PORTUGUESE MONARCH AND CROWN PRINCE ASSASSINATED.

A Band of Desperate Men, Two Whom Were Killed, Fire Volleys From Carbines.

Lisbon-King Carlos of Portugal and the crown prince, Luiz Philippie, were assassinated and the city is in a state of uproar. The king's second son, the Infant Manuel, was slightly wounded but Queen Amelie, who strove to save the crown prince's life by throwing herself upon him, was unhurt.

A band of men waiting at the corner of the Praco de Commercio and the Rua de Arsenal, suddenly sprang toward the open carriage in which the royal family was driving to the palace. and leveling carbines which they had concealed upon them, fired. The king and crown prince, upon whom the attack was directed, were each shot three times and they lived only long enough to be carried to the Marine arsenal nearby, where they expired.

Almost at the first shot, the king back on the seat. Queen Amelie That this nation has reached the jumped up and threw herself toward it is to lose the use of the rivers in fort to save his life at the cost of her own, but the prince already had received his death wound. The police

The royal family were returning from Villa Vicosa, where they had been sojourning, and were on their way from the railroad station to the palace. A strong guard was in attendance, because of the recent uprising in the city and the discovery of a plot to assassithe monarchy. But the band of murderers had selected the most advantageous spot for the commission of their crime, for they were roncealed from the eyes of the police until the carriage had wheeled into the Praco de Commercio, a large square.

Chickens in the Snowball. Several boys at Tusten, Sullivan county, started a ball of snow rolling down a hill, and it went flying through Farmer Schneider's chicken coop.

The big ball gathered up nine of Schneider's fat hens. With the poultry packed into the ball, legs and heads of chickens sticking out of the mass, it rolled farther and brought up in the barnyard of the next farmer, on the opposite side of the Tusten turnpike, where the pigs ate five of the chickens.-Port Jervis dispatch to the N. Henry Brown, a train dispatcher on the One Hundred and Twentyninth street elevated road, died December 6 of rheumatic gout and was buried decently and in order. Some two weeks after the funeral it occurred to Mrs. Brown that she would like a photograph of her husband, having none that did him justice. Immediately she petitioned the Bronx health department for permission to exhume Henry and snapshot him. The health department was somewhat dazed, but granted the request, and so, with a photographer and an undertaker, Mrs. Brown went to Woodlawn and had the three weeks' corpse dug up. Brown was taken
