MANY YEARS AGO.

Files of the Journal July 4, 1877.

We notice among the graduates from the State University at Lincoln on last Wednesday, the name of Wm. A. McAllister, who received the degree of Bachelor of Science.

The class of immigration that Platte county is receiving will add materially to her wealth and importance—substantial farmers, in most cases with money enough to pay for their land and improve it.

Wheat still continues to come in; for the past few days the market has been quite active, which indicates that the question of a bountiful harvest is now settled in the minds of our farmers, and they are parting with their last year's surplus.

R. H. Henry returned from a visit to his stock ranch on the South Loup and a tour through the cattle regions of the Middle Loup about 150 miles west of Fort Kearney last Thursday. He reports his herd and stock generally doing splendidly; the round up this season was somewhat hindered, and he thinks will not be completed for at least a month hence, owing to the wet weather, giving the cattle plenty of water in the hills, which otherwise would be driven to the low lands, rendering the work much more expeditious and easy.

Route No. 3.

Geo. E. Sykes left Saturday evening for Denver.

Fred Buss shipped a car of cattle to South Omaha Tuesday evening.

Miss Alma Schumann of Omaha was a Fourth of July guest at the home of Al Butler.

There was a very enjoyable dance the Fourth of July night at Ed Asche's on Shell Creek.

The picnic and celebration given by the Shell Creek band at Joe Kranses was a success and a good program was carried out.

Chas. Brunkes, in company with his brother Will from near Monroe, left July 5 for Lahoma, Okla., to look at the country and visit their brother Gust.

The following from the Chevalah, Washington, Independent, tells of the death of Mrs. Jane J. Brownlow, a daughter of the late Geo. S. Truman of Monroe township, and well known to the old settlers: "Mrs. Jane J. Brownlow, wife of W. H. Brownlow, formerly editor of the Chevalah Independent and ex-mayor of Chevalah, passed away at her home here Monday morning, June 27, at 7:20 after an illness of two months. Mrs. Brownlow had been suffering from tuberculosis for nearly ten years, death claiming its victim in spite of the efforts of the best physicians. Jane J. Truman was the eldest daughter of George S. and Susan Y. Truman, born in Philadelphia, Penn., November 27, 1859, of Quaker parentage and a birth right member of the Friends Monthly Meeting. Her early life was spent near Philadelphia where she received her education. Her parents then moved to Nebraska where Mr. Truman was in the employ of the U. S. government until his death a few years ago. She was married to W. H. Brownlow under the care of the Genoa Monthly Meeting, at Genoa, Nebraska, in September, 1879. A couple of years later they came to this state where they continued to reside, making their home in Chevalah about seven years ago. To this union were born eight children as follows: Mrs. W. D. Smith, Alexander T., William K., Ralph H., Truman Y., Arthur W., Helen F. and Alta M. Brownlow, all of whom reside here with the exception of the second eldest son who is in the U. S. Army in the Philippines. The funeral was held from the residence Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 under the direction of J. C. Rigg, local undertaker, the Rev. H. A. Luckenbach, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating in the service. The quartet also of that church sang several beautiful and appropriate numbers, both at the residence and at the cemetery east of town where the body was laid to rest.

After an illness of eight months with Bright's disease, John Baptist Gietzen, for twenty years a resident of this city died Saturday morning at his home on North Olive, aged 63 years, six months and five days. Mr. Gietzen was born at Port Washington, Wis., October 27, 1846. At the age of twenty he decided to try his fortunes in the then new west, and located at Fremont in 1866. Here he engaged in the cattle raising and feeding business, and traversed this section of Nebraska before the advent of the railroads. After leaving Fremont he was engaged in business in several other towns in the state, locating in this city in 1890, as manager of the old Chicago Lumber company, which position he held until about ten years ago. Mr. Gietzen was married to Miss Francis Hoffmeyer at Appleton, Wis., November 5, 1873, and she died February 11, 1890, at Central City. On June 9, 1891, he was married to Miss Mary Harris, who with two sons, Leo and Basil Gietzen, and one daughter, Mrs. J. C. Byrnes, all of this city survive him, also one brother, Postmaster Gietzen of Humphrey, and one sister, Mrs. O. C. Bridenell, of Los Angeles, Cal. During the last few years Mr. Gietzen's health has not been the best, and outside of looking after a few private interests, he has not been actively engaged in business. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at St. Bonaventura's church, being conducted by Rev. Father Marcellinus, and burial was in the parish cemetery. Among those out of town who were at the funeral services were Mr. and Mrs. John B. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Bargo of Central City, Mr. and Mrs. Shoney of Clark, Henry Gietzen, Will and Henry Gietzen, Mrs. Fena Cookingham, and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Leach of Humphrey, Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Gietzen and Louis Gietzen of Omaha.

Besides transacting routine business and allowing current bills at their last meeting, the council had before it a complaint regarding the sprinkling of East Eleventh street. The Fitzpatrick dry goods store building, which was inspected by Architect Wardeman, was ordered repaired at once, and a notice to that effect served on the owners. Police Judge O'Brien asked the council to allow him $3 per month toward office rent for the police court room. Bids for the purchase of the Platte river bonds, amounting to $25,000, were opened by the council, and referred to the judiciary committee, with instructions to consult the city attorney and report at the next meeting of the council.

About seven o'clock Tuesday evening, Ruth Osborn, fifteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Osborn took a dose of justice with suicidal intent, at the home of Mrs. Hayes in west Columbus, but prompt medical aid saved her life. The girl has had some trouble with her parents and some time ago Mr. Osborn had a warrant issued for her and wanted her committed to the girls' industrial school at Genoa. No one seems to know what was her reason for the rash act.

The Celebration.

Columbus enjoyed a safe and sane Fourth, in spite of the large crowd in the city. While the time was short, the committees worked faithfully and hard and the program was carried out with out a hitch.

The first feature of the program was the parade and the floats were very creditable. One of the features was the goat driven by Master Julius V. Belford and also the Shetland ponies of the Island Bros.

The contests for prizes were all well filled and some good showings were made. The automobile parade in the evening attracted much attention, and one feature especially was the car driven by little Miss Genevieve Branigan, the youngest driver in the parade, and she handled her car with the skill of many of the older drivers, turning the corners with precision. The day closed with a display of fireworks in the evening.

On The Diamond.

Columbus has been on the toboggan the last week, on account of the pitching force being laid up, but with the addition of Hamilton, the Indian pitcher, they are in better condition, and won Tuesday's game by good playing. Manager Dolan and the directors held a meeting Tuesday and the directors, after looking over the situation, are in full accord with the manager and will do everything in their power to make the Columbus team a pennant winner. During the week Tighe and Turner, the latter a pitcher, have been released, and Kelley has been signed in place of the former and Hamilton takes the place of the latter. Today and tomorrow Fremont plays here and Friday and Saturday Seaward is scheduled for two games. Columbus now holds seventh place in the per centage, but local fans expect that in the near future they will be nearer the top of the list.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

Over thirty have taken advantage of the special summer membership which is opening the way for a good many new members.

Hon. J. E. Hainer of Lincoln, Nebraska, addressed a good audience at the patriotic service under auspices of the Presbyterian church at the Y. M. C. A. last Sunday evening. His subject was "Practical Citizenship."

The Y.M.C.A. rest rooms on the Fourth of July proved to be a great thing for the large crowd that came to the Columbus celebration. The Y. M. C. A. and especially the ladies' rest room, was almost crowded the whole day. The boys' play room was transformed into a ladies' parlor and decorated in patriotic style, being equipped with tables, easy chairs, couches and all modern conveniences. Mrs. From very ably superintended the ladies' rest rooms and her services were very much needed by those who came in tired and overheated from the streets. It is hard to tell what they would have done had it not been for the rest rooms at the Y. M. C. A. for it is estimated that not less than two thousand people, men, women and children made use of their privileges.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to the many friends and neighbors for their sympathy and acts of kindness in the death of our dear husband and father, and also to the fraternal and social orders for their beautiful floral offerings.

The Druggist on the Corner Columbus, Nebraska

Columbus people who are interested in the coming chautauqua are anticipating a much better program and also better attendance this year. This is the third year for the chautauqua in this city, and the attractions this year are among the best on the circuit.

Tuesday forenoon a distressing accident occurred near St. John's Lutheran church, eleven miles northeast of Columbus, that resulted in the death of Adolph Rickett, son of Henry Rickett of this city. Some time during the morning Mr. Rickett's cattle broke into the corn field and he started on horseback to drive them out. As no one witnessed the accident, it is difficult to surmise how it happened, but the fact that was known of it was when his brother Will, who was plowing in an adjoining field, noticed the horse without the rider. He at once went to find out what the trouble was and found his brother lying on the ground unconscious. He summoned help at once and Mr. Rickett was taken to his home. Medical aid soon arrived and though he lived about two hours, never regained consciousness, death resulting from a fracture of the base of the skull. Adolph F. Rickett was born on the old homestead on Shell Creek January 7, 1874. Here he resided until his marriage to Anna Kroegeer on April 17, 1901. He then moved to his present home, on the old Heineke place, one quarter of a mile east where he resided at the time of his death. Mr. Rickett leaves, besides his wife, two daughters, Ethel and Grace, and also his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rickett of this city and three sisters, Mrs. Louis Grotelteschen, Louisa and Ida Rickett, and one brother, William, all residents of Platte county. Funeral services will be held Thursday at the home at 2 p. m. and 2:30 from St. John's Lutheran church, being conducted by the pastor Rev. Mueller, and burial will be in the cemetery at the church.
