Union Thanksgiving services were held last Thursday night at the Methodist church, the Baptist, Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist congregations uniting. Rev. G. A. Munro of the Congregational church preached one of his characteristically strong sermons. Music was furnished by the Methodist choir and members of the other choirs. The meeting was largely attended.

"Under Southern Skies" is now in its fifth successful season and has yet only been seen in a comparatively small portion of the country outside of the larger cities. The increased enthusiasm with which the play is received on its third and fourth visits, indicate that Mrs. Parker's play will be one of the standard attractions for many years to come. At the North Opera house, Saturday December 16th.

Mrs. Avery Brown of Elkhart, Ind., arrived last Thursday for a visit with her brother, W. H. VanAlstine. Mrs. Brown enjoys the honor of being the widow of the youngest soldier of the civil war and the youngest soldier probably who ever served in any war. He enlisted as drummer boy in Company E, of the 31st Ohio at the age of eight years, ten months and twenty-one days. He served for eighteen months when he was discharged for disability resulting from mumps and measles and other diseases to which children are heirs.

Last week we mentioned the fact that a young man in Lindsay was getting "sore" because his best girl had been flirting with a certain married man. This week five different married men have taken the editor confidentially aside and said something like this: "Tell young Soandos not to make a fool of himself over that little affair. I was only having a little innocent pastime. Miss — is a perfect lady, but he is so blamed slow that he ought not to blame her for getting stuck on somebody else." Now what do you think of that?—Lindsay Opinion.

Combination Short-Horn Sale!

Rising City, Neb., Dec. 14.

Commencing at 1 o'clock p. m.
No postponement. Sale under cover

18 Bulls, 22 Cows and Heifers

In the offering which we will sell we have tried to select some good, useful cattle. These cattle will not be loaded with fat but will be in just fair breeding condition and apt bound to make money for the buyer. In the bull offering are two tried Scotch herd bulls coming three years old. The other bulls range in age from seven to twenty months, some of them good enough to head herds. The cows and heifers are a good useful lot of breeding stock, every female old enough raised a calf this year and all cows and hifers of breeding age will be bred to one of the herd bulls. Stock of buyer's risk as soon as bid off.

TERMS—One year's time will be given purchaser with approved security at 7 per cent interest, property to be settled for before being removed. Stock to be shipped loaded on cars free of charge.

Parties from a distance will be furnished free livery to and from sale from Lavid City and Surprise, so as to make connection with all trains. Send for catalog. Stop at the Arlington as our guests.
