After the Snms.

(Saturday's Daily)
A special U. P. detective was in Columbus yesterday evening and headed out on No. 3. The company is being bothered more or less with things and tourists who do not pay fare, some of them wearing laundred shirts, tanned shoes and kid gloves. There were several of this tribe in town yesterday and they are coming more numerous each day. This detective quietly boarded the head car of No. 3 and he was loaded to the teeth with everything bad for the tourists, half a dozen of whom missed their train as No. 3 pulled out. They not only steal a ride but in many cases tamper with the air when a fellow tourist is put off by the train men. This army of non-workers and shifters should meet the most severe treatment and should be compelled to do honest labor and be at least half that for which they were put on this earth.

Money Lost from Wagon.

(Tuesday's Daily)
For carelessly leaving a grip containing $45 in their wagon in front of Pollock's Drug store while they went to the restaurant for their supper Mr. and Mrs. Tegar, tenants on the farm of Charles Carrig, are minus the money and will probably be unable to locate it. As soon as their loss was discovered they notified the sheriff and police officers and a thorough search was made for the thief but no clue could be found. The grip was left open with the contents scattered in the bed of the wagon.

Swift's New Building.

(Tuesday's Daily)
W. L. Rowley, manager for Swift and Company at this place, received plans this morning for the new plant to be built by his company as soon as they can find a suitable lot. The plans call for a two-story building 40 by 10 and a one-story addition 40 by 25. The one-story building is to be used for a killing room. The main building will be used for office and storage purposes.

It is understood that the company desires a lot large enough to add what is called a "stuffing" department. This consists simply of little boxes ten inches square, just large enough to encase one chicken. The fowl is placed in this box and fed all it will eat for about two weeks when it comes out "stuffed" and ready to demand a top price on the market.

This business is a valuable addition to Columbus. It increases the demand for Platte county poultry and gives our business men the advantage of a large pay roll.

Business Improvements.

The dissolution of the partnership of Weaver and Newman last week has resulted in the addition of some permanent improvements to the business of Columbus. Mr. Newman entering into a partnership with Mr. Welch has built an office just east of the North Opera House where he will handle coal, hay and feed. He will have the city scales in front of his office. For this privilege he entered into a bond of $5000 with the city council guaranteeing to keep his scales accurate.

Mr. Weaver on the other hand took his son Earl into his business and is adding 50 feet to the rear of his present building and putting in a glass plate front. Mr. Weaver will continue not only the harness and coal business but will probably add another line for his son who is an expert telephone man having been in the employ of the Independent Telephone Company for several years. Mr. Weaver has put in scales at the rear of his store to take the place of the city which the council ordered moved from Thirteenth street.

A Close Call.

One of Columbus' most popular young ladies last week had a very narrow escape from drowning in a cistern but the incident was kept so quiet that it escaped the ears of the reporter until today. Miss Petite Martyn was the victim of the accident; the cistern was that of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Speice and it was Mrs. Speice's servant girl who heard Miss Martyn's cries for help and rescued her from a watery grave just at the moment when Miss Martyn was fainting from exhaustion.

Miss Martyn had started on an errand to the Speice home which is in the same block with her own. As she crossed the lawn near the door she stepped on the boards which covered the cistern containing 25 feet of water. The boards broke and she fell into the water which came nearly to the surface of the ground. She caught the rim of the cistern with one hand but was unable to pull herself out. She shouted for help but Mrs. Speice was not at home and for a long time no one heard her. Finally the servant girl in an upper room heard her and came just as Miss Martyn had just decided that she could hold out no longer. It was due only to her unusual strength and vigor that she was not drowned.

Harry Lohr Hurts Ear.

(Saturday's Daily)
Captain Harry Lohr, has a very bum ear and it is very sore too. The doctor with a needle took a few stitches in the member and he says he can listen just as good as ever. Harry has been doing railroad duty on the turn-around from Genoa and Albion the past few days and on leaving the Genoa station "rubbered" from the door of the door of the baggage car just in time to meet the door of the car when it slammed shut. Harry escaped with all of his anatomy but a section of his right ear which stuck to the iron siding. The Captain uttered a few remarks and then the doctor was called and did the rest. He was able to go with his train this morning and further says he will beat the Irish bunch of ball players from Platte Center tomorrow just for luck.

Gymnasium Contract Let

The board adjourned to meet next Saturday evening at which time a ballot for superintendent will be taken. There are a number of applicants with no favorites so far.

Both the contracting parties are long-time residents of Columbus. Both are highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. They will live in south Columbus.

European Tourists.

(Yesterday's Daily)
Columbus has the honor of being represented in Europe by more of its citizens than any other city of its size in Nebraska. Last Sunday another party left our city to spend the summer in Switzerland and France. The party consisted of Mrs. Albert Stenger and daughter, Mrs. DeFord and two children of California and Miss Matilda Stenger, daughter of Fred Stenger. They will land at Havre, France. A large number of friends were at the station to bid them God speed on their journey.

Bruce Webb a Sprinter.

(Tuesday's Daily)
Bruce Webb was in Columbus yesterday and he spent the night here with his brother W. B. Webb. Bruce has a host of friends among the boys in Columbus and they all have known him for a long time that he is a "prince" among good fellows. But not until last night did they know anything about his "sprinting" abilities. It came about in this way. Bruce was intending to go home last night with Fred Pratt and John Bender on the Norfolk passenger. He stood at the station talking with his brother till the train pulled down past the switch. He thought it would be back to the station again. But it didn't, and Bruce gave chase. It was a pretty race. The engineer pulled the throttle wide open and the Norfolk passenger nearly left the track as it rounded the curves. The speed would have done credit to the Twentieth Century Limited. But Bruce gained steadily and he would have caught it if his coat tail had not gathered so much atmosphere. He had to give up the chase, however, there was not an eyewitness of the race who would not back Bruce against any freight train in Nebraska. There has been talk of running Bruce for sheriff and slugs (his demonstration of his running abilities, it is a cinch that he will catch a majority of the votes if he does run).
