SILVER CREEK.

From the Standard
Mrs. H. J. Brian of Columbus is spending the week with the Sand family.

Mrs. John Peterson was up from Columbus Saturday and was accompanied home Monday by her mother, Mrs. G. W. Merrill.

A sick man was picked up Sunday last by the village marshall and given shelter (?) in jail. Dr. King attended him and at the present writing he is much improved in health. He gave his name and home as Arthur Heaps, Patterson, N. J., and said he was on his way to Denver but had run out of funds in Iowa and as he was not used to the ways of the hobo he was undoubtedly suffering from hunger and exposure.

It has been more than 14 years since P. H. Bell has seen his father who lives in England and the elder Bell is getting well along in years. A sister who also lives there will leave on May 26 for Africa where she goes as medical missionary. To see them both again Mr. Bell, accompanied by his family, will leave Boston on May 4 for a two or three month trip to Europe. While there London, Paris, Berlin and other points in Scotland will be their principal visiting places.

high next winter as at the present time.

Thursday afternoon the wind blowing a gale from the north, fire was discovered in the double corn crib near the Hord & Shoney elevator. The crib was filled with cobs which made a hot fire, and the flames leaped across the road to the Hanson barn, thence to the Kokjer implement house, all burning to the ground with their contents, except a few pieces of farm machinery. Residents in the neighborhood hustled out their household effects.

Monday afternoon a team of horses came dashing through Main street from the south and was caught about a mile west of Wm. Allerton's place. Upon further facts being learned it seems that Nels Holm, who lives on the south side of the river was on his way to town and when on the bridge one of the horses which was a young one, became frightened, and as Mr. Holm went to their heads thinking to quiet them, they knocked him down breaking his leg, and running as above stated. Mr. Holm was brought to town and his broken limb set and taken home in an automobile by W. Chamberlin. Neither the team or buggy were injured in the least. At last report Mr. Holm was resting as comfortable as could be expected.

ST. EDWARD

From the Advance
Mrs. Henry Zinnecker of Sidney arrived Wednesday from Omaha where she has been a patient at the Methodist hospital for the last three weeks, on an extended visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Laudeman.

Work commenced Tuesday morning on the new electric light and power plant. Al Lapping has the contract for the digging of the race and as soon as it is completed active work will commence on the dam and the other work will be rushed to completion.

Henrich Werner was born May 23, 1848, in Oldenburg, Germany, and died at his home east of St. Edward, April 18, 1910, aged 61 years, 10 months and 20 days. He served through the war between Germany and France in 1870 and in 1871 and at its close came to American making his home in New York City. He married Miss Friederike Lange on April 18, 1875. To this union were born eight children, Henry, Fred, Carl, Joe, Edward, Millie, Bertha, Werner, and Mrs. Peter Pelzer, all of whom are living. In 1880 they moved to Nebraska and settled on a farm six miles east of St. Edward where the family still resides. Funeral services were held from the Catholic church Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock conducted by Rev. Father Moser, an old friend of the family, assisted by Father Mulligan. Burial was made in the Catholic cemetery. Mr. Werner was a member of the Sons of Herman society, Columbus, which sent a large delegation to the funeral to pay their last respects to a constant, faithful brother.

CLARKS.

From the Enterprise
Farmers all over this section of the state are raising large numbers of hogs this year and if they succeed in keeping them in healthy condition throughout the summer and fall, it is a hundred to one that the price of pork will not be so

LEIGH.

From the World.
The prospects for fruit are certainly not very bright and unless the late varieties yield a little the crop will be an entire failure in these parts.

Miss Inez Nelson, a sister of Mrs. J. A. Kibler, was united in marriage with Chas. Ruth at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. C. Hardy, in Columbus, on Wednesday afternoon. The bride is well known here as she grew to womanhood in this community and is held in high esteem by everyone. The groom is spoken of as a most excellent young man and is the Nye, Schneider, Flower agent at Crowell where the couple will reside.

On Wednesday at the Loseke Creek church, Rev. Denninger read the words which united for life Miss Pauline Kumpf and Otto Wurdeman. The couple were attended by Miss Frieda Wurdeman, a sister of the groom and Henry Grotelueschen. The groom is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wurdeman, old and highly respected residents of Platte county. The young couple have gone to house keeping on the groom's farm six miles south-west of town.

Up to this time we have refrained from making any statement regarding the sudden disappearance of Jack Ryan, who has had charge of the Stanton Milling Co.'s business at this place. On the morning of April 6, Mr. Ryan told his wife that he was going to Humphrey to work with a telephone gang and, accordingly, took his departure on the morning freight, saying that he would telephone her that evening. Mrs. Ryan suspected nothing but before evening came she found a note in the house from Mr. Ryan wherein he stated that he had left for good. The next morning Mrs. Ryan called up different parties in Humphrey and found that he had not stopped there. On Thursday, April 7, Arthur Grafing saw Mr. Ryan going through Columbus and that was the last heard of his whereabouts. It appears that Mr. Ryan has been drinking heavily for some time and has spent a considerable portion of the money belonging to the Stanton Milling Co., leaving no records to show the condition of the business. Just what the shortage is cannot yet be determined. Customers who hold receipts showing that they have paid all bills for flour or feed are indeed fortunate. Mr. Ryan also leaves numerous unpaid bills about town. It is a clear case of cowardly desertion and Mrs. Ryan is left practically destitute with three small children to care for.

MONROE.

From the Republican.
Mrs. H. W. Lieber and daughter Maude were in Columbus Wednesday.

Eddie Kelley went to Omaha Thursday where he will be operated on for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason of Columbus arrived here Wednesday to look up old friends here. Mr. Benson carried mail from Columbus to Genoa in 1867.

An evidence that they mean what they say when they are asking for a bridge across the Loup, south of town Monroe business men and residents of the village have subscribed $3,000 toward building it. And the list has not been all the way around yet. Loup township farmers are also interested in a bridge as it means a saving of many miles of travel for them in marketing their grain, and also to do their trading. At present their nearest town is Columbus, and it is sixteen to eighteen miles of a trip each way for many of them. With the bridge they could drive to Monroe, and if they wished to go to the county seat, make the trip on the train. And their land, being that much closer to market, would raise in value, as the distance from town is practically the only drawback they have. And the bridge would mean much to Monroe—increased trade, and more money and business here, and quite likely another rural route, as this territory could be best served from here. And a larger town naturally raises adjacent land values, which means much to every land owner. So far the sentiment on this side of the river is practically unanimous for the bridge, and it begins to look as though when the subscription list has been completed that a small bond issue can be had to make up the necessary amount. A good steel structure is what must be built, and it is the intention of those pushing it that this is what is to be done.

Merritt Benson of western Montana arrived here Wednesday to look up old friends here. Mr. Benson carried mail from Columbus to Genoa in 1867.

Raymond Gibbon is quite sick with appendicitis and will go to Omaha as soon as he is able to stand the trip and will undergo an operation.

Work commenced Tuesday morning on the new electric light and power plant. Al Lapping has the contract for the digging of the race and as soon as it is completed active work will commence on the dam and the other work will be rushed to completion.

Fexy.
Rita (looking at photo)—Oh, yes, he's handsome enough, but he's an awful bouncer. Stella—What did he do? Rita—Didn't I tell you? He made an awful fuss with me one season and then asked me if I thought that dad would object to him as a son-in-law. I said no, I thought not, and he went away and proposed to my sister.—Illustrated Bits.

The Lacking Stroke.
"Do you think it would improve my style," inquired the varsity man who had got into the crew through favoritism. "If I were to acquire a faster stroke?"
"It would improve the crew," replied the candid trainer. "If you got a paralytic stroke."—London Tit-Bits.

The Point of View.
"Why so sad, old man?"
"The doctor wants my wife to travel two months."
"I understand. Sorry for you."
"Understand? No, you don't. She will not go!"—Fliegende Blatter.

MODERN CLOTHES

You may talk all you want to about smart raincoats, and think you have seen some as delightfully designed and critically tailored as ours.

BUT, you haven't.

We ask only a trifling thing when we suggest your "trying on" a "Modern Clothes" raincoat, but if you do you'll feel very pleased with yourself for having acted in the matter

It is one thing to read about a garment—it's quite another to see it. See it.

Where Knowledge Was Bliss.

A certain professor of histology who delivers lectures in one of the eastern colleges is not averse to a quiet bit of diversion on the side, as instance his wife's discovery.

"See here, Robert," said she to the doctor as she fumbled in his pockets after his late arrival home, "what are all these red, white and blue disks I find here in your pocket?"
"Oh? Yes—why—those—are—that is—
—I use—oh—I mean disks—to illustrate my lectures on the blood. You see, the white ones represent the white corpuscles and the red ones the red corpuscles of the blood."
"And, pray, what do the blue ones represent?"
"Oh? The blue ones? Oh—yes—h'm! Why—er—certainly—they represent the corpuscles of the venous blood."
Well, maybe she believed him and maybe—well, he quit playing poker, at any rate.—Harper's Weekly.

SCHUYLER.

From the Sun.
Wednesday afternoon the editor took an auto ride out into the north central and western part of the county. We had been led to believe that the winter wheat fields were in bad condition but we saw some fields that could be considered in first-class shape, others looked very thin and no doubt it would be advantageous to put in another crop. The percentage of failure is not so great as some think.

On March 30, 1910, Mrs. Geo. W. Galley, of Columbus, Neb., received the sad news of the death of her brother, W. F. St. Clair at his home in Chicago. He died at 10:30 a. m. on the 19th, of meningitis. Deceased will be remembered by a number of the early settlers of Schuyler, Colfax county and the surrounding country, as he was the first agent at that place after the U. P. R. R. was built. Schuyler was then called Shell Creek station. Many, if now living, can testify of his generosity and hospitality in those early days. S. S. Green of Schuyler remembers coming into the station one evening in 1867 and was unable to find a lodging place, when Mr. St. Clair kindly offered him a lodging at his home, which was gratefully accepted. He had his share of the hardships of those early days, and when one of those awful Nebraska blizzards came and tore the telegraph wires down, he would go out and faithfully do his duty helping the men to repair them, and when a party of them went hunting and had the misfortune to get caught in one of those blizzards, he would light a lantern and hang it high upon a pole as a beacon light to guide them safely to the station, and in that way doubtless saved a number of lives, as they told him that had it not been for his kind thoughtfulness they could not possibly have found their way. He held the position of agent at quite a number of stations on the U. P., all the way from Schuyler to Ogden and Salt Lake, and for a time was also superintendent of the Utah & Northern, now called the Oregon Short line. He will be remembered by many old friends all along the line from Omaha to Ogden and also at Salt Lake.

GENOA.

From the Times.
A case has been decided in the district court of Merrick county in which a subscriber to the building fund of the Methodist church of Fullerton was defendant and the Methodist church society of Fullerton plaintiff. The plaintiff sued the defendant for $300 subscribed by him to the building fund, which he had refused to pay. The court's decision was in favor of the plaintiff, and the defendant must pay the amount he subscribed and interest on the same from the date it became due.

The best rat catcher yet has been discovered by a grain dealer in Chicago. The rats in this man's store refused to enter traps, and there were some reasons why he objected to the use of poison; therefore he bought a few dozen fish-hooks and lines. Using cheese as a bait he dropped the hooks down the rat burrows and waited. In the first hour he caught at least one rat with each hook. He says that it is much more fun than fishing for fish, a game rat putting up a fight that would make a big mouth bass ashamed of his prowess.—Belgrade Herald.

W. A. Benson, of Madison county, Montana, was in Genoa Tuesday. Forty-four years ago Mr. Benson carried Uncle Sam's mail between Columbus and Genoa. At that time he knew every white man then residing in this locality. Tuesday he could locate only two of his old-time friends—D. A. Willard and Neil Cartwright. The latter was a resident of Columbus when Benson was mail carrier. Mr. Benson's parents settled in Columbus before the Union Pacific railway was extended west from Omaha. In the pioneer days he drove a freight team along the overland trail. When the country settled up, Mr. Benson moved west. He has been a freighter, grade contractor, cow boy, buffalo hunter and miner, finally settling down as a ranchman in Montana where he takes life easy, as his sons are now old enough to run the ranch.

SHRIEV.

From the Sun.
Miss Minnie Cery who was learning dressmaking at Columbus for a few months, worked for Mrs. Gregory Bernt north of Columbus for the last three weeks, until Sunday. She returned home by the way of Duncan. After a few weeks she will resume her work at Columbus.

Mrs. Lena Siddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Siddle, living about ten miles north of Shelby, died rather suddenly Wednesday. She was about twenty years of age and had been under the doctor's care with an attack of the grippe, but the direct cause of her death, we understand, was paralysis of the vital organs.

Obaury Way and family arrived here last Friday from Alberta, Canada, and are visiting with relatives in this locality. Last Sunday the Way boys with their families met at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Way, two miles north of Surprise and enjoyed a family reunion at the old home which the senior Way homesteaded thirty-five years ago and on which he has made a continuous residence since that time.

Sparks from the engine of a special train which went over this line Wednesday afternoon, set fire to McIlhott's sheep shed, two miles west of town, and had it not been for the prompt action of the boys who were at home, and the assistance of nearby neighbors, the barn and other buildings would have been destroyed with the sheds. The alarm of fire was given over the telephone and several parties went from Shelby in automobiles and some came from Oconto. The loss was confined to the sheds, and will amount to about $400.
