The paramount issue in Nebrasks politics this year is a legislature with back-bone and gray matter.

It is not a question of whether Shallenberger says what he means or means what he says. The masses in the democratic party wanted Berge just as they wanted Bryan two years ago and they will refuse to vote for candidates selected by the bosses.

Edgar Howard told Platte county democrats two years ago that every "friend of Bryan should vete for order every friend of Berge to vote for Shallenberger. And they will vote for Shallenberger just as the voted for Parker.

J. A. Baird, the well-known fusion ditor of the Cedar Rapids Outlook who was in this city last week did not hesitate to speak his mind about the last democratic convention. "It was all a fake and the populists of Ne braska will not stand by the ticket. They will vote for the republican candidates who stand for the same principles we do, rather than to follow the Shallenberger banner" said Mr Baird. He declared that an over whelming majority of the two con ventions taken together were Berge men and said that Berge's defeat meant not only a complete divorce of the democratic and populist parties but an overwhelming victory for Sheldon. It is his opinion that the bosses and not the rank and file of Nebraska

Mr. Bryan is giving evidence of the greater wisdom of more mature years When asked the other day what he thought of the chances of democratic its greatest editor, Nebraska it success this year, he said:

"I have been away for some time and I can add that I have been away too long to come back a prophet. I never predict, for predictions do not tell the story. You have seen some of days as an obscure telegraph operator the predictions given out in the heat of a campaign and you even know without money and without friends. how different some estimates are from prophery."

No doubt Mr. Bryan had in mind his "16 to 1" prophesies of 1896 and his prophesies on "imperialism" in 1900. There may be some hope for him if he can stick to this resolution and if people can forget his ancient if

Some democrats profess to be sincere in claiming that Theodore Roose velt and the republican party have got over on the democratic platform. Is it not just a little bit absurd to as sume that any great political party should stand still and not rise to mee the new demand and changing conditions of society? And is it not true if it must be assumed that party plat forms should stand unchanged, that the democratic and republican parties both have gone a good ways toward getting on the populist platform?

Those who have been classifying L G. Brian, the republican candidate for state treasurer as a "railroad tool" are invited to read this tribute paid to a stronger public conscience has de him by the Albion News:

"Since the Omaha World-Herald has made prominent editorial mention that the editor of this paper was not supporting L. G. Brian for state treasurer, we desire to state in the most emphatic manner that said paper is Mr. Brian and his candidacy, we defy anyone to point to a single statement derogatory to him personally, or to his honesty or his competency for the office. Nor can there be found any intimation that we would refuse to support him if nominated. Mr. Brian won the nomination because he wa the best man in the field of aspirants It was not necessary for him to make any undesirable combinations in ord to win. His every interest and incentive will be to stand for the platform adopted and all that it represents. His natural inclinations coupled with the strong sentiment indicated in the convention will insure a "square deal" conduct of the office. The New can support Mr. Brian most cheerfully and consistently."

To those who know Los Brian, hi name is a synonym for honesty and purity in public office. Every ma who votes for Sheldon should also vote

EDWARD ROSEWATER.

With the passing of Edward Rose water, details of whose life and death are given elsewhere in the Journal. the trans-Mississippi country has los greatest citizen and Omaha its greatest business promoter.

The life of Edward Rosewater is an inspiration to every young man Starting out in Omaha in the early he entered the field of journalism Struggling for years under a burder what comes to pass. No, I will not of debt and bravely facing threatened financial disaster, he finally emerged from the fight with the most influential newspaper in the west and the largest newspaper plant west of the Mississippi river.

The most enduring monument left by Edward Rosewater, however, is neither his great newspaper nor the magnificent Bee Building. The mark of his enterprise and industry is iudelibly stamped on every great industry of Omaha and on nearly every important statute passed in Nebraska during the last quarter century.

Edward Rosewater was a born fighter and by entering the field of personal politics made many bitter enemies. But in all of his personal contests he never forgot to push for Omaha and to fight for the principles

Wm. J. BRYAN.

William J. Bryan is a great orator, good citizen and an honest man. Every Neoraskan regardless of party affiliations, should feel proud of the honor paid to him in other countries and other parts of this country. Honoring Bryan, the citizen, however, in no way commits one to his political teachings. In fact, Mr. Bryan, in declaring for joint state and national ownership of railways, has already driven the first nail in his political coffin, should he become a candidate for the presidency two years hence The people of this country will not be afraid of government ownership when veloped in our civil service, but they will "shy" at any resurrection of the "state rights" theories which bankrupted so many states in the middle of the last century and threw this nation into a bloody civil war. two reasons people will refuse to beentirely mistaken. In all that has ap- lieve that Mr. Bryan could have dispeared in these columns relative to covered in Europe a solution of the railroad problem in America.

First, Mr. Bryan was not in any one country in Europe long enough to study any branch of its industrial system thoroughly. Second, no country in Europe has the same sort of dual government that exists in the United States, hence comparisons are of little value. Joint state and national ownership of railways will defeat Mr. Bryan in 1908 just as effectually as "free silver" defeated him 1896 and "imperialism" in 1900.

the most repulsive diseases known to ment of the date and cut all other mankind, will be received with re- engagements. joicing throughout the world.

The announcement comes from Dr. John Beard, a professor of biology in the University of Edinburg, and one of the world's greatest scientists. While Dr. Beard has not worked out the problem fully, his experiments have advanced to a point where he has felt warranted in making public their results.

The substance used by Dr. Beard in his experiments is "trypsin," a ferment produced by the most important of the digestive organs, the pancreas, known more commonly as the

The fact that "trypsin" has been known for years, and that it is not a mysterious chemical compound is in itself assuring. And the announce ment of the discovery without money and without price is not only a tribute to the discoverer, John Beard, but it is a tribute to science and to the leaders in the medical profession. It proves that the great men in the medical profession as well as the great men in other walks of life are not those who are actuated by the consideration of money or social position or self-aggrandizement, but those who give freely the fruits of their toil to mankind.

Dr. John Beard, a great scientist, giving without cost, the secrets of a life-time of study, stands out in marked contrast to the hundreds of 'cancer grafters" who have fattened on the sufferings of their fellow-men. It is to be hoped that "trypsin' will be to cancer what anti-toxin has een to diphtheria.

A Powerful Writer. The late Rufus E. Shapley, the bril-Sant Philadelphia lawyer, wrote "Solid For Mulhooly," which had an immen success. Once at a dinner an editor congratulated Mr. Shapley warmly on "Solid For Mulhooly." The editor said It was powerfully written. Mr. Shapley replied: "Yes, I suppose I am a powerful writer. The other day I wrote a letter of condolence to the widow of an old friend, and I understand that the lady no sormer read my letter then, changing her black gown to a plak one, she went to a matings."

TO REPUBLICANS:

We are anxious to have every Republican in close touch, and working in harmony with the Republican National Congressional Committee is favor of the election of a Republican Congress.

The Congressional campaign must be based on the administrative and legislative record of the party, and, that being so, Theodore Roosevelt's personality must be a central figure and his achievements a central thought in the campaign. We desire to maintain the work of this campaign with popular subscriptions of One Dollar each from Republicans. To each subscriber we will send the Republican National Campaign Text Book and all document issued by the Committee.
