LINDSAY

(From The Opinion.)

Willard, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Larson, living eight miles southwest of Lindsay, died Tuesday from the effects of being kicked by a horse. The little fellow was out playing in the yard Monday when he got too near one of the horses and received a vicious kick in the side. Medical aid was summoned from the Grove, but aside from a badly bruised side the boy apparently seemed all right. On Monday he suddenly took worse and in spite of all that could be done he passed away that afternoon. Funeral services were held yesterday from the Swedish Methodist church. The grief stricken parents have the heartfelt sympathy of all in their sad affliction.

Melvora, the eighteen months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Smith, living six miles southeast of Lindsay, died Wednesday night at 10:30 after an illness of twenty four hours from rupture of the bowels. Funeral services will be held today from the congregational church at Leigh.

RESTAURANTS.

The First of Them Was Established in Paris in 1765.

For a long time luns and eating houses in France were only intended for the benefit of traveling people, for the people took their meals at home and restaurants were unknown. The first enterprise of the kind was founded in Paris in 1765. A citizen by the name of Boulanger opened in the Rue des Poulies an eating house where soup, meat, fowl and eggs were served. A chronicler relates that meals were served there on small, round marble tables and everything was scrupulously clean.

Over the entry to this first eating house the proprietor had hung a sign, upon which were the Latin words, "Ve-nite ad me omnes quos stomacho labo-ratis, et ego restaurabo vos" (Come unto me all ye whose stomachs need attention, and I will restore them).
This is a parody on the well known Biblical quotation, "Come unto me all ye who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest," only in place of labor and heavy laden he said, "whose stomachs need attention." The word "restaurabo," from the Latin "restaurare" (restore or refresh), was the main characteristic of the new establishment and gave it its name. Boul-langer amassed a large fortune, for his enterprise proved eminently successful, but he was soon imitated, some of his imitators becoming more famous than he.
