Merry Moments With Humorists

Some of the Best Things Written by the Acknowledged Masters. THE THEORY OF THE PARTY OF THE members of the human race as have army officer returning from the capcome within my sight during the past 30 years I have come to the conclusion that philosophy is a good thing for us to use every day. Too many of us go through life without its benefits. We turn away from it, in repugnance and around the corner meet disappointment and regret.

Benefits of Philosophy

By RICHARD S. GRAVES.

All of us do not know that wisdom may be extracted from the small things of life, and that its application, like the numble mustard plaster, often brings contentment and peace.

· Nobody would expect to be taught philosophy by a hornet, for instance, but a hornet can teach it and impress a lasting lesson, although a hornet is but a little thing. A hornet is but a trifle in the great universe-just a detail in the insect world, with the accent mostly on the last syllable.

I do not remember having seen a more lasting or thorough lesson than the one that was taught to me by a hornet.

When I met the hornet he was on his nest, apparently in a bad frame of mind. At least he seemed to be that way. I was not in a hurry, so I stopped to look at him and make an Bagbag. investigation as to the cause of his unhappiness. I noted his keen glance in the face at close range and make and angry aspect and they appeared grimaces at him. That is one chunk at one and the same time. to be out of place in one so small and of wisdom I tore off that day and

After having observed such other | iusignificant. He reminded me of an

Decided to Go Away from There Im mediately. ture of Aguinaldo, or swimming the

It is not wise to look a bald hornet

"And I do," grimly assured Edgar.

Irad combed his whisker thoughtful-

"It will look like any barometer.

except on the side will be marked:

Sickness, Fires, Drouths, Brown-Tail

Moths, Potato Rust, Hen Thieves, and tunes. The liquid in giving 48 hours' warning turns cloudy opposite the

"For instance, you git up in the to Measles. You've got 48 hours' clear tube means all hunkey dory.

start of the disease. What if it climbs

"Now what about this barometer?"

"How?" gasped Edgar.

different words.

carried away with me. It was jabbed into me and permeated my system thoroughly.

The hornet walked up and down his beat on the outside of the nest, like a new policeman, and kept his eye on me all the time. I cannot say it was a defiant look he gave me. It seemed to be more in the nature of a warning. I think now that he was saying to me by his actions, just as plainly as he could have said in words:

"You tear out of here! Fade away! Duck!"

Just as I stopped to pick up a rock the hornet must have said something to the other half million hornets inside the nest, concealed there without my knowledge or connivance, and they came out to see what he meant. They knew at once that he meant me, and an instant later 40 or 50 red-hot musket balls struck me. I decided to go away from there immediately, and I think I went just as immediately as anybody of average agility could have gone.

Time has softened the memory of that awful experience, but across the years comes to me a distinct recollection that I applied the theory of cause and effect, perhaps for the first time in my life. As a result I tore out. I ducked, and faded away. or at least I made heroic and frantic efforts to accomplish all three feats village elections told three months ahead. I tried to git it up to five, but there's a psychology about elections that's-"

(Copyright, 1909, by W. G. Chapman.)

"What about hoss trades?" feverishy obtruded Edgar.

"The hardest problem I have," whispered Irad. "I can guarantee only 15 minutes. It ain't a regular disease like measles, you see. A man would have to do his swappin' in sight of it." "Or carry it with him," hungrily uggested Edgar.

Irad pursed his lips and shook his head and unstrapped the trunk, and corrected: "Hardly! on account of "Wires?" choked Edgar.

"Wires leading from the electric motor to the barometer." informed

"Do you mean this contraption must be run by a motor?" thundered Edmorning and find the fluid milky up

"By a 75-hoss power non-flexible motor," mildly explained frad, "But the householder puts it in and it's nothing out of your pocket."

"How much would the motor cost?" gritted Edgar.

"I figgered on between $1,100 and $1.124-" But the rest was lost as Edgar clattered down the attic stairs.

Irad Biglow's Criminal Barometer By HUGH PENDEXTER. "Trunk packed?" angrily demand-"If you command it in the name

ed Irad Biglow's cousin, now resolved of duty I a'pose I must," sighed Irad. to be rid of the aged kinsman's unwelcome presence.

Irad, disconsolate because there was no shelter to receive him, rely and explained: "My Criminal Barmained in the splint-bottom chair and ometer prevents crimes, accidents swallowed convulsively. Then he and sickness. For $2.50 a family can pleaded: "Wait a moment, Edgar, till avoid doctor's bills and losses." I think out in detail that danged barometer of mine. Say, 1,500 families in this section, each buying one for $2.50 apiece-

Edgar mentally cast up the total, but wise from past experiences, he so on through the scale of all misforrepeated: "Trunk ready for the :wagon?" "Giving a profit of $3,700 on the first batch," mused the old man, "figgering that we peddle 'em ourselves." "Peddle what?" asked Edgar, forgetting his resentment enough to take to Fires? Be careful till it goes down.

If the tube registers Horse Thief, jest Irad cocked his feet on the worn keep the barn door shut and your trunk and replied: "Why, my Crimieyes open." nal Barometer I was telling you about. By Judas! It was Cousin Freeman, not you, who was interested in that Fooling with science makes a man forgit everything else. Excuse me. If you'll take the hind end-" "Just a jiffy," remonstrated Edgar, invest money in?"

"If the Tube Registers Horse Thief."

"He seems anxious that way." confessed Irad, rising and yawning. "Well, I'm ready-"To take your new invention to the man what never treated you de fight for France." cent." accused Edgar, hotly, treat you like a-a brother-"

"Don't, Edgar," begged the old man. about it when we next meet."

"And so you'd rush over to Freetrunk. You've got to stay here three | was ready to enlist. · >s more anyway "

"Will it tell about crops?" greedily asked Edgar. "It gives six months' warning." readily assured Irad. "Outcome of (Copyright, 1909, by W. G. Chapman.)

Medium-Sized Journeys

in 1412, thus carefully antedating the English regency, thought the girl and the directoire gown. She knew inclined to listen to her funny talk. there were other matters she would have to attend to, so she chose an age when she wouldn't be bothered so much to keep up with the style.

She was a peasant girl of honest, farmers' daughters, when Bess would died in veal-hood.

the line-back mooly a clout in the away from there. flark-steak that would hold her awhile, she thought she heard someone speaking to her. Further investigation convinced Joan that the speaker was an angel. This made her apolohis eyes narrowing. "Do you mean gize to the cow. Further chat with king-row?" she asked. you've got something Freeman will the angel gave her to understand it was St. Michael, and at length she grew so at home in his society she called him Mike.

The message delivered by this angel was, "Go; put on a business suit, and Joan was at first reluctant about it-not that it would be any undesirable change from milking in fly-"I'll hold Freeman off and tell you time, to real war, but because she didn't like to wear a three-button sack-coat and a derby hat. But the man's to-night?" cried Edgar. "Any voice persisted, so she rolled down religious scruples about paying me a her sleeves, went and bought a suit civilized visit? Unstrap that dinged and told the French commander she

Naturally the commander, harried

By STRICKLAND W. GILLILAN. Joan of Arc was born in Domremy | as he was by the duke of Bedford's hipless form, the merry widow hat was very much Ophelia, and wasn't

Her first job was to lick the English at Orleans. She had no cotton-bales and sand-bags as Jackson had when he fought the same folks later at New Orleans, but she had her hat-pin, of therefore poor, parents, and had to which, naturally, the British were do the milking. Like other husky slow to see the point. She made frequent sallies. At first, being unfanot "so," Joan would vouchsafe the miliar with them, she called them old helfer a swat over the perceptives Sarahs. But later she was on better that would make her sorry she hadn't terms with that mode of warfare. After awhile the English grew dis-Once, just when she had handed satisfied with her attacks and went

> Then she took Charles VII. to Rheims and had him fitted with a crown, and thought her checkered career was done. "Isn't my man in the

> They convinced her that the trouble was only beginning, and that sho ought to fight right on. Eventually she was captured when she hadn't said "King's ex" or crossed her fingers and wasn't standing on wood, and they took her and burned her at the stake.

Recently a very ignorant friend of mine, in buying some porterhouse, remarked that if Joan of Arc had lived to-day they would have found something cheaper than steak to burn her began overhauling the soda fountain, as I am doing now." "But that couldn't have anything to do with the town ordinances," replied the party addressed. "You wait a minute. I noticed that customers who came in looked at me in a queer way, but I did not give much attention until a constable came in and informed me that I was under

It is terrible not to know how to (Copyright, 1909, by W. G. Chapman.)

"But what for?

"Overhauled my old soda fountain." "But hadn't you a right to do that?" "But it was only the middle of May.

"But what had that to do with it?" "Why, I spoiled the sleighing. Yes, sir, it invited summer to come and summer came, and the snow and the sleighing disappeared fully two months before the usual time."

"Oh, I paid the $15 fine and prom-

ABOUT THE HOME Timely Chat on Matters of En- BY CANAL AND RIVER &

tertainment and Etiquette, by Mme. Merri

to come prepared to tell of her own and candied cherries. particular fad; if possible, to bring a The making and selling of fancy specimen, and be prepared to talk five fudge has proved quite a financial atminutes about it.

One lady had selected plates for her among its members. specialty and she brought a most Even grown-ups enjoy "fudge" parbeautiful old Sevres piece that will ties, as I can cheerfully testify. Anysome day be worth a king's ransom. thing constructed upon a chafing dish In her travels plates are always her brings with it an element of sociabilquest and her dining room testifies to ity and cheerfulness that is hard to her success. Anniversary cups and attain in any other way. Long life to saucers was one woman's fad; as each it and its pretty schoolgirl chamwedding day comes she adds an ex- pions. quisite cup to her collection. They are for after-dinner coffee and show off to advantage when she serves black coffee in the drawing room.

these she monograms in the colors of the source of one guest's finances with which to indulge her fad of teapots; many of these she bought at ing his partner. Another way is to dressed in blue, and she had them from all over the world, besides many fine creations of her own fair hands. The intellectual girl confessed that books were her particular weakness. and she has many of them inscribed with the author's name; also rare first editions, and a splendid bookplate drawn by a famous illustrator she was justly proud of.

Chinese carvings was another fad and rare Japanese and Chinese pottery still another. Prints and engravings were the special love of a lady who nearly always wore gray, which exactly matched her beautiful hair. All this led up to the fact that every one needed a hobby, something to add zest to one's journeys; occupy the mind. and provide always a topic for entertaining conversation.

"Bring your chafing dish and aprons for two on Saturday night at eight." This was the message four girls and four lads of congenial minds received not long ago. And what a jolly time they had! The helpful boys donned the aprons and the girls amid much merriment instructed them into the mysteries of fudge building.

A Fad Party.

There was divinity fudge, which is Spoon crazes and monogram fan ep the very latest addition to the fudge ameics have been succeeded by a family, and all sorts of concection rational and useful mania, for each that made the plain chocolate fudge of person now has her own especial hob- -well, I'll say "my school days," inby; the more practical the better, stead of how many years ago, look With this in mind a young hostess like a plain little Quaker lady amid sent out invitations asking each one the new fluffy masses filled with nuts tribute to one "guild" that numbers It was a very interesting afternoon. a goodly array of South side girls

To Find Partners. Make balls of cotton, tie them with different colored ribbons two of a A prospective bride adds a towel to kind, then give the two balls that are her linen chest every trip she takes; alike to a man. Have the men on one side of a door or room separated by her bedrooms to be. A dime bank was portieres over which there is a grill or opening. The man is to throw over one ball, the girl who catches it beauction shops. Handkerchiefs was the wrap a half of a quotation in one ball pet hobby of a dainty little maiden and then match the quotation halves.

A Red Geranium Luncheon.

The most stunning table imaginable achieved when red geraniums are used exclusively as the decoration for the luncheon. They are available alike to both city and country hostesses, as nearly every one has a bed of these brilliant garden flowers and they are usually at their brightest when other blossoms are on the wane. Fill a large glass bowl with the scarlet posies, using their own rich leaves for the green. Red candles in holders of glass, scarlet paper bonbon and nut boxes, with ribbons of the same hue leading to the place cards. which should be white with a red geranium thrust through the corner. The hostess should be gowned in white, with red belt, stock and slip- army of the republic; the blood was All Mission, or walks with one of its pers; or the dress may be of red muslin with white accessories. First serve a cherry cocktail, then tomato bouillon, salmon croquettes with Julienne potatoes, beet salad and raspberry sherbet. The cakes may be iced in red, as there is a harmless fruit coloring; a confectioner will make cream patties to match in coloring if the order is given a few days ahead. MADAME MERRI.

the Serviette

N many homes, a serviette has to last each person for a week, or, perhaps, one is allowed for breakfast and lunch, another for dinner, to serve the week: these often become more soiled on the outside by handling than they do from use; and a little contrivance, such as we show here, and which is of French origin, is very practical. It is made like an envelope, of fine linen or cambric, the width that of a serviette folded in three or four as preferred, the depth to correspond; the size must, of course, be regulated by the size of the serviette it is intended to hold. The edge is ornamented all round by a drawn thread hem, one end is turned up to form a pocket, the other which forms the flap is worked with the spray shown below in open hole embroidery; the case is fastened by a loop and small button under the

A washing glove or handkerchief case could be made on these lines. and might be ornamented with the embroidery design, either worked in open holes or in raised satin stitch.

for morning wear. The low shoe or oxford is just a bit smarter than the pump. Pongee serge is a new material, of texture altogether lovely. Cotton flowers are used more on hats than silk ones.

Marvels of beauty are the fairy-like scarfs of tinted chiffon with borders of liant colors. Black suede shoes are smart, but look a bit smudgy, and make one want to take a bit of kneaded rubber and pick out a few high lights.

- Crossbar Dimity. seen and it has the advantage of be. it where no dust can reach it until all

The Parisienne's Newest Shoes. Some of the newest shoes made for the gay Parisian elegantes are of the variety which the Americans call "low shoes." This is the first time that these have appeared upon the feet of the real Parisian, and they are quite so as to form large squares, which are very transparent, while the most novel colors are brick, violet and almost every shade of peacock blue. Mr.ny Parisian women are ordering linen shoes to wear with their linen gowns, and these, of course, will be the same color as the dress. The metallic tissues, silver, gold and copper, are bespangled medallions in delicately bril- ing made up into charming slippers for evening wear.

Make Your Hats New.

If the black chip hat which was worn last summer looks a little dingy. wipe and brush off all the dust possible. Then rub it over lightly with Embroidered cressbar dimity edg. a piece of soft silk dipped in olive oil. ing is something we have recently Wipe it as dry as possible, and keep

"It is said of us French workingmen that we are opposed to religion. an imposed religion, a religion forms and ceremonies; but we are dom and earnestness."

ner of a Paris boulevard, talking with a stranger, whom yet he had recognized as "a Christian minister." It was ten o'clock on a hot August night. It is not a church, but a People's Misa few weeks after the suppression of the Commune, nearly thirty-eight of the people it is therefore a friend of years ago. The smoke of its fires was still ascending, the bodies were hardly cold which filled those ghastly trenches in Pere la Chaise, into which thousands of Cummunards had been mown by the avenging cannon of the hardly dry on the wall, not many rods missionaries, or calls one of them to away, against which 40 priests had been stood and shot to death by those Communards in their day of mad power, for the sole crime of being priests. Yet that workingman said truly, writes Louise Seymour Houghton, in the Christian Herald. That infuriated French mob had not been animated by a hatred of religion in itself.

had deceived and betrayed them. The workingman disappeared in the has never since been seen or heard of. but his words have come sounding down through all these years, and because of them hundreds of thousands, yes, a great multitude whom no man can number, have been taught "the true religion of freedom and earnestness." For the words were spoken to gether make a nice combination, and Rev. Robert W. McAll, then the pastor of a large church in England, and after by those interested in new intheir immediate result was the begin- dustries. Besides soap the soap berning of the work now known all over the Christian world as the McAll Mission, but to the people of France as it may also yield a fine and profitable the common people.

Readers of the Christian Herald know how Dr. McAll left his comfortable church and, without ever again receiving a cent of salary, began a work which, with its halls, its boats, its itinerant tract distributors, its colporteurs, its automobile and tent to Marseilles, penetrated into Tunis Noah. and Algiers, and brought the light of the Gospel to almost pagan Corsica. Pages might be written of remarkable incidents of the boat and other work of this great mission. "Floating chapels," or "missionary boats," are so well known to readers of this paper that it will perhaps be news to them that this form of evangelistic work began with the McAll Mission. All the rivers of France are connected by canals, so that there are 20,000 miles of connected inland waterways in France. About seventeen years ago a floating chapel, Le Bon Messager (The Good Messenger). was built for the McAll Mission and ty that some of us suppose. In the launched upon these inland waterways to carry the Gospel to as many as possible of the villages and hamlets not reached by railway, many of them without even a Roman Catholic claimed for this pioneer automobile church. A few years later, by the that it could cover 40 miles in a day. generosity of an American lady, a sec- and it actually ran from Hampstead ond mission boat, La Bonne Nouvelle to Tottenham Court in less than 40 (The Good News), was launched. The minutes. This vehicle is said to have story of these two boats might fil! run with "charming ease," which is volumes. The people of many farm- more than can be honestly said of ing hamlets and waterside villages some of its London successors of tohave heard the Gospel for the first day.

connecting "twin" villages on opposite banks of river or canal. When the boat moves on to the next village the people follow it, three miles, six, nine and even 12 miles. But it is impossible, with only two boats, to visit all the riverside villages and hamlets of France, even once, much less to return for the ingathering of the spiritual harvest. It is impossible to know in any detail what are the re-That is not true. We are done with sults of all this work. The majority of the French people seem to believe that religion is the enemy of repubready to hear if anyone will teach us licanism and that a republican form the true religion, the religion of free of government cannot exist where religion is tolerated. And, in the minds The speaker, a French workingman of the majority of Frenchmen, the in his blouse, was standing at the cor- word "religion" is synonymous with "Catholic."

But all this time the McAll Mission has suffered under no such disability. sion, and being by definition a friend the republic. "I like to come here because there is no religion here"meaning no ritual or ceremonial-is frequently said in a mission hall. No penalty, social or legal, is visited upon the man who enters a hall of the Mcofficiate at a funeral. To those who know it, the mission is a friend, an agency for their instruction and for the moralization and the safe and innocent recreation of their children.

Soap Tree in Florida.

Side by side grow the soap tree and the tallow tree. The soap tree yields a but simply by hatred of that "religion product from which is manufactured of forms and ceremonies," because in the purest article of soap that is postheir inmost hearts they felt that it sible to be made. Indeed, the pulp of this berry is a natural soap and will make a lather almost like the manucrowd of the Parislan boulevard, and factured article. The scap berry tree is now creating widespread interest and the berries are being imported from Algiers and China.

It will pay to plant the trees and look after their cultivation. The product of the tailow tree also enters into the product of soap and the two totheir cultivation should be looked ries make a fine oil, and when the virtues of the tailow tree are fully known "the Popular Mission," the mission to oit. The young man who now plants out a ten or twenty-acre orchard of these two trees may drop into an easy fortune.-Ocala Banner.

Began to Be Worried.

Little George, who was four years old, had been told many Bible stories. Among them was the story of the work, has covered France from Calais flood and the building of the ark by

One day a storm threatened. The clouds grew darker, the wind arose. and suddenly the rain began to fall. "Auntie," said George, "do you think it is going to storm?" "Yes, I think it will," was the reply.

"Do you think it will be a hard storm?" asked the little fellow. "Yes, I think it will be a hard storm," the aunt replied. "Well, don't you think some of us had better begin building an ark?" he asked.-Los Angeles Herald. An Early London Motor Car. Motor cars are not quite the novel-London Daily Advertiser of March 4. 1742, there is a description of "a curious chaise that travels without horses, lately arrived from Berne." It was met at a village in Indiana. "I reckon you are the celebrated met you."

A. LITERARY LION

with shoes of this character are wove: "My name is Crawford," replied the ty board wrung Mr. Crawford's hand. novelist. "Allow me to introduce myself," said the other. "My name is Higgs. I off the car, leaving the astonished auam in the book line myself, and know thor of "Mr. Isaacs" gasping for how it goes."

"You are an author?" remarked Mr. Crawford. "I am glad to meet you." "Yes, I have published a book regularly every year since 1890." "May I ask the name of your latest book?" till you can't rest. Come and spend | made a really good speech.

The late F. Marion Crawford used | the day with us, and it won't cost you to tell of a bright gent whom he a cent. Well, this is where I get off. Good-by, Mr. Crawford. Glad to have

The stockings intended to be worr | Marion Crawford?" said the stranger. | The genial secretary of Jones counpushed his hat further back on his head, strode down the aisle and got breath.-The Wasp.

> She Was Excited. When an American girl goes to Europe she has to learn to do a great many things she may not have done in this country. For instance, she "It's the Premium List of the Jones will often have to make speeches. It County Agricultural Fair," responded is reported that the countess of Gran-Higgs. "Allow me to present you and made her first speech in Hornsey with a copy of it. I'm the secretary at a bazaar, the Liberal party having of the Jones county board. We're go- the affair in charge. She stood under ing to beat all records this year. Air the stars and stripes, and for a few machines, chariot races, baseball moments had a bad case of stage games and trials of speed on track fright, but she soon recovered and

The House in Three States

Remarkable History of Three Brothers Born in the Same House, But All in Different States.

Montana is believed to possess three able than has heretofore been known. fan. Thomas C. Marshall of Missovia, Re- Mrs. Wright, but he was neither an publican national committeemar from Oregonian nor an Idahoan, but a Mon-seems incredulous, and all the more occupied by the Wright family." so when it is stated that the house stands on its original site. "These brothers are named Wright and are now residents of Missoula gist, as he rested for a moment from county, Montana. When the elder of overhauling his soda fountain. "I iana purchase.

was born to the Wright family, but in the meantime Idaho had been segre gated from the original territory, and therefore he was a antive of Idaho, brothers with a history more remark- and his elder brother was an Oregontanan, the treasure state having been "I believe." said Col. Marshall, "that sliced from Idaho in the meantime. precedented in the annals of Amer- same house and each in a different in the same house, and at the same "They are getting along in years time, each born in a different state, but the house still stands and is still

"Speaking of spring," said the drug-

"Several years later a second boy ican history. That they should be born state.

An Innocent Victim.

the history of the brothers stands un. Thus three brothers were born in the

"And you-you-?" these three brothers was born, that bought out a drug store in a town in | ised never to do so again, but beparticular section of the county was Vermont a few years ago. I was a tween you and me that had a good in Oregon, as a portion of the Louis- stranger to the town and its ordi- deal to do with my selling out and nances. About the middle of May I leaving the state."