

STATE LIVE STOCK INTERESTS

GOV. SHELDON CALLS A MEETING OF THOSE INTERESTED.

It is for This and Adjoining States, and to Be Held at South Omaha, Wednesday, October 2.

Governor Sheldon has officially called a meeting of all those interested in the advancement of live stock interests in Nebraska and adjoining states, to be held at South Omaha Stock Exchange, Wednesday, October 2. State Veterinarian McKim, ably assisted by Dr. A. T. Peters, or the University of Nebraska, has arranged a very fine program, and addresses will be made by the leading representatives of live stock interests in the west. The meeting will convene at 10 o'clock a. m., and will be welcomed by the Mayor of South Omaha. Dr. Peters will deliver the response.

The remainder of the program is as follows: "The Agricultural College and Experiment Station a Factor in Preventing Animal Diseases," Prof. E. A. Burnett, Dean of the Nebraska Agricultural College, Lincoln; "Co-operation with the Federal Government in Eradicating Contagious Diseases," Dr. Ramsey, Chief of Field Inspectors, Bureau of Animal Industry; "How to Keep a Herd Free from Disease," Dr. G. E. Dyson, formerly Chief of Bureau of Animal Industry, Chicago; "What the State Sanitary Board Has Accomplished for the State of Minnesota," Dr. M. H. Reynolds, Minnesota Agricultural Experiment Station, St. Anthony Park, Minn.; "What Missouri is Doing for Its Live Stock Interest," Dr. D. F. Luckey, State Veterinarian, Columbia, Mo.; "Report of Sheep Scab, Cattle Mange, and Tuberculosis," Dr. Wm. F. Pfeifer, State Veterinarian, Cheyenne, Wyo.; "The Agricultural Press and the Live Stock Interest," Hon. W. A. Hervey, Twentieth Century Farmer, Omaha; "The Needs of Nebraska," Dr. G. A. McKim, State Veterinarian, Lincoln; "Iowa's Campaign Against Disease Animals," Dr. P. O. Kote, State Veterinarian, Forest City, Iowa.

These papers will be freely discussed by the stockmen and five minute addresses on important topics relating to live stock will be given by prominent stockmen of the state.

Milk Dealers Scared.

Nebraska City—One of the state milk quite a fright. He stopped each of the wagons on its rounds and after taking a sample of milk told the men who he was and warned them if the milk did not stand the test they would hear from him. He also visited all the stores and did the same thing. The dealers and the milkmen are anxiously awaiting the result of his report.

Brakeman Killed at Elwood.

Elwood—An accident occurred at Elwood by which Charles Reynolds, aged 22, brakeman on the Burlington, lost his life. Reynolds was riding on the pilot of the engine. He fell in front of the engine and was dragged about thirty yards before it was discovered he was under the engine. He was badly mutilated and life was extinct when he was gotten out.

Bodwell Gets Appointment.

E. J. Bodwell, superintendent of the Norfolk schools and formerly county superintendent of Douglas county, has been appointed a member of the board to examine teachers for state certificates. He takes the place on the board formerly occupied by E. B. Sherman, who is now superintendent of the Kearney Industrial school.

Two Jobs Conflict.

A letter has been received by Adjutant General Charles Schwarz from Private C. W. Martin of Company G, Nebraska National Guard, who is also a clerk in the Department of the Missouri of the regular army, in which Martin asks whether it is possible for him to be released from his enlistment in the guard. He has discovered a military rule which specifies that no member of a state guard may, while holding his enlistment in the guard, be an attache of the regular army.

Revolutionist Under Arrest.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao—Letters received here from Bogota announced that General Juan Pablo Peñaloza, the leader of Venezuela's last revolution in March of this year, who sought refuge in Colombia, has been arrested by the Colombian government at Cucuta and taken to Bogota the capital.

Big Hole in the Ground.

Nebraska City—The deep well being sunk by the Otoe Development company at this point is now down 700 feet and the drill is still going through Mississippian lime stone. The work on the well has been delayed by a number of accidents, among which was the loss of the drill and the breaking of the 2,000 feet of cable. The drill has been recovered and a new cable secured. The contract calls for the sinking of the well which is a test one, to the depth of 2,700 feet and deeper if the prospects look good.

Man Who Passes Bad Draft Caught. Fremont—G. T. Durst, who succeeded in obtaining a ticket to Denver and $250 in money from City Ticket Agent H. B. Ecker of the Union depot by means of a fraudulent draft, was arrested at Evanson, Wyo., and is now in the jail at that place. Sheriff Bauman left and expects to bring him back without requisition papers, as Durst has said that he would come all right. It appears from the bank at Knightstown, Ind., that issued the draft that payment on it had been stopped.

CAKE OF DRIED APPLES.

Molasses Adds Greatly to Flavor of the Dish.

Cake of dried apples over night in cold water, then stew soft the day before using in a half cup molasses. Cream together one cup sugar and half cup butter. Add two-thirds of a cup of sour milk, then the apples. And next two well beaten eggs, a tablespoonful cloves, two teaspoonsful cinnamon, a grating of nutmeg and three capsules flour sifted three times over with a half teaspoonful soda. Mix thoroughly, using the hands. Have ready one cup seeded raisins, two-third cup currants and a little shredded citron. A few finely chopped butter or hickory nut meats are an addition. Put a layer of the batter in a paper lined cake tin, then sprinkle in some of the fruit and nut mixture. Follow with the dough, then more fruit, and so on, having the batter at the top. Bake in a slow bread oven, covering the cake with a buttered paper if inclined to brown too fast on top.

Household Economy.

The legs from our hose, which have the feet worn, make fine stockings for baby while creeping. Yarn raveled from worn stockings makes a good rug for the dining room, when hooked through a coffee sack on which is drawn some neat but simple design. Worn bedspreads are fine for the dining table, under the tablecloths. When they no longer will do for that, then a large enough piece that is without holes may be had for baby's crib. Good goose feathers or down are rather expensive for soft cushions. Such cushions may be filled with paper folded and cut into small strips. Wood frames that protect lad cans which your grocer receives may be had cheap. With a small can of paint, a can of varnish, a brush, and some one to use it, one can make a jardiniere stand. Flour or sugar sacks, ripped, hemmed and washed, make good dish towels. Small boxes, a foot square, covered with a piece of ingrain or velvet carpet make footstools.

Dinner Gowns.

Chiffon dinner gowns over silks of a contrasting color such as black or white over rose or green are simple, pretty and inexpensive for the autumn vacation. They have skirts made on similar lines to the soft poplins and silks, but require scarcely any lace or embroidery as trimming. The waists, preferably high, for any but very large parties, have transparent sleeves and the lining cut away about the shoulders. Pattern robes of embroidered mulls and chiffons and nets slightly spangled are also used for autumn evening frocks and may be put together by almost any seamstress if the silk lining upon which they are mounted is carefully cut, fitted and featherboned. And it must be remembered that a well-made silk lining, or rather slip, of first-class quality may be used time and again and is really a valuable asset in any woman's wardrobe.

How to Make Eyelets.

There's a new way of making those troublesome eyelets, discovered by a girl who is locally famous for inventing labor-saving ideas, says the Washington Star. It consists of running the eyelet around and then cutting it from end to end and buttonholing it, making the stitches as deep as those upon the usual buttonhole, but reversing the stitch so that the edge stitches back upon the material instead of around the open edge of the eyelet.

"And let some other fellow luxuriate on the insurance!" exclaimed the wise young man. "Well, I guess not."

What is This White Man's Game of Billiards I Hear so Much About?" said the first Hindoo.

"Don't you know?" said the second.

"No. Tell me."

"Well," said the second Hindoo, "billiards is a very simple game. Two men armed with long sticks poke at a ball on a green table, and one says, 'I am' while the other says 'hard lines.'"

A MISSOURI WOMAN

Tells a Story of Awful Suffering and Wonderful Relief.

Mrs. J. D. Johnson, of 603 West Hickman St., Columbia, Mo., says: "Following an operation two years ago, droopy set in, and my left side was so swollen the doctor said he would have to tap out the water. There was constant pain and a gurgling sensation around my heart, and I could not raise my arm above my head. The kidney action was disordered and passages of the secretions too frequent. On the advice of my husband I began using Dr. Doan's Kidney Pills. Since using two boxes my trouble has not reappeared. This is wonderful, after suffering two years."

KNEW VALUE OF AN OATH.

Colored Witness at Least Was Aware of Its Pecuniary Worth.

Clarence S. Darrow, the well known lawyer and essayist, discussing the Haywood trial, in which he played so prominent a part, said the other day: "Some of the evidence in that trial was so transparently false that it reminds me of a case that came in of Alabama a few years back. One of the witnesses in this case was an extremely ignorant man. As his testimony progressed, his ignorance became so shockingly evident that the judge, looking sternly down at him said:

"Look here, sir, are you acquainted with the value of an oath?"

The witness answered anxiously: "Judge, I hope I am. That lawyer on yer left hand gimme six dollars to swar agin the other side. That's the correct value of an oath, ain't it, judge?"

Horrible Method of Suicide.

Most people have at some time witnessed revolting sights, but the falling of a suicide from the cathedral tower onto the pavement, 210 feet below, into the midst of the hurrying noonday crowd, upon whose faces and clothes his exploding debris scattered itself, which was seen in Antwerp recently, beggars description. A merchant known as Jacques Simons quietly left his wife and two children at home, as if to go on some business errand, made straight for the cathedral tower, climbed it, and without an instant's hesitation, hurled himself into space. History relates that no one has jumped from this tower since the suicide of its architect, to whom a popular legend of the sixteenth century attributes the same fate, small bits of brass marking the spot on the pavement where he fell.

Hindoo Defines Billiards.

John Horgan, the champion pool player, told at a dinner in St. Louis a billiard story. "Billiards is a tame amusement beside pool," Mr. Horgan began. "Two Hindoos were once discussing the game in Calcutta, and I think that their idea of it was pretty near the right one."

"What is this white man's game of billiards I hear so much about?" said the first Hindoo.

"Don't you know?" said the second.

"No. Tell me."

"Well," said the second Hindoo, "billiards is a very simple game. Two men armed with long sticks poke at a ball on a green table, and one says, 'I am' while the other says 'hard lines.'"

Kismet.

Kismet is an Arabic word meaning "fate," or "it is fated." A belief in predestination is one of the fundamental principles in the Mohammedan faith. Not only a man's fortune, but his deeds, and consequently his future reward or punishment are, according to this faith, irrevocably, and thus unavoidably, pre-ordained—a doctrine which has contributed largely to the success of Islam by inspiring its champions with the greatest contempt for the dangers of warfare. When a Mohammedan meets with any disaster or misfortune, no matter how great, he accepts the situation calmly, merely saying, "Kismet"—"it is fated."

PUTS THE "GINGER" IN.

The Kind of Food Used by Athletes.

A former college athlete, one of the long distance runners, began to lose his power of endurance. His experience with a change in food is interesting.

"While I was in training on the track athletic team, my 'jogs' became a task, until I was put on Grape-Nuts food for two meals a day. After using the food for two weeks I felt like a new man. My digestion was perfect, nerves steady and I was full of energy."

"I trained for the mile and the half mile runs (those events which require so much endurance) and then the long daily 'jogs' which before had been such a task, were clipped off with ease. I won both events."

"The Grape-Nuts food put me in perfect condition and gave me my 'giant.' Not only was my physical condition made perfect, and my weight increased, but my mind was made clear and vigorous so that I could get out my studies about half the time formerly required. Now most all of the University men use Grape-Nuts for they have learned its value, but I think my testimony will not be amiss and may perhaps help some one to learn how the best results can be obtained."

There's a reason for the effect of Grape-Nuts food on the human body and brain. The certain elements in wheat and barley are selected with special reference to their power for rebuilding the brain and nerve centers. The product is then carefully and scientifically prepared so as to make it easy of digestion. The physical and mental results are so apparent after two or three week's use as to produce a profound impression. Read "The Road to Wallville," in plug. "There's a reason."

Boiled Onions in Sauce.

Melt two tablespoons of butter, add one tablespoon of flour; when smooth add boiling milk or cream until thick and creamy; remove from the fire, add teaspoonful of salt, a little pepper, and pour over the onions after they have been boiled in salted water until ready for boiling.

Appetizing Vegetables.

Vegetables never should be washed until immediately before preparing for the table. Lettuce is made almost worthless in flavor by dipping it in water some hours before using. Potatoes suffer even more than some other vegetables by the washing process. They should not be put in water until ready for boiling.

Blackberry Muff.

Use a half cupful of water to each quart of the berries, stew and pulp them. To each quart add a cupful of cornmeal: cook in a double boiler 45 minutes. Mold and serve cold for breakfast with sugar and cream.

NO PLACE FOR HIM HERE.

Alabama Judge Did Not Think Doomed Would Miss Much.

"Your honor," said a prosecuting attorney in an Alabama backwoods court, "the prisoner at the bar is charged with killing one of the most exemplary citizens of this county. Thomas Jones, your honor, was in every respect a model man. He was a member of the church; he was never known to bet on horses, play poker, drink whisky or use tobacco. He—"

"Hold on a minute," said the judge. "You say he never bet on a horse?"

"That's what I said, your honor."

"Never was known to play a game?"

"Never your honor."

"And he never drank liquor?"

"Never drank drop, your honor."

"And he didn't chew tobacco?"

"Never took a chew in his life."

"Well, then," said the judge, "I don't see what he wanted to live for. There wasn't anything in life for him, and I don't see why he ain't about as well off as alive. Release the prisoner, Mr. Sheriff, and call the next case."

FIFTEEN YEARS OF ECZEMA.

Terrible Itching Prevented Sleep—Hands, Arms and Legs Affected—Cuticura Cured in 6 Days.

"I had eczema nearly fifteen years. The affected parts were my hands and arms and legs. They were the worst in the winter time, and were always itchy, and I could not keep from scratching them. I had to keep both hands bandaged all the time, and at night I would have to scratch through the bandages as the itching was so severe, and at times I would have to tear everything off my hands to scratch the skin. I could not rest or sleep. I had several physicians treat me but they could not give me a permanent cure or even could they stop the itch run.

"The witness answered anxiously: "Judge, I hope I am. That lawyer on yer left hand gimme six dollars to swar agin the other side. That's the correct value of an oath, ain't it, judge?"

"I was growing very late, but the young man in the parlor scene showed no signs of making a home run.

"You evidently have a very vivid imagination, Mr. Borem," said the dear girl, as she made an unsuccessful attempt to strangle a yawn.

"Why do you think so?" queried the unsuspecting Borem.

"I thought perhaps you imagined yourself in the Arctic regions, where the nights are six months long," she explained.

And 30 seconds later he had faded into the gloom.

WOULD RUN NO RISK.

"Darling," said the young man as he bent fondly over her chair, "I would die for you."

"Well," rejoined the practical but otherwise fair maid, "the rates of insurance are pretty low. Suppose you get your life insured in my favor for $10,000 and then die for me?"

"And let some other fellow luxuriate on the insurance!" exclaimed the wise young man. "Well, I guess not."

Starch, like everything else, is being constantly improved, the patent starches put on the market 25 years ago are very different and inferior to those of the present day. In the latest discovery—Defiance Starch—all injurious chemicals are omitted, while the addition of another ingredient, invented by us, gives to the starch a strength and smoothness never approached by other brands.

REAL ENJOYMENT.

"Do you enjoy automobiling?" asked the young woman at her party.

"Very much, indeed," answered the man with the loose-fitting evening clothes.

"What kind of a car do you run?"

"Oh, I am not a motorist. I'm the sheriff in a town with a good level piece of road running through it."
