoffice, and let us talk with you.

These outside of a palace may feel Shakespeare's sentiment, "There's such divinity doth hedge a king," but it is hardly possible to those inside. One of the Scotch commissioners to negotiate a union between Scotland and England, Sir John Clerk, could not have felt it during an official interview with Queen Anne, of whom he gives this realistic picture:
"Her majesty was laboring under a fit of the gout and in extreme pain and agony, and on this occasion everything about her was much in the same disorder as about the meanness of her subjects. Her face, which was red and spotted, was covered with some frightful by her negligent dress, and the foot affected was tied up with a pulvis and some nasty bandages.
"I was much affected at this sight, and the more when she had occasion to mention her people of Scotland, who she did frequently to the duke. What are you, poor, meanlike Mortal, thought I, who talks in the style of a Sovereign?
"Nature seems to be inverted when a poor, infirm woman becomes one of the rulers of the world, but as Tacitus observes it is not the first time that women have governed in Britain, and indeed they have sometimes done this to better purpose than the Men."

Six Follies of Science.
The six follies of science are: (1) the squaring of the circle, (2) perpetual motion, (3) the philosopher's stone, (4) the elixir of life, (5) magic and (6) astrology.

In all ages men of undoubted ability have toiled early and late to unravel the mysteries supposed to be connected with these fascinating problems. It is not always remembered that such intellectual giants as Bacon, Sir Robert Boyle and Sir Isaac Newton sought the philosopher's stone, which, strange to say, receives some countenance from the modern theory of alchemy. In the study of astrology Lilly was for a time even pensioned by parliament.

Most of these "follies" conferred indirect benefits upon science, for in seeking one thing their devotees discovered many another.
