MANY YEARS AGO.

Files of the Journal, May 14, 1873.

Some one is digging a cellar on Eleventh street, west of Morrison's store. We learn that Mr. Louis Phillips will move his business house on Washington Avenue.

O. P. Reed and a friend of his are erecting a business house on Olive street, one door south of the post office. It is to be used as a news depot and confectionery store.

A good many new buildings will probably go up this summer. E. J. Baker is getting his lumber on the ground, making ready for putting up a dwelling house. Dr. Bonstedt has the framework up of a new house, being an addition to his present residence.

On last Saturday a vote was taken by school district No. 1 (Columbus) upon a proposition to issue five thousand dollars in bonds of the district for the erection of a brick building to be used for graded schools of the district. The proposition carried by a vote of 157 for, to 6 against.

From Mr. Bramer of Polk county we learn that one year ago, in his school district, No. 30, there was just one voter and three children of school age; now they have a large enrollment and will soon have completed an excellent school house, at a cost, of $1,000. There are but few new settlements that surpass Polk county.

We are indebted to C. A. Speice, Esq., for the following summary of the school matters under his care. Mr. Speice is attending to the duties of his office very faithfully: For the year 1873 the value of the school houses was $13,100.83. Paid male teachers, $5,373.50, paid female teachers, $5,373.96. Receipts, $10,910.24. Enumeration of school children April 28, for 1873, 744; for 1874, 1028.

Rev. Dickman of the German Reformed church, and Vincent Kummer, Esq., started out yesterday with a subscription paper to raise $3000 for the erection in Columbus of a brick building for the accommodation of the make adherents of that church in this neighborhood. It is proposed to many the building 32x48 feet, and 16 feet high, and to cost not less than $3,000. We hope they will accomplish their worthy object.

The dance given by Ed Branigan and Walter Boettcher, Saturday evening was well attended. Miss Elsie P. and Walter Boettcher furnished the music. Fifteen or twenty couples were present, and a very pleasant evening was reported. The Orpheus society had planned on giving a dance in their hall the same evening but this event was postponed until a later date.

Miss Greenwald was formerly a Columbus young lady, having lived here several years ago. The Journal joins with her many friends in wishing the newly wedded couple a long and prosperous life.

Birby of the State Journal is receiving old acquaintances in Columbus. When Birby visits Columbus it takes his friends back to the days of 1891 and '92, when he was one of our and was responsible for the Sentinel. Those were the days when Columbus supported a daily, The Telegram, and the office was located in the building now occupied by Louis Schreiber, and Bir's Sentinel was housed in the basement of the Commercial National bank. The Journal was at that time in its old home, and edited by the founder, M. K. Turner. Among the printers of that day were Horace Harding, who was Bir's right hand man, the Turners, and E. Newton Stout, the tar heel poet of the Telegram, whom Bir's says was inspiration to him. The present editor of the Journal was at that time holding a situation on the Daily Telegram. Those were the days when you could eat cream lots where Newlander's jewelry store now stands. There have been many changes in Columbus since then, but Bir is the same old Bir, with prosperity smiling at him now, but his friends especially the newspaper men, are always glad to welcome him whenever he visits Columbus.

Mrs. Mary Amelia Gardner, who has been suffering from a cancer of the stomach for the past year, died at her home in South West Columbus, Friday evening, aged 67 years, 7 months and 10 days. The deceased was born Oct. 7th 1839 at Netabrook, Germany near Berlin. Mrs. Gardner came to America in 1862 and in 1882 came to Nebraska locating in this city, where she lived with her husband Scott Gardner, until the Grim reaper called her to his home on high where suffering or sorrow is unknown. Mrs. Gardner was a faithful and loving wife and mother and leaves besides her husband three sons, William, Julius and John, all of whom are living in the city. Six children preceded her in the world beyond. She also leaves a brother, Mr. Betke who lives in Iowa. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at the residence, Rev. DeWolf, pastor of the M. E. church officiating, and burial was in the Columbus cemetery.

Last Thursday was the closing day of the tournament held under the auspices of the Columbus Gun Club. While the two first days were very disagreeable, the last one was quite favorable and some good scores were made. W. E. Hiltan of Albion was the hundred dollar Ithaca gun the Schmalzer the silver cup, and Taylor, Olson and Hiltan tied for the watch fob given by the Dupont company. One hundred and twenty-five straight at a distance of sixteen yards was the exceptional score made by Harry Taylor. The shooters from abroad were well pleased with the treatment they received at the hands of the local management, and barring the disagreeable weather the meeting was very successful. Messrs. Schroeder and Bray were untiring in their efforts to make the tournament, and their efforts were appreciated by all those in attendance.

This morning a force of workmen began preparations in the Union Pacific yards for the double track through here. The new track will be put down between the present track and the depot. This necessitates moving the fence enclosing the small railroad park east of the depot. A piece of ground north of the tracks has been staked out for a park which will be enclosed with the fence that is being removed from the old park today. Work on the double track is being pushed as rapidly as possible and it will be but a short time until it will be in use through this place.—The Schuyler Sun.
