

One of the Essentials of the happy homes of to-day is a vast fund of information as to the best methods of promoting health and happiness and right living and knowledge of the world's best products.

Products of actual excellence and reasonable claims truthfully presented and which have attained to world-wide acceptance through the approval of the Well-Informed of the World; not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting and obtaining the best of the world's efforts.

One of the products of that class, of known component parts, an "Alkaline remedy," approved by physicians and commended by the Well-Informed of the World as a valuable and wholesome family laxative is the well-known Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

Mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering through the mucous surface. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten times to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure, be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co., 636 North Broadway, N. Y. Price, 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

BABY CRIED AND SCRATCHED

All the Time—Covered with Torturing Eczema—Doctor Said Sores Would Last for Years—Perfect Cure by Cuticura.

"My baby niece was suffering from that terrible torture, eczema. It was all over her body but the worst was on her face and hands. She cried and scratched all the time and could not sleep night or day from the scratching. I had her under the doctor's care for a year and a half and he seemed to do her no good. I took her to the best doctor in the city and he said that she would have the sores until she was six years old. But if I had depended on the doctor my baby would have lost her mind and died from the want of aid. But I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and she was cured in three months. Alice L. COFFEE DRINKING

A Doctor Says it Weakens the Heart.

"In my opinion," says a well known German physician, "no one can truthfully say that coffee agrees with him, as it has long since been proven that caffeine, contained in coffee, is an injurious, poisonous substance which weakens and degenerates the heart muscles.

"For this reason the regular use of coffee, soon or late, causes a condition of undernourishment, which leads to various kinds of organic disease.

"Convinced of this fact, I have often sought for some healthful beverage to use instead of coffee. At last I found the thing desired in Postum. Having had occasion to forbid people using coffee, whose hearts were affected, I have recommended Postum as a beverage, since it is free from all injurious or exciting substances. I know this from results in my own family, and among patients.

"Hundreds of persons who now use Postum in place of coffee, are greatly benefited thereby." "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pgs.

BUNCOING THE BUSINESS MAN

By JOHN M. GLENN, Secretary Illinois Manufacturers' Association.

(Copyright by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Often the inference is drawn that only the wage-worker, the unprotected woman and the man without business experience monopolize the space in the swindler's list of victims. This impression is far from warranted by the facts. The truth, as gained from the records of hundreds of swindles which the federal, state and city authorities have run to earth, is decidedly unfavorable to the shrewdness of the average business man—the merchant, the manufacturer, the contractor and the man who gains his livelihood by barter and sale.

Of late the business man has received special attention from the progressive and up-to-date swindler and several special and adroit schemes have been prepared to divorce him from his money. An important feature of several of these devices is an element of potential blackmail introduced for the purpose of silencing any victim who may be inclined to put up a fight after he has parted with his money and it becomes apparent to him that he is to get nothing in return for his investment.

Hundreds of ambitious business men throughout the country have been caught in the snare of the swindler who poses as a capitalist with an abundance of money with which to finance manufacturing and merchandizing enterprises. These sharpers, claiming to furnish capital to business concerns, get hold of their victims in two ways: It is a common practice for men who wish to secure capital for an enterprise to advertise to that effect—and in good faith. These advertisements are immediately clipped and answered by the fake capital-furnishing concerns. The letter is craftily and conservatively written and contains the plain inference that the capital will not be forthcoming until the proposition has been carefully sifted. He is also told, in the original letter, that a personal interview will be necessary and is invited to come to the offices of the company. The other method for getting in touch with prospective victims is for the concern alleging to have the capital to advertise to that effect. Those answering the advertisement are also sent the same letter already described. It should be noted that the one thing insisted upon in every letter is a personal interview in the offices of the company.

When the man who is doing a prosperous little manufacturing business reads this letter he sees bright visions of the future and hastens to the office loaded with the best arguments and evidences of the present and prospective success of his business which he can muster. He generally finds the capitalist in a well-furnished office. He is taken out to luncheon or dinner and is treated handsomely but conservatively, for conservatism is the essence of the methods by which this class of swindler works.

After the man who is looking for capital carefully explains the nature and condition of business and of the field of its operation he is carefully questioned by the capitalist. The interrogations are shrewd and pointed and such as would be asked by a banker or a credit man of a big merchandising house.

Finally the capitalist admits that the business is really remarkable prospects and should be floated on a basis sufficient to provide for and insure the wonderful expansion of which it is capable. He then suggests that it could be readily bonded for a figure much beyond the amount of capital asked by the manufacturer. The offer is then agreed by the capitalist that he will agree to place the bonds to that amount on a commission basis, and do so at once. There will be no trouble about that, as he has a man looking for just such an investment. The papers are drawn up and the manufacturer is correspondingly elated.

Suddenly, in a purely incidental way, the capitalist looks up from the blank contract which he is filling out and asks the name of the company which is to guarantee the bonds. The manufacturer is astonished and asks an explanation. He is told that in these days a bond which is not guaranteed has no chance whatever on the market; that this precaution is invariably demanded by the up-to-date bond purchaser. "But," adds the capitalist, "you will have no difficulty on that score. There are a half-dozen reliable guarantee companies within a block of here which will be glad to act on so substantial a proposition as yours. There is the Impregnable in this building, the Invincible in the next block, and the Prudentia in the Prudential Bank block. Go to any one of them, talk it over and if there is any trouble about getting the guarantee call me up on the phone."

Probably the manufacturer says he will go to the Prudentia, because it is in the Prudential Bank building, and he draws the inference that there is some connection between the bank and the guarantee company. When- ever it is possible these companies locate in bank buildings in order to create this inference. He finds the offices of the guarantee company respondent in plate glass and mahogany, and in the elegant private office of the president he tells about his business and the offer of the capitalist. The president contrives, if possible, incidentally to learn how much money he has on his person or in a bank in the city or near the city. If he succeeds in drawing out this information and learns that the sum is, say, $1,000, he eventually makes his proposition to guarantee the bonds for double that amount.

"But I can't pay more than half that down," answers the manufacturer.

"Well," responds the president of the guarantee company, "we are compelled to have our fee in advance in every case; our business is conducted very much on the lines of a bank. However, Mr. Capitalist, who is to place your bonds, has a material interest in seeing this transaction go through, and no doubt he will be willing to advance half the fee and take it from the proceeds of the bonds when he sells them. Shall I call him up on the phone and ask him?"

This is done and after a little dickering the agreement is made. The manufacturer goes back to the office of the capitalist, gets his check for a thousand dollars, puts his own thousand dollars with it and turns both over to the president of the guarantee company. Then the contract for the sale of the bonds is completed and signed. It contains a provision that an examiner shall be sent to examine the plant, books and assets of the manufacturing concern and make a report. The capitalist explains that this is a routine formality and merely by way of official confirmation of the statements made by the manufacturer, of the accuracy of which the capitalist has not the least doubt.

The examiner duly visits the manufacturer and makes himself very agreeable. After a time, when the manufacturer gets no money from the sale of his bonds and no satisfaction from his letters to the capitalist he makes another personal call. The moment he enters the office he is made to feel a decided change in the temperature of the place. The bearing of the capitalist is one of outraged innocence. He presses a button and attracts the "secretary" responding to the summons to bring the report of the special examiner who handled the manufacturer's case. This report is read to the manufacturer, who is astounded to hear that it states that his original representations, made to the capitalists, were grossly exaggerated and without substantial foundation, and recommends that the manufacturer be prosecuted for attempting to deceive and swindle the capitalist, who terminates the interview by making the manufacturer feel like a felon about to be sentenced. If the manufacturer does not himself plead for mercy the capitalist finally indicates that he is inclined to be lenient and has determined not to prosecute; but if the manufacturer is obstreperous he will be "punished to the limit of the law."

Meantime the worthless check for $1,000 sent by the capitalist to the president of the guarantee company has been torn up and these confederates have divided the manufacturer's $1,000 between them. This scheme has been worked with many variations upon hundreds of business men looking for capital. They have taken in hundreds of thousands of dollars in the country at large and have been particularly successful in Chicago. However, a very considerable number of them have been prosecuted by federal and state authorities and have been sentenced to heavy terms.

Another scheme which brought generous fortunes to its operators, and which also contains the element of potential blackmail, is the wildcat insurance fraud. The small business man was a frequent victim of this swindle. The names of the wildcat insurance companies were invariably built upon the titles of the standard insurance companies in order to lead the public into confusing their identity. Agents for these wildcat concerns had no difficulty in placing immense amounts of this insurance at cut rates. The householder, the farmer, the merchant or the manufacturer figured that he had picked up a bargain in insurance and had made a material saving.

Often, at the outset, a company of this stripe would pay a few small losses in scattered communities in order to bait other residents of the locality to take out more policies. But the first material loss brought matters to a crisis and the "adjuster" sent to report upon the loss seldom, if ever, failed to turn in a finding more or less boldly implicating the holder of the policy in the charge of arson. Of course it was intimated that if he preferred to drop the matter this ugly charge would not be made public, but if he insisted upon pressing the claim of loss his good name would have to suffer and the whole thing would be aired in court. Many of these wildcat insurance swindlers have been convicted in Chicago as a result of the energy and vigilance of the federal, state and municipal authorities, but the success of these operations demonstrated that the business man is not exempt from the wiles of the swindler.

As a matter of fact, "sucker lists" of business men are in sharp demand in the offices of swindlers. They realize that the average business man has a weakness for "making money on the side" in ventures of wholly a different character from that with which his own business has made him familiar. He is trapped because he will not thoroughly investigate before he parts with his money.

Study Silk Making.

From 200 to 300 boys and girls are constantly in attendance at the two silk schools in Lyons, France, where they learn all the secrets of silk making, from breeding the silkworm to the designing of fine patterns and weaving the silk. Upon the Croix-Rouge hill top, where one of the schools is situated, there are not fewer than 30,000 men, women and children engaged in weaving the silk. The pupils go from the school into the rooms where they see silk making carried on, and they often engage in the practical work, besides weaving silk several hours a day in the schools.

Permit Granted for Power Plant.

The United States government has granted a permit for the erection of a $1,000,000 power plant on the South Platte watershed, a short distance from Denver, Colo., and has also given a right-of-way for the necessary transmission lines. The plant will permit the production of 20,000 electrical horsepower.

VOLUMES MIGHT BE WRITTEN

Of the Success That Attends the Farmer in Western Canada.

The story of wheat farming in Western Canada (that portion of Canada lying north of Dakota and Montana) has been frequently told, but it will stand a lot of telling, and still retain its touch of interest. During the year just closed 377,376 persons made their homes in Canada as compared with 215,912 for the year 1904, an increase of 61,464. Those from the United States numbered 55,551. A writer in "Industry" recently said: "Today the 'Dominion of Canada is witnessing a 'mighty movement of population' than ever stimulated a Biblical writer 'or to pen a chapter of Scriptures.' The same writer says: 'From the Rhine and the Rhone river valleys; from the port cities of Germany and the 'farms of the Fatherland, and out from the 'peasant soil of Russia; and out from 'the grimy Lancashire and over-populated Yorkshire, the discontented and ambitious of every clime are 'seeking to take advantage of the 'opportunities afforded by the fertile 'soil and exhilarating climate of the 'Empire of the North.'"

Continuing the same writer says: "While a million human beings throng 'the shores of the United States every 'year, the smaller number arriving in 'Canada come with a more well-defined 'purpose.' The question has been asked why do these people come to Canada? The available land between the Mississippi and the Pacific has been exhausted, and the farmers within that territory find that their sons have to seek newer climes. Canada offers one hundred and sixty acres of land free to each. This land yields from 20 to 40 bushels of wheat to the acre. In Southern Alberta, the winter wheat belt of Canada, as high as 60 bushels per acre have been harvested. Less yields than the one mentioned have netted the farmer as much as $35 per acre. There are no words that tell the tale so effectively as those of the farmer himself, the man who has ploughed the fields, sowed the grain, and with folded hands rests while nature, bounteous in that country, in less than three months, placed at his disposal hundreds of acres of ripened grain, now waiting the arrival of the reaper, and therefore we reproduce the following letter.

Any agent of the Canadian government will be pleased to give information regarding the district mentioned or any of any other that may be desired.

E. T. Holmes, Esq., Canadian Government Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

Dear Sir:—

In 1905 I located on a claim about 30 miles from the town of Wadena, on the Canadian Northern Railroad. I have lived on my claim most of the time since. I consider this to be one of the best districts in the country for grain growing. In 1906 wheat averaged from 30 to 51 bushels per acre on some of my neighbors' farms, within 4 miles of my claim. Oats go from 75 to 100 bushels. It is also a good country for stock. Where I am there is plenty of fuel. Homesteads nearly all taken the settlement being largely Germans, and Americans, all well-to-do. I left Wadena in February, 1907, returning April 25, so that I missed part of the winter, which the old settlers tell me was one of the worst they ever saw, but there was no suffering, as the people are pretty well fixed, and there are no blizzards in that country, at least there never has been known to be one. Wild land sells at from $10 to $15; closer to town it is higher.

In the summer we have all sorts of wild fruits very plentiful, and I never saw better vegetables, and game is so plentiful a man need not starve for want of something to eat. Plenty of good water too. You need not hesitate to recommend this district, but the homesteaders are nearly all taken, most of the homesteaders are living right on their claims.
