

GRAY'S

FRESH GARDEN
SEEDS
NEW AND TRUE

They suit others.
They will please you.

JEROME B. RICE SEED CO. furnish our seeds.

Garden, Grass and Field Seeds

We have one of the most complete stocks of Garden, Grass and Field seeds to be found anywhere in this section. This season will find us in position to handle a larger volume of business than heretofore.

We assure you that by placing your order in our hands you will have nothing to regret, and that you will be a large gainer as we shall exert every effort to please you, knowing that it is not only a matter for this season's consideration, but for future time as well.

We do not attempt to compete merely in price. Our aim is to EXCEL IN QUALITY and in spite of fierce competition we maintain the largest seed trade in this territory, which is indisputable evidence that OUR SEEDS ARE RELIABLE.

In ALFALFA SEED which we make a specialty, we have three grades, from $9 per bushel up. We have as fine a stock of HOME GROWN ALFALFA as we ever handled.

Ask for THE TRUTH ABOUT ALFALFA a little booklet written by the grower of Alfalfa in Nebraska, having 3,000 acres. All prices and samples of all grass and field seeds mailed for the asking. All orders for GARDEN SEEDS amounting to $2 or more will be mailed or expressed prepaid.

We Have Finished

Our inventory and we have a Store full of bargains, not forgetting

Our Baby
Buggies

HERRICK
BOTH PHONES UNDERTAKING

NEW FIELD SEEDS 1905

ALFALFA, RED CLOVER, ALSYKE CLOVER, ENGLISH BLUE GRASS TIMOTHY, RAPE, BROME GRASS RED TOP, GERMAN MILLET HUNGARIAN, ETC., at the lowest market price for choice seeds.

HERMAN P. H. OEHLRICH

PATRONIZE A Home School

The Standard Square Inch Tailoring System of Chicago. Sewing taught free to each pupil. We teach to cut and fit by actual measurement without change or alteration

Mrs. A. C. Boone MANAGER.

First door north of Drs. Martyn & Evans' office.

Mr. Oliver P. Newman, son of Edward Newman residing ten miles north of Columbus and Miss Anna Krause of Creston were married in this city last Thursday at the home of the groom's uncle, Harry C. Newman by Judge Ratterman. The bride, gowned in white silk was attended by Miss Anna Staab of Ansley, Neb. and the groom was attended by his brother, Harry. Mr. and Mrs. Newman left Sunday for their new home in Hecla, South Dakota.

Andrew Peterson and Andrew Anderson of the Lindsay neighborhood made this office a call last Thursday.

Dr. C. V. CAMPBELL

Dentist

Office with Dr. Lueschen
Arnold's Old Stand

Teeth Painlessly Extracted
Crown and Bridge Work
Gold, Silver and Cement
Filling
Examination and Estimates
Free of Charge

Dr. Paul, dentist.
Herrick for furniture.
Journal ads bring results.
Dr. Mark T. McMahon, dentist
School supplies, Snow's, 17
Prof. Sike, teacher music, Barber bldg.
Get your shoes shined at Park Barber shop.
Guaranteed watch repairing by 11th St. Jeweler.
New line of ladies collars and neckwear at Galley's.
Coal and baled hay awlays on top at Newman & Welch.
Dr. D. T. Martyn, jr., office new Columbus State Bank building.
Boys, buy your cigars and candy at Smith's, opposite U. P. depot.
FOR SALE:—A second hand piano, almost new. Inquire Journal office.
Rubber boots mended with a vulcanizing substitute at Carl Schubert's.
Dr. C. V. Campbell, Dentist with Dr. Lueschen, Arnold's old stand, Olive st.
Try our Rex Lump Coal $7 at the yard. P. D. SMITH Co. Both tel. No. 8.
Children's stationery at Buschman's. Something new. None like it in town.
Go to Druggist & Chas. H. Dack today for a Hyomei outfit, a cure for catarrh. Complete treatment $1. Money back if it fails.
We were mis-informed last week as to the sex of the new arrival at the home of Charles H. Dack, the child being a boy instead of a girl.
A bass load of Columbus young people drove out to Miss Rena Turner's school last Friday night to attend the basket social given to raise money for school library. The function was a success in every way, netting over $14 for books. The pupils furnished a part of the program and Craig Turner and Vernon Erskine were among the visitors who contributed vocal numbers.
A bungled telegram cost Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Lisco a hurry trip to Omaha last Friday night. They received a telegram from their daughter Mrs. Orville Pennington whom they were expecting to visit them in Columbus. The telegram was intended to notify them of her coming but it was so worded when it reached here that it appeared to summon them to Omaha. Accordingly they hastened to Omaha, Friday night to find their daughter in the best of health. They remained till Friday when Mr. and Mrs. Pennington returned with them to this city where they will spend the summer.

The Columbus people who went to Omaha last week to see Bernhardt saw one of the world's greatest actresses. She spoke in French but her acting expressed the universal feeling and sympathies of mankind which were understood by every one of the vast assemblage that crowded the large auditorium to hear her. The thing that most impressed from the raising of the curtain on the first act was that Bernhardt and her trained support were not playing to the audience but were actually living the sad, passionate story of Camille. Actors were presented to the audience when they spoke. Their laughter was real laughter and their tears real tears. The highest climax of Bernhardt's acting was seen in the third act when Pere Duval visited Camille at the country home where she was living, outside of the bounds of law, united only by the bonds of a consuming natural love, with his son Armand Duval. He pleaded with her to so conduct herself as to make his son hate her in order to drive him away from her and save his good name and that of his noble family. The real tears, the heart-wrenching agony through which Camille passed bringing herself to break away from the man she loved, give up a peaceful, fit illegal home, and return to a life of shame moved almost the entire audience to tears. The story of Camille contains too much of the sensual to be read or seen by undeveloped young people. But for the mature, the story as interpreted by Bernhardt, can have nothing but a wholesome influence. Bernhardt's acting of Camille is an unanswerable argument against the practice of free-love. In the last act Camille on her deathbed reaching out and clutching the bride-veil of her friend and placing it about her own head most beautifully symbolized the natural yearning of her heart for the sweet bliss of married life which comes only through purity and innocence and the seal of the legal marriage contract.

Special Harness Sale

In this space you will find each week bargains offered in our large and complete stock of

Harness and Coal

Beginning Monday, March 12th

we will have a Special Sale on Single Harness for one week and will give a Cash Discount of $5 per Set.

Don't miss this sale. Come in and see and find out that we will do just as we say. Throw away that old harness and get one of our bargains this week.

L. W. Weaver and Son
Coal and Harness. Tel. No. 74

Inquire of Herrick.
Dr. Vallier, Osteopath, Barber block.
G. R. Freib, painting and paper hanging.

Beautiful line of box paper at Snow's.

Carl Schubert has complete camping outfit for rent.

The Journal wants all the news. Phone or write it in.

If your eyes, ears, nose or throat give you trouble see Dr. Lueschen.

BUFF COCHINS for sale cheap at Mrs. Youngs near B. & M. depot. 1tp

A good stock of glass ware and quonaware at low prices at Seth Braun's.

Carl Schubert has a nice line of Zonophones, and Talking machines and records.

FOR SALE:—One of the best farms in Howard county, fifty dollars an acre. For particulars write, H. J. Dixon Springfield, Neb.

C. A. Linstrum has moved his tailoring establishment from his old quarters on 12th street to the Reinks building on 13th street.

Hyomei costs you nothing unless it cures you of catarrh. Deposit $1 with Druggist Chas. H. Dack and if Hyomei fails to cure, he will return your money.

Everybody is satisfied with Shell Creek Valley Pride flour made by Peter Schmitt, the German miller. If you haven't tried it, now is the right time to begin.

"Hooligan," the world famous tramp, will be assisted by a singing dancing chorus of pretty girls and a number of other comedians in the presentation of his "Troubles" here shortly.

Pure bred R. C. B. Leghorns, won third pen at Platte County Poultry show. Fine cockerels for sale at $1 each. Mrs. Roy Clark, R. F. D. No. 3, St. Edward, Nebraska. Neb. Telephone Q 90. 45 St

TAKEN UP.—At my farm four miles north of town, three calves, on November 17th, 1905. Owner can have same by proving property and paying expenses. Inquire of O. J. Turner.

FOR SALE.—A modern residence, 10 rooms and bath, good barn, every convenience, best location in town. Call at Journal Office.

John Toogood a member of Webb's bridge gang met with a painful accident last Saturday afternoon at Schuyler. While working on a stock chute his eye was pierced by a spike which slipped from under his hammer. He came to Columbus on the first train and sought the aid of a surgeon. The wound is very painful but it is not believed to be serious.

At the urgent request of a large number of ladies who were prevented by the storms two weeks ago, Mrs. Brugger has consented to give a second demonstration of puff paste parties, at her home Thursday afternoon at three o'clock. An admission of ten cents will be charged, the proceeds to go to the Congregational Aid society. After Mrs. Brugger has explained the method of making these delicate little accessories, and has actually baked them to prove the receipt a luncheon for an additional ten cents will be served. It is suggested that the men of the city give their wives the price of a couple of havanas and send them out Thursday afternoon to get some added ideas on wholesome cooking. All ladies of the city are invited.

Gas from a hard coal stove came near to snuffing out the lives of a Columbus family one night last week. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Meays were the victims, the latter being in an unconscious state when the physician arrived and the former having fallen to the floor in a helpless condition after phoning for a doctor. At two o'clock in the morning Mrs. Meays awoke with a sick headache and complained of an intense pain in her stomach. While her husband was trying to minister to her she fainted away. He carried her to bed and started to telephone for the physician when he felt himself being overcome and he had not got through phoning when he fell to the floor. In a moment he rallied enough to realize that he was the victim of gas poisoning and he managed to get to the door and throw it open before the arrival of the physician. After three or four hours suffering both Mr. and Mrs. Meays recovered.

The people of Genoa and surrounding country were shocked Saturday forenoon when the news came of the sudden death of Mrs. E. M. Vaught at her home east of town in the Liberty neighborhood. Helen Maud Horton was born April 3, 1884 and was the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horton. August 7, 1904 she was married to E. M. Vaught, who with their infant son survives her. The ordeal is particularly hard for Mr. Vaught as less than four years ago he sustained the loss of his first wife, who had been Miss Emma C. Hedman. Saturday morning Mrs. Vaught appeared to be in her usual health, having apparently nearly recovered from the effects of her recent illness, mention of which was made two weeks ago. Her husband had gone to work on his farm north of town and had barely arrived there, when word came that the wife he had just left at home so full of hopes and early restoration to perfect health had in one moment passed into that long rest which knows no waking. She leaves besides her husband and infant son, a father, mother, three sisters and five brothers to mourn her departure, two sisters having preceded her, Margaret and Mrs. Blanche Corcoran, who died last August.—Genoa Leader.

Stomach dosing will not cure catarrh. Breathe Hyomei and its germ killing power will cure the disease. Druggist Chas. H. Dack sells on guarantee.

R. S. Palmer, the tailor, cleans, dyes and repairs ladies, and gen's clothing. Hats cleaned and reblocked. Agent for Germania steam dye works. Olive St. Between 12th and 13th St.

The best evidence of the confidence of business men in the Journal as an advertising medium and of their appreciation of the Journal's work in consolidating three newspapers in less than two years, is the Journal's growing advertising patronage. Our advertising books for February show an increase of 50 per cent over the combined advertising of the Daily and Weekly Journal for February 1905. These expressions of confidence are appreciated and we are constantly pushing to increase the Journal's circulation to keep pace with our increase in advertising rates in order to reciprocate.

Gas from a hard coal stove came near to snuffing out the lives of a Columbus family one night last week. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Meays were the victims, the latter being in an unconscious state when the physician arrived and the former having fallen to the floor in a helpless condition after phoning for a doctor. At two o'clock in the morning Mrs. Meays awoke with a sick headache and complained of an intense pain in her stomach. While her husband was trying to minister to her she fainted away. He carried her to bed and started to telephone for the physician when he felt himself being overcome and he had not got through phoning when he fell to the floor. In a moment he rallied enough to realize that he was the victim of gas poisoning and he managed to get to the door and throw it open before the arrival of the physician. After three or four hours suffering both Mr. and Mrs. Meays recovered.

The people of Genoa and surrounding country were shocked Saturday forenoon when the news came of the sudden death of Mrs. E. M. Vaught at her home east of town in the Liberty neighborhood. Helen Maud Horton was born April 3, 1884 and was the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horton. August 7, 1904 she was married to E. M. Vaught, who with their infant son survives her. The ordeal is particularly hard for Mr. Vaught as less than four years ago he sustained the loss of his first wife, who had been Miss Emma C. Hedman. Saturday morning Mrs. Vaught appeared to be in her usual health, having apparently nearly recovered from the effects of her recent illness, mention of which was made two weeks ago. Her husband had gone to work on his farm north of town and had barely arrived there, when word came that the wife he had just left at home so full of hopes and early restoration to perfect health had in one moment passed into that long rest which knows no waking. She leaves besides her husband and infant son, a father, mother, three sisters and five brothers to mourn her departure, two sisters having preceded her, Margaret and Mrs. Blanche Corcoran, who died last August.—Genoa Leader.

Stomach dosing will not cure catarrh. Breathe Hyomei and its germ killing power will cure the disease. Druggist Chas. H. Dack sells on guarantee.

R. S. Palmer, the tailor, cleans, dyes and repairs ladies, and gen's clothing. Hats cleaned and reblocked. Agent for Germania steam dye works. Olive St. Between 12th and 13th St.

The best evidence of the confidence of business men in the Journal as an advertising medium and of their appreciation of the Journal's work in consolidating three newspapers in less than two years, is the Journal's growing advertising patronage. Our advertising books for February show an increase of 50 per cent over the combined advertising of the Daily and Weekly Journal for February 1905. These expressions of confidence are appreciated and we are constantly pushing to increase the Journal's circulation to keep pace with our increase in advertising rates in order to reciprocate.

Gas from a hard coal stove came near to snuffing out the lives of a Columbus family one night last week. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Meays were the victims, the latter being in an unconscious state when the physician arrived and the former having fallen to the floor in a helpless condition after phoning for a doctor. At two o'clock in the morning Mrs. Meays awoke with a sick headache and complained of an intense pain in her stomach. While her husband was trying to minister to her she fainted away. He carried her to bed and started to telephone for the physician when he felt himself being overcome and he had not got through phoning when he fell to the floor. In a moment he rallied enough to realize that he was the victim of gas poisoning and he managed to get to the door and throw it open before the arrival of the physician. After three or four hours suffering both Mr. and Mrs. Meays recovered.

The people of Genoa and surrounding country were shocked Saturday forenoon when the news came of the sudden death of Mrs. E. M. Vaught at her home east of town in the Liberty neighborhood. Helen Maud Horton was born April 3, 1884 and was the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horton. August 7, 1904 she was married to E. M. Vaught, who with their infant son survives her. The ordeal is particularly hard for Mr. Vaught as less than four years ago he sustained the loss of his first wife, who had been Miss Emma C. Hedman. Saturday morning Mrs. Vaught appeared to be in her usual health, having apparently nearly recovered from the effects of her recent illness, mention of which was made two weeks ago. Her husband had gone to work on his farm north of town and had barely arrived there, when word came that the wife he had just left at home so full of hopes and early restoration to perfect health had in one moment passed into that long rest which knows no waking. She leaves besides her husband and infant son, a father, mother, three sisters and five brothers to mourn her departure, two sisters having preceded her, Margaret and Mrs. Blanche Corcoran, who died last August.—Genoa Leader.

Stomach dosing will not cure catarrh. Breathe Hyomei and its germ killing power will cure the disease. Druggist Chas. H. Dack sells on guarantee.

R. S. Palmer, the tailor, cleans, dyes and repairs ladies, and gen's clothing. Hats cleaned and reblocked. Agent for Germania steam dye works. Olive St. Between 12th and 13th St.

The best evidence of the confidence of business men in the Journal as an advertising medium and of their appreciation of the Journal's work in consolidating three newspapers in less than two years, is the Journal's growing advertising patronage. Our advertising books for February show an increase of 50 per cent over the combined advertising of the Daily and Weekly Journal for February 1905. These expressions of confidence are appreciated and we are constantly pushing to increase the Journal's circulation to keep pace with our increase in advertising rates in order to reciprocate.

BABY'S PICTURE
Have you one? No? Then take it to the McAllister Studio and GET IT'S FIRST PICTURE.

It will be prized in after years. It is a clever turn that's required to take baby's picture right. The knack is ours, and the picture will be yours soon after sitting. Bring it in now. It will never be prettier.

McAllister Studio
OLIVE ST., Columbus, Neb. Over Phillips Store

Herrick for baby go-carts.

Mazeppa chocolates, Snow's.
A new supply of shells and guns at Carl Schubert's.

Dr. Q. A. Allenburger, office in new State Bank building.

Try a Journal "want ad" if you have anything to buy or sell.

Dra. Martyn, Evans & Evans. Consultation in German and English.

A fine line of new handpainted china at Bushman's Racket store.

A full line of hunting coats, caps, hats, pants boots, etc., at Carl Schubert's.

FOR SALE.—A set of the International cyclopedia, 15 volumes, cheap at the Journal office.

WANTED.—Good farm loans at 5 per cent. No commissions.—W. L. May, Omaha, Neb.

FOR SALE.—Two thorough bred Hereford bulls, two years old.—W. L. Smith, Monroe, Neb.

When you want baled hay that is bright and coal that is clean order from Newman Welch.

WAY UP is used by all who desire a fine quality of patent flour. The Columbus roller mills makes it.

Excellent seed potatoes for sale. Early Ohio variety at 75 cents. Don't wait until spring and pay $1.50.—Turner & Jenkins. 1-2

Stomach dosing will not cure catarrh. Breathe Hyomei and its germ killing power will cure the disease. Druggist Chas. H. Dack sells on guarantee.

R. S. Palmer, the tailor, cleans, dyes and repairs ladies, and gen's clothing. Hats cleaned and reblocked. Agent for Germania steam dye works. Olive St. Between 12th and 13th St.

The best evidence of the confidence of business men in the Journal as an advertising medium and of their appreciation of the Journal's work in consolidating three newspapers in less than two years, is the Journal's growing advertising patronage. Our advertising books for February show an increase of 50 per cent over the combined advertising of the Daily and Weekly Journal for February 1905. These expressions of confidence are appreciated and we are constantly pushing to increase the Journal's circulation to keep pace with our increase in advertising rates in order to reciprocate.

Gas from a hard coal stove came near to snuffing out the lives of a Columbus family one night last week. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Meays were the victims, the latter being in an unconscious state when the physician arrived and the former having fallen to the floor in a helpless condition after phoning for a doctor. At two o'clock in the morning Mrs. Meays awoke with a sick headache and complained of an intense pain in her stomach. While her husband was trying to minister to her she fainted away. He carried her to bed and started to telephone for the physician when he felt himself being overcome and he had not got through phoning when he fell to the floor. In a moment he rallied enough to realize that he was the victim of gas poisoning and he managed to get to the door and throw it open before the arrival of the physician. After three or four hours suffering both Mr. and Mrs. Meays recovered.

The people of Genoa and surrounding country were shocked Saturday forenoon when the news came of the sudden death of Mrs. E. M. Vaught at her home east of town in the Liberty neighborhood. Helen Maud Horton was born April 3, 1884 and was the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horton. August 7, 1904 she was married to E. M. Vaught, who with their infant son survives her. The ordeal is particularly hard for Mr. Vaught as less than four years ago he sustained the loss of his first wife, who had been Miss Emma C. Hedman. Saturday morning Mrs. Vaught appeared to be in her usual health, having apparently nearly recovered from the effects of her recent illness, mention of which was made two weeks ago. Her husband had gone to work on his farm north of town and had barely arrived there, when word came that the wife he had just left at home so full of hopes and early restoration to perfect health had in one moment passed into that long rest which knows no waking. She leaves besides her husband and infant son, a father, mother, three sisters and five brothers to mourn her departure, two sisters having preceded her, Margaret and Mrs. Blanche Corcoran, who died last August.—Genoa Leader.

Stomach dosing will not cure catarrh. Breathe Hyomei and its germ killing power will cure the disease. Druggist Chas. H. Dack sells on guarantee.

R. S. Palmer, the tailor, cleans, dyes and repairs ladies, and gen's clothing. Hats cleaned and reblocked. Agent for Germania steam dye works. Olive St. Between 12th and 13th St.

The best evidence of the confidence of business men in the Journal as an advertising medium and of their appreciation of the Journal's work in consolidating three newspapers in less than two years, is the Journal's growing advertising patronage. Our advertising books for February show an increase of 50 per cent over the combined advertising of the Daily and Weekly Journal for February 1905. These expressions of confidence are appreciated and we are constantly pushing to increase the Journal's circulation to keep pace with our increase in advertising rates in order to reciprocate.

Gas from a hard coal stove came near to snuffing out the lives of a Columbus family one night last week. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Meays were the victims, the latter being in an unconscious state when the physician arrived and the former having fallen to the floor in a helpless condition after phoning for a doctor. At two o'clock in the morning Mrs. Meays awoke with a sick headache and complained of an intense pain in her stomach. While her husband was trying to minister to her she fainted away. He carried her to bed and started to telephone for the physician when he felt himself being overcome and he had not got through phoning when he fell to the floor. In a moment he rallied enough to realize that he was the victim of gas poisoning and he managed to get to the door and throw it open before the arrival of the physician. After three or four hours suffering both Mr. and Mrs. Meays recovered.

The people of Genoa and surrounding country were shocked Saturday forenoon when the news came of the sudden death of Mrs. E. M. Vaught at her home east of town in the Liberty neighborhood. Helen Maud Horton was born April 3, 1884 and was the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horton. August 7, 1904 she was married to E. M. Vaught, who with their infant son survives her. The ordeal is particularly hard for Mr. Vaught as less than four years ago he sustained the loss of his first wife, who had been Miss Emma C. Hedman. Saturday morning Mrs. Vaught appeared to be in her usual health, having apparently nearly recovered from the effects of her recent illness, mention of which was made two weeks ago. Her husband had gone to work on his farm north of town and had barely arrived there, when word came that the wife he had just left at home so full of hopes and early restoration to perfect health had in one moment passed into that long rest which knows no waking. She leaves besides her husband and infant son, a father, mother, three sisters and five brothers to mourn her departure, two sisters having preceded her, Margaret and Mrs. Blanche Corcoran, who died last August.—Genoa Leader.

Stomach dosing will not cure catarrh. Breathe Hyomei and its germ killing power will cure the disease. Druggist Chas. H. Dack sells on guarantee.

R. S. Palmer, the tailor, cleans, dyes and repairs ladies, and gen's clothing. Hats cleaned and reblocked. Agent for Germania steam dye works. Olive St. Between 12th and 13th St.

The best evidence of the confidence of business men in the Journal as an advertising medium and of their appreciation of the Journal's work in consolidating three newspapers in less than two years, is the Journal's growing advertising patronage. Our advertising books for February show an increase of 50 per cent over the combined advertising of the Daily and Weekly Journal for February 1905. These expressions of confidence are appreciated and we are constantly pushing to increase the Journal's circulation to keep pace with our increase in advertising rates in order to reciprocate.

Gas from a hard coal stove came near to snuffing out the lives of a Columbus family one night last week. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Meays were the victims, the latter being in an unconscious state when the physician arrived and the former having fallen to the floor in a helpless condition after phoning for a doctor. At two o'clock in the morning Mrs. Meays awoke with a sick headache and complained of an intense pain in her stomach. While her husband was trying to minister to her she fainted away. He carried her to bed and started to telephone for the physician when he felt himself being overcome and he had not got through phoning when he fell to the floor. In a moment he rallied enough to realize that he was the victim of gas poisoning and he managed to get to the door and throw it open before the arrival of the physician. After three or four hours suffering both Mr. and Mrs. Meays recovered.

The people of Genoa and surrounding country were shocked Saturday forenoon when the news came of the sudden death of Mrs. E. M. Vaught at her home east of town in the Liberty neighborhood. Helen Maud Horton was born April 3, 1884 and was the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horton. August 7, 1904 she was married to E. M. Vaught, who with their infant son survives her. The ordeal is particularly hard for Mr. Vaught as less than four years ago he sustained the loss of his first wife, who had been Miss Emma C. Hedman. Saturday morning Mrs. Vaught appeared to be in her usual health, having apparently nearly recovered from the effects of her recent illness, mention of which was made two weeks ago. Her husband had gone to work on his farm north of town and had barely arrived there, when word came that the wife he had just left at home so full of hopes and early restoration to perfect health had in one moment passed into that long rest which knows no waking. She leaves besides her husband and infant son, a father, mother, three sisters and five brothers to mourn her departure, two sisters having preceded her, Margaret and Mrs. Blanche Corcoran, who died last August.—Genoa Leader.

Stomach dosing will not cure catarrh. Breathe Hyomei and its germ killing power will cure the disease. Druggist Chas. H. Dack sells on guarantee.

R. S. Palmer, the tailor, cleans, dyes and repairs ladies, and gen's clothing. Hats cleaned and reblocked. Agent for Germania steam dye works. Olive St. Between 12th and 13th St.

The best evidence of the confidence of business men in the Journal as an advertising medium and of their appreciation of the Journal's work in consolidating three newspapers in less than two years, is the Journal's growing advertising patronage. Our advertising books for February show an increase of 50 per cent over the combined advertising of the Daily and Weekly Journal for February 1905. These expressions of confidence are appreciated and we are constantly pushing to increase the Journal's circulation to keep pace with our increase in advertising rates in order to reciprocate.

Gas from a hard coal stove came near to snuffing out the lives of a Columbus family one night last week. Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Meays were the victims, the latter being in an unconscious state when the physician arrived and the former having fallen to the floor in a helpless condition after phoning for a doctor. At two o'clock in the morning Mrs. Meays awoke with a sick headache and complained of an intense pain in her stomach. While her husband was trying to minister to her she fainted away. He carried her to bed and started to telephone for the physician when he felt himself being overcome and he had not got through phoning when he fell to the floor. In a moment he rallied enough to realize that he was the victim of gas poisoning and he managed to get to the door and throw it open before the arrival of the physician. After three or four hours suffering both Mr. and Mrs. Meays recovered.

The people of Genoa and surrounding country were shocked Saturday forenoon when the news came of the sudden death of Mrs. E. M. Vaught at her home east of town in the Liberty neighborhood. Helen Maud Horton was born April 3, 1884 and was the third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Horton. August 7, 1904 she was married to E. M. Vaught, who with their infant son survives her. The ordeal is particularly hard for Mr. Vaught as less than four years ago he sustained the loss of his first wife, who had been Miss Emma C. Hedman. Saturday morning Mrs. Vaught appeared to be in her usual health, having apparently nearly recovered from the effects of her recent illness, mention of which was made two weeks ago. Her husband had gone to work on his farm north of town and had barely arrived there, when word came that the wife he had just left at home so full of hopes and early restoration to perfect health had in one moment passed into that long rest which knows no waking. She leaves besides her husband and infant son, a father, mother, three sisters and five brothers to mourn her departure, two sisters having preceded her, Margaret and Mrs. Blanche Corcoran, who died last August.—Genoa Leader.

Stomach dosing will not cure catarrh. Breathe Hyomei and its germ killing power will cure the disease. Druggist Chas. H. Dack sells on guarantee.

R. S. Palmer, the tailor, cleans, dyes and repairs ladies, and gen's clothing. Hats cleaned and reblocked. Agent for Germania steam dye works. Olive St. Between 12th and 13th St.

J. H. GALLEY

505 Eleventh Street, Columbus, Nebraska

In Order....

To clear our shelves for our New Spring Stock we will continue to sell all our line of Winter Goods at

20 Per Cent Off

Men's Suits and Overcoats at 20 per cent reduction
Ladies cloaks, jackets and capes at 20 per cent off
Boy's Suits and Overcoats at 20 per cent reduction

Our New Spring Stock will arrive and be on display about March 1st. We will be pleased to show these goods to you.

J. H. GALLEY

505 Eleventh Street, Columbus, Nebraska

Wm. DIETRIGHS

House, Sign and Carriage Painting
Interior and ornamental painting of all kinds. City or Country.

ad. Tel. 2122. COLUMBUS, NEB.

Nothing but the finest
W. P. Rocks
CHAS. A. WELCH,
Columbus, Nebraska

Henry Ragatz