MANY YEARS AGO.

Files of The Journal, July 8, 1874. Since the 4th of July the luxury of a cool night is not a common occurrence. Some experience in Nebraska leads us to believe that the climate is undergoing a change in this particular. We do not like to part with cool nights in hot weather, but if the change comes it is by a law that will compel us to submit, unless we are willing to take our sleeping rooms down deep in cellars.

We are indebted to M. Maher, one of the board of county commissioners, for the following items relative to the levies made for the present year, to-wit: The entire levy for county purposes is 20 1/2 mills. This levy we understand includes all levies for special purposes. The levy for state purposes is 6 1/2 mills. The special levy for Columbus precinct is 6 mills. Whatever happens, our taxes must be levied and collected. The people have selected their several agents to manage these matters and we hope they are managed in the interests of the people, but the 20 1/2 mills for county purpose appears heavy.

The dry weather of the past week has had its effect upon the growing crops, but it is generally thought that wheat is too far along to be injured much. Many fields of this grain will be harvested this week, the seed wheat being nearest ready to cut. Those who are accustomed to produce good corn are now giving it all the attention possible, pulling the weeds from about the stalks, hoeing and plowing, and purpose finishing with a narrow stirring plow, throwing the moist soil well up against the stalk. In using the plow care should be taken not to disturb the tap root.

Central City won two straight games from Columbus on the 4th and 5th, the score being the same both days, 5 to 2 in favor of Central City. In the firemen's league the Hookies still hold first place, having won their game Sunday from Hose Company No. 1 by a score of 8 to 5. On Sunday, July 12, there will be a double header between the firemen's teams, Hose Companies No. 1 and 3 playing the first game and the Hookies playing the winners.

During the last week a grand stand has been built at the grounds. Following is the standing of the teams in the firemen's league:

TEAMS	Plays	Wins	Losses	Per Cent.
Hookies	12	9	3	0.100
Hose Company No. 1	12	6	6	1.000
Hose Company No. 2	1	0	1	1.000

ELLIOTT, SPEIG AND GO.

This week County Assessor Clark has filed his report with the state board of equalization. The total assessed valuation of the county is $6,351,571, not including the railroad assessment, which will bring the total up to over $7,500,000. There are six patent rights listed, also four persons have said they owned boats. It takes sixty-three threshing machines to supply the county, and the next item is 1,197 dogs at the assessed valuation of ninety-eight cents apiece. There are twenty-three automobiles and ninety-six bicycles, the total assessed valuation of the former being $1,411. The county is not rich in diamonds and other valuable stones, as all the owners will pay taxes on $1,362. There are 12,001 horses, 720 mules, 37,952 cattle, 838 sheep and goats and 44,857 hogs, the assessed valuation being $398,886. The total amount of taxable lands and improvements is $22,667,630 actual value, and the average per acre is $53.53. The average actual value of town lots including their improvements is $1,057.48, and the average for unimproved lots is $135.42. The assessment of personal property this year is about eight per cent lower than last year, several precincts showing a big falling off on account of being haled out.

Specials to the Denver convention commenced passing through Columbus Sunday. The Columbus crowd, accompanied by others from towns on the Norfolk and Spalding branches, pulled out in a special car about 6:30 p. m. The same train contained a hundred Bryan shouters from Fremont. Two specials, filled with small-fry Tammany braves, accompanied by Ben John Barleycorn, who appeared to be in full command, were the first to arrive. When the first of the Tammany trains reached Columbus, the braves in one of the cars appeared to have exhausted their supply of shouting elixir, and several ones were hoisted on board to replenish the stock. One of the braves with a thick neck, and wearing a dirty shirt and a jag, made a few Bowersy remarks on the political issues of the day. Another brave was holding an animated argument with "Old Bill Devery," whom he designated as the "worst pick pocket in New York City." The entire bunch was a fair sample of Tammany politicians and it is some satisfaction to the friends and admirers of Mr. Bryan to know that the Tammany pluggers prefer almost any other candidate than the Nebraska man.

President Karr of the Commercial club has been interesting himself on behalf of the club, for better train service for Columbus on the Spalding branch. Under the present schedule there is but an hour between the arrival of the passenger on that branch and its return, which gives little or no time in Columbus. On the other hand, the Norfolk passenger train arrives at about one o'clock and returns at 7:30. This permits passengers from up that line to put in the whole afternoon in Columbus, with the result that our merchants profit thereby. Mr. Karr believes that it will be a big benefit, both to Columbus and the company, in the increase of business, and he has taken the matter up with General Manager Mohler, who promised to see what could be done and expressed a willingness to assist in anything that would be beneficial to the company and this city.

The high water at Lincoln was responsible for some of the special trains to the Denver convention passing through this city. Besides the Dahlman special train, which picked up a car load from the Spalding and Albion branches at this place, the Rock Island was compelled to send two of their trains, the first one carrying the Jefferson club of St. Louis and the second being the fourth section of Tom Johnson's special, over the Union Pacific. Besides the special trains the Rock Island handled two of their regular trains and the Burlington one of their Denver trains over the Union Pacific. The high water resulted in all trains on the Columbus and Lincoln line of the Burlington being annulled Monday and Tuesday. The passenger succeeded in reaching Seward Monday, but was turned around and sent back.

The Platte County Rural Letter Carriers' association held their annual county convention at the home of Postmaster Kramer Sunday June 28. The business transacted was the election of officers and delegates to the state convention at York, as follows: President, H. B. Reed; vice president, J. F. English; Humphrey; secretary, G. M. Hall; treasurer, W. D. Benson; Delegates to the State convention, H. B. Reed, Mrs. Ruth Kenyon. There were nine carriers present, six from Columbus, two from Platte Center, one from Mon roe and one substitute, John Brock. Besides the rural carriers the city carriers were present and also Postmaster Finson of Platte Center. Postmaster Kramer gave a talk to the association as did also Mr. Brock. After the session refreshments were served.

Will Aldrich, nephew of Wm. Terrell of this city, accompanied by his friends, Mr. Root and Mr. Warren, all of Philadelphia, arrived here Monday afternoon on their way west. They will have a look in on the Democratic convention at Denver, and from there go for a tour of Yellowstone Park. After the Park they proceed to Duluth, from which point they go by boat to Buffalo, on their homeward journey.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kruse, who live in the southeast part of this city, were greatly alarmed on the evening of the Fourth, as to the whereabouts of their seven year old daughter Lillian, who in company with several of the neighbor children came to the celebration early in the day. At supper time Lillian refused to accompany her companions home saying, "she would wait for them to return." As darkness came on and no word of her whereabouts was learned her parents notified the city authorities and a diligent search was made but the child could not be found. It was thought she was attracted to the Union Pacific depot by the bright lights and the number of persons waiting to take the different trains for their respective homes, and later boarded a west bound train. At the first stop, Clark, the little Miss left the train. There she remained until Sunday; her parents were notified and Mr. Kruse left early Sunday morning for Clark returning the same day with his daughter, who was badly frightened but not injured in the least for her night's adventure.

The Star Bloomer Girls Champion Ladies' base ball club of the world, who are making an extensive tour of this country and Canada, traveling in their own special Pullman, under the management of F. C. Schmelz, will make their first appearance in Columbus on Monday, July 13th, when they will play one of most interesting and exciting games of ball with the Columbus team that has ever been played in this vicinity. Ladies, as well as gentlemen, can attend this game without any fear of being offended, as nothing will be said or done that the most fastidious could object to. There are 30 people in this organization, which includes a concert band. Game will take place at the ball park.
The engagement of Miss Petita Martyn to Charles C. Givens of Mt. Sterling, Illinois, was announced Thursday at a five-course luncheon given by Mrs. G. B. Speice, at her home on west 14th street. The tables were tastefully decorated in red, orange, red ribbons, and brass candle sticks, which held lighted red candles. The place cards showed cupid riding the wedding bells, and bore the opening score of a popular wedding march. The announcement was made by the hostess as the first course was being served. The wedding will take place in September. The out of town guests were, Miss Rotiger of Mt. Sterling, Ill., Mrs. Randall and Mrs. W. E. Rhodes of Chicago.
L. F. Gottschalk is keeping his friends at home well posted as to his movements in the foreign countries. FELL FROM HIS BALLOON.

F. P. Hackstock, the Humphrey Aeronaut Killed Here on the Fourth.
Three accidents, on Eleventh street, one of them resulting in death, happened in Columbus on the Fourth.
F. P. Hackstock, the Humphrey aeronaut, fell from his balloon and was instantly killed. Owing to the stiff wind that was blowing, Hackstock and his assistant decided to inflate their balloon in front of the Pacific hotel. It is stated that Hackstock's assistant pointed out the danger of sending up the balloon at the point where it was inflated, but the aeronaut appeared willing to take the risk, as he was anxious to make the ascent on time and then go to Schuyler, where he expected to make another ascent later in the day. About 2:15, after Hackstock had fastened one hand to the bar on the balloon with a strap, he gave the signal to those holding the ropes to let go. As the balloon arose the aeronaut waved his hand to the crowd. Clearing the trees opposite the hotel, the balloon started almost directly north, but failed to ascend high enough to clear the electric light wires in the alley in the rear of the buildings on Eleventh street. Hackstock struck the wires with terrific force and a second later was hurled against the chimney of the building where the Crystal theater is located. After reaching this building the balloon commenced to ascend higher, and after passing over the structure the strap which held the aeronaut's hand broke and he fell to the pavement, striking on his head and crushing in his skull. The injured man was at once placed in an automobile and hurried toward the hospital, but died before reaching that place. Later the remains were taken to Genoa's undertaking establishment where they were prepared for burial.
The dead man was formerly a resident of Humphrey, but lately his parents moved to Cedar Rapids, this state. He was 26 years old.
The remains were taken to Humphrey for burial.
During the excitement on Eleventh street at the time of the accident, a man driving a horse ran into a woman knocking down, but fortunately she escaped with only a few bruises.
In the evening, about 9 o'clock, the third accident on Eleventh street occurred. The committee appointed to superintend the fire works display had just commenced operations, when a spark ignited all the rockets, candles and whirring-gigs and for about one minute there was a display that stampeded the crowd. Fortunately no one was injured.

The celebration in Columbus on the Fourth attracted a large crowd from the country and surrounding towns, and the program, as advertised, was carried out. Hon. August Thomas, of New York, speaker of the day, delivered one of the finest addresses ever heard in Columbus on a like occasion. The ball game between Central City and Columbus teams, was won by the former. The other sports were equally as attractive. The automobile parade in the evening was one of the features of the day. Some of the machines were tastefully decorated and presented a gaudy appearance. The day's pleasure was marred by a sad accident, the death of Frank Hackstock, the young man who fell from his balloon and was killed, an account of which will be found elsewhere in this paper.

Vomicola Borwick, seventeen-year old daughter of Mrs. John Paptotki, died at her home seven miles southwest of this city Monday, after a lingering illness of two years. The deceased was born August 2, 1891, and leaves beside her mother, three brothers and one sister to mourn her loss. The funeral services were held Wednesday morning at 10 a. m. at the Catholic church, being conducted by Father Marcollinus, and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery.
Tuesday forenoon there was an exciting runaway on Eleventh street, and before the team was stopped they came near causing J. C. Hardy some serious trouble. The team came up behind him as he was crossing to Twelfth street and tried to follow him. As they were running as hard as they could he did his best to get out of their way and finally succeeded in turning his horse so they passed him. It looked for a time as though they would run into his buggy and smash it, but he succeeded in avoiding a collision.
