HUMPHREY
From the Democrat
Miss Blanche Cookingham has accepted a position as teacher in district No. 69 for this year and commenced her duties on Wednesday of this week. District No. 69 is the Matt Schaefer school northwest of town.

E. F. Wentz returned home Saturday from Lakeview, Oregon, where he went some time ago, in the interest of several people here who had contracts in a land drawing, the winnings of whom was reported in a previous issue. Mr. Wentz is highly pleased with that country and claims a very bright future for it.

The republicans of Granville township held a caucus Tuesday afternoon electing John Bunker chairman and E. O. Halm secretary, and nominating the following township ticket: Treasurer, R. O. Brandt of Cornelia; clerk, H. G. Peters, justice of the peace, Matt Clason and George Fritton; constables, J. S. Carney, and John Hoadley; assessor, John Bunker; road overseer, district No. 13, Fred Baumgart; district No. 41, Carl Baumgart; district No. 42, Joe Schroeder; district No. 43, Wm. Fisher. The republicans of Humphrey township failed to hold a caucus.

Martin J. Stoffel, of McHenry, Ill., and Miss Mary VanDyke, were united in marriage at St. Francis church, Rev. Father Hildebrand officiating, Wednesday morning of last week. Miss Maggie Tonyon, cousin, and Gertrude VanDyke, sister of the bride, were the bridesmaids, and Wm. Stoffel, brother of the groom and Nick VanDyke, brother of the bride were the groomsmen. After the ceremony at the church, a reception was accorded the young couple at the home of the bride's parents west of town at which a large number of friends and relatives were present to help celebrate the crowning event in the lives of these two popular young people. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. VanDyke. She was born and raised in this community, consequently she has a large acquaintance and a host of admiring friends. The groom is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Stoffel of this place. He is one of the rising young business men of his home town, and starts out in life with bright prospects for the future. After a few days visit here the young couple will leave for their home in Illinois.

PLATTE CENTER
From the Signal
Tuesday evening Dick McGuane discovered that a large brood mare of his which was running in the pasture west of his house, was married in the creek, and she had evidently been in there for some time as nothing but her head was above the mud. The Bacon boys went up there with their well rope, hitched their team to her and pulled her out. The animal does not seem to be much the worse for her experience, either.

Last Saturday Michael Duddy sold his farm, which joins Platte Center on the north, to Otto Mueller, of Grand Prairie, the consideration being $125.00 per acre. There was but seventy acres of land in bed-dal, the balance of the eighty, which lays east of Elm creek, not being included. The buildings on his tract of land are of so little value that practically the figure mentioned was for the naked land. We understand that Mr. Mueller will put new buildings on this land and make his home there.

Monday evening Harry Kamm and a friend were examining a corn crusher which stands on Glodowski Bros's platform. They had been turning the machine, and while it was yet in motion, started to leave when Harry slipped on a piece of an apple, threw out his left hand to save a fall and the two middle fingers were caught in the gearing. The third finger escaped with little injury, but the flesh on the other one was torn loose and badly lacerated to the first joint. Dr. Pugh who dressed the wound, is hopeful that the finger may be saved, but cannot tell for a few days yet. The bone was not injured, and it will be a very sore affair.

Among the Columbus people who attended the dance here last Friday night were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Carrig. Jerry is a candidate for the office of register of deeds—the only one in the field—and while he was here he thought it is a good plan to do a little missionary work for himself. It having come to his ears that there was a man in the fifth ward whom he had, 40 or 50 years ago, played a practical joke on, and who was very liable to work the "other fellow" unless he was "seen." Jerry saw the fellow, and by promising, if elected, to give him a ten per cent reduction on the fee for recording the deed when he sold his cow, won his enthusiastic support. A slick politician is that Jerry.

MONROE
From the Republican
Miss Anna Klam came up from Columbus Monday to visit her sister Mrs. Vestal Moore.

Miss Martha Kipple came up from Columbus Monday to be a guest over night at the Ed. Morrow home.

Mrs. Ruth Kenyon returned last Saturday evening from Rochester, New York where she attended the national convention of rural letter carriers. Besides attending the convention, she visited many points of interest in the east.

Wm. Rowlands and daughters of Lake Crystal, Minn., are visiting Mrs. W. R. Lewis who is a daughter of Mr. Rowlands and a sister of Mrs. Jones.

Arthur Watts sold his crop of apples delivered on the car in Monroe to a man who will ship them to Chicago. Some thing new for this neck of the woods to ship out apples.

H. I. Gipe has been making some substantial improvements in the store, lengthening the room to about seventy feet, and added a large amount of new shelving for the dry goods and shoes. The new addition gives him an opportunity for a better arrangement of his stocks, which completely fills the store at present. These improvements are the direct result of a large increase in their trade and they are now in position to take care of it.

Harry Engberg had the misfortune to get his right arm broken in two places, Tuesday evening. He was riding in a wagon which was being followed by another wagon, and in some manner he fell out and was stopped on by the team of the rear wagon, causing the injury. His injuries were dressed by Dr. Bates and he is on the road to recovery.

Ladies of Monroe are to be admitted to the Athletic association and are to have complete control of the gymnasium Tuesday and Thursday evenings. This was decided by an unanimous vote Friday evening. The ladies are requested to be present Monday evening October 11 at the business meeting held at the gymnasium for the purpose of purchasing new apparatus and the improvements necessary to make it appear well before the fair set.

SILVER CREEK.
From the Sand
Mrs. J. W. Riddle was called to Fremont Tuesday by a telegram announcing the death of a brother-in-law, John Bodell. Mr. Bodell was killed at Waterloo Monday night by a Union Pacific work train, as he was going to the depot to take a train. He came to Silver Creek 29 years ago and lived here a couple of years. He leaves a wife and several children.

Nebraska still produces corn and Merrick county is right in the field with it. Monday Hubert Tolman brought in some white corn from his farm two miles east of town which is hard to beat. He also brought along two mammoth stalks tied onto the side of his automobile, one bearing two heavy ears and the other one. One of these now stands beside our office door, on the outside, measuring 15 feet in height, and the ear is 7 feet 3 inches from the bottom of the stalk and measures 13 inches in length.

GENOA
From the Times
The village fire department has received a new hook and ladder truck ordered a short time ago, and at the next meeting of the department a hook and ladder company will be organized.

One of the largest sweet potatoes ever raised in this vicinity was grown on R. A. Miner's farm north of Genoa. One hill contained 9 pounds of potatoes, the largest of which was presented to The Times man. Mr. Miner also gathered a fine crop of peaches from his orchard this year.

Cyrus Greek has purchased the balance of the Gould ranch in the western part of the county. A few months ago he bought 1200 acres, and the last purchase consisted of 1600 acres, making 3800 hundred acres which Mr. Greek now owns in one body.

Low Stooks surprised some of the doubting Thomases this week by commencing work on his new building. A month ago who has been very loud in pronouncing Mr. Stooks a bluffer, and bet $5 that the brick for the building had not been purchased, told the stakeholder to turn the money over to the winner Tuesday.

ST. EDWARD
From the Advance
A letter received by Mrs. Joe Westbrook last week from her son, D. B. Westbrook, who is taking treatment for cancer at Burlington, Iowa, conveys the information that he has undergone an operation and has fair prospects for recovery. Dave was not over sanguine in his predictions, and his letter was not all cheerfulness, but we believe that his hopes are well founded.

The streets of St. Edward are still dark. The modern electric light has not resumed its duty of lighting the way far from home. The modern electric light, like many other modern improvements refuses to work without pay, and the contract having expired between the village and the electric light and power company, pay has ceased because it seems that a renewal of the contract cannot be made on terms satisfactory to both the company and the village fathers. The board wants Mr. Smith to enlarge his plant and they assure him if he does thusly they will reward him with a good contract. Mr. Smith on the other hand, claims that it costs many big dollars to enlarge a plant and that he wants to see the color of the contract in cold unflinching black and white before he enlarges the plant. This is as much as we know about the matter and is only a guess at that.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION.
Some Advice Against the Use of Harsh Purgatives and Physics.
A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are you bowels regular?" He knows that 99 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver. This condition poisons the system with waste matter and causes accumulation of gases which must be removed through the bowels before health can be restored. Salts, ordinary pills and cathartics may be truly likened to dynamite. Through their harsh, irritating action they force a passage, through the bowels, causing pain and damage to the delicate intestinal structure which weakens the whole system, and at best only produces temporary relief. The repeated use of such treatments causes chronic irritation of the stomachs and bowels, dries and hardens their tissues, deadens their nerves, stiffens their muscles and generally brings about an injurious habit which sometimes has almost, if not fatal results.

We have a pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of its great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case where it fails to produce entire satisfaction. This remedy is called Berrall

Orderlies. We urge you to try them at our entire risk.

Reball Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly and have a soothing, strengthening, healing, regulative influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effects, and they may be taken at any time without inconvenience.

Reball Orderlies overcome the drugging habit and safely remedy constipation and associate ailments, whether acute or chronic, except in surgical cases. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Price, 36 tablets 25 cents, and 12 tablets 10 cents. Remember you can obtain Reball Remedies in Columbus only at our store. Pollock & Co., corner 18th & North Sts.

BOUND TO KEEP THEIR WORD

Amazing Obstacity of Cornishmen, for Which They Are Noted, Well Illustrated.

The Cornish people are credited by H. Hudson, in "The Land's End," with a spirit of stubbornness which at times becomes amusing. The author gives a characteristic incident.

The late royal academician, Hook, was on the sands at Whitesand bay, working at a marine picture, when two natives came up and planted themselves just behind him. There was nothing the artist hated more than to be watched by strangers over his shoulders in this way, and pretty soon he wheeled round on them and angrily asked them how long they were going to stand there.

His manner served to arouse their spirit, and they replied, brusquely, that they were going to stay as long as they thought proper. He insisted on knowing just now long they were going to stay there, to his annoyance, and by and by, after some more loud and angry discussion, one of them incautiously declared they would stand at the very spot for an hour.

"Do you mean that?" shouted Hook, pulling out his watch. Yes, they returned, they would not stir an inch from that spot for an hour. "Very well," he said, and pulled up his eye; then marching on to a distance of 30 yards, he set up again and resumed his painting. And there, within 30 yards of his back, the two men stood for an hour and a quarter, for, as they did not have a watch, they were afraid of going away before the hour had expired. Then they marched off.

REPARTEE IN SENATE HALLS

Legislator from Nevada Rather Got the Worst of Conversational Exchange.

Senator Newlands of Nevada, was making a tariff speech, and in its course referred to labor conditions in Pittsburgh, where, he said, men were compelled to work seven days a week, 12 or 14 hours a day, Sunday and every other day. He drew a parallel between these conditions and the statement that protection helps the American workman and that Pittsburgh is supposed to be the greatest beneficiary of the protective tariff system.

Senator Oliver, newly from Pittsburgh, was restless during that recital, according to the Saturday Evening Post. Finally he jumped up and denied that any Pittsburgh workmen were compelled to work on Sunday except the blast furnace men. Then he said he had been in Nevada and that it was customary to work seven days a week there, there being no such thing as Sunday observance.

"This is a state," shouted Oliver, "where the faro table and the roulette table are a part of the furnishing of every hotel in the state—not of the barroom, but of the office part of the establishment—and the guests cannot get away from it. I spent one day—and it was the sorriest day I ever spent—in the city which is the senator's home. The only place where I could get away from the rattle of dice and the clink, clink of faro chips was by going to the Carnegie library, given to the city of Reno by one of Pittsburgh's millionaires."

That detained Newlands for an indefinite period.

Industrial Education.
For training the workman the technical school can never supplant the workshop. The system that is likely to give the best results is a combination of part time apprenticeship and compulsory attendance at technical schools.—London Electrical Review.

A Strong Guaranty.
"Are you sure those eggs are fresh?" asked the woman, eyeing them suspiciously. "Yes, ma'am," replied the grocer, with emphasis: "I guarantee those eggs. If any of them aren't good, I'll make 'em good!"—Lippincott's.

ATHLETICS AND "THE GATE."

Some Possibility That the Latter is Out of Place on University Playing Fields.

When one figures up how many professors could be paid, or how many students assisted, if $107,397.20 could be divided up among them, the expenditure of that sum at Yale last year on what are called "the four major sports" seems large. That particular money, however, could hardly have been secured for any except the uses to which it was put, and as from those same sports there were receipts amounting to $110,986.34, the financial showing, as such, is satisfactory, or at least better than it would have been with the balance on the other side of the ledger. The boys who handled these big sums, too, showed by keeping within their income that they are getting out of athletics a certain amount of business training.

It is noticeable, looking at the matter from this point of view, that only football was profitable. Baseball comes out only a little better than even, but rowing and track sports had to be debited with heavy losses. The business man would therefore say, "Drop rowing and track sports, continue baseball under a suspended sentence, and devote redoubled attention to football." That nothing of the kind will be done or even considered is proof that the whole idea of combining business with sport is somehow wrong, and that the amateur who attempts it are verging toward professionalism so far as their financing is sound.

The ideal method would be to make nothing at all out of sports, but to consider the money spent on them, not as a loss, but as the price of physical development and innocent amusement, both of which are worth buying and paying well for. "The gate," some observers cannot help thinking, is out of place on university playing fields. All the abuses and excesses of athletics are due to it, or related to it, and without it most of them would disappear.

Barracks for Spanish Soldiers.

The lot of the Spanish soldier, even in times of peace, is far from enviable, for his food, lodging and clothing are of the poorest. As regards barracks the Spanish army is certainly the worst equipped in Europe, and this fact was practically admitted by Senor Sagasta when he was premier. A deputation waited on him to present against the unfair manner in which the law as to obligatory army service was enforced, so that any one with 250 to spare can evade this duty. The premier admitted that the principle of redemption from military service was illegal and that all healthy male adults should be required to serve; but he added, "the majority of our barracks are in such bad condition that we cannot expect the sons of respectable parents to live in them."

Ready for More Business.

Dean Ramsay has a story of that border hostility between English and Scots which used to go to halter lengths. A Scottish drover was returning from the south in particularly bad humor with the English, having done poor business, when he saw in Carlisle a notice offering a reward of £50 to any one who would volunteer for the unpopular task of hanging a condemned criminal. Seeing his chance to make up for his bad market, and comforting himself with the thought that he was unknown there, he did the job and got his fee. As he was leaving he was taunted as a beggarly Scot, doing for money what no Englishman would. But he answered with a cheerful grin: "I'll hang ye a' at the price."

Charley and His Hands.

"You say your husband occasionally consults a palmist?"
"Yes," answered young Mrs. Yorkins. "You see Charley plays cards a great deal."
"But he isn't so superstitious as to think he can foretell his luck?"
"No. He takes it for granted that his luck will be bad. But he says it's worth the money to have somebody tell him he has a hand worth looking at."

The Way of a Woman.

The suffragette was practicing her address for the Woman's Rights club at her own little home. Her words were defiant. "Women are the real rulers," she orated. "Men are marionettes. Since the beginning of time woman has been the real power behind the throne; now she fearfully demands her place on the throne. She is triumphant; she defies the world; she—"
The doorbell rang. The man with the book agent manners bowed. "May I see the head of the house a moment?"
"He is not at home," said the suffragette, slamming the door and resuming her oratory. "Let me see, where was I?"—Lippincott's.

ACCEPT VERDICT OF YEARS.

And Thus, and Thus Only, Can a Woman Be Said to Have the Best of Life.

Women has learned to claim 20 years more, at least, than used to be her portion. But always she must claim it on conditions, and it is for lack of recognizing these that so many women who wish to hold their youth grow old ungracefully.

"Timely wise, accept the terms." This motto was adopted by a charming grandmother, in her forties. She had made the truth of Emerson's wise saying her own, and made no visible effort after youth. There was gray in her hair, and her mobile face had its lines—but every line had been traced by smiles, not worries. Young in spirit, dainty in dress, she entered into no competition with sweet sixteen. She knew better. The people who like sweet sixteen do not like 46, however made up to resemble it. But it is equally true that the people who like 46 when it is charming, do not care for sweet sixteen to any extent. On those terms, accepting them frankly, 46 can work out its own salvation—but only on those terms. That was her wisdom.

A woman, indeed, who does not belong among her contemporaries, so to speak, can never have the best of life. A child who prefers older people to playfellows has not an ideal childhood. A girl who is too serious and mature for her age loses the lovely comradeship of youth. And equally so, a woman who refuses to enter middle age with her contemporaries loses the pleasures of middle age, which are real pleasures, and is very apt to make herself ridiculous into the bargain. Youth of spirit can be had at 50, at 60, at 70, on the abiding terms. Accepting life as it ripens is to ripen with it, and to cease to grow old by losing that fear of growing old, which is the most unhappy part of the passing of the years.—Montreal Herald.
