—Some one played a mean trick Thursday night by removing the back wheel from a bicycle belonging to Miss Laura Miner. The wheel had been left on the front porch and in the morning it was found several blocks from home and lying in a dilapidated condition in the street.
—Rev. and Mrs. A. L. Michel of Omaha, formerly of Columbus, visited friends here from Tuesday to Friday. Rev. Michel has retained his charge in Omaha three years and has been asked by his congregation to remain two years longer and help them in the building of a fine new edifice.

—THE JOURNAL goes to press Tuesday afternoon as usual and is therefore not able to give any election news for this issue. It was thought best to send the paper to readers at the regular time, as it would be impossible to procure any definite results of the county or state election before Wednesday evening.

—Among the new pupils enrolled in the business college are Miss Clara Ratterman, Miss Nora Lyons, B. J. Newton, W. Schupbach, all of Columbus, and Miss Gould of Ogallala.
—H. F. Nielsen left today with his family for Humphrey where he will visit his parents. Mr. Nielsen has not yet decided where he will locate or what line of business he will pursue, but has several openings in view. His Columbus acquaintances will wish him prosperity in his new home. He makes friends wherever he is known.
—The Epworth League of the M. E. church enjoyed an evening together at the home of Thomas Boyd Friday. About thirty-five young people were present and enjoyed Halloween games. A fortune teller furnished amusement and added to spooky condition of the surroundings by telling the past and future to the company.
—Charles Stillman left Friday for his home in Lead, South Dakota, after a few days visit with old acquaintances. Charles is doing with his new location and is pleased with his new location. He has been here to Omaha where he will purchase goods before returning home. Mr. Stillman, who has been visiting here several weeks will remain for a while.
—Ghordis Stall of Marano, Ill., who has been in this vicinity the past several days looking after his land interests, started for his home Thursday last. He tells us that the small grain on his Polk county farm was cut down and ruined by hail during the summer, but the corn crop is better than for years. He is of the opinion that Nebraska land is a good thing to hold fast to.
—E. C. Hahn received word Monday of the death Sunday of the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kehoe near Platte Center, relatives of Mrs. Hahn. The boy was about two years old and the doctors believe that death was caused from eating poisoned canned salmon. Two other children in the family are sick with the same trouble, but their condition is not considered dangerous.
—The second annual exhibition of the Columbus Poultry and Fat Stock Club will be held the first week in December in the Herchenbach building on Eleventh street. The growing interest in the raising of fine poultry in and around Columbus, and the enthusiasm of the exhibitors, leads the officers to believe they will have a splendid show this fall. A premium list is now being prepared.
—The Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church gave Rev. and Mrs. Halley a pleasant surprise at their home last Tuesday evening. The home was taken possession of while the pastor and his wife were away from home. A race in eating candy-biscuits was made, the one eating the greater number in three minutes receiving a prize of a red mitten. Miss N. Rose Rasmussen received the prize.
—At the meeting of the school board this Wednesday afternoon the matter of the school boys using tobacco will be considered. It is probable that action will be taken notifying the city officials, and merchants who sell cigars and tobacco that the city ordinance in regard to selling to minors must be enforced. Considerable complaint has been made from parents which has induced the board to take action.
—Bert Reynolds, one of the students at the business college is spending this week at his home in Petersburg. Mr. Reynolds is a brother of Miss Edith Reynolds who caused quite a sensation last week by her sudden disappearance from her school where she was teaching near that place, mention of which we have elsewhere in this issue. —We have a few copies of the city ordinance, bound in leather, that we will dispose of at a reasonable price. These books were printed in 1883 by THE JOURNAL, compiled by the late C. A. Woolsey and the directors of the city council and in the last printed work gotten out by the council. The book is valuable to any one in any way connected with the city government. We have but a limited number. See them at this office.
—Misses Martha Stauffer and Pauline Elias entertained the Senior class of the High school Saturday evening with a Halloween party at the home of Miss Stauffer. The house was decorated with bitternests, yellow bunting and lighted with jack-o'-lanterns. In every dark or unlighted corner a doll dressed to represent a witch or ghost was placed. The evening was spent in playing games, singing class songs and giving quotations of witticisms from Shakespeare.
—The Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church enjoyed a social time together Saturday evening at the home of Miss Helen Jerome. About thirty young people were present and indulged in many of the "witchy" games that are associated with Halloween. Miss Halley acted the part of a witch fortune teller and created much amusement by her predictions. The refreshments were in keeping with the old-time customs.
—The High school basket ball girls will play their first public game next Saturday evening in the Orphans orphan home with the Silver Creek High school girls. As the game has never before been played in the city before, considerable interest as to the merits has been displayed by many of the citizens and the girls are expecting liberal patronage at this initiatory game. During the evening two games will be played, one between the second and third teams of Columbus with a short intermission and then the match game between the first team and the one from Silver Creek. Those who have been practicing and who, with one or two exceptions, will play for Columbus are: Misses Brodbeck, Elliott, Evans, Gondering, Maco, Sawyer, Rasmussen, Stevens, Babcock, Boyd, Rieder, Douglas, Walker, Jessgi and Ross. The game is not hard to understand, every play can be seen and all spectators will be interested.

—The militia boys, eleven in number, who went from here as recruits to company K of the Second Regiment from Schuyler to Fort Riley, Kansas, returned last Wednesday well pleased with the trip. They spent ten days in camp and marched from eighteen to twenty-eight miles daily. Some complaint was made about the rations during the first of the encampment but later better accommodations were furnished. There were about 15,000 troops participated in the war maneuvers. It is expected that next year the First regiment will go to Riley.
—The Brock family are certainly a race of soldiers. In talking with J. R. Brock recently, he remarked that his grandfather had fought with Napoleon and participated in the battle of Waterloo. Mr. Brock himself was a soldier through the entire civil war, John Brock, jr., Charles Brock and Isaac Brock, all cousins to each other, were in the Philippine war, and a young grand son of J. R. Brock shows indications of the war spirit as he went with the militia boys from here to York this summer as their mascot, and his grandfather believes he will make a soldier some day.
—Three E. & M. officials from Lincoln were in town last Wednesday on a special trip of inspection. The gentlemen had a private engine to which was attached a small car to the front of the engine, made in such a way that the occupants in any direction about them, and can be operated either from this car or in the engine. This contrivance is said to be the only one of its kind in existence. The gentlemen who were here inspecting the company's business were E. Sigal superintendent, R. S. Shepard road master, and E. W. Carter train master.
—Considerable complaint is made by farmers along the river near Richland, in regard to hunters shooting their stock. It seems that William Gondering and Reich Brock have lost stock in this way, hunters, through their carelessness or wilfully shooting young stock. The Richland correspondent to the Schuyler Free Lance says: "Not long ago some young men from Columbus shot through several of the windows of the Hensley school house. It was found out who it was. There was virtually nothing done to the chap, but his dad only had to come out and put in new window glasses."
—Sneak thieves broke into the residence of Mrs. H. J. Hudson Wednesday night and stole a good broadcloth suit of men's clothes, a lady's fur collar and neck other things which pleased their fancy. The front door was un-locked and left unfastened. Mrs. Hudson stays nights with her daughter, Mrs. Johnson, and usually the boys sleep in her home, but on this particular night nobody was at the place. On the same night people passing the Pearson residence noticed that the front door was left open, and that strangers had been there, but as none of the family were in town it is not known what articles are missing.
—The remains of Mrs. J. V. Mulvenon of Omaha, were brought here Sunday and funeral services were held Monday, at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. F. Saffron. Mrs. Mulvenon, whose former name was Freda Saffron, was born in Des Moines, Iowa, in 1873, was married in 1898, and died in a hospital in Omaha last Saturday from jaundice. After an illness of but a few days. Her husband is in Wyoming and the news of his wife's death could not reach him in time for him to come to the funeral. Rev. Ulmer of the Baptist church conducted the services at the Saffron home Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock, after which the remains were laid to rest in the Columbus cemetery.
—Last week's issue of the Nebraska Farmer contained a picture on the first page of "Fame's Hair," the shorthorn bull belonging to C. K. Davies. After an explanation of the pedigree of this fine animal the Farmer says: "Mr. Davies had the courage to take this bull at $500 when he was only 14 months old. But the purchase has proven an excellent investment, as the young stock in the Davies herd will show. Particular interest attaches to Fame's Hair just from the fact that the first of his get will go into Mr. Davies' shorthorn sale at Columbus, Neb., on Nov. 17. There are few rivals of this bull in the west and perhaps none his equal in docility and good handling quality."
—John Bern, one of the old settlers of this section, died Monday evening of last week at his home eleven miles southwest of this city. Word of his death was not received here until too late for mention in last week's JOURNAL. Mr. Bern was born in Austria over 77 years ago, and came direct from there to Columbus in 1873. He moved to the country where he made his home until a few years ago when he moved to this city, returning again to his country home about two years ago. Mr. Bern leaves besides his wife, five sons and two daughters. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock in the Andrew Catholic church near his home, and interment made in the near-by cemetery.
—The village of Creston, this county, was the victim of a very disastrous fire early Sunday morning. The origin of the fire is not known. Editor C. E. Wagner of the Statesman, who sleeps in his office, was awakened about 2 o'clock by flames in his room and was compelled to jump out through a window to escape being burned. The alarm was then given but the fire had gained such headway that nothing could be done with the meager fire-fighting apparatus at hand and several buildings were consumed by the flames. The loss consists of the Creston Bank, Independent Telephone switchboard, a furniture store, Heenan's blacksmith shop, the Creston Statesman office and equipment and an implement store. Nothing was saved from any of the buildings with the exception of what was in the vault of the bank. The entire loss is not known but that experienced by the telephone company is estimated at about $150. The buildings were all frame and we understand belonged to Theodore Wolfe. New buildings will be built in their places as soon as possible. The telephone company has men at work putting in a new switchboard and it is hoped that a not more than four days service will be lost. C. E. Wagner left Monday for Omaha to make arrangements with a publishing house to do his printing. The other establishments will undoubtedly be replaced soon.
