Herd Boars: Mendenhall's Pride 39037, by Red King 31989, has been at the head of our herd for two years and is a grand individual, being in the same line of breeding as the hogs that won prizes at St. Louis, shown by J. E. Mendenhall. Some gilts are sired by him and a few sows bred to him: Red Cedar 43941, by Sampson of Neb., 28508; this is a fine young hog of good length and extra heavy bone, good on feet and has good color. Butler Chief 43937 by Star 39035, is another of the good ones and is as well bred as any we have, as you will see. He is a fall yearling and a fine individual. Miss Schubert is in charge of the store during Miss Griffith's absence. The Nebraska Division of Sons of Veterans held their regular annual encampment last Thursday. More than usual interest attached to this meeting from the fact that the chief officers of the state association are Columbus men, Bert J. Galley being commander, E. H. Jenkins, secretary and E. P. Dussell treasurer. Not a large attendance was present, many of the delegates having been detained at the last minute. But the affairs of the division under the management of the Columbus men were in such excellent condition that the few delegates present went home with increased enthusiasm and renewed faith in the future of the order which for several years has been barely able to keep its head above water. At the close of the business session on Thursday afternoon, the local Grand Army men and Sons of Veterans were invited in and a three course banquet accompanied by appropriate speaking was enjoyed. Captain Leo Rollins, acting with happy ease in the role of toast-master, introduced the speakers. The meeting being near Lincoln's birthday, the most of the speeches turned naturally to Lincoln. For the Grand Army, addresses were made by Col. Whitmore, W. A. McAllister, J. H. Galley, John Brock, E. O. Reitor and Mr. Cook a visiting veteran from Lincoln. For the Sons of Veterans most interesting talks were given by Rev. L. R. DeWolf, Bert Galley of this city and H. W. Rogers, Division Chaplin of Fremont. Several telegrams and letters of regret from delegates were read. Much credit is due E. H. Jenkins who alone had charge of the banquet arrangements and to C. O. Jones who acted as caterer. The officers for the coming year are Bert J. Galley, commander; F. H. Richards, Fremont, senior vice; J. W. Fay, Osceola, junior vice E. H. Jenkins, secretary; E. P. Dussell, treasurer; C. C. Stull, Osceola, counselor; H. W. Rogers, Fremont, chaplain; R. G. Douglas, inspector; G. F. Wolk, Fremont, James McBeth, Shelby and G. W. Heine, Hooper division council. The division is in better financial condition than it has been for several years.

Mrs. Merrill to see her daughter, Mrs. John Peterson, who is ill.—Silver Creek Sand. We are informed by Rev. DeWolf that the Methodist Episcopal church has secured Hans Albert, the great violinist for an entertainment on March 6. Further particulars next week. Owing to an oversight the Journal failed last week to mention the Chin-lao demonstration in Daok's window, in which Madjaska a pretty French girl, attired in Chinese costume, demonstrated by means of paint brush and cards, the qualities of the article she was advertising. The demonstration is worthy of special mention not only on account of good taste and skill displayed by the young lady and the uniqueness of her company's method of advertising but because of the display of enterprise connected with it by C. H. Dack and his head clerk, Frank Kersenbrock. Indeed, in the division of honors, the mechanical skill and good taste displayed by Frank Kersenbrock, in arranging the display attracted quite as much admiration as did the pretty girl with coquettish eyes displaying her work in the window. This is a day for new things in advertising, but nothing more novel has ever visited Columbus than the little Chinese lady. The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Columbus will fall on the twenty-ninth of next May and there is talk of arranging for a suitable celebration of that anniversary. Mayor Dickinson expresses a keen interest in the matter and suggests that it would not be inappropriate to hold the celebration on Decoration Day. The old settlers, including J. E. North and L. Gerrard also express an active interest. Among other things Mr. North made the following statement to a representative of the Journal: "Such a celebration would be fitting I am in favor of it. You had better talk to some others of the old settlers and have them agree upon a date for holding a mass meeting of citizens to discuss the question and appoint a committee to arrange the program. Sketches of the History of this county, if preserved would make a valuable contribution to the early history of the state." The interest seems so general that nothing remains to be done but to agree upon a date for a mass meeting to arrange the details.
