A man was employed to watch the Loup bridge Saturday night but no damage came to it. Nance county seems to be having her share of trouble with bridges.
—The Fremont Herald makes the following suggestion which really is not a bad one: "A construction company has applied for permission to put in a wing dam in the Niobrara river near its mouth for the purpose of carrying its entire flow, if necessary, through an old channel around Niobrara island. —A letter from Lawrence McTugger to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. McTugger, written from Aden, Arabia, is very interesting. The letter is dated June 11. Lawrence is with the U. S. ship Raleigh. They were then being laid up for repairs at Aden, having broken down on their way to China. Lawrence writes about leaving France for Port Said, Egypt, and from there they passed through the Suez canal, from where they saw camels in their native desert land where sand was blowing and where they could see the great pyramids. There is space for three ships to pass in the canal and you can not travel faster than five miles an hour. All along the canal they heard hard talk to the natives who would swim out for it. They are half starved. They passed Jerusalem and down the Red Sea. The boat was intense there and they all slept out on deck every night. At Aden he says they have no schools to speak of, and the natives lay around the ship and dive after money thrown out for them, and which they always get. Lawrence says they may return to the states before long.
—Mrs. Frank Rorer died Monday night at 11 o'clock after an illness of about two weeks from typhoid fever. For several days before death came, friends despaired of her life and her sister, Mrs. Fillman, was called home from Bettie Creek, Michigan. Ella Lambach was born in Rapids, Niagara county, New York, October 30, 1864. Many years of her life have been spent in the west, most of the time with her sister, Mrs. Fillman. She was married January 31, 1892, to Mr. Frank Rorer of this city and has since been a resident here. Besides her husband she leaves one sister, Mrs. Emma Fillman, and two brothers, George Lambach of Rapids, New York, and Charles Lambach of Pine Run, Michigan, also Miss Emily Rorer her step-daughter. Mrs. Rorer was one of the most active members of the Congregational church, a Christian of unusual strength of character who never failed to do what she considered her duty. Always bright and cheerful in disposition, she carried sunshine wherever she went. Aside from church work Mrs. Rorer was active in Woman's club and social circles. Funeral services will be held this Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home, Rev. Munro officiating. The relatives have deepest sympathy in this, their time of sorrow.
—The city council met in adjourned session Tuesday, July 7, at which meeting the committee on streets and grades recommended the immediate construction of seven cement street crossings: Friedhof's to Murray's, Gray's to Pollock's, Gray's to Commercial Bank, First National Bank to U. P. R. R., Spicor's to Borovick's, Spicor's to Barney's, and from Lindell hotel to Broadfisher's. The recommendation was adopted. An ordinance appropriating money to defray the city's expenses for the current fiscal year was read the third time and passed unanimously. Adjournment was made to meet July 8 in special session. On Wednesday the bid of Jacob Giar to build cement street crossings for $70 each was accepted and a contract was ordered made with him to make seven crossings. Police Judge J. M. Curtis asked for space in the city clerk's office and was given the use of the room west of the fireman's in which to hold sessions of court. An ordinance providing for the building, repairing and maintaining of sidewalks and a penalty for the violation of the provisions of the same was read the third time and passed. The Columbus Telegram was allowed $101.46 for city printing. The Kansas Fidelity Co. was allowed $484.44 for grading in the east part of the city. Council then adjourned to meet Friday, July 10. At that meeting a resolution was passed instructing the clerk to give notice that a special meeting of the council will be held August 17 for the purpose of levying special tax upon certain lots to pay the expense of building sidewalks abutting them. The council will meet again Friday evening.

—A heavy hail and rain storm visited the section of country between Genoa and south to Osceola Sunday afternoon. Hans Elliott was over to his farm north of Stromsburg and says that before the hail there the grain was in perfect condition, many fields were being harvested and now the crop is from one-half to three-fourths ruined. The leaves on corn stalks were shredded. The hail came about 2 o'clock, lasting about fifteen minutes and in that short time great damage was done. The path of the storm was from three to five miles wide.
—Rev. Lucius writes to friends here from Lawrence, Mass., that they have arrived safely there on their trip. He says that through Iowa, Illinois and Indiana they found crops looking very much as in Nebraska with a little the best advantage they came to the drought region. Recent rains give the hope of late grain and grass but the usual hay crop must be short. Hay at Lawrence, Mass., is $25 per ton. Rev. Lucius says that New England moves slowly, but she does move—it seems that much of the movement is backward instead of forward. The cities and large villages are improving but the rural districts seem to be on the backward move.
—Miss Minnie Becker, only daughter of Mrs. J. P. Becker, was united in marriage to Prof. W. E. Weaver of Morrison, Illinois, at the home of the bride's mother Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. Rev. The bride wore white silk gown and carried a large bouquet of bride roses. The decorations in the home were pink and white. After the ceremony, an elaborate wedding breakfast was served and the couple left on an afternoon train for their future home in Morrison, Illinois. The groom was for several years a teacher in the Columbus schools and last year was elected superintendent of his boyhood home city schools and retains the same position the coming year. Miss Becker was born and raised in this city, graduating from the High school. She has been an active worker in the Presbyterian church and in the women's club. —This community was shocked Sunday morning to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. C. A. Newman at her home three miles east of town. Mrs. Newman has for a number of years not been in good health, but had never been unable to attend the necessary household duties. On Saturday she walked to a neighbor's for a short visit and was not taken ill until 9 and 10 o'clock. Physicians were called, but all they could do for her until 5 o'clock Sunday morning when her spirit passed from this world to the great beyond. Isabelle Brindley was born March 18, 1860, near Genoa, her parents having been among the earliest settlers of this section. She was married to C. A. Newman June 27, 1878. Besides her husband, she leaves one son and daughter, Jesse and Miss Della, also an aged mother who has for many years made her home with the departed one. Besides these she leaves one sister, Mrs. Samuel Galley of Creighton, Nebraska, and four brothers, Charles, Hiram and George, all of this city, and Frank of Rochester, New York. The deceased possessed a most gentle, loving disposition and was always thoughtful of the happiness and comfort of those about her. Mrs. Newman was a member of the Methodist church and of the W. G. T. U. She was a woman much beloved by all who knew her, and those who were once her friends, were always her friends. Funeral services were held at the family residence east of town at 2 o'clock this Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Munro of the Congregational church, in the absence of Rev. Lucius, officiating, a choir from the Methodist church furnishing music. The relatives of the deceased have sincere sympathy of their many friends in the dark hour of their affliction.

Special Announcement!

The Black Flag store will on Monday, July 27, begin a great mill-end sale. Several manufacturers of the east have sent us all of their mill-ends and odd lots too small for their agents to sell from, and they have selected Mr. Sam Richards, of North Platte, Neb., to take charge of these goods and sell them to the trade at any price, to get rid of them.

Mr. Richards will therefore be here and display these goods and put prices on them that will cause a great excitement among the people of Columbus and surrounding country.

The goods consist of Dry Goods, ladies' and gents' Furnishing Goods, men's, ladies' and children's Shoes, Clothing, Notions, etc.

Watch for big posters and price lists. We will also cut prices on every article in our own store during this great mill-end sale.
