—Prof. Floyd Gail, principal of the Silver Creek school, accompanied by three other teachers of that place, visited the Columbus schools on Friday.
—Mrs. Peter Klantchey of Duncan is in a very critical condition as a result of a stroke of paralysis last week. She is an old settler and nearly 70 years old.
—The High school and business college foot ball teams played a practice game Saturday. The result was a score of 29 to 0 in favor of the High school.
—Carpenters Union No. 1501. Regular meetings every Saturday night. Visiting brothers invited. E. J. Scott, president; Chas. Wurdeman, financial secretary.
—The Grand Island and Columbus High school foot ball game which was to have been played next Saturday in Grand Island has been called off by the boys of that town.
—Word has been received here announcing the death last Wednesday of Mrs. A. H. Ives formerly of Columbus, later of Carlson, Iowa. She was 64 years old at the time of her death.

—Marriage licenses were issued during the past week to the following named parties: A. G. Layton and Lottie R. Pace, both of Humphrey; B. Mitta and Julia Bernick both of Columbus.
—Charles Dock moved into his new home last week which he recently purchased from R. E. Jones, and Homer Robinson who occupied the premises has moved to the residence of Dr. Hansen.
—Rev. Lane has made arrangements to preach every other Sunday afternoon in the Richmond Methodist church, during the winter months. He will deliver his first sermon there next Sunday.
—Wm. Snyder lost a valuable Jersey milch cow Saturday. She became entangled in a rope with the result of a broken leg, which injured her so badly that they were compelled to shoot her.
—The first issue of the Silver Creek Sand, edited by D. F. Davis, reached our table today. It is a creditable, new little paper published in book form and will no doubt meet the approval of its patrons.

—The Woman's Home Companion for November is, as usual, full of good things. Beautifully illustrated, with charming stories, it is always welcomed in the home. You can procure one from any news dealer for 10c.
—The Gray Mercantile Co. on November 1st will discontinue the credit business and sell only for cash. Read their advertisement this week where they will show you by comparison the saving in paying cash over the old credit way of doing business.
—Willie, the eleven weeks old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Warnick, died last Tuesday from catarrh. The funeral service was held Wednesday afternoon in the United Brethren church, Rev. Lohr officiating, and the remains were laid to rest in the Columbus cemetery.
—Homer Robinson of this city has purchased the hardware and furniture store of Olson & Ekman of Newman Grove, and as he is a man of good business judgment and a hustler, will no doubt do well there. His many friends here will wish him abundant success.

—Mike Savage has moved to his recently purchased home, the former property of Mrs. J. D. Brewer. Mr. Robertson of Humphrey moved his family here Monday and will occupy the residence vacated by Mr. Savage. Mr. Robertson travels for the J. I. C. company.
—The ladies of the musical department of the Woman's club, upon invitation, spent last Tuesday afternoon at the country residence of Mrs. Heintz, northeast of town. Social games helped to pass the time, and before the participants returned to the city, refreshments were served.
—Seven young boys giving their average age as about 13 years, were taken off one of the passenger trains Thursday night and lodged in jail. They were riding sides and were from somewhere running away from their homes which they claimed were in Omaha. The police held them here, but as no inquiry was received in regard to them and no complaint filed, the officers released them Saturday morning. Before leaving the boys tried to escape by tearing down the chimney at the jail, causing an added expense to the city. The police say they were a tough looking lot.

—Alma Miller, a former resident of this city, but for many years a constant visitor of South Omaha, was here the latter part of the week. He had been to Omaha, this country, where he made sales of several thousand sheep and a few hundred head of cattle.
—Judge Becker should receive the support of every voter in his home city. He has lived here since early childhood, has been a loyal, honest, enterprising citizen and this his home town, should show their appreciation of his standing in the community by giving him a unanimous vote.
—Sen. A. G. Wellenburger, of Lincoln, gave a temperance lecture Monday evening in the Congregational church, taking as the subject of his theme "The Devilish of Civilization." Mr. Wellenburger is an earnest worker in the cause and his lecture showed a deep study of the question.
—J. L. Sherrer and Ed. Leachman, republican candidates for sheriff and county auditor, respectively, were in the city Friday looking after their political interests in this part of the county. Both are worthy, competent men for the posts and no one will make a mistake by casting a vote for them.
—M. E. Dunning, who has purchased the Beacroft dry goods stock is an old settler of Polk county, a banker and merchant of Shelby, and has many acquaintances here among the old settlers. Mr. Dunning has taken immediate possession of the property. The Beacroft family expect to continue to make Columbus their home.
—A hope talent play will be given in about three weeks under the management of A. B. Tomson and for the benefit of the Columbus city library. Further arrangements of the plans will be given later. As the library is entirely for the use of the public, it is expected that the entertainment will be liberally patronized by the Columbus people.

—Five of the teachers from Onondela visited the Columbus schools Monday. This is the second time within one week that neighboring towns have sent their teachers to Columbus to visit our school system, the teachers from Silver Creek coming Friday. Those from Onondela were Superintendent Stothower, Mrs. Hanna, Mrs. Nixon, Miss West and Miss Joy.
—George Fairchild was in Lincoln Wednesday and Thursday of last week attending the grand lodge of Odd Fellows of the state of Nebraska. Mr. Fairchild was appointed grand herald, one of the twelve officers in the grand lodge. This is the third time an office has been held in the higher order by a Columbus man. There were about five hundred members from different parts of the state present.
—Grocers of the city are having a war between themselves, and from present indications the trouble may continue for some time. The cut in prices began over a week ago, and in last week's issue of THE JOURNAL, the Gray Mercantile Co. made the announcement that after November 1, their entire business would be conducted on a cash basis. It is not at all improbable that other stores in the city will soon follow the same system.
—We have a few copies of the city ordinances, bound in leather, that we will dispose of at a reasonable price. These books were printed in 1903 by THE JOURNAL, compiled by the late C. A. Woolley under the direction of the city council, and is the last printed work gotten out by the council. The book is valuable to any one in any way connected with the city government. We have but a limited number. See them at this office.

—The Genes Times says that Mrs. Hannah Westing, through her attorneys, Rose Bros. & Reed, has commenced an action in the district court against the village of Genes for $1,000, claiming physical injuries to that amount. The plaintiff alleges that she was injured by falling into a ditch on the streets of Genes late last fall, which had been excavated. It is understood that the board will employ an attorney and fight the case to a finish.
—Mrs. Martha S. Giesler, who gave a recital here Monday evening under the auspices of the High school athletic organizations, met with the favor of those who heard her. The faithfulness and devotion of the old black "mammy" of the south as a nurse was portrayed in a way to bring forth both the pathetic and the humorous side of negro life about the time of the civil war. Mrs. Giesler recited her own literary productions and the songs which she sang were of her own composition and writing.
—Mrs. Robert McCarty, living in the north part of the city, on Saturday morning last met with a peculiar accident. She left the house running into the street to attract the attention of the driver of a meat wagon to give him an order for the noonday meal, when she stepped into an unseen place in the ground, fell heavily, breaking the right arm just below the elbow. Dr. Martyn was called and refused the fracture, but it will be several weeks before she will be able to attend her household duties.

—Peter Schmidt, the miller of Shell creek, recently entertained from three to five hundred invited guests at his home Sunday. A great many leading merchants of the city, together with people from all over the county were present and enjoyed the pleasant gathering. Mrs. Schmidt prepared an elaborate spread for all present, tables being set on the lawn and in the house where meals were served during the afternoon and evening. Prominent men in the audience were called upon and responded with speeches. The occasion was a sort of celebration of the completion of extensive improvements which Mr. Schmidt has put in and around his mill.
—The following from the Lincoln Journal will be of interest to the Columbus people who were acquainted with Mr. Currie during his stay in this city. He was employed by Mr. Burdett for several months: "John Currie, who achieved more or less fame half a dozen years ago by starting a statue of Abraham Lincoln on the capital grounds, is visiting the city after an absence of five years. He is now a resident of Blair and has built up a good business and accumulated some property. For a time after leaving Lincoln he worked at the state penitentiary at Blair and getting a great deal of satisfaction. He was in and out of the penitentiary several times and is now president of the improvement club."

—Mrs. Anna Koval, wife of John Koval living one mile north of Duncan, died Saturday last after two weeks illness. The deceased was born in Poland forty-eight years ago, coming direct from there to Platte county twenty-three years ago. She had lived fifteen years at the time of her death, on the farm where she died. Mrs. Koval leaves, besides her husband, five sons and four daughters. Funeral services were held Monday morning in the Duncan Catholic church and interment made in the nearby cemetery.
—F. W. Onger of Chicago, district superintendent of the Postal Telegraph company, was in town Friday making arrangements to establish an office in this city. He will return in November, and expects to open their place here for business about December 15. He expects them to do business between Omaha and Denver, and will put the management of affairs here in hands of local people. The company conduct their business everywhere in an up-to-date way, furnishing their employees with uniforms at every station.

—Died, at her home eight miles northwest of this city, Mrs. Louise Heibel, wife of Robert Heibel, Monday morning at 1:30 o'clock, after an illness of 24 hours, with hemorrhage of the brain. The deceased was born in Oldenburg, Germany, 46 years ago, and came to America about 1872. She was married to Mr. Heibel in 1880. The husband, three sons and four daughters are left to mourn their loss of a loving wife and mother. Funeral services will be held this Wednesday morning in the Shell creek church at 10:30, Rev. Grassmohr officiating. Interment will be made in the German Lutheran cemetery.
—When the afternoon passenger was pulling into town from the east Monday, says the Genes Leader, Engineer Riley discovered an Indian boy lying on the culvert just below the school saloop. The boy was lying between the rail and the guard rail of the culvert and had not been awakened by the train he would not have been injured, but just as the pilot passed him he raised his head and the step on the engine struck him on the head knocking him off the culvert. But then the train backed down to pick up his remains, it had already picked itself up and was limping off toward the school buildings, causing the train for disturbing his slumbers.

—Henry Labber traded his entire stock of implements and baggage to Louis Lutjeharms for a 200-acre farm in Colfax county about eight miles north of Beatrice. First of the farm was taken over by Mr. Lutjeharms' father and is in one of the best farming communities in this part of the state. Mr. Labber gives immediate possession of his store but will remain in the city until next spring at least before moving to the farm which he expects to make his home. Mr. Lutjeharms needs no introduction to this community having lived in the city and in Colfax county many years and his good business principles are well known to those who have had dealings with him. Mr. Labber retires from business with the best wishes of his many patrons.

—At the grand lodge meeting of the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs held in Lincoln last week the following officers were elected. For the Odd Fellows: F. H. Ellis of Laurel grand master; F. B. Carlock of Grand, grand warden; I. P. Gage of Fremont, grand secretary; F. P. Bryant of Omaha, grand treasurer; O. O. Snyder, representative. The Rebekahs elected Mrs. Livingston of Fremont, president; Mrs. Carlock of Grand, vice president; Miss Lydia Sutherland of Omaha, grand warden. The memorial address was read by Past Grand Master C. A. Patterson of Omaha. In speaking of the oldest Odd Fellow Mr. Patterson said: "Henry J. Hudson was the oldest Odd Fellow and received his first impressions in Manchester unity, London, England, at the age of 18 years. He came to Nebraska in 1857 and located at Columbus. He was received in the American Independent Order of Odd Fellows in 1874 and became a member of the grand lodge in 1877. He was a christian gentleman and much tribute was paid to his memory as a man. His fellow townsmen spoke of him as a man 'active in motion, progressive in spirit, ambitious, religious and generous.' He was appointed postmaster at Columbus and served his fellow townsmen in a most satisfactory manner."

—Lawrence McTaggart writes from Chefoo, China, to his parents here, of his navy life, parts of which we quote, as we know his Columbus friends will be interested in his experiences. The letter is dated Sept. 12: "There is a big fleet here under 'Fighting' Bob Evans, as he is called. We have gunnery practice every day in base ball games and boat races. Today the 'Winnipeg' raced with the 'Kentucky', the former winning the purse. We have just come in from target practice, which we have every six months. We also had practice in rescuing a man overboard. They time us in seeing how quick we can lower a boat and rescue the man. The weather here is something like the states in the fall—hot in day time and chilly at night. We use Mexican money here, and a dollar is worth about 46 cents in our money. No wonder a Chinaman who goes to America can come back rich. We don't see any horses to speak of, the people do the heavy work themselves. They have a rig that they call a 'rigshaw' and they will all line up along the dock when we go on shore and try to get us to take a ride, all afternoon for 20 cents. You asked what we got to eat. Well, we have beans, eggs, ham, soup, ginger-bread, etc. They food is pretty good, especially when we are in port, but out at sea we get hard tack quite often. We can cook it up in our coffee and make a meal out of it. There is a big German battleship here today, and we are going to visit it. The Germans are all right with the bar, but that is something the Americans ships are against. If you are drunk or disorderly or take 'booze' on board you will be put in the jail for a month or two, so we have got to be careful. The ships have live bands, and we have music every evening." Lawrence wrote a letter from Yokohama, Japan, dated Sept. 21, saying they had a nice trip from Hong Kong, that they passed along the straits, or inland sea, and that the Pacific ocean was peaceful and calm.

—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Matson and F. K. Strother of Columbus were in Monroe Wednesday visiting relatives. Charles Kelley bought the gas plant this week and is having it hauled and put in condition for use. The tanks have been cleaned and pipes are being taken up and relaid. Poles have been distributed for a new telephone line northeast of town. This is the line that is to connect with Platte Center, and when completed will add enough subscribers to make a list of one hundred patrons.
—Moore Republican.
