CHAPTER IV.

When the curtain had fallen behind himself back upon his rude high seat and rested motionless among his cushions, his head hanging heavily upon while I question you."

Crouching on her bench near the door, Randalin watched him as a fly caught in a web watches the approaching spider. Her eyes followed his roving glance from spear to banner, from floor to ceiling, in terrible anticipation. It approached her: it turned aside; it passed above her, hesitated, sank, touched her! Ashen white, she staggered to her feet and faced him. "In the Troll's name, who are you?" he ejaculated. "How came you here?"

The pale lips moved, but no sound came from them. He made a petulant gesture toward the half-filled goblet. "Why do you stand there making mouths? Drink that and get a man's voice into your

"A man's voice!" The girl stared at him. "A man's voice?" Then, like to glance at her listener. lungfuls of fresh air, it entered into her that she was not really the naked fledgeling she felt herself. She was harmed?" in the toils, surely, but there was a shell around her. Glad to hide her face for a moment, she seized the swer. "They knocked me on the goblet and drained it slowly to the head with a spear-butt and left me took frowning measure of his guest, St. Mildred's; and they gave me food, from the toe of her spurred riding and I rode hither." boot to the top of the green cap which she had forgotten to remove. With on. The day will come! Did they her last swallow, he repeated his chal- further harm within the castle? Have

"Are you capable now of giving me any reason why I should not have you be safer if she could deny altogether flogged from the camp? Is it your the existence of a daughter of Frode?

'Are you listening?" He panned for the slim figure had suddenly become so statue-like that he suspected it of plotting another attack on the door. The boy answered very low, "Yes, Canute went on again: "I say that would wed you to my foster-brother

The King continued more gently:

tween me and Edmund of England.

For a time it looked as if "Fridt-of the Bold" did not know what to say. Silence filled the tent, while from outside leaked in the noise of the revel. Then, through that noise or above it there became audible the notes of far-away horns. Edric Jarl was fulfilling his pledge. An exclamation broke from the King's lips,

"Fridtjof the Bold" fell at his feet with clasped hands and supplicating sought passionately. "Let me go, and will never trouble you again. Let me

Canute of Denmark is not to blamed that he stamped with ex-

"By the head of Odin, it would serve you well did I take you at your word! It would serve you right did

I turn you out to starve. Were it not for your father's sake, and for the sake of my own honor, I vow I would!

Now hearken to this." Bending, he picked the boy up by his collar and shook him. I shall not let you go, and now or anger me further—but I will not say that, for it is your misfortune that makes you unruly, and you meet with the Jarl! Go! Do you will ask nothing further of you. I

"Let me go, Lord King," he go!—only let me go!"

hausted patience.

heed my orders?"

and crept away to his corner.

(To be continued.)

HAS SIMPLE FIRE ESCAPE.

Englishman's Invention Seems to Long-felt Want.

An Englishman has devised an genious traveling-bag fire escape. It can be made at any trunkmaker's for little more than an ordinary portmanteau of the same kind would cost.

Moreover, the fire-escape part of it does not interfere to any extent with its capacity for holding your dress suit.

boots, shirts or other things requisite for the traveler. In one small compartment will be found hundreds of ingenious little brake arrangemen portmanteau simply slips out of bed.

throws out the window, gets into it

Book He Was Quoting From.

Tyler once went to Fairchild, Cal.

Kenna, in that gentle manner for which he has always been famous,

suggested that he thought "counsel had failed utterly to discuss the es-

Tyler retorted in his gruffest tones:

"Mr. McKenna, what you don't know

The little gentleman retorted: "Yes

Judge Tyler, and that is the work from which you have been quoting all

Joke Was on Mrs. Manning

At a social gathering the other even ing of persons who were prominent during the first Cleveland administration somebody told of a dinner given by Daniel Manning, then secretary of the treasury. William L. Trenholm.

comptroller of the currency, was from his pocket a folded pocket handkerchief intending to wipe his glasses

On unfolding it he found that it was Chile Rich in Mineral Wealth.

According to the United States con-many rich, large mineral deposits of to name those of less importance. He about law-and what I don't know-sential features of the matter."

would fill a very large volume."

morning."-Rochester Herald.

by means of the brake.

States supreme court.

peated. The bitterness of failure had and Joseph McKenna, the latter now father had been wronged! She shook the court for two weary hours Mc-

I live, I will. And until then, since matter to her husband, who burst into Leaning at his case in the great gold, silver, copper, mercury, lead, chair, the young King regarded his sulphur, coal, salt and petroleum, not

"It is not possible that the son of further states that the only things

Frode the Fearless should be a cow- necessary to develop these vast de-low voice.

and he leaped up. At that moment,

What say you, Fridtiof the Bold?"

Lord King, I am listening.

fault with that also?"

face and shaking limbs.

his man." "Justice?" The King's mind came back to her slowly, as from an imhis advisers, the young king threw mense distance. "By Thor, I had forgotten! Yes, certainly: I will be kinglike once. Stand here before me,

She caught her breath rather sharply as she stepped forward. Would she be able to tell a straight story? "Tell me first how you are called?"

"I am called Fridtiof Frodesson." "Frode of Avalcomb! Now I know where I have heard that name: my father spoke it often, and always with great respect. It will go hard with me if I must return an unfavorable answer to his son. Tell me how his death was brought about."

Randalin thrust the sobs back from her throat; the tears back from her eyes. She began slowly: "Leofwinesson set upon him last night at the gate of the castle, and slew him. He had five-and-fifty men, and my father but twelve-besides me; he-wethroat, if you have anything to say to had just come in from hunting. Then he rede over my father's body into the castle." She stopped uncertainly

"Go on and tell me the rest. How comes it that you escaped un-

With Gram's experience to follow. it was not hard to frame that anfor dead. When I got my senses Leaning back in his seat, the king again, I found my way to the nuns of

"It is the Troll's luck! I-vet. go you women-kin?"

Randalin hesitated. Would it no opinion that because I choose to But no, that was not possible, in the happened that my mother died before

The King's hands clenched con-posed. Have no fear but that I will Upon burning ears the word "pa-

"Patience!" the child of Frode re-speaking. Out in the woods there lips. She put up her hand now to voice called after her-not until she behave foolishly before my friends, I | face of what Norman might reveal. am desirous to have tale-bearing boys | She began very, very carefully: "It

She managed to stammer out, "I en- | we came to Avalcomb; and my father treat you not to be angry, Lord King. | had but one daughter. She was called I did not understand six of the words | Randalin. A-her thrall-woman told you spoke—I beseech you to believe me that Leofwinesson pursued her to a chamber in the wall. And-and be-

"Did you think you had fallen into cause she could not escape from him a bear pit?" the king asked with a |-she-she threw herself from the faint smile, that sharpened swiftly to | window, and the stones below caused bitterness. "After all, it would mat- her death." ter little what anyone told of me. Without doubt your kin have already vulsively. "It is like them!" he muttaught you to call me thrall-bred and tered. "It has happened as I sup-

That from the warrier whose foot avenge your kinswoman. Those of was already planted on the neck of her own blood-ties could do no more. England! In her surprise, Randalin's | And Frode also. You shall see! Have eves met his squarely. 'By no means, patience, and you shall see!" King Canute; my father called you the highest-minded man in the tience" falls coldly. world."

flushed till he felt the burning, and swept over her and maddened her. averted his face to hide it. He said | Was she mistaken, then, about everyin a low voice, "Many things have thing? Could those trembling old been told of me that I count for women behind the broken wall read naught, but this—this has not been the world like witches? Was every- McKenna was the attorney for the said of me before. Tell me his

"He was called Frode, the Dane of off the King's hand and faced him Avalcomb." The red mouth trembled with blazing eyes, seeking for words a little. "He is dead now. He was that should bite like her thoughts. slain last night, by Norman Leof- Then she became conscious that a winesson, who is Edric Jarl's thane." | word would precipitate a flood of hys-As both horseman and sentinel had terical tears, to the eternal disgrace started at that name, so now the of her warrior kin. All that was left King straightened into alertness, for for her was to get away without getting everything else. "Leofwinesson? What know you of would be no one to see; and the him or his Jari? Where are they? grass would hide the quivering of her When saw you them?"

"Last night: when they lay drunk | hide it, and, struggling to her feet. in my father's castle at Avalcomb. began groping toward the door. It was spoken among them that they | She did not stop when Canute's would join you at sunset to-day-" Canute's hand shot out and gripped had reached the entrance, and the her arm and shook it. "You know rattle of crossing spears, without had this for certain? I will have your told her that her way was barred. tongue if you lie to me! You are Then she whirled back with a sharp sure that they intend coming—that it | cry. is not their intention to play me false and return to Edmund?"

"I know what I heard them say, He did not bid his guards kill her, Lord King. They said that Edric as she half expected. Instead, he Jarl had marched on to St. Alban's said patiently, "I foresaw that you to lie there over-night. Leofwines- would take it ill; there is the greatson stopped at Avalcomb because he est excuse for you. In your place I badly torn and dilapidated, so he wished to vent his spite upon my should be equally unruly. I will grant hastily thrust it out of sight. After sun is set."

Canute released her arm to reach all your stock has been cut off, I will a roar of laughter as he replied: for his goblet. He looked at her with be your guardian and you shall be "Good Lord! The butler told me Trena half-smile as he refilled his cup, my ward, as though you were my own holm had forgotten to bring a handmotioning toward the other flagon. brother. Come, sit here, and I will kerchief, so I sent him one of mine." "Fill up, and we will drink a toast to tell you." their loyalty and to your beard; they | She repulsed him sharply. "No. appear to be equally in need of en- no, you shall do nothing for me! I couragement." Draining it off, he sat am going back. I ask you to let me sul at Callao, Peru, that country has staring down into the dregs, twirling go." the stem thoughtfully between his

By the time she had shifted her ward thoughtfully. weight twice for each foot, the petitioner ventured to recall him. "It gives me some hope, to hear ard," he said at last; "but you are posits are capital and labor, which what you say about suspecting Edric over-peevish, boy. Listen now to the | would make the republic as renowned Jarl," she said timidly; "for that truth of the matter. If you were a for its mineral wealth as California,

> "He's employed by the railroad company now, I understand." "Yes; he has charge of the puzzle

"He makes out the time tables." Source of Knowledge.

Butinski-Are you aware of the fact aven't read the bargain advertiseSingovich—I've heard

Pa Had Boen There.

"It's the side I always name when I toes another man for the cigars," replied the old man.

highest price recorded in the nest thir-

Everyday Sort of Hero

f you were a maiden—if you were The Winston (N. C.) papers speak | Henry Luck, a roving, foreging sort of in high terms of the Memorial Day | a fellow, faithful and brave in battle, your sister, to tell it shortly-I could easily dispose of you in marriage. I oration delivered by the Hon. Frank C. Robbins of Lexington. He was one Rothgar Lodbroksson, and thus bring of six brothers who responded to the good to both of-Are you finding call for troops when North Carolina seceded. Only two returned—the Hon. But the lad stood before him like a stone. If a faint cry had come from him, it was not repeated; and there was nothing offensive about a hidden "But since you were so simple as to be born a boy, such good luck is not of the confidence of the state. Modto be expected. It is the best that I est, able, honorable, incorruptible. can do to offer you to become my Capt. Frank Robbins is the best type ward and follow me as my page, unof the North Carolina lawyer and cititil the sword's game has decided be-

In his speech at Lexington Capt. Robbins followed no backneved line. but filled his address with inspiring true to life hero, prefaced by an estimate of the address:

"The simple earnestness of his man- rove and forage, but his loyalty and ner, his clear, graphic statements of bravery no man might impeach." facts, the total absence of clap-trap from every utterance, together with his noble and impressive personality, compelled the admiration and approval of every one. It is impossible to give in a mere outline any adequate idea of his address, which dealt with dier and its inspiration. This he said. could best be illustrated by incidents rather than by description. "He told of a man in his company a fight, but frequently in danger of the guardhouse for absence from roll

M. W. Robbins, member of the Get- in the hour of battle. When Capt. tysburg commission, and the Hon. Robbins' command was ordered South Frank C. Robbins. Capt. "Mack" Rob- he called up Lunk and told him he bins has served in Congress and is the wanted him to have no more roving more widely known of the two broth- and foraging. Luck promised that he "That was the last he ever saw

Lusk. In a battle that followed soon after Capt. Robbins and many another fell in a desperate but successful charge. After his return to his command Capt. Robbins said the first greeting he got from Lieut, Vaughan was a message from Heary Luck. Tell and human stories. The Sentinel thus Capt. Robbins,' he said, 'that I did not gives an account of his story of a fail him.' Henry Luck had fallen in the front of that gallant charge. He was a nomed in his way: he loved

> It is stories like this that the youth of the country love to hear. Too many orators deal only with perfect heroes Boys and men are skentical of the tributes that deal only with men with there are few perfect men. Most of the heroes of war, like the heroes of peace, have their fallings. Give us you try it, you will look up some day stomach digestion has become fin- side of the general purpose cow. more of the heroes like Private Henry Lusk.-Raleigh (N. C.) News and Ob-

War Gods of Japan

Innumerable stories are being pub- | Japanese gossip. "While a student at you shall be my ward, whether you the Russian fleet at Port Arthur and moat of the palace premises early who has been proclaimed a "war god." every morning. It was not surpris-A man who knew him in childhood ing that, with his appetite whetted by says: "As a child the captain received such vigorous exercise, he very often with us the primary-school instruction emptied by himself the whole con are weak-spirited from hunger. Take at the Kwansho school. The boy is tents of a boiled rice cask holding in this bread now for your meal, and Pather of the man; and even in those it the portion of two or three people that bench vonder for your bed, and early days the boy Hirose distin- He used to say that he had been ad trouble me no more to-night. I must guished himself far above his school- mitted to the mayal academy not by fellows both in play and scholarship. the strength of his scholarship but by it was he who was the champion of virtue of his splendid physique, and the sport of sliding on the snow down he added that he failed to see any ter a moment the page gave it in a Ebi hill. He never had his face good in the practice of constantly porstained with a daub of ink when we ing over books with weakened "Yes, Lord King." he whispered, played the 'poetry cards' at his health." because he was never beaten even teacher in jujitsu, tells one Japanese the surface of the ground. Late in mesh is put in with the cement when once. Then whenever we boys had newspaper that this martial art was June or July, or when the new wood the floor is laid it will be all the betexercises in versification his perform- the captain's only source of amuse- has become somewhat hardened, a ter. ances nearly always won the best ment, and that he used to devote him- mound of earth is made about four or mark, and even when they failed, at self to the exercise with rare applica- five inches deep above the base of the rare intervals, to come to that level tion. For instance, when he returned shoots. In the fall the earth is re- to mend up the broken tools, harness. of excellence they never fell below home from a long cruise, the first the standard of second best. In short, thing he would do after landing on and planted at once in well prepared shines bright and other work presses. the swath in the ordinary way, the he was carried by an unconquerable shore was to come with his juitten soil, or they may be tied in bundles Head work about such things pays a leaves become dry and brittle and are lished in Japan about Capt. Hirose, the Kogyoku-sha he made it a rule to who died in an attempt to "bottle up" take a constitutional round the outer spirit in anything he took a hand in. suit to Kano's school and have as and treated as cutlings until the fol- fine interest. "Hirose took great pains in the many bouts with his instructor as pos- lowing spring. If care is used in retraining of his body," says this same sible.

They Killed the Snake

feet of fine, light rope used by mountaineers in the Swiss Alps for roping themselves together while crossing glaciers and climbing precipitous ice the Boer war, Henry W. Nevinson and ment of a Boer shell dropped on the slopes. There is also a particularly the late T. W. Maud, British war cor snake, cutting it clean in half-but respondent, were walking up the main, the rest is better told in Mr. Nevinand two pairs of steel snap hooks. If road of the village when they caught son's own words: "To my astonishan alarm of fire is given in a hotel in the dead of night and the flames cut off every means of communication with the outside the possessor of this a little less and was moving very wool. The skin was a silken umbrella swiftly. In a perfectly straight line icase. The body was carefully wound snaps one set of hooks round the bed leg or other substantial piece of furni- snake-like wriggling or other visible spiece of cotton projected from the paying for their feed, but keep them ture, and the other set to the sides of means of movement. Accustomed mouth—the place where the deadly in the belief that they are doing somethe portmanteau. This last he then Cumberland moors. Nevinson dashed something of a naturalist, I took the and many a man has been bankrupted himself, and then lowers himself as as quickly or as slowly as he pleases less, it still continued to move for-ward, as snakes will, no matter how death. I thought that at the end of desperately wounded, and the war cor- the campaign I would bring it home respondent sprang on its head and sand present it to the South Kensing-stamped it into the dust with his boot.

At the same time Maud, who had only just perceived the danger, stamped on its back. The long and deadly body thing that is happy, I think of the lit-Melvin Chapman, the well known lawyer and ex-mayor of Oakland, tells of the late Attorney George W. Tyler one of the justices of the United gave a few little jerks and then lay little boy (or little girl) who sat behind still. The snake was carefully lifted a wall with a piece of cotton in his on the end of a stick, carried back to thank and watched two experienced to argue a demurrer to a complaint. the cottage, where the two men lived, war correspondents pluckily dancing one false or a beast? Oh, how her plaintiff. After Tyler had talked to father had been wronged! She shook the court for two weary hours Me. ture examination.

During the siege of Ladysmith in. On the following morning a frag- want.

Men Who Give Millions

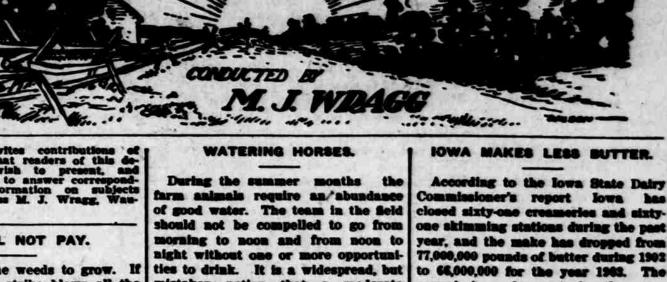

It has been nearly fifty years since I them, while the public manifested its Peabody startled the public by his sympathy in every possible manner. benefactions on both sides of the Atlantic, says the Baltimore American. departed from New York to Europe on Girard had been the pioneer in Amer- his annual vacation. He had just ican philanthropy, but Girard, fort given $5,000,000 for educational pursome reason, did not fascinate the poses. He has given in the last few public of his day, and it remained for years meanly $100,000,000 for similar the future to do full justice to his objects, but there was no stir on Satsplendid generosity. Peabody cap-tured the English-speaking people ats once, and, in accordance with popular in New York or Europe. A few newsforecast, his example was speedily fol-spaper men met him at the pier of the lowed by wealthy men, of whom Balti- steamer, just as they would meet any more has certainly had her share. In prominent citizen who was going England gigantic philanthropic enter- abroad, with the hope of securing prises have been provided for by some some information for their papers. and the production of corn is some exhibit will cover forty acres. Typical villages will be present, inhabited an absence, or does he lay back his grand and wonderfully useful institu- States from England there was a great tions attest the influence of the pio- turnout of the people and they apneer philanthropists. Many now liv- peared to regard the philanthropist invaded the Canadian northwest this try. The exhibit of fiber especially speak louder than words. In fact, no stir caused by Mr. Peabody's munifi- eration. The people have probably homesteaded a vast tract of the fertile Five hundred thousand dollars are set not a horse is treated so that he cent gifts, an impression which had as much admiration for Carnegie toscarcely faded a particle at his death. day as they had for Peabody in the His remains were brought to the Ches- '60s, but philanthropists, like great speake in the finest warship of the men, have become so common in this British navy, and a mighty procession | country that they have ceased to evoke | plenty of pure fresh water for the was marshaled by the state to receive demonstration.

The Land of Used-to-Be

There is no map that shows us Its hills laugh at the sky; No map—or we would journey there Where flowered valleys lie.
The little Land of Used-to-be—A fancied land, forsooth, Which has for mete and boundary The dim frontiers of youth. O. Httle Land of Used-to-be.

We need the pathway to that hand,
But seek it all in vain.
Successions the rain seems like a disast
That time upon the pane
And laiks us settly into sleep
Blant with a revery
Wherein our glad hearts that and helep
The Land of Unce-to-be.

O, little Land of Upud-to-be,
So far, and fake, and faket, Whence mellow many come murmers in accents old and quaint!
Your trees were all so bread and high
And predigal of shade Wherein the senttered senshine in m naics leaged and played.

IT WILL NOT PAY.

e do we must strike blows all It will not pay to wait of the moon" before doing our work here on earth. The moon is always old-old enough to look out for her self. We must do the same.

It will not pay to try to make a two-forty horse of a ten-minute colt. It isn't in the blood. It will not pay to work after the day hangs up its lantern, and gives ou a hint to do the same. It will not pay to keep the the boys and girls down between the tion by washing the grain from the of the dairy the lowa farmer had furrows from morning to night. If and find that you are alone.

It is not a paying thing to lose dollar's worth of life for the sake of saving ten cents' worth of money. It will not pay to let the bright boy leave home and keep the other one on have to hunt all around for chips to start the fire.

ust now, like most farmers, and has thing to do with. hardly time to bring up the cows, so he sends a boy and dog for them, who run them right home. This is fun for the dog and boy, but it is not good for the cows, nor profitable for Peter. Peter never did find that the farm pays, and we guess never will. He never Paris greens his potatoes until alf of the tops are eaten off.

PROPAGATING GOOSEBERRIES.

Jigoro Kano, who was Capt. Hirose's formation of strong new shoots near and a wooden floor is not. If wire moving shoots during the winter. propagation from the same plants may produce indefinitely from year to year.

> If a man wants to have a good market for any kind of live stock he must persuade all his neighbors to produce good stock. Buyers will then flock to that neighborhood for what they

NON-PAYING COWS.

The dairy commissioner of Minne sight of a black thing moving rapidly ment," he says, "I noticed that the sota says that 25 per cent of the cows across the road close in front of their snake's inside was pure white. I in that state do not pay for their feed feet. It was about three feet long or looked closer. It was white, cotton and that they should be sent to the butcher as soon as possible. The sad part of this is that the owners of it darted forward, without the usual round with black thread and a long those cows do not know that they are from boyhood to hunt adders on the Mangs ought to have been. Being thing to increase the profits. Many upon it with his stick and broke its creature up in my hand, lifted it with by the cows he has kept. The trouble back with a single blow. Neverthe- care, because I remembered that poi- has been that there was no way the owner could know what was being done by his cows till the Babcock test came into use. Since that time the great factor that prevents its use is negligence. It takes a great deal of idea into the heads of some men.

sugar which it contains. Dates, plantains, bananas, prunes, figs and grapes contain the most starch and sugar. and therefore are the most nutritious foods. Cherries, apples, currants, strawberries and grapes contain convaluable as blood purifiers.

ALFALFA, KAFIR CORN AND PROSPERITY.

fact that the prosperity of the past papers and magazines in them. If decade is contemporaneous with the there is one place more than another the pigs for sale, direct grades from recognition of alfalfa and Kafir corn that needs good, every day reading, such sires. in the agricultural economy of Kan- it's in the home where the parents sas, and no one can successfully deny and children do not get the benefits that these two crops have been big from the city-its libraries, public factors in its realization. By the fact reading rooms and different literature that Kafir corn can be successfully clubs. How much more do we know grown in all localities, of its being a of the world's events of to-day, and strong resistant to protracted heat just through the newspapers and and dryness, and its proved feeding magazines! qualities, close or practically equal to corn, it promises to become a principal resource in a region where live be made at the world's fair at St. stock is the predominating interest Louis from the Philippine Islands. The land of that region.

There is simply no excuse on any farm for not furnishing shade and poultry in summer.

help you and will help the fair, even in with such material. if you win little or nothing. Eggs are the foundation of the poulpoultry on the market.

A man who handles more horses in to make a wide trough will hold the by swinging a milking stool over the one way and another than any one sait far better, and the cows can get back of a defenseless cow. else I know of told me the other day it as they need it. The old way is that he never strikes a horse a blow wasteful, and waste means harder with a whip, and yet horses always work to get along on the farm, as it his master leaving him unhitched obey him. It is the man who is al- does everywhere. ways cutting and slashing with his whip who has ill tempered and dangerous borses.

Lime is cheap, is a good disinfectaut, is easily secured, and is one of the best purifiers, and should be used often as a wash for coops, perches, nest boxes and the sides of the houses mistaken notion that a moderate comm sult from allowing large amount of dairy industry in lows. water at a time to the heated animal. The beef industry of lows has been Water should be given frequently very profitable during the past few

FARM CRCHADD AND GARDEN

is best and is never too cold if in rea- farmers that it may have lowered the sonable amounts. Endeavor to get the dairy qualities of their cows. Per horse to drink before feeding at all haps the situation was correctly extimes; large amounts taken soon after pressed by an lowa creamery man feeding may induce colic and indiges- when he said that for the best interest stomach into the intestines before the given too much attention to the beef dehorn your calves but wait until they sary to wear a veil. It is easily made, are two years old knew what he was and it is foolhardy to try to get along talking about. Just wait until they without it. Take any kind of veiling commence using their horns, then de- with large meshes and sew to tae rim horn them and they are conquered. of an old straw hat; have it long I have tried having young calves de-horned several times and they always tucked under the suspenders or inside grew up to be the meanest cattle to of the coat collar. Black is prefer Peter Tumbledown is very busy keep on a farm that ever I had any- able, as objects are more distinctly dition as to allow rats to run under them and they will run to the combe the floor, the farmer may as well give and fill themselves with honey. Then up the poultry business. They are when the hive is onesed the been will worse than any disease the fowls may adhere better to the combs and cas have. When the house is built it is be examined with ease. Honey should very easy to put wire netting, such as be left on the hive until it is capped; is used for the small chicks, under bees always ripen the honey bei the floors. If you have not done this, capping. They can be seen after a another easy way to keep out rats is hard day's work, fanning at the en cuttings as is the currant or by mound to put in a cement floor. It may cost trance sending air into the hive to lavering. By this method the old a little more than fixing up the wood- evaporate the moisture that is in the plants are headed back to induce the en floor, but it is safe against rats, nectar when gathered.

FLOORS AND RATS.

Take the rainy and other "off" days

KANSAS.

Porecast of the Harvest Season—1994.
I've just got back from Kansas
To my home in Illinois
And the sights I saw in Kansas
Have filfiled my soul with joy
For the fields with corn are crowded
The sun is shining bright,
The harvester stands ready,
And the harvest is in sight.

I've just got back from Kansas
And am dead stuck on the state,
Its people are on "Easy street,"
Its climate's simply great;
Its farms are rolling parkways,
And the flowers that adorn
The meadows and the hillsides
Are—Corn, Corn, Corn.

I've just got back from Kansas, And the funny man can poke His pieces in the paper And lough and scoff and joke About the Kansas farmer And the whikkers that he grows, And the way these whiskers flutter When the Kansas Zephyr blows.

But I'd rather live in Kansas,

Among her bursting cribs,
Than to live here in Chicago
A-writing funny squibs;
So when any Kansas farmer
Thinks his whiskers don't adorn
His face—why, I will wear 'em
If he'll "divvy" up his corn."

—J. B. Dignam, in Exchange.

Of all the problems the farmers of ties will want our votes. Shall they seek. Let us turn down all the candidates who are unworthy, no matter whether they belong to our party or not; this is the way to clean the breed, for easy feeding. Where s siderable vegetable acid, making them | Augean stables and set things right. | lank family of thoroughbreds, or

READING IN THE RURAL HOME.

times while staying at different homes It is a significant and noteworthy in the country, to find so few news-by natives. A fine exhibit will also ears and act as if he would like to Twenty thousand Americans have be made of the products of the coun- kick you out of the barn? Actions aside for making this exhibit.

FOOT NOTE.

The way to prevent the colts from becoming marked for life or possibly If you have pure-bred poultry make ruined by barbed wire or other cuts. an exhibit at the county fair. It will is not to allow colts in a field fenced and that, too, in a very short time. So

Many farmers salt their cows on the try business. As a rule there is more ground. That is not the best way. money in selling eggs than in selling Boxes, or if the cows come up under the shed at night, a strip of board keep our muscles up; but about the natied along the edge of a long sill meanest way in the world to do this is

> The poultry keeper who does not piece of work. Never give a horse provide suitable shade for his fowls, an opportunity to run away. This is ought to be obliged to spend a day in their yards when the thermometer registers from 35 to 100 degrees in the mount of water will injure a horse if of this falling off, but says that he given while the animal is warm or believes the bottom has been reached sweated; but harm may possibly re- and that he expects a revival of the enough to prevent excessive thirst. years. This has led to so much high Water fresh from the spring or well class beef breeding among the lowa

To feel perfectly safe, while work seen through it. Before opening a hive of bees in a few puffs of smoke to prevent the sentinels from rushing out and If the poultry house is in such con- stinging you. The smoke will alarm

CURING CLOVER.

We must cure our clover in such a manner that the leaves will not be lost. The greater part of the nutrilost in the field. Clover should be cut when dry and be soon bunched up and cured in the cocks. Turn the hay over the second day and put it in larger cocks. Here the clover sweats and sets rid of much of its moisture and dries out in a soft, tender state The second day it is ready to put in the barn.

So it has come to be a question whether the problem our legislators have set themselves at be not, after all, not how to make men honest, but how to be dishonest themselves. Some one has very thoughtfully said that no law can be framed in which some flaw can not be found, or, in vulgar parlance, some "hole" discovered Through these "holes" so neatly de vised men come and go at pleasure spoiling those with whom they have dealings and escaping the justice to which their deeds so well entitle ined in good light. The remedy is to-day have to meet this one of hon- kerosene, either as emulsion with est officials is most urgent. What is strong soapsuds, one to ten, or, what the reason we do not grapple with it? is probably better for small number hammering to get even a single new Does anybody know? In the fall, after of hogs, is to apply kerosene and lard the harvests are in, there will be one to three, well-mixed and stiwed some elections held, and some par- with gentle heat. Apply these remedies carefully to very young pigs pends chiefly upon the starches and get what they want? No, a thousand Pens and yards will need cleaning times no, unless they put up good and woodwork and scratching places men who are fit for the offices they whitewashed or sprayed with kero sene to insure success.

LICE ON HOGS.

Much of success depends on the worse still, long-snouted scrubs, is the foundation stock, it is small wonder that the buyers of pigs for home fattening become disgusted and say: "Pork-making is a failure." Try Berk shire, small Yorkshire, or Poland China full-bloods, or at least have

TALKS ON HOGS.

Pew domestic animals make a surer. quicker and larger return from money invested than brood sows properly managed. They should never produce less than two litters annually, and by close watching will sometimes do still Does your horse whinny with deloves his master.

One of the most faithful all-summer blooming roses that are reasonably hardy with us in the Dinsmore. Every shoot that pushes out from any part of its stem is sure to end in a bud. that all that is needed is to keep the plant growing in order to have it in

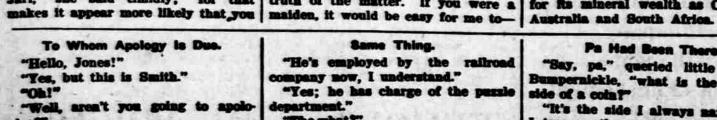

1.4.2

100

As farmers we ought to work to about the farm while the owner went to visit a neighbor or do some other

There will be no danger of your bees starving if you sow a patch of Six to eight nounds of salt sprinkled | buckwheat for them now, soon. It is Don't fall to sprinkle it liberally and over each load of key when it is put wonderful the amount of sweetness often on the floors of the chicken in the mow tends to keep the hay these busy bodies manage to extract

"Yes, when I see Jones." Undecided. r. Newliwed-Where ing to-day, my dear?

"The what?"

"Say, pa," queried little Johnnie Bumpernickie, "what is the reverse side of a coin?"

> Hitting Up the Price. "I see that cotton has reached the

Your rices were so red! Your skies were asure seas when west salling overhead.

A hand of laughter and of song.

Where bees' contented croose

Kept time with swaying poppy bloot through summer afternoons.

The lines where steeps, it seemed to us. Ware colores of our plan-Ways colores of our plan-Why it was been been find the Land of