SOME PAINT FACTS-

2. The general prejudice against Ready-Mixed Paints is based that most of them are adulterated with interior oil. 2. All point is first ground into a THICK PASTE, and the Bendy-fixed point maker their dilutes every gallon of this posts with a allon of "oil"—you have to take his word for its purity.

4. When you buy Ecady-Mixed Paint, you pay the Ready-Mixed Paint price for this canned "oil." or from 2 1/2 to 3 times the market price for the fresh, pure raw oil in your local dealer's barrel. 5. There is a paint whose makers STOP, when the paste is com-leted; content with the profit on the paint alone and knowing but any 14 year old bey can mix this paste and the pure raw off, oth bought separately from the local dealer. Simply stir together, pallon for gallon, no more, no less, and nothing else, and YOU know you have an absolutely pure lineed oil paint that has cost you at least 25%, less than any "Fligh Grade" Rendy-Mixed Paint. An honest price for both paint and oil and your own personal knowledge of its purity and darability.

6. This point is Einloch House Paint; which is made in a full line of standard, popular and DURABLE colors. It is not a patent paint—it's just the good old time-tried paint materials, ground together ready for yea to thin dawn with the pure raw oil.
