Republican State Convention.

The republicans of the state of Nebraska are hereby called to meet in convention at the Auditorium in the city of Lincoln, on Wednesday, August 22, 1906, at two o'clock in the afternoon, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following offices, viz:

- One United States Senator,
- One Governor,
- One Lieutenant Governor,
- Three Highway Commissioners,
- One Secretary of State,
- One Auditor of Public Accounts,
- One Treasurer,
- One Superintendent of Public Instruction,
- One Attorney General,
- One Commissioner of Public Lands and Buildings.

And for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

The said convention shall be made up of delegates chosen by the republicans of the respective counties of the state, apportioned one delegate at large for each county and one for each one hundred twenty-five votes or the major fraction thereof cast at the last election for Hon. Charles B. Linton, republican nominee for judge of the supreme court. Said apportionment entitles Platte county to 12 votes in said convention.

It is also recommended that the delegates to said convention be instructed to vote for or against the endorsement of the constitutional amendment relating to the creation of a State Board of Railway Commissioners, to the end that the action thus taken may determine the attitude of the party relative to said amendment and it be made a part of the ballot.

It is further recommended that no proxies be allowed and that the delegates present from each of the respective counties be authorized to cast the full vote of their delegation.

The various odd numbered senatorial districts are also notified that they will at the same time by their delegates choose members to represent them on the state committee for a term of two years.

It is also urged that the counties which have not already selected their county committees and perfected the local organization for the campaign of 1906, do so at the first county convention held subsequent to the issuing of this call and report at once to the state committee.

It is important that the uniform credential blanks which will be furnished by the state committee to each county chairman be used for furnishing credentials of the delegates to said convention, and that the name of each delegate, his post office address, and precinct in which he resides, be plainly written thereon. Credentials should be prepared immediately after adjournment of the different county conventions, duly certified by their officers and forwarded at once to State Headquarters, at Lincoln.

By order of the state committee,
W. P. WALKER, Chairman.
A. R. ALLEN, Secretary.
Dated at Lincoln, Neb., May 5, 1906.

If there is any republican railroad politician in Platte county who hopes to engineer a free pass delegation to the state convention, we advise him to place the order now for his political coffin.

Unless the political trade winds change there will be some fire-works at the democratic county convention next Wednesday worth seeing. Women and children should go early and get reserved seats.

The railroad attorney who accepts a pass in return for his service occupies identically the same position with regard to the pass question as does the editor who rides on editorial mileage. The same rule that excludes the railroad attorney from the convention should also exclude the editor.

The Journal takes especial pride in pointing its 2000 readers to the large space taken this week by its advertisers. It will pay you to read every line and every inch of advertising.

On behalf of Columbus merchants we challenge comparison of qualities and prices with the big stores in Omaha and Lincoln and we urge our numerous readers in neighboring towns to investigate these offers before you order through a catalogue from some eastern concern. We are proud of a patronage that enables us to send out a twelve page newspaper to our large list of subscribers. Don't forget to read every word in this issue. It will make you money.

President Roosevelt last week sent a message to the Grocer's Federation of England declaring:

"You are at liberty to inform the Grocers' federation that under the new law we can and will guarantee the fitness in all respects of tinned meats bearing the government stamp. If any trouble arises therewith, protest can at once be made not merely to the sellers of the goods, but to the United States government itself."

The effect of this message on the live stock market of this country will much more than offset the temporary effect of the packing house investigation for which the live stock interests at first were disposed to criticize President Roosevelt.

In the meantime, we advise the editor of the Columbus Journal that the democratic party of Platte county is able to take care of its differences without brother Abbott's interference. In fact, there are no personal differences, and the discussion about the choice for governor is simply a matter of difference in honest judgement.—Platte Center Signal.

Chris Gruenther is mistaken. The editor of the Journal has no intention of injecting himself into the democratic quarrel in Platte county. Our observations were purely those of an amused and disinterested spectator in a contest in which the comparative strength of the chief contestants was roughly estimated by us. Indeed, while we cannot honestly profess to love Chris "like a brother," as Edgar does we have a high opinion of him and confess that in the first heat with Edgar he showed up well for a colt. However, it still looks to a man up a tree as if Edgar will be able to head off Chris in his ambition to dump the democratic party into the populist camp, and in that effort Edgar will be ably assisted by other Platte county Bourbons of rank and standing.

Indeed the fact that Howard in the last issue of his paper has consented to let Chris go to the state convention indicates a Howard-Hall victory with an extension of all the honors of war to the vanquished Bergeites. We most humbly pray that these observations will not work to change Edgar's mind with reference to taking Chris to Lincoln with him. Chris ought to be introduced to "Bob" Drake of the Bridge Trust and Edgar's other friends. Meanwhile, we shall also pray for a continuance of the blessings vouchsafed to us by a kind providence and the wise and beneficent management of a republican administration in state and nation.

SOME THINGS FOR REPUBLICANS TO REMEMBER

Every republican in Platte county should set down the date of the republican primary and turn out to help select the right kind of delegates to the county convention.

What are the right kind of delegates? Men who believe in Theodore Roosevelt. Men who believe in every word of the platform of the last republican state convention declaring in favor of the direct primary, in favor of a railroad commission armed with a rate law in Nebraska as strong as the one which has just passed congress, and against the free pass system.

Remember that no delegate or candidate can be a true republican and do the will of the party as expressed in the legislation of the last congress and the last state platform of the party, and at the same time use a free pass, stand against the direct primary or support any rate legislation in Nebraska less restrictive than the Hepburn bill.

The republican who is not in sympathy with the party on these issues should take one of two courses. He should either refuse to become a candidate or delegate or should declare in open convention his disapproval of the course taken by the republican party and ask to be elected to help change that course.

Remember that Platte county today is in the hands of honest farmers who for the most part are independent voters and who are firm believers in the policies and practices of the party of Roosevelt. Remember that these farmers, the heaviest tax payers in Platte county voted last fall with the republican party to break up fraud and corruption in the administration of the affairs of Platte county and that they will continue to elect some republican officials in order to keep the democratic ring broken, if the republican party will do its part and continue to stand for the "square deal."

If republicans will keep their eyes lifted to these principles and work for them at the primaries and the county convention, ultimate republican victory is just as sure in Platte county as democratic rule in the past have been robbed to pay ill-gal salaries, fraudulent printing bills and excessive fees.

The Journal will not presume either before or after the convention to pass judgment on any delegate or candidate. But in the name of the masses of its republican readers it will fight for these principles and in that fight will ask the support of those same independent voters who last fall stood with the Journal for a reform in the county administration.

The republican party cannot afford to have any internal dissensions or factional fights this fall. There must be harmony. But it must be the harmony inspired by an enthusiastic working faith in the practical ideals of Theodore Roosevelt. The only way to prove that faith is to attend the primary.

The Fremont Tribune carried five full page ads last week as a testimonial to the Tribune's large circulation from Fremont merchants. In the matter of comparative circulation the Journal stands in Platte county where the Tribune stands in Dodge county. And while Columbus merchants are not all awake to the advantages of full page advertising in a paper that circulates nearly 2000 copies each week, yet this issue of the Journal bears evidence of an awakening along that line. The Journal today is getting three dollars worth of advertising where it got one two years ago. And in circulation it is sending out three papers carrying the merchant's ads where it sent out one two years ago, while its advertising rates have not quite doubled.

PERSONAL AND PERTINENT

If a man is wise he will profit more by the criticisms of his enemies than by the advice of his friends. A friend is likely to be as blind to a man's faults as an enemy is to his merits.

We heard a debate the other day on the subject, "Lacing vs. Ogarottes." If there had been judges they would have decided it a draw.

What do wives do at summer resorts without their husbands to make summer resorts so popular with themselves—and others?

O. E. Abbott, one of the brightest young attorneys in Nebraska is local attorney for the Burlington Railroad as Fremont and takes transportation in return for his services. Ross Hammond, one of the brightest editors in Nebraska, carries advertising for the same railroad, and probably takes transportation in return for his services. Hammond brands Abbott as one of the "railroad gang" because he accepts transportation in exchange for legal services. If Abbott had a newspaper it is not difficult to guess where he would classify Hammond.

OTHER EDITORS.

Harper's Weekly:—The talk about the murder of Stanford White continues enormous in volume but not particularly progressive. When the average talker has relieved his mind of everything he can think of at one time on the prevailing topic, he goes on to admit that there is still as much as ever to be said. Talk inevitably turns upon White's moral character. The old saw says, "Give a dog a bad name and hang him." In Mr. White's case the process has been reversed, and the killing being already done, the adjustment of his reputation to that fact has proceeded with immense industry. If it could be established that White was a moral monster and absolutely unfit to live, it would not excuse Thaw in the eye of the law for shooting him, defenseless, unarmed, and in cold blood, but doubtless it would mitigate Thaw's offense in the eyes of a jury. So far as has yet appeared, Thaw's only claim upon a jury's sympathy will be this claim that White was a monster and an outlaw. How such a claim can be established in a trial in which Thaw, not White, is the accused does not appear, but the work of establishing it in the newspapers is comparatively easy and is going on fast. Of course this process of post-mortem defamation is exceedingly unjust to White's memory. That his reputation was very vulnerable everybody knows, but, such as it was, it is not having a fair chance. The man was a very complex person. If judgment must be passed on him, it should be passed on the whole of him, and based on facts, and all the facts, and not on rumor and hearsay. What was good should be known and considered as well as what was bad. That any such consideration can be given him, or any just and rounded estimate of his character reached, seems very unlikely. But this much at least every fair-minded spectator may do. He may remember that White—a man perfectly careless of his reputation—was one about whom all manner of gossip naturally clustered, and for one sin that he did he doubtless was credited with a dozen, and all of them blacker than their original. That is why, when the sophisticated moralist says to himself that Stanford White "got what was coming to him," he goes on to say, "But that is not nearly all of the story."

"Just as Good" Paint

You never hear of a paint better than Pure White Lead and Pure Linseed Oil. "Just as good" is what they say. Pure White Lead and Pure Linseed Oil are acknowledged to be the standard by which all paints are measured.

The skillful painter invariably prefers to use it, and mix it himself. He knows that his business reputation is best built by the use of that paint which will give you the most satisfactory results.

He knows Pure White Lead wears evenly, and when ground in Pure Linseed Oil has greater elasticity and flexible face than any other paint known.

He knows, too, that the best results are obtained only when the paint is mixed with special reference to the surface to be painted.

To make sure of the best White Lead tell your painter to use Collier, Red Seal or Southern Pure White Lead (Made by the Old Dutch Process)

Your interest and the painter's are identical. Adulterated paint will peel, crack or blister, however skillfully laid on. The result for you is an early expenditure for repainting, and for him a discredited reputation.

to have been in their right minds at the time and hence are adjudged guilty of premeditated surrender and condemned to be shot. This seems like getting down to business, until we come to the postscript and find that the court means this only in a Pickwickian sense. The defendants are to be shot theoretically, but in reality they are to be dismissed from the service. It will be noted that Russian officers must be careful about the way they surrender. An officer of the car should not wait until he is sure that he is licked, because then his surrender would be premeditated and rational and he would be shot, figuratively speaking, when he got home. He should surrender early, without consideration or cause, thus demonstrating that he was wrong in his head when he did it. If convenient he should go into a fit while handing over his sword. The laws of Russia forbid premeditated surrender, and the laws must be upheld.

Announcement.

Fullerton, Neb., July 1906.
To the Republican Electors of Neb.
With the excellent measures recently enacted into law by the last congress, under the splendid administrative genius of the president, I believe that the republican party is entering upon an era of greater usefulness and efficiency for the good of the whole people, and that the action of congress should be speedily supplemented by effective state legislation, regulating railway rates, suppressing trusts and unlawful combinations, and providing for the nomination of all officers, state, district and county by a direct primary election. That United States Senators should be elected by a direct vote of the people. Having a desire to represent the state of Nebraska in the senate of the United States, and to assist the people to their just demands, I hereby announce myself a candidate and shall submit my candidacy to the Republican State Convention and the legislature.

Very Respectfully,
George D. Meiklejohn.
