Taken to Child-Saving Institute.

(Thursday's Daily)
Lena Eschler, the six year old child of Lizze Eschler for whom Mrs. Way was appointed guardian on June 23, was taken to the Child-Saving institute at Omaha yesterday. The child's mother was the plaintiff in a bastardy proceeding a few months ago and it was this fact which led to the appointment of a guardian.

Fenimore Gertsch.

(Thursday's Daily)
Miss Lydia Gertsch and H. B. Fenimore were married yesterday at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gertsch, of Monroe, Neb. About thirty five guests were present and many valuable presents were received. Rev. Strauss of the Evangelical church of Madison officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Fenimore went on a two-weeks trip to New Jersey.

Losses Commission.

(Thursday's Daily)
Frank Pollard, a real estate man at Silver Creek, sued E. Towley, a hardware merchant of the same place, for a commission of $50 alleged to be due him for selling a stock of hardware for the defendant. The trial took place before County Judge Batterman yesterday. The costs were taxed against the plaintiff. The defendant showed that the stock was never transferred, the buyer backing out.

Tao Frisky.

A complaint of insanity was sworn out by Nick Coppick the insurance man Sunday night against Frank Malone who lives east of Albion. According to Mr. Coppick he was invited to Sunday dinner by Mr. Malone. After dinner Mr. Malone borrowed Mr. Coppick's revolver and proceeded to drive him off the place without provocation doing target practice at him in the meantime with the said revolver. Mr. Malone was brought before the board of insanity commissioners. While before them told the following story of said transaction: Denied that he invited Coppick to dinner and that Mr. Coppick dropped in and that after dinner while he was out in the yard and Mr. Coppick talking insurance to Mrs. Malone that the hired man told him that Mr. Coppick was not acting right and on going to the house he found that Mr. Coppick had insulted Mrs. Malone whereupon he ordered him off the place. He said he did not shoot at Coppick but merely to scare him.

The insanity board did not try to get the facts in the matter but merely facts of Malone's sanity and from the evidence produced to declare Frank Malone insane.—St. Edward Sun.

Rathburn-Galley.

(Last Wednesday's Daily)

At ten o'clock this morning was solemnized the marriage of Ethel Gertrude Galley to Mark Harvey Rathburn. The wedding was at the home of the bride's father, James H. Galley, and was attended only by relatives and most intimate friends of the bride and groom.

The house was beautifully decorated with flowers. In the parlor where the ceremony took place white streamers ran from the chandelier twined with smilax. The entire decoration of the room was in green and white, the green of smilax and the white of carnations. By a window under an arch of green was suspended a bell of white blossoms under which the bridal couple stood during the ceremony.

As the Lohengrin wedding march was played by Miss Florence Whitmover, the bride and groom descending the stairs were met at the foot by six ribbon bearers, Misses Lorena Evans, Elaine Hockenberger, Stella Robinson, Dorothy Minor, Helen Brugger and Maude Galley. They entwined the bride with their white ribbons and led her, accompanied by the bridegroom, into the parlor before Rev. Munro who stood under the white floral bell. After the words had been spoken which united them for life, Maude Galley and Helen Brugger pulled the two white ribbons which were attached to the bell and petals of white were showered over both bride and bridegroom.

The bride was dressed in white, trimmed with Valentine, and wore no veil. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. As she ascended the stairs after the ceremony she tossed her bouquet to the crowd of girlhood friends and it was caught by her cousin, Miss Maude Winterbotham.

Following the wedding ceremony an elegant luncheon in four courses was served in the dining room which was also decorated in white and green. The hall was in red and green, a large screen of crimson rambler roses being before the grate and on the mantel three vases of the same flower. The green was of smilax throughout.

The wedding gifts were numerous and most beautiful. Out glass, silver and chinaware had been selected by the friends of the bride in patterns that matched harmoniously.

Mr. and Mrs. Rathburn left on the 2:12 train east. They will be gone about ten days, most of the time being spent at Falls City, Neb.

Mr. Rathburn is one of the most highly esteemed of young men of Columbus, both socially and in business circles. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Galley. She has grown up in Columbus, and no young lady of our city is held in higher regard. She is one of our most accomplished ladies and most gifted musicians.

They were accompanied to the train by their young friends and speeded on their way with showers of rice and blessings.

Conductor Raney Injured.

At ten o'clock last evening Mrs. C. S. Raney received word from Lincoln that Mr. Raney had been accidentally shot in the foot with a revolver in the hands of some careless celebrator of the day of independence. She left on the morning train for Lincoln, with out knowing the seriousness or exact nature of the injury.

The Lincoln State Journal today says that it occurred on the special Seward train that left Lincoln at 10:30 yesterday morning carrying an excursion to Seward for the celebration there. The report says that the shot was fired in a crowded car while the train was on its way. The bullet struck Mr. Raney in the left heel. He went on to Seward and returned to Lincoln on the next train to have the bullet extracted.

Nothing has been heard from him today. According to the Lincoln paper, the bullet was to be extracted today and the wound as not considered dangerous, though it is painful and will keep Mr. Raney from his work for some time. The identity of the man who fired the reckless shot had not yet been discovered.

Rev. I. B. DeWolf and Will Farand left last evening for Denver to attend the national convention of the Epworth League. Several former Columbus residents also went through here bound for the same destination, among them Rev. G. A. Luce of Omaha and Rev. Kellogg of Cedar Rapids, both former pastors in Columbus.

Tiffany & Johnson Dissolve.

(Friday's Daily)

The brokerage commission firm of Tiffany & Johnson has dissolved the partnership which has existed for about a year. Carl Johnson retires from the firm and has already accepted a position in the telegraphic department of the Union Pacific headquarters at Omaha. He went this morning to begin his work there.

E. H. Tiffany will continue in the business at the old stand. For a week or two J. M. Curtis will run the office while Mr. Tiffany is filling the place of P. B. Darrington, cashier and bookkeeper for the Gray Mercantile Co. Mr. Darrington has gone to Kansas on a vacation and Mr. Tiffany had already arranged to relieve him when the hurry-up offer from the U. P. came to Mr. Johnson and made it necessary for him to go to Omaha at once.

The firm of Tiffany & Johnson has been a square-dealing and successful business, and Columbus men who deal in the stock markets will be sorry to see one of its members leave Columbus, and glad to know that Gene Tiffany will stay and continue the business. The position which Mr. Johnson takes with the Union Pacific is a good and paying one. He will move his family to Omaha soon.

Kensington.

(Last Wednesday's Daily)

Miss McMahon and Miss Nannie McMahon entertained about 125 ladies at a Kensington yesterday afternoon

In honor of their sister, Miss Lydia McMahon of Geneva. The spacious lawn had been artistically arranged with hammocks and lawn chairs and the intention had been to serve the luncheon there, but the rain forced the guests to remain within doors. Though the rain dampened the grass, it did not in any way dampen the spirits of the company who spent a delightful afternoon. No one enjoyed it more than Mrs. McMahon, mother of the young ladies, who though confined to her chair and unable to enter actively into the entertainment, received her friends and added much to the pleasure of the occasion.

During the afternoon Miss Cunningham of Omaha played a number of piano selections, and the hostesses assisted by a number of young ladies served a dainty two-course luncheon.

The out of town guests were: Mrs. Alfred Griswold, Fort Collins, Col.; Mrs. Peter Michel, Valparaiso; Mrs. Ed. Adams, Denver; Mrs. Wyatt, Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. Ward, Geneva; Miss Cunningham, Omaha.

Omaha Takes First Game.

(Monday's Daily)

The first game of the series with the Dietz team of Omaha was played yesterday afternoon and resulted in a victory for the visitors by a score of 10 to 3. However, it was a good game and was not as one-sided as the score would indicate. Columbus men made some costly errors which were responsible for the resulting large score against them.

Laub and Jones were the battery for Columbus. Laub did good work in the box, and with the proper support would have held the Omaha men down in good shape, striking out thirteen men and allowing only six hits. Sullivan, the Omaha second baseman, was hit in the head by a foul tip while at the bat and laid out for a while. An unusual feature of the game was that no free passes to first were issued by either pitcher.

The Omaha boys have established themselves with Columbus people as gentlemen and good ball players. The game which was scheduled for this afternoon was called off on account of the rain. A game will be played tomorrow if the weather permits.

The Fourth in Columbus.

No better day or better crowd or better program ever happened in Columbus for Fourth of July celebration than were here yesterday. Estimates of the number of visitors present run from 5,000 up. The Albion special brought six coaches and they were all full. The main line trains brought visitors from nearby towns and all the livery barns were more than crowded with the teams of those who came in from the country and surrounding towns by wagon road. The day was just hot enough to be the Fourth of July and just fine enough to be comfortable. The mud left from the rain of the day before made the pedestrian part of the parade take to the sidewalks, but it was a great deal better than dust. The parade was composed of the band, fire department, national guard, carriages, calithumpians, and a number of young ladies driving white horses and carrying banners representing the various states of the union.

Following the parade, the exercises at the park were opened with music by the Columbus band and songs by a chorus. Hon. Edgar Howard acted as master of ceremonies and after a few remarks of welcome introduced the various numbers of the program.

Mayor Dickinson briefly welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city, and the Declaration of Independence was read by Rev. W. N. Halsey. After another patriotic song by the chorus, the orator of the day, Hon. Elmer E. Thomas of Omaha, was introduced and spoke for an hour on the spirit of the Declaration of Independence and the danger of the present tendency toward political dishonesty.

In the afternoon street amusements and races furnished amusement and the band furnished music in the park. Following is a list of winners in the various events:

The fire department made an exhibition run with hose cart, and in the evening the Columbus and Schuyler companies of the national guard fought a sham battle. The fireworks display was interrupted by rain and the celebration came to an end somewhat prematurely at nine o'clock.

The second ball game with the Dietz Omaha team was played in the afternoon of the Fourth and was won by the visitors, score of 5 to 0. The game was attended by a large crowd and it was a good game. With the exception of one inning, it was almost errorless and the Columbus boys played ball all the time with the exception just stated. The Omaha boys played good ball all the time and that accounts for the difference in the score.

Omaha scored once in the seventh and four times in the eighth. A base on balls, followed by some wild throwing from the field and some good batting by the visiting team at the critical moment was responsible for the disaster. All through the rest of the game Lohr pitched a fine game and was given elegant support. Jack Corbett was behind the bat and he stopped everything that came in his direction.

The Omaha pitcher was somewhat of a puzzle for the local boys, and the hits that he allowed were scattering and did not come at the right time. Each pitcher struck out seven men.

Wells Goes to Inebriate Asylum.

(Monday's Daily)

On complaint of O. L. Baker, today Joseph Wells was taken before a board of special commissioners and committed to the inebriate asylum until such time as he may be considered cured. This was under the statute passed by the last legislature, providing that habitual inebriates may be so committed. Before being taken to the asylum, Wells was brought into district court by County Attorney Latham for a renewal of recognition on the criminal charge which is now pending against him for shooting Ezra Mubaley last spring.
