LEIGH.

From the World.
Rudolph Jenny had the misfortune to slip on an icy sidewalk at his home last Saturday and in the fall sustained a broken limb. The wound is a painful one but Dr. Eby was called and made the patient as comfortable as possible.

Geord Husmann purchased a finely matched team of mares from A. H. Philson the latter part of last week. Mr. Philson tells us that this is the finest team that has ever been brought to Leigh and, as Mr. Husmann is an exceptionally good judge of horse flesh and paid $500 for this team, we vouch for the truth of the statement.

ST. EDWARD.

From the Advance.
Mr. and Mrs. John Westmore left Wednesday evening for Columbus where Mrs. Westmore will enter St. Mary's hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Frank Bruno who is a patient at the Columbus hospital is reported as recovering rapidly from a surgical operation to which she submitted a week ago.

Mrs. Geo. Reeder and brother-in-law, John Reeder, went down to Columbus Monday to visit Geo. Reeder who is a patient at St. Mary's hospital. They returned Tuesday afternoon and report Mr. Reeder very much improved.

Mrs. J. G. Ramsey was taken to St. Mary's hospital, Columbus, Tuesday and underwent a surgical operation Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Ramsey returned home yesterday afternoon and reports Mrs. Ramsey as recovering nicely.

Master Dolph Wood came home Wednesday afternoon from Columbus where he had been a patient at St. Mary's hospital for a number of weeks, having undergone an operation for appendicitis. He has recovered to such extent that he no longer needs hospital care.

ALBION.

From the News.
W. S. Miller who works at the alfalfa mill had one of his hands caught in the mill cylinder Wednesday morning with the result that the fingers were quite badly crushed. It is not thought however that it will be necessary to amputate any of the fingers. It was very fortunate for Mr. Miller that the whole arm was not drawn in the cylinder.

The Albion Electric Light company is making preparations for possible trouble at their power plant on the Beaver by moving their engine this week. With the engine installed there they will be able to operate their plant in case anything goes wrong with the water power. Ever since the plant was established there the high water in the spring has caused trouble and auxiliary power has been necessary.

Word was received here Sunday morning from University Place that Mrs. A. E. Church, formerly residing in Albion, was dead. The message was sent to her son, Geo. Benton, who resides southeast of town, and he took the afternoon train for University Place. No particulars reached here until Monday afternoon when the News Journal brought the very sad news that she had taken her own life by hanging.

SILVER CREEK.

From the Sun.
Monday last a little excitement ensued at the Wamsley school house south of the river when fire was discovered in the floor under the stove. It was extinguished without much damage and repairs were made so as to exclude danger from the same source in the future.

Last Saturday evening near Thumel a stock car on the east bound train was set on fire by a passing engine on another train. The car contained a load of fat cattle and when the fire was discovered nothing could be done to stop it and the cattle could not be released. The train was run into Orlaks where guns were procured and about 13 head were put out of their misery with bullets. The cattle were the property of Ed Gould formerly of Fallerton.

Monday evening Matt J. Harry and others were waiting in the Union Pacific depot for No. 31 on which he intended going to Central City to attend a meeting of the county board the next day. Hearing a train coming he started for the north side of the track to be in a position to board it as he supposed it was 21 and would stop. Instead it proved to be a fast train and he was unable to clear it entirely, being struck and hurled into the ditch. He was picked up and taken to Dr. W. O. Robinson's office when it was found that there was a slight bruise on his head and that his left arm was completely paralyzed from the elbow down. The doctor could not detect any fracture but the serious condition of the limb was such that he took Mr. Harry to Columbus to have the arm examined under X-rays to determine, if possible, just what the injury is. This is the first serious accident that has happened here since the double tracking of the road, but the arrangements for boarding trains is such that it is a wonder that there have not been a hundred. It was found upon examination that there was a fracture of one of the bones of his arm and Mr. Harry will remain at the hospital for treatment.

FULLERTON.

From the Post.
Dr. Edward Johnson, the Columbus banker, was in Fullerton over Sunday. His many friends here are always glad to see him.

The friends here of T. B. Hord, of Central City, are pleased to know that he is home from a trip through California and the south—very much improved in health.

We understand that J. W. Tanner has sold his residence property in this city to one Mr. Hoppock, an influential and wealthy citizen of Monroe, Neb., who will move here about March 1st, for the purpose of giving his children a finished education.

The Fullerton Produce Co., organized the past week with Harry Underwood as president; Joe Storch, secretary and treasurer. All the merchants who handle produce—also some hardware and harness men—are connected with it. Checks are redeemable in cash at any store. John Ponderfield and a helper will have charge of the exchange which is located in the Odd Fellows building.

The friends of Doctor Dora Jenkins were tendered a happy surprise Wednesday on the receipt of cards announcing her marriage to Dr. Oas. Howard Davies, formerly of Madison, this state. The marriage was solemnized by the Bishop at the Episcopal Cathedral in Omaha on Tuesday, Feb. 8, 1910, at high noon. Mr. F. O. Jenkins, of this city, giving the bride away, after which a luncheon was given the bride party by Mrs. Edholm, a close friend of the bride. The "at home" cards announce Tecumseh, Neb., as their future home—after March 1st.

SHELBY.

From the Sun.
Mrs. D. L. Rinesmith of Columbus visited at the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. E. Bonner, north of town, last Friday and Saturday.

The farmers who have corn out yet are busy these days getting it in the crib. They report it but little damaged by being in the field all winter.

The necessary steps have been taken to extend the corporate limits of Shelby so as to take in Washington Heights and also a few blocks in the south part of town.

Gus Bartholomew, who has been working in Columbus for the past two months returned last week to be ready to begin work at his trade as painter and paper hanger with the opening season.

The Shelby Workman lodge has shown a brotherly interest in the welfare of a member by arranging for all of the members of the lodge to go to the home of Fred Augustine Thursday of this week and assist in gathering corn. Mr. Augustine has been laid up all winter with a broken leg, the result of a kick from a horse.

While down on the farm last week David Knerr made a discovery that may be some value in the future. While in the barn moving some hay in the mow he found a nest of eggs that had been covered up when the hay was put in the barn last fall and he says that the eggs were in a good state of preservation. Hay storage eggs, he thinks is a possibility in the future, and alfalfa or timothy stored eggs will be on the bill of fare at restaurants.

HIS VERY WORDS.

The Property Man Cheerfully Quoted
Them to Beerbohm Tree.

Berbohm Tree, the English actor, had a comical experience on his first appearance as the corpulent Falstaff. In the last act he had arranged that Falstaff, disconcerted by gibes and buffets of the fairies in Windsor forest, should make one herculean effort to climb the oak tree. The pegs that were to serve as supports for that tree were always conspicuous by their absence. On the morning before the performance Mr. Tree was told they should positively be fixed on the tree. The morning came, but with it no pegs. Eloquence was stifled; even invective faltered. He pointed to the tree and with the calm of despair blurted out to the defaulter, "No pegs!"

Such an ejaculation, spoken more in sorrow than in anger, would, he hoped, appeal to that last remnant of conscience which even the paper mache bosom of a property man might be supposed to retain. In the evening there was a dress rehearsal, but still no pegs could be seen. Mr. Tree's form quivered—beneath the padding—with pent-up emotions, and in a torrent of passion and a voice shaken by righteous wrath he exclaimed: "Where are those pegs?" "Pegs—pegs!" exclaimed the property master, with exasperating affability. "Why, guv'nor, what was your words to me this morning? 'No pegs.' And there ain't none."—London Tit-Bits.

Sprinkling a Trestle.
A wooden trestle on the Klamath Lake railroad, in Oregon, is protected from fire in the dry season by a system of sprinklers which keep it continually wet. A pipe runs the entire length of the trestle between the tracks, and at short distances are holes through which the water is sprayed over the structure.—Popular Mechanics.

CENTRAL CITY.

From the Nonpareil.
Mrs. F. W. A. Paul arrived the latter part of last week from Hampton, Iowa, and will visit her parents here for two or three weeks. Professor Paul is now instructor of a band at Hampton.

Mrs. Michael Sattler died Tuesday evening, exactly six weeks after she was stricken with paralysis. From the hour of the stroke she had been in a very serious condition and at no time was there any hope of her recovery.

The local minister's association held an executive session Monday afternoon in the wood yard of Aunty Keys. It was a fine day and the pulpiteres concluded to trade their exegesis, and their secondly, thirdly and their texts for axes and water blisters. It was a thrilling sight to see the valiant hosts attack that wood pile and when they got through chips were scattered all over the second ward. Secretary McMillan was appointed as score-keeper but he lost count when he got hit in the eye with a chip and the Nonpareil is unable to furnish its readers with an accurate list of the dead and wounded. We have the ministers word for it, however, that no such half-day's work has been done since Sampson slew ten thousand Philistines with the jaw-bone of an ass.

PLATTE CENTER.

From the Signal.
Married, at St. Joseph's church, in Platte Center, Monday morning at 8 o'clock, Miss Katie Kaipust, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kaipust, of this place, and Mr. John Zawisty, of Duncan. The couple were attended by Miss Mary Kaipust and Mr. Carl Roseman. They will make their home on the groom's farm near Duncan.

A farmer was driving through our streets last Saturday afternoon when one of the numerous long legged dogs which roam around at will, leaped into his wagon, picked up a good sized package and disappeared down the alley with it. As the dog did not open the package in the presence of those who saw him swipe it, it is not known what it contained. And probably Mr. Farmer is still wondering what became of his package.

J. E. Ossairt arrived home from Omaha Wednesday morning, where he had been looking into the matter of obtaining a site on the U. P. right of way for the location of the flouring mill, and this time he came back with the document in his pocket. Early last fall the contract for building the mill was let and negotiations begun for permission to locate it on the railroad right of way. The company officials commenced to unwind their red tape, and although the mill company hurried them in every manner they could, the unwinding is just completed.

An Effective Alarm.
Flannigan had been discharged from the artillery and went to live in a cottage in his native village. One day he left on a week's visit to some distant relatives, and a day later the village constable was standing at his door when he heard the sudden boom of the rusty cannon Flannigan had mounted on his front hedge.

An instant later a brick whizzed past the constable's ear and smashed his door to smithereens. The indignant officer, followed by the populace, rushed to Flannigan's cottage and found it still tenantless, but showing signs of recent burglary. When Flannigan returned the next week he heard the news and was delighted.

"Oh prepared for burglars afore OI went away," he said, "by thrairin' the gun on yer front door, constable, and countin' it by secret wires to the doors and windies and loadin' it wild a brick. An' it hit the door slap in the middle? Bedad, OI wasn't a gun-layer in the artillery for nothin'!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Why Hale Would Not Do.
When N. O. Nelson, the profit sharer, decided to transfer his co-operative business from St. Louis to the country he looked about carefully for a favorable location. His personal friend Dr. Edward Everett Hale accompanied him on one of his tours in search of this. A site was chosen, and among others, Hale was considered, but rejected because, as Mr. Nelson said, "the name differs from its distinguished owner in being only four letters long, while he was six feet four or thereabouts." So Leclair was chosen in honor of the pioneer French profit sharer.—World's Work.

LAND CRABS.

Quaker Creatures That Roam in Forests Far From the Sea.

One of the commonest and the largest of the Christmas Island land crabs is the well known robber crab, which is found in most of the tropical islands of the Indian and Pacific oceans. It sometimes reaches a length of two feet and may measure seven inches across the back. Its colors are of a very gaudy description, the ground color being a bright red, upon which there are stripes of yellow, but in some cases a purplish blue is the prevailing tint.

The eyes are fixed on stalks which can be moved independently of one another, and there are two pairs of feet, one long, the other short. The latter pair are continually jerked up and down. There is a pair of powerful claws, then several walking legs. In general appearance these animals are much more like rather stout lobsters than crabs, and one's first encounter with one of these creatures in the middle of a forest far from the sea is productive of much astonishment on both sides.

Another species of land crab common in Christmas Island is a little bright red animal which in general shape is much like the common shore crab. This variety makes burrows in the ground, and in some places the soil is honeycombed with hundreds of holes. The crabs spend most of their time collecting dead leaves, which they carry in their claws, holding them up over their heads and drag down into their burrows, into which they scuttle at the least alarm.—Pearson's Magazine.

Iridium.
Iridium is a hard, brittle, silver white metallic element belonging to the platinum group, discovered by Tennant in 1803, sometimes found native and nearly pure, but generally combined with osmium. It is, with the exception of osmium, the heaviest metal known and is used for pen points, contact points in telegraphy and points of scientific implements liable to wear. Its specific gravity is 22.4.

Hope.
"Say, pop, I've got to write a composition on 'Hope.' What is 'hope,' anyway?"
"Hope, my boy, is the joyous expectation of being able to dodge our just deserts."—Life.

A Short Fall.
"Golly, Mike, are you alive after falling two stories?"
"Why, that's not far; this is a fifty-one story building."—Judge.

The prodigal robs his heir; the miser robs himself.—Bruyere.
