The worst used up fields of grain that we saw during the late grasshopper raid were those of C. A. Newman. He said Monday that he would have a pretty good crop after all.

Abner Turner of the firm of Turner & Hulst returned from Missouri last week, where he had been to institute the purchasing of a large number of sheep, which the enterprising firm above named will utilize on Nebraska prairies. Knowing that many of our farmers desired to purchase a few sheep we made inquiry as to whether any of those to arrive within the next month would be for sale in small lots, but we found they were just like the Missourians and all others who have sheep—don't like to part with them.

The Wild oats or Devil's data, as they are more appropriately called, are very abundant this year, especially on the uplands, owing to the wet season, and those who are herding sheep should see to it that they are not left to suffer by them. Where sheep are allowed to graze all season you will find very few of these pests, and they should now be confined to those places for a few days, until the "darts" have dropped, as they are now rapidly doing—when there will no longer be any trouble from them. If your flock has been permitted to graze where these darts grow it will be a measure of economy, as well as mercy to dumb animals under your care, to go over your entire flock and pull out every one of these sharp, barbed needles. We found in one spring lamb as many as could be pressed into a coffee cup, and in that number, at least twenty-five that had entered the flesh and several that had caused festering sores. The dart strikes the fleece and through the motions of the animal and owing to the barbs of the dart, gradually makes its way to the hide and into the flesh. Mr. L. Gerrard informs us that he has known wolves to die from the effects of these darts, and, though we do not think that the sheep would be troubled so much with them, because of the peculiar kinky nature of their covering, offering greater resistance to the penetrating power of the barbed darts, yet we think the matter of sufficient practical importance to warrant special care on the part of shepherds. You will not neglect it if you value your sheep and think they have any rights or feelings, "which you are bound to respect."

On Friday last Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamer of this city received by telegram the sad news of the death of their daughter, Anna, that morning at Basin, Wyoming. The news was quite a shock to the aged parents, as it was the first intimation they had of any illness of their daughter. Anna Hamer was born on the Hamer homestead two and one-half miles west of Monroe, this county, thirty-eight years ago, coming to this city with her parents when she was five years of age. She attended the city schools and was a graduate of the class of 1890. She was a bright student and after graduation was a teacher for many years, both in her home county and in Wyoming. On the 11th day of May, 1902, at Casper, Wyo., she was united in marriage with Mr. Joseph Henry. They resided on their ranch at Big Trail for several years, and about three months ago removed to Basin where her death occurred on the 25th inst., the burial taking place the day following. She died of child birth. She leaves a loving husband, her aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hamer, of this city, and one brother, A. J. Hamer, of Toledo, O. Peace to her memory.

After suffering for several years with cancer, W. H. Lewis passed away at his home on West Fourteenth street last Saturday evening. Mr. Lewis was born near Rochester, N. Y., December 5, 1843. At the outbreak of the civil war he enlisted in the Thirtieth New York Infantry and served until 1863. He was wounded in the second battle of Bull Run and left on the field for dead, being taken prisoner by the Confederates, and afterwards being paroled. After the war he went to Wisconsin, and October 22, 1881, married Catherine E. Munson at Wilmet, that state. In October, 1887, they came to Nebraska and settled in Columbus, where Mr. Lewis was employed in the packing house, at that time located east of town. After this industry was discontinued he engaged in the stock buying business, which he followed as long as his health would permit. Besides his wife he leaves two daughters, Miss Mary Lewis and Mrs. Forrest Butler, both of this city. Funeral services were held Monday from the home, being conducted by Rev. Dibble, pastor of the Congregational church, and burial was in the Columbus cemetery.

Affiliation with the national association by the local clerks' league of the city seems almost a certainty, as the sentiment of the members, and especially those who have taken the lead in the local organization, is almost unanimous in favor of this step. While the clerks and their employers are on friendly terms, and it would hardly seem necessary to do this, yet Columbus is a growing city and now that the organization has been perfected, it's quite proper to make it permanent. When affiliated with the national organization, the local will be better able to work for both the interests of themselves and the employers, as they are both interested in the welfare of each other. The social time enjoyed by the members of the league at the Mannerchor hall last week was for the purpose of talking over the feasibility of taking this step, and at the next meeting of the league in July the permanent organization will no doubt be practically assured.

Last Sunday afternoon the Platte county rural carriers held their annual convention at the home of H. B. Reed, north of this city. Besides the rural carriers, substitutes and city carriers, Postmaster Kramer and daughter, Miss Florence, attended the convention. Officers elected for the coming year were: H. B. Reed, president; J. F. English, of Humphrey, vice president; G. M. Hall, secretary; W. D. Benson, treasurer; G. M. Hall, delegate; J. R. Brook, alternate. After convention adjourned refreshments were served, consisting of ice cream and cake. Besides transacting the regular business of the convention, committees were appointed and preliminary arrangements made to take care of the state convention of rural carriers, which meets in this city September 6, at which time at least 150 rural carriers will be present as delegates.

Candidates for county superintendent and county judge will have their names on the primary ballot, the same as two years ago, as the decision of Judge Cornish on the non-partisan law affecting these offices was to the effect that it was unconstitutional. County Clerk Graf has his primary call ready to issue, but is awaiting instructions from Lincoln regarding the addition of offices affected by the decision. So far in this county there have been three filings for county offices, John Graf for county clerk, Jerry Carrig for the new office of recorder of deeds, and H. C. Lachnit of Lindsay, who was formerly deputy sheriff, for sheriff. These are all democrats, and so far no republicans have signified their willingness to run for office, but the ticket will probably be filled up before the time for filing expires.

Books of tickets for the carnival, which begins Friday of this week, are on sale at the Park barber shop, Poesch's, Pollock's drug store, Deak's drug store, Hagel's bowling alley and the Oxford restaurant. These books contain $1.70 worth of tickets, but if purchased before the opening of the carnival, will be sold for $1, so it will be quite an advantage to purchase them before Friday.

The management have again contracted with Liberati's New York City Concert Band and Grand Opera Singers to play at the State Fair Sept. 6th to 10th, which will be appreciated by all Nebraska lovers of good music.

Mrs. F. N. Stevenson and daughter Madelyn left Wednesday evening for Seattle, where they expect to remain about two months. Mrs. C. W. Spioer of McComb, Mississippi, a sister of Mrs. Stevenson, who has been visiting in this city, accompanied them.

Almost two and one-half inches of rain, or to be exact 2.44 inches, is the record for last Wednesday evening. Streets were flooded and also some cellars. A few large hail stones fell here, and some damage is reported in the neighborhood of Dancon.

M. C. Cassin has sold a half interest in the Palace meat market to Frank Breen, who has been employed as manager of the Hushman market, the change to take place July 1. Mr. Breen will have charge of the market and Mr. Cassin will devote most of his time to buying and the outside.

Last Friday evening the Baptist young folks gave Miss Grace Benson a linen shower at the home of the pastor, Rev. Reinhart. Miss Benson was married to S. C. Leet of Winona, N. D., today at high noon, and immediately after the ceremony the couple left for their North Dakota home.

In some unknown manner the straw used in packing the tilting for the new depot, became ignited Monday, and for a time it looked as though one of the hose companies would have to be called out in order to prevent any damage being done. But the employees succeeded in putting out the fire with buckets.

Too much water on the local diamond caused the double-header ball game of Fremont's league, scheduled for Sunday to be postponed. The recent heavy rains made the grounds so muddy that it was out of the question to think of playing. There will be no games Sunday, as the Hookies have selected that day for their picnic.

Archie Ball was drunk and raising a disturbance Sunday evening, and when Officer Burke arrested him he showed fight and the office was compelled to use force to land him in the city jail. When he was up before Judge O'Brien Monday morning he faced a double charge, to which he pleaded guilty and was fined $15 and costs, amounting to $31, which he paid.

Those who were permitted to hear Liberati's New York City Concert Band and Grand Opera Singers last year will be delighted to hear that this organization has been secured by the management for the State Fair Sept. 6th to 10th, their two months' engagement terminating at Seattle just in time to permit them to stop off on their return trip home.

James Betterton and John Elliott left last Thursday evening for Leesburg, Idaho, where they will look after the developing of some mining property in which Mr. Elliott and some other Columbus men are interested. Mr. Betterton expects to remain at the mine, but Mr. Elliott will return this fall and resume his studies at the Rapid City, S. D., school of mines.

Six Columbus young ladies left Sunday evening for the west. Miss Marguerite Seipp goes to Tacoma, Wash., Miss Fannie Geiger, for Van Couver, British Columbia, and the Misses Mathilda Schneider, Anna Glur and Lillie Ernst go to The Dalles, Ore., and Miss Catherine Ternes goes to Idaho, and before returning she expects to take a trip to Los Angeles, California. They expect to be absent until September, and some may remain longer.

July 27, 28, 29 and 30 are dates for the Columbus races this year, an additional day having been added, making four in stead of three. This year the purses are larger and there is no doubt but that the string of horses entered this year will be much better and larger than ever before. It is the intention of the Columbus Driving Club to make the purses this year such as will attract the best horses in this section.

For the last few months the business men and farmers living in the vicinity of Monroe have been working to secure an independent elevator at that point, controlled by the farmers, and it looks very much as though they would have a home ready to handle the wheat crop this fall. When the other elevator men discovered that they were in earnest about putting up an elevator and practically had the funds subscribed they were given an option on the Omaha elevator building at that place, until July 10. The promoters of the elevator are now canvassing the stockholders in regard to securing the Omaha house, which would give them a chance to begin business at once, and the proposition is meeting with much favor, especially among the farmers. For some time the grain market at Monroe has been such as to send all grain to other towns, and those interested in the new organization determined to put a stop to the poor market and bring their full share to the town. The result was an organization which will be handling the grain, and they will either purchase the elevator already there or build one of their own. It is the intention of the organization to later handle live stock, and probably during the winter engage in the lumber and coal business.

Unable to withstand the shock of the second operation for appendicitis, Miss N'Rose Rasmussen died at New Methodist hospital in Omaha Wednesday morning at 12:30. Last August the first operation was performed and at that time it was known that a second one would be necessary. Miss Rasmussen was born in this city January 30, 1888, and was a little over twenty-one years of age, this city having always been her home. She was a graduate of the Columbus schools and taught in the Platte county rural schools, going to near Elkhorn last year, and where she was again employed as a teacher for the coming year. After the second operation it was thought she would recover, but Monday evening relatives were telephoned for, and she became worse rapidly and death followed. Besides her mother she leaves one brother, Albert, and four sisters, Mrs. Frank Schram, Mrs. Carl K. Becker and Olga Rasmussen of this city, and Mrs. E. A. Sanders of Edgemont, S. D. Funeral arrangements will not be made until this Wednesday evening, when she will be brought here on No. 3, but they will be conducted by Rev. Hartness, she being a member of the Presbyterian church.

Last Saturday's Omaha dailies tell of the attempted suicide of Mrs. Mabel Schneiderheinz of that city, who was formerly a Columbus resident. Mr. Schneiderheinz has a number of relatives in the city and was formerly employed in M. C. Cassin's meat market. From here they moved to Omaha. Mrs. Schneiderheinz declared on several occasions that she would take her life, but when she bought chloroform the druggist surmised what she was going to do and gave her alcohol, with just enough of the other drug to give it an odor.

Monday evening four sections of the cement sidewalk in front of Hinkleman's saloon, at Eleventh and M streets, bucked up about six inches, and craked some of the adjoining walk. No cause is assigned for this peculiar action, but some years ago the cement approach from the street crossing was cracked in the same manner. There are no tree roots in the vicinity to cause this and the only probable reason is that it was caused by the excessive moisture, followed by the intense heat of Monday.

Automatic block signals are being put in the local Union Pacific yards, being a continuation of the system in use both east and west of the city. The workmen have been engaged at this for several days and it will be completed by the last of the week. In several of the larger towns the yards were not protected with the automatic signals, but as there were several wrecks resulting from this, the company decided to make the system complete.

Willie Wardeman and Miss M. Cattan attended a party near the Colfax county line Sunday night, and report a good time.

Merv Kuntzelman claims to have the earliest potatoes on the route, and they are good ones, too—one hill yielding fourteen early last week.

While at Primrose last week J. F. Goedeken purchased a choice quarter section of Boone county land. He did not state what the price was, but said he bought it right. This is the second farm Mr. Goedeken has purchased in that locality. He prospered in Platte county so that whenever he sees an acre in land he is in a position to take it.

Walker Township.
Last week we had the heaviest rain so far this year.
Some corn fields are getting too weedy, but the weather is looking better today (Monday), and the boys will put in their best ticks.

Walker township was well represented on the picnic grounds in St. Edward Thursday. The rain stayed away until the exercises were over, and then the most of them hiked for home.

Alfred Olson, who lives square in the center of Walker township, is now justice of the peace with full power to act. That makes it handy. The young men don't have to go so far to get married.

Don't forget that you can now talk over the independent telephone to Humphrey, Creston, St. John, Corral, Tarnov and Lindsay, as well as to all other points in the country, and nearly every city in the state and country.

Frank Kersenbrook was in Fremont Tuesday afternoon, and while there attended the carnival which will be here next week. He reports that their attractions are exceptionally good and the Fremont people speak very highly of their show.

Rev. D. I. Roush, pastor of the Methodist church, leaves Friday for a month's sojourn and vacation on the Pacific. On the same day Mrs. Roush will leave for Lima, O., where she will remain for about six weeks. She will be accompanied by her sister, Mrs. G. D. Check, of Fort Worth, Texas, who has been a guest at the Roush home for the last month.

Among the list of federal jurors called for the trial of the men who held up the Overland Limited last month are G. A. Schroeder and L. W. Snow of this city. O. E. Green, the Genoa banker, is also in the list. The list contains many more than the required number for a jury, and there is a possibility probably not more than one from this locality will be called on to serve.

Henry Ragatz returned last Wednesday afternoon for a six weeks' sojourn in this city, when he expects to move his family to their new home in Los Angeles. Mr. Ragatz is erecting a dwelling in the California city and expects to have it completed by the time he returns. He speaks very highly of his new home as a place to live, but says he has not tried it as a business location, but intends to later.

Mrs. Catherine Kohler, mother of Mrs. M. C. Cassin of this city, met with an accident Tuesday, at her home near Richardson, that may prove fatal. She was entering the barn with a pail of water, when one of the horses reached over and bit her on the side of the head, destroying the sight of the left eye, and making an ugly wound. Afterward the animal knocked her down and tramped upon her, bruising and otherwise inflicting injuries. The accident probably occurred about nine o'clock in the morning, and as soon as possible after she was discovered, medical aid was summoned. Her condition at present is very serious and the outcome will be uncertain until it can be determined whether or not she is injured internally.

Mrs. C. W. Zeigler, a resident of Columbus and Platte county for fifty years, died at her home on West Fourteenth street, Tuesday evening, death resulting from a partial stroke of paralysis, which she suffered some time ago, and a general breaking down, due to old age. Mrs. Zeigler was born in New Bedford, Mass., August 26, 1837. The family then returned to their former home in England where they remained several years, crossing the ocean again and settling in New York. From there they went to Rock Island, Ill., in 1839, and then to Platte county in 1859, locating on the old Gerrard homestead, which is now the village of Monroe. Here she was married to C. W. Zeigler in April, 1871, and in 1872 they moved to Columbus. She joined the Presbyterian church over fifty years ago, and has since been identified with the church work. Besides her husband she leaves one sister, Mrs. W. T. Strother, and three brothers, Leander Gerrard of this city, E. A. Gerrard of Monroe and F. H. Gerrard of Calamus, Neb. The funeral will be held from the home Thursday afternoon, and the services will be conducted by Rev. Harkness, pastor of the Presbyterian church.
