MELVILLE WESTON FULLER

CHIEF JUSTICE FULLER DEAD

Aged Jurist Passes Away Suddenly at Sorrento, Maine.

Bar Harbor, Me.—Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller of the United States Supreme court died from heart failure at his summer home in Sorrento at six o'clock Monday morning.

The death of the chief magistrate was unexpected, as he had been in fairly good health lately, and there had been no premonitory symptoms of any kind of trouble. Sunday he attended church as usual, and when he retired at night he was to all appearances in his customary health.

Death came about six o'clock Monday morning. His daughter, Mrs. Nathaniel Francis, and Rev. James E. Freeman, who was a guest of Justice Fuller's at his Sorrento cottage, "Main Stay," were with the jurist when he died.

The funeral services will be held at Sorrento and the interment will be at Chicago.

For many years the chief justice had spent his summers at Sorrento, a summer colony located on Frenchman's bay, five miles from Bar Harbor.

A Great American. To Chief Justice Fuller fell the honor of third rank for length of service as presiding Justice in the highest tribunal of the American government.

For 22 years he was chief Justice of the Supreme court of the United States. Chief Justice Marshall presided over the court for 34 years, and Chief Justice Taney for 28 years.

With the future rests the determination of his rank among the eight chief justices of history for ability and accomplishments.

Before Grover Cleveland sent his name to the senate on April 30, 1888, for confirmation as chief justice, he was practically unknown except to members of the legal profession.

In Maine, where he was born on February 11, 1833, he had been known as a well-behaved, rather scholarly lad. He had gone to Bowdoin college, and, incidentally, there won most of the prizes for elocution. He had gone down to Harvard law school for one year.

His Great Argument. From 1856 to 1858 he lived in Chicago, but attracted little attention outside his immediate circle of friends and associates at the bar until he undertook the defense of Bishop Cheney on a charge of heresy. His knowledge of ecclesiastical history and procedure astonished those who conducted the case, and his argument of the cause of the bishop before the supreme court of Illinois is referred to still as a forensic effort seldom if ever surpassed in that court.

He was a delegate to the national conventions of the Democratic party in 1864, 1872, 1876 and 1880.

The nomination of Mr. Fuller, then fifty-five years of age, was followed by a memorable contest in the senate.

Inducing a Sneeze. Probably everybody has experienced the pleasure, if not actual pain, which comes from missing a sneeze. There is an easy way out of this if one happens to be out of doors at the time an dibe weather is clear. Just glance at the sun. There is something about the brightness of it that supplies the missing irritation, or whatever it is that is needed, and nine times out of ten if the sneeze has not gone too far away it will come back.—New York Sun.

Climatic Differences. On the coast of southeastern Alaska the average annual precipitation is about ninety inches and trees grow to a large size; in the central plateau, the precipitation is less than fifteen inches, including the melted snow, and the average size of timber is small; while on the arctic slope, north of Rocky mountains, climatic conditions make forest growth altogether impossible, and those vast tundras are covered chiefly with moss, sedges and a few small shrubs.

Valuable Pointer. In commenting upon the fact that Kansas stands at the head in raising mules, we wish to add that is the only safe place to stand. It also is best to keep as near the head as possible when putting the harness on.

Ways of the Wise Rat. Careful experiments have proved the truth of the ancient belief that by letting down its tail and licking the end the rat extracts oil, milk, wine, molasses, etc., from deep or narrow necked vessels.

Well Answered. A man advertised for a wife and requested each candidate to inclose her "carte-de-viste." A spirited young lady wrote to the advertiser in the following terms: "Sir, I do not inclose my 'carte,' for though there is some authority for putting a 'carte' before a horse, I know of none for putting one before an ass."

Lectures for Country Pastors. The Maine Agricultural college proposes to establish lectures especially for country pastors.

FALL OF AEROPLANE

MADAME DE LA ROCHE DROPS FIFTY FEET AT RHEIMS.

13 PERHAPS FATALLY HURT

Arms and Legs Broken and Other Injuries of a Very Serious Character.

Betheny Plain, Rheims.—Baroness de la Roche, the first French woman aviator, was seriously, perhaps fatally, injured here Friday by falling from a height of fifty feet.

The Baroness de La Roche had flown around the field once at a height of fifty feet, when suddenly while in front of applauding tribunes, she appeared to become frightened and confused at the approach of two other aeroplanes.

She started to descend but while still fifty feet from the ground, lost control of the machine.

The aeroplane turned over and fell like a log. The baroness' legs and arms were broken. Her mangled body was removed from the wreckage and conveyed to the hospital.

While momentarily conscious the baroness explained that the rush of air from a motor passing over her head had frightened her, whereupon she lost control of the machine. Examination shows her skull is not fractured.

This is the second fatal accident at this meeting, Wichter having been killed last Friday.

Two aviators broke the records for 150 kilometers at the meeting here Friday. Hubert Latham covered the distance in two hours one minute six seconds and afterwards the Belgian, Ollivier, did it in one hour, fifty-three minutes, twenty seconds.

The performances of Baroness de La Roche on a Voisin machine have been much talked of in Paris. This accident was not her first. On January 4, last, she was seriously injured at the Chalons aviation field. In circling the course she made a wide turn and crashed into a tree, being unable to elevate her machine quickly enough to dodge it. She fell from a height of twenty feet and was taken to the military hospital unconscious. Her right shoulder was dislocated and internal injuries were feared, but she recovered soon.

In February last the French Aero club gave Baroness de La Roche an air pilot's license for her feat in flying four times around the aviation course at Heliopolis, a distance of twelve miles.

The baroness was one of the pioneers of aviation. She had also driven motor boats in races and automobiles at exhibitions and as soon as flying became practicable, she turned to them. There are several other women aviators in Paris.

The body rested in state at the Virginia hotel, where the late justice made his home on his visits to this city, before being taken to St. James' church. Justice Fuller, when a practicing attorney, followed his vocation here for twenty-one years and hundreds of persons who knew him in the old days visited the hotel.

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

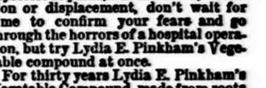

Holly Springs, Miss.—"Words are inadequate for me to express what your wonderful medicine has done for me. The doctors said I had a tumor, and I had an operation, but was soon as bad as before. I wrote to you for advice, and began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you told me to do so. I am glad to say that now I look and feel so well that my friends keep asking me what has helped me so much, and I gladly recommend your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. WILLIE EDWARDS, Holly Springs, Miss.

THE BIGGEST.

She—What is the biggest fish story you ever heard? He—Jonah and the whale.

Up to Date Milking Scene. "What's going on around here?" asked the surprised visitor. "Is this a hospital?" "Oh, no," answered the tall man in the silk hat. "This is the stage setting for a New England farm drama. The next act will be the milking scene."

"But I thought the young lady in the antiseptic apron was a trained nurse?" "Oh, no; she is the milkmaid. The young man in the rubber gloves that you thought was a doctor is the farm boy. As soon as they bring in the sterilized stool and the pasteurized stalls and find the cow's tooth brush the milking scene will begin."

Degree of Misery. Two young ladies were talking the other day about a third who had just become engaged to a widower who plays the cornet and has four children. "What could be worse," exclaimed one, "than four children and a cornet?" "Nothing," said the other, "excepting, perhaps, six children and a trombone."

Dangerous Job. Kind Lady—Here is a rhubarb pie, my poor man. How did you get that wound on your arm? Tired Tim—I was a lookout, mum. Kind Lady—Ah, a lookout on a steamer and there was a collision? Tired Tim—No, mum, a lookout for a second-story man an' de watchman winged me, mum.

A Serious Jlugger. "Yes," said the doctor, "I am called up occasionally to compound prescriptions at night."

"Isn't a man apt to make mistakes working in semi-darkness?" "You bet he is. I took a plugged quarter once."

Panicked for Holding. Maud—Do you believe in palmistry? Ethel—in a way. I've known it to work splendid as a starter when the young man was shy.
