ABOUT OUR NEIGHBORS AND FRIENDS CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

ST. EDWARD.
From the Advance.
Dusky passed away on Thursday of last week at the age of 38 years and a few months. He was a faithful black pony that had been the old stand-by of the J. S. Bulla family for the last twenty-two years, and was personally known, especially in the earlier days, to nearly every St. Edward customer.

Last Saturday afternoon as Mrs. C. Wheeler, in company with her little child, was driving home from St. Edward, with a team and wagon, the neck-yoke broke just as the team had started down the hill by the Engstrom farm. Mrs. Wheeler was thrown under the wheels of the wagon and sustained a broken collar bone and several body bruises. The child escaped serious injury. The accident might have proved more serious had not August Saline, who lives on the Engstrom place, hastened to the rescue.

FULLERTON.
From the News-Journal.
Dr. Warner was called to Wichita, Kan., Tuesday evening on account of the serious illness of his father. Later a telegram came announcing his death.

Wm. A. Graves, aged 87 years, died last Thursday night, after a prolonged illness. The funeral was held from the Evangelical church on Saturday afternoon.

SILVER CREEK.
From the Sun.
Misses Nettie Ostrander and Hulda Hincks left for Columbus to attend school.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Davis visited their daughter Mildred near Columbus, last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Duke of Shenandoah, Iowa, arrived here Wednesday to spend a few days with their daughter, Mrs. A. H. Earhardt.

No, we do not believe that unexampled property caused the recent so-called panic. We believe that it was largely due to an attempt of the great speculative men and concerns to corner the currency of the country.

Just as we go to press we learn that the jury in the case of State vs. Smeltzer disagree. This is the case in which Smeltzer was accused of committing a rape on his 14 year old niece. The sentiment of the community is that the defendant got off lucky, under the circumstances. The case will have to be tried again before a final decision will be reached.

BELLWOOD.
From the Gazette.
Mrs. Lena Margaret Lillie is now a cloak model in a Lincoln department store.

Miss Kate Burke and the Gazette type took in the sights around Columbus Tuesday.

Jack Casper was on our streets Wednesday and Thursday from Bruning. Jack is looking good and says everybody is doing well in that neighborhood.

After washing a skirt hang it on the line to dry, folded in the middle of the front and it will hang straight, otherwise it will not; this is especially true of wollen skirts.

Mrs. Chas. Watson of Fairmont and her sister, Miss Anna Hofrichter, visited at Bellwood on Sunday with old friends. From Bellwood they went to Rising City to visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Suddardth.

A reception was tendered Rev. Gideon and wife at the parsonage Tuesday evening. A goodly number of the members and friends of the Methodist church were present and all brought with them presents for their new pastor.

Capt. Wemple went over to Columbus Wednesday evening. On returning Thursday morning he suddenly became ill on the train and when he reached Bellwood it was necessary to call medical aid; but we are glad to state that he is getting better.

The will of Henry J. Bryer providing that no grandchild who uses tobacco or intoxicants or frequent saloons before reaching the age of thirty, shall inherit any of the property is surely a safe and sane document. If a man reaches that age without having formed bad habits it is almost a certainty that he never will.

From the Leader.
Mrs. Crozier of Platte county, a sister of Henry Crozier, occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church on Sunday evening last.

One of our business men showed us a due bill from a wholesale house this week for twenty cents, and thereby hangs a tale. A party saw a certain article advertised in a paper and sent for it paying seventy-five cents for the same. The merchant being agent for the sale of the article in this city received his commission which he was entitled to under his contract, the same being twenty cents. But there is where the humor of the thing comes in. The article costs the merchant forty-two cents and he sells it for fifty cents. In this deal he makes twenty cents on the sale instead of eight and the wholesale house receives fifty-five cents for it instead of forty-two cents. Yet we suppose you couldn't make the purchaser believe he did not get the thing at the wholesale price.

From the Times.
R. A. McMillan received word from his wife Saturday that her father had passed away Friday evening at his home in Hamburg, Iowa. Mr. McMillan left Saturday and was present at the funeral Sunday.

Fred Campbell, who commenced his work in the educational department of the Indian service here eighteen years ago, was visiting in Genoa last Saturday. He was on his way home from Kansas City to Great Falls, Montana, where he is superintendent of an Indian school.

Preachers have their troubles the same as other men, so the late Sam Jones once said in one of his addresses, and he ought to know, for he was in close touch with the class who are laboring so faithfully for the betterment of mankind. Here is one of the celebrated evangelist's stories: "If a man should come to me to haul logs with a team made up of a mule, a billy goat, a bumble bee and a stunk, I would think him crazy; but the average preacher has just such a team as that in his congregation to help him—a kicker, a bunter, a stinger and a stinker. He may get his load to heaven, but he will never get his team in."

John Hollatz and Miss Johanna Fugger were united in marriage at St. Anthony's church, south of town, Tuesday morning at nine o'clock. Rev. Father Desiderius officiating. The bridesmaids were Misses Louisa Fugger and Agnes Mirr, and the groomsmen were Joseph Hollatz and Frank Fugger. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fugger, who have lived in the southern part of Burrows township for a great many years. She was born in Platte county and enjoys an extensive acquaintance of admiring friends. John Hollatz is one of our most successful farmers, in partnership with his brother Joseph, being owners of the old Steinhaus farm east of town, where he and his bride will make their home. The Democrat joins in extending hearty congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Hollatz and wish them a long life of happiness and prosperity.

PLATTE CENTER.
From the Signal.
Mrs. Martin Dunn and son James were Columbus visitors Tuesday.

Miss Rose Walker, of Columbus, is a guest of her cousin, Miss Bessie Mackin.

Mrs. R. W. Perkinson returned home Saturday from her visit with relatives at Kearney.

Mrs. F. T. Walker and son Francis came from Columbus Saturday and spent the day with her sister Mrs. D. V. Mackon.

Wm. O'Callaghan, jr., arrived here from South Dakota last week. He is the last one of the Platte Center colony to prove up and get a title to his homestead.

The U. P. commenced yesterday morning to lay a brick sidewalk from the depot to the Bentback corner. The material for this work has been on the ground since last spring.

Some thirty farmers from the St. Mary neighborhood drove through town this morning on their way to the river for sand, which we learn is being used in the building of a school house at St. Mary's.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heyl arrived here last Friday evening and spent two or three days visiting with friends. The Heyls lived in Platte Center six or seven years ago, Mr. Heyl being engaged in the grain business with Ed Van Al'en. They moved to Omaha, where he held the position of grain inspector for several years. They now live on a farm in Custer county.

Harry Gentleman, it will be remembered, went to Quincy the first of the month to attend school. He writes that he is not homesick, but happy and contented. He also writes the following, and you can draw your own conclusions: "I'll be back in Platte Center—I wish I was there now; for since I saw old main street there's wrinkles on my brow. If I got back once more and reach the village safe and sound, I'll never again be dragged away from that good old country town. Take me back to P. O. the place I love so dear. I've been away not quite two weeks—it seems just like a year. Some say that Quincy is grand, a place of great renown, but it looks to me like camping out since I landed in this town."

From the Looking Glass.
Mr. Fred Nailor and wife were on the streets of Monroe with their automobile on Saturday. They enjoying the trip.

F. H. Gerrard came down from Beal, arriving on Tuesday. He reports things all right up there except that the panic has closed the bank business.

The Rev. Coventry preached two strong sermons in Monroe last Sabbath. He is no second class preacher. There was a good audience present, and they appreciated his sermons.

From the Democrat.
F. M. Cookingham returned home yesterday from El Reno, Okla., where he went to attend the funeral of Newell South.

Mrs. Wally Krasso was down to Columbus Wednesday to call on Mrs. Nick Febringer who recently submitted to a surgical operation at St. Mary's hospital.

Martin Reinhardt, better known as "Bibby," suffered with a slight paralytic stroke on his left side early Monday morning, and on Tuesday he was taken to the hospital at Columbus for treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Foltz left Monday for Denver with a view to seeking a climate beneficial to Mrs. Foltz's health. If they do not find the climate they want at Denver, they will go further west and probably spend the winter on the coast. The Democrat hopes that after a few months stay in another climate, Mrs. Foltz will return with her health fully restored.

By the marriage of Joe. Schaefer and Miss Mary Olmer last Tuesday morning two of the most prominent families of this neighborhood are united. The marriage took place in St. Francis church at 9 o'clock. Rev. Father Kurzer officiating. The bridesmaids were Frances Olmer, sister of the bride, and Emma Schaefer, sister of the groom, and the groomsmen were Wm. Olmer, brother of the bride, Kilian Otis and John Schaefer, brother of the groom.

John Hollatz and Miss Johanna Fugger were united in marriage at St. Anthony's church, south of town, Tuesday morning at nine o'clock. Rev. Father Desiderius officiating. The bridesmaids were Misses Louisa Fugger and Agnes Mirr, and the groomsmen were Joseph Hollatz and Frank Fugger.
