Files of The Journal October 10, 1877. A great many inquiries have recently been made by parties who desire to purchase lands on the Pawnee reservation, when the sale will take place, and in what way it will be sold. We are in possession of very little reliable information upon the subject. It appears that the Secretary of the Interior has the control of the matter and is authorized to advertise and cause these lands to be sold at sums not less than the appraised value in any case. We do not further know the terms of the sale, whether for cash in hand or on deferred payments. We are not advised whether the sale will be conducted at public auction or private bids at the appraised value. Just now a large number of persons are seeking homes in Nebraska, and are making anxious inquiry about the reservation lands.

The fire north of town Monday night was a fearful looking sight until the rain set in and quieted it down. The wind was high and the flames pushed their way rapidly. At the foot of the bluffs, east of J. H. Reed's it destroyed two small stacks of hay for Pat Griffin, and sweeping westward it took in one small stack and three large ones (in all, probably one hundred and fifty tons of hay), belonging to Mr. Reed. These last had been plowed around, a double line of fire guards, and those at them watching and fighting the fire were congratulating themselves on having saved them, when all at once, and as quick as a man could turn his hand, the wind veered to the west and whirling the flames backward climbed the stacks and consumed them. We learn that the same fire burned seven stacks for Mr. Steinger and about four tons in cock for Mr. Reagan, four stacks for Mr. Orlow, and Dan Shedd's lot of corn, and it was only by the hardest work that his house and wheat stacks were saved.

Last Thursday there was a shooting affray southwest of Platte Center that might have ended fatally. The affair occurred on the Mylet farm and the participants were J. W. Mylet and John Dalton. During the forenoon there had been a dispute over the division of the farm products, the Daltons being renters on the Mylet farm. According to the version given the Journal, the Mylets, J. W. and his father, went to the place to make arrangements regarding the division of the crops and the first trouble started over some potatoes. This was for the time apparently settled but later there was a dispute over the millet, which led to the shooting. This they could not agree on and the younger Dalton struck Mylet in the face, when he shot the aggressor in the chin with a 22 calibre revolver. Dalton kept on coming at Mylet, when he received a second bullet, this taking effect in the side, but striking a rib and glancing. After the shooting Mylet came to Platte Center and gave himself up and later was taken to Columbus by Deputy Sheriff Burke. The wounded man was brought to the hospital in this city, but it is understood that since he has been able to return home. So far no complaint has been filed against Mylet, and at present it looks as though none would be, as the wounded man will be all right in a few days.

Henry Inman, father of Emmett Inman of this city, died at the hospital Friday morning, aged 65 years. Mr. Inman was born in Penn., Ill., November 2, 1845, and in 1868, he moved to Council Bluffs, Ia. In 1879 he located in Omaha and for twenty years was an employe of the Willow Springs distillery. Later he was employed by the school board, until poor health prevented him from continuing his work. Mr. Inman came to this city with his son, who is conductor on the Spalding freight, and made his home with him, except for the two months he was at Portland, Ore., and other points in the west for his health, having been sick with stomach trouble, which caused his death. Since his return from the west his condition, instead of improving, became worse, and he was taken to the hospital for treatment. Seven children, five sons and two daughters, survive him, Wm. Inman of St. Louis, Emmett Inman of Columbus, Guy Inman of Emerson, Neb., Frank Inman of Lusk, Wyo., Walter Inman of Omaha, Mrs. J. J. Nelson of Omaha and Mabel Inman of Emerson. Funeral services were held Saturday from the home of Emmett Inman, Seventeenth and Speice streets, and were conducted by Rev. Ray of the Methodist church, and burial was in the Columbus cemetery.

Monday evening the school board decided to equip the high school building with a safety fire escape, of the same pattern as the one demonstrated at the Second ward building a short time ago. The other buildings will be provided with these escapes later. This year the teachers are only asking for a leave of one day with pay so they can attend the state teachers' meeting. In former years this meeting has been held in October and the teachers given a two days' leave with pay, but the date this year has been changed to Thanksgiving week, and as there is no school on Thursday and Friday of that week, the additional day will give them three days to attend the meeting. Hereafter the high school tuition for non-resident pupils will be $3 per month, the same as is paid by the district under the high school law. Formerly it was $2 per month and the scholar whose tuition was not paid by the district received it for less than otherwise. Miss Clara Reeder was elected instructor of the physical science department.

Elmer Guiles, living in the Okay neighborhood, northwest of Monroe, met with an accident last Thursday morning that resulted in his death a few hours later. He was working with a threshing crew and just as they were coming to the Guiles home place he was riding on the tongue of the separator. A sudden jolt threw him to the ground and he fell in front of the machine, and before it could be stopped ran partially over him, breaking his collar bone, and crushing him so he died in the afternoon. At first his injuries were not considered fatal, but it later developed that he had been injured internally. Mr. Guiles, who was about forty-five years of age had lived with his parents on the old home place for the last thirty years, and was unmarried. Funeral services were held Saturday at the Okay church and burial was in the New Hope cemetery.

John Kyle, from Loup township, was in the city Tuesday, and in speaking of the conditions during the last season said something occurred this year that had not before in his forty years' residence in Platte county—the west side of the old Barnum pasture became so dry this summer that it was impossible for cattle to find grass and they were compelled to eat the green leaves of the trees. Located as this pasture is, between the two rivers, and the distance to water being very little, it is surprising that these conditions existed.

Miss Minnie Gier of the Journal force returned home Sunday evening after a month's holiday spent with relatives in Omaha and at other points in the eastern part of the state.

I own two good level quarters of hay and farm land near Bassett. A fine field of corn and lots of good hay, price $20 per acre. Address Owner, Box 23, Bassett, Nebraska.

A sudden stop of the freight train on which he was breaking, caused Frank Misiok to be thrown against the car, and he sustained a broken rib, which will prevent him from working for some time.

Joe Martes, who has been employed at the Union Pacific coal shed, sustained a fall last Friday, which resulted in two broken ribs for him. Just how the accident happened, no one seems to know, as he was alone when it occurred.

The manager of the North theatre has arranged with a Chicago music publishing house to forward him all instrumental and vocal pieces as soon as published. In this way the patrons of the North will enjoy all the latest musical productions as soon as they are out.

Felix Andreas, the union Pacific fireman who was so badly burned at Clarks last week, by the falling of a crown sheet on one of the 300 engines, is at St. Mary's hospital and improving slowly. His condition at present is serious, and at one time there was no hopes of his living.

Wood Smith of Fallerton has leased the Fitzpatrick building on Thirteenth street, and will open up a five and ten cent store, such as they have in the larger cities. The front of the building is to be torn out and a new one put in, as the present one was condemned by the city some time ago.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Jennings and young son of St. Edward were in the city Saturday enroute for the west. Their first stop will be at Denver for a visit with Mrs. Jennings sister. From there they proceed to Los Angeles, expecting to enjoy the climate of a California winter. They will return in May.

Tuesday of this week the First National bank took charge of the Eagle restaurant, on Olive street, and will proceed to foreclose, as they have a mortgage on the fixtures. A meeting of the creditors was held Monday evening, and it was decided to run the place until such time as it could be sold under the mortgage.

Gottwerth Erb living west of the city, who left last May for a sojourn in Germany and other countries in Europe, returned home Tuesday morning. When he left Columbus he was accompanied by Christ Wunderlich and George Ham-bour. Mr. Wunderlich returned some time ago, and Mr. Hambour is expected home this week.

Frank Richter, a former Platte county boy, was in the city last Saturday on his way to his home in Winona, Washington, where his father, Andrew Richter, moved to from the Postville neighborhood eight years ago. Frank has been working in Omaha and vicinity for some time, but goes to Washington to remain as he likes that locality very well.

Frank Davis of Oklahoma City was in the city a few days last week visiting relatives and shaking hands with old time friends. It has been twenty-one years since Frank left Nebraska, and during that time has wandered over most of the United States and Canada. In all his travels he tells us that he has saw nothing that looked better to him than Nebraska does at present, and that Columbus has improved more than any small city he knew of.

A meeting of the Commercial club has been called for this (Wednesday) evening to arrange for the opening of the new Platte river bridge, some time this month. It is the intention of the promoters to make this a big event for Columbus, and also a welcome to those on the south side of the river who have been compelled to go elsewhere since early in the spring. A definite program will be decided on at the meeting and it is quite probable that the day will be one of the events of the year in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Cochran of Creston were in the city Tuesday, and returned home that evening with their daughter, who is attending the high school in this city.
Democratic headquarters in this city are deserted during Aksarben week, as Chairman Byrnes and his assistants are all in Omaha at the headquarters in that city.
Congressman Hitchcock of Omaha was in the city Saturday evening and Sunday conferring with the state chairman and others. While it is not given out, it is understood that the Telegram's attitude on Mr. Hitchcock's senatorial candidacy had a good deal to do with his visit.

Mrs. D. W. Ziegler of Monroe was in the city Wednesday, enroute home from Chicago, where she was called to attend the funeral of her brother's wife, Mrs. F. G. Hornbush. Mr. and Mrs. Hornbush were residents of this county twenty years ago, living between Monroe and Oconee.
C. H. Aldrich, republican candidate for governor, will speak in Frankfort park in this city, Saturday, October 8, at 2 p. m. Mr. Aldrich is a good talker and all should turn out and hear his views on the issues of the campaign. Should the weather be unfavorable, the meeting will be held in Maennerchor hall at the same hour.

While grading north of town in the township, S. P. Drinnin and Al Butler came nearly having a mixup. There were ten horses hitched to the grader, and a passing automobile frightened them, resulting in nearly all the horses being down at once. After much trouble they were released, the only damage being to the tongue of the grader.
W. T. Gillespie, who met with an accident while going to his home from Genoa a week ago Saturday, and was unconscious, did not regain consciousness and died on Saturday, October 3. His funeral was held Monday from his home in Woodville township. Mr. Gillespie was one of the older settlers of Woodville township, coming there a number of years ago.

Friday evening the City Band will give their last concert of the season in the city park. During the summer many people, including a number from outside of the city, have enjoyed these concerts and have spoken words of praise of them. The boys have given excellent programs and many have made it a point to reach Columbus on Friday to listen to the concerts.
P. F. Luchsinger of the First National bank leaves this week for an extended visit in Europe, the greater portion of his time to be spent in Switzerland. The trip is both of pleasure and business, and as Mr. Luchsinger has not seen his native land for sixteen years, the trip will be an enjoyable one for him. He expects to return to Columbus about the first of the year.

Since his election to the presidency of the state association of the Nebraska Rural Letter Carriers' association, H. B. Reed of Route 3 has decided to become a citizen of Columbus. He has leased his farm to F. J. Buitor of Oconough, Pa., a brother-in-law of C. K. Devlin, and will move to town and occupy his property. He expects to make the change in the near future.
Last Thursday Deputy Sheriff Burke arrested John Pernok, a farm hand employed on the Hilger Greisen place near Tarnov, for statutory assault on Katie Klein, a fifteen year old girl, the complainant being signed by Jarvis Klein, the girl's father. He was brought to this city, and Friday he had a hearing before Police Judge O'Brien, and was bound over to the district court, his bond being placed at $500.

Route No. 4.
Chas. Bolt has just completed a new corn crib and granary.
Miss Irene Snyder, who has been at the home of D. D. Bray for some time, left Monday for her home in Lincoln.
Wm. Gosman is excavating for a new house, which will be 32x32, eighteen foot posts and cement block foundation.
A number of the young men who were Sunday visitors on the route were compelled to remain until Monday on account of the heavy rainfall.
Lois McComb and James Thomazin were married in Columbus Tuesday, and after the ceremony a reception was given them at the home of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Thomazin will reside in Platte Center until after the crops are taken care of, when they will move on the home farm, as Mrs. Maria Thomazin is going to make her home in Platte Center.
Route No. 3.
Henry Garme is erecting a new dwelling house on his farm.
Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Seefeld left Monday for Loup City, for a three days visit with relatives.
Henry Meyer is doing some excellent work on the road running east from the German Baptist church.
George Borchers is putting down a well on his farm, locating it on a hill so he can build a reservoir and install a system of waterworks for his residence and also for other purposes.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.
The monthly meeting of the board of directors will occur next Monday night.
Mr. Whitney will attend the conference of employed officers of Nebraska which meets in Omaha this week.
The Young Men's Christian Association and other societies have united in one national association movement to better boys under the leadership of the Boy's Scout Movement. In England the boy scouts do not teach any kind of religion but expect each boy to have some and to stick to it and they make it a part of their religion to help others, and not let a day pass without having done a good turn to somebody, and not to tell of it unless asked.
The Intermediate, Seniors, and Business Men's gymnasium classes will start next Monday, October 10. The Intermediate class will include all those between the ages of 16 and 18 and working boys under that age who cannot get into afternoon classes. The Senior class will include all those who held full memberships who do not belong to the Business Men's class. The secretary or physical director will be glad to advise with anyone about any of these classes. The following is a weekly schedule of the classes: Junior A (boys 13 to 16) Tuesday and Thursday, 4 to 6 and Saturday 10:30 to 11:30. Junior B (boys 10 to 13) Monday and Wednesday 4 to 6 and Saturday 9 to 10. Business Men, Monday, Wednesday and Friday 8 to 9. Intermediate and workmen, Wednesday and Saturday 7:15 to 8:15. Seniors, Monday, Wednesday and Friday 8:15 to 9:15. Boxing club, Tuesday and Friday 7 to 8. Leaders classes, boys Friday 4 to 5; Men, Saturday 8 to 9. Basketball practice Tuesday 8 to 9. Clip this schedule and keep it in your pocket.

Congregational Church.
We sometimes hear men say, "I am as good as the church member." The proposition rests on what goodness is. If goodness is negative; if it is simply keeping ones self clean, pure, we might grant the claim. Christ's view-point of goodness is service. The best helper is the best man. Patriotism bears its arms in country's cause; philanthropy seeks the needy; knowledge finds its expression in servicable activity and Christ tells us that goodness is not wrapping ones talent in a napkin and keeping it clean and secure, but investing it in noble service. The church offers the largest opportunity for service of any organization today. Its field is unlimited. Its opportunity outstrips its capacity because so large a per cent of men shrink from under the obligation and leave the burden on the few. We must contend that the active worker in the church is a better man than the idler without.
Next Sunday morning our pastor will speak from the subject: Praiseworthy Virtues. This theme will be discussed in the light of christian ethics. You cannot afford to miss this service. We shall be glad to greet you.

Route No. 4.

Mrs. J. F. Belford left last Saturday for Chicago, where she goes to enter one of the large hospitals in that city for an operation, under the direction of her brother, Dr. Thomas H. Traisor. Tuesday Mr. Belford left for Chicago, being called there by a message, so as to be with her. About a month ago the seriousness of Mrs. Belford's trouble made an operation inevitable, and she has been arranging to go to the hospital.
Tuesday evening the retailers of this city met and organized the Retailers' association of Columbus, with Phil Echols, president; M. C. Keating, vice president; Otto Marx, treasurer; Paul Johannes, secretary; board of directors, F. A. Brennan, J. S. Haney, Wm. Krumland. This association is a branch of the Federation of Nebraska Retailers, and is organized for co-operation of the retailers, especially regarding the present credit system. Another meeting will be held soon to arrange details and perfect the organization.
Last Friday Conductor Burke of the Union Pacific blocked one of the crossings for forty minutes with a freight train, and Chief of Police Sebacek filed a complaint against him in Police Judge O'Brien's court. A warrant has been issued and as soon as the conductor can be apprehended he will be brought up for trial. And in this connection the chief proposes to put a stop to the present practice of many of the passenger conductors of doubling the crossings on North and Olive streets, blocking traffic. Officers timed one of them the other evening and over thirty minutes had elapsed before the teams and pedestrians on either side could pass.

The board of supervisors were in session Monday and Tuesday of this week, the main business transacted, besides the routine work, being the arranging for the acceptance of the new Platte river bridge. There are some formalities in connection with this, one of the important matters being the proper notification of the counties of Polk and Butler, who are expected to pay their share toward the repairing of the structure. The board allowed some of the bills of the Standard Bridge company for work on the structure. An adjournment was taken to a later date, which was not decided on as yet, as the exact date of the completion of the bridge is indefinite, and at that time the board will be called in session.
