ALFALFA

The season for alfalfa seeding is rapidly approaching and the buyer should purchase quickly for the following reasons:

Good seed is scarce, the demand is heavy and the price advancing; there are two classes of seed being offered by the trade, Foreign, (European,) and Domestic or home grown. The European crop is long; the American crop is short. The American seed is vastly superior for seeding in this country and commands a price of two to four cents per pound more than the foreign grown seed. Many seed men this season offer foreign alfalfa seed only, others mix one-fourth American grown and three-fourths foreign, making a product at about two and one-half cents per pound under fancy home grown seed. You can easily detect imported seed by the brown berry, rather small in size and having a somewhat shriveled appearance. A close inspection will also discover adulterated seeds where the bright yellow berry is mixed with foreign seed.

Seeding land to alfalfa is expensive, the seed being only a small part of the necessary outlay, and it is false economy to buy poor seed at any price.

Better pay twenty cents per pound for GOOD SEED than to buy CHEAP SEED at any price.

You will know GOOD SEED by its BRIGHT GOLDEN COLOR and PLUMP BERRY.

After the sweet tones of music which was furnished by the Adams and Becker boys, the baskets were sold by Harry Newman Jr. All baskets brought a fair price netting $15.55. W. E. Schuch bought four baskets.The Leigh World describes the recent burning of the barn of Nick Hafner who bought the C. C. Hardy property in this city as follows: "The big horse barn on Nic Hafner's farm south west of town was consumed by fire Tuesday evening. The building contained sixteen head of horses, all of which were lost. Five of them belonged to Mr. Hafner, ten to his renter Louis Horsman, and one to Wilson Dunn. Mr. Horsman had just rented the farm and moved here from Sarpy county and the loss is a severe one to him, however the loss to him was partly covered by insurance."The Leigh World speaks well of the Columbus theatrical people who are representing the "Run away Tramp". The Runaway Tramp company appeared at the opera house Saturday night in the play whose name the company bears. This company carries ten people and they gave a clear, first-class show. They carry a good lady's orchestra which added much to the entertainment. The play was richly costumed and the entire company had a look of prosperity. The evening was stormy, which fact probably kept many people away and yet the opera house was nearly full. All seemed well pleased.Judge T. H. Saunders and family are departing for their future home in Columbus this week. The judge and his family have been residents of Osceola for a long time. They came here from Columbus when there was no much could be found on the present site of Osceola. They have grown to mature years here and as they go back to their former home we all wish they could have remained among the friends of thirty years making. In many ways will Judge Saunders and family be missed in our city's best circles. The Judge and wife have been honored in many ways since their arrival in Osceola and have held positions of trust and responsibility, always to their honor and the credit of those who chose them to not. The Democrat wishes the couple many years of happiness yet and the people of Columbus will find a valuable addition to their city in Judge and Mrs. T. H. Saunders.—Polk County Democrat
