ABOUT OUR NEIGHBORS AND FRIENDS CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

LEIGH.

From the World.
I. R. Postle has cut a lot of his corn for fodder and we notice that nearly all the farmers are cutting corn to help out the short hay crop.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Bates and two children, a son and a daughter, arrived here from San Francisco, Cal., the first of the week and the former has assumed the duties of station agent at the local depot to take the place of Frank Fowler who resigned some time ago.

Mrs. Wm. Arche, sister of Henry and Ben Mackenstedt, arrived from Cordova, Maryland, last Wednesday. It is interesting to hear her tell how they farm there. They have to use commercial fertilizer and raise all kinds of garden truck which they sell to the canning factories.

SILVER CREEK.

From the Sand.
Duncan is to have a new hotel. Frank Sokol has let a contract to O. N. Powers of Silver Creek to construct a building for him of cement blocks, two stories and basement, 25x80 feet in size and to contain 17 rooms.

The village board met last Wednesday and granted a franchise to E. L. Ives, Charles W. Brown and W. Grant Brown to install and operate an electric light plant in Silver Creek. The grantees have accepted the same and will begin work on the plant as soon as possible. It is their intention to construct the building of brick about 40x80 in size and use it for an engine room and power house, automobile garage, office and repair shop.

Monday, September 26, at 12:30 p. m., Nathan Doney passed suddenly away from the scene of this life. Although very old and feeble, Doney was apparently feeling as well as usual for some time, when all at once he passed away, presumably of heart trouble. For some years he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Sol C. Towles, and was there when death occurred. Mr. Doney was born at Albany, N. Y., and was 83 years, 10 months and 26 days old at the time of his death.

ST. EDWARD.

From the Advance.
Mrs. O. A. Britell was taken to St. Mary's hospital at Columbus the fore part of the week where she will take treatment.

Gilbert M. Hama was killed in a railroad wreck Friday, Sept. 23, 1910, near Clayton, Kans. He was a passenger on train No. 27 on the Chicago & Rock Island. The train was wrecked on a long trestle, a portion of which had been washed out by a flood caused by the recent late rains in that vicinity. News of his death reached St. Edward late last Friday evening. He had been absent from St. Edward only a few days and was on his way to eastern Colorado where he had filed on a homestead. Funeral services were held from his home southwest of St. Edward Tuesday afternoon.

Wm. Gillespie was thrown from his buggy last Saturday evening and sustained injuries which will perhaps result fatally. He had attended a horse sale at Genoa and had bought a team of rather poorly broken horses. He was leading this team behind his buggy and it is supposed that they were the cause of the accident. Mr. Gillespie was taken at once to his home where everything has been done to resuscitate him. His most dangerous injury was a blow on the head which has caused a blood clot to form at the base of the brain. Consulting physicians have decided that an operation to relieve this condition is not advisable. Mr. Gillespie has at no time regained consciousness.

ALBION.

From the News.
Parker Bros. have been obliged to refuse several jobs on account of being unable to get brick-layers. It seems strange that a trade which pays the highest wages going should not have plenty of applicants.

It will be recorded that the first frost of the fall of 1910 came Sept. 27 in this locality. It was light, especially on the higher ground and did practically no damage. It followed a spell of wet cold weather and it may be some time before another one visits us.

The farmer who will spend one dollar and fifty cents an acre in the construction of a modern highway will immediately realize an increase from ten to twenty-five dollars an acre to the value of his land, in addition to the great saving in the cost of transportation, and the value of having an accessible market every day in the year. Until farmers recognize the difference between a wise business investment of that kind and the extreme folly of paying tribute from their net earnings to maintain mud roads, the highways of Nebraska will not be improved.—Fremont Herald.

One day last week, Geo. Gradon and Harry McConnell each got a letter from the post-office, both mailed from some town in Colorado, the imprint of the mailing stamp being so dim as to be unreadable. Both letters contained a scrap of newspaper enclosing a twenty dollar bill and a five dollar bill. There was not a scratch of writing to indicate who the sender was, and neither of the recipients have the least clue as to their identity. Their exact similarity in every respect, except the handwriting which was evidently disguised, would indicate that the same person sent both. The mystery needs a Sherlock Holmes to unravel it.

A Hard Problem.

A certain debating society is discussing the question as to which is the angrier, the husband who goes home and finds that the dinner is not ready or the wife who has dinner ready and whose husband does not come home. It is believed that the debate will end in a draw.

Not Always.

Teacher (of night school)—What do you understand by the term "life sentence?"

Shaggy-haired pupil—"I pronounce you husband and wife."—Chicago Tribune.

MONROE.

From the Republican.
Mr. and Mrs. Schoonmaker and daughter Lura left Monday night for Kansas. W. L. and Miss Susie Smith accompanied them as far as Columbus.

Ellis Williams will leave the first of the week for Zeal, S. D., where he will prove up on his homestead and then move his family to Monroe. He expects to be absent about six weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sayer returned Thursday morning from their visit to the old home in Indiana. While there had been many changes since they left, they enjoyed a very pleasant visit.

Henry Clayburn still believes in the road drag, and the road at his place shows it, for after each rain he hitches up and drags his part of the road. Henry is all right and so is the road drag.

Wm. Webster left Thursday for Los Angeles, Cal., where he will attend the bankers' convention, and from there he goes to San Francisco, returning from there with his family, who have been in the west for some time.

Louis and Will Jones sold the old home place this week for $77.50 per acre to a German, Elliot, Spies & Co., making the sale. The boys have not as yet decided what they will do as they still own an eighty in that neighborhood.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Matson were guests of relatives and friends in Monroe and vicinity last week. This is the first time, since leaving Monroe, that they have been able to visit here at the same time, but now that Frank is on the road for an implement firm he took the opportunity to visit Monroe at that time.

Thursday Mrs. D. W. Ziegler received a telegram from Chicago telling her of the death of Mrs. E. P. Hornbostel in that city the same day. Mrs. Hornbostel was a resident of this locality about twenty years ago, living on the place now owned by Chas. Potter. No other particulars were given in the message.

Chas. Watts has leased the Wilson building, just west of the livery stable, for a term of five years, and the switchboard of the Monroe Independent Telephone company will be moved into it as soon as possible. And in addition to changing the switchboard the company expect to make quite a number of other improvements in this locality. The Jencks building, which will be vacated by Mr. Watts, has not as yet been rented, but parties are expecting to use it for a dwelling this winter.

J. Will Campbell, who will succeed B. S. Thurston as agent for the Walrath & Sherwood Lumber Co. at Monroe, was here Tuesday looking over the ground, and making arrangements to move here by November 1, when he will be checked in. Mr. Campbell is a former Genoa boy and has many acquaintances in this locality. For several years he was located at Fullerton, first in the employ of the Walrath & Sherwood Co. and later manager of the Farmers' elevator. The last year he has been located at Cambridge, Neb., but he expects to make Monroe his permanent residence.

PLATTE CENTER.

From the Signal.
There seems to be a great amount of building going on among the farmers this fall. Material is being hauled out almost continually and lumber yard employees seem to be kept on a jump all the time.

The freight traffic on this branch of railroad has become so heavy lately that it cannot be handled on time and the freight trains, especially those going south, are from one to four hours late. Frequently the morning train has to be cut in two to get over the hill south of Platte Center, notwithstanding they are hauled by two engines.

A large acreage of winter wheat has been put in in this vicinity this season. The weather was favorable for early plowing, consequently the wheat was sowed early and the majority of it is up, and many fields of the earliest is already covering the ground. Experience has taught farmers that the earlier the land is plowed and the seed sowed the surer they are of a good crop.

Last week Messrs. Adolf Schmidt and Ed J. Mark bought of the heirs of the late Thos. Jones the old Jones farm in Joliet township, consisting of 100 acres. Schmidt getting the 80 on which the buildings are located, and Mark the other eighty. This farm is the one on which the Postville postoffice was located until rural free delivery put it out of date. The price paid was $77½ per acre. Adolf will move onto the farm March 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Schoen went to Madison Tuesday evening, called there by the death of Matt Zamburra. Mr. Schoen's brother-in-law which occurred last Saturday evening, at his home near Madison. He had for some years been afflicted with hay fever which had gradually weakened his system. He was not confined to his bed until Friday, and his death came very unexpected. Mr. Zamburra and his family were former residents of Grand Prairie township, this county, and he was well known here. They moved to Madison county some eight or nine years ago. He was 42 years of age. He is survived by his wife three daughters and one son. The funeral was held from the Reform church at Madison, at one o'clock Wednesday, and interment made in the Madison cemetery.

To Be Noble.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION.

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

The doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98 per cent of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Regal Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Regal Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quickly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, grip, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c and 10c. Sold only at our store—the Regal store, Pollock & Co., corner 13th and North streets.

Houndabout.

The very budding barrister assumed the approved legal look of indisputable superiority.

"Now, my good lady," he observed, shaking an admonitory forefinger at the woman in the witness box, "you do not appreciate the gravity of the question. Endeavor to concentrate what brain power nature has endowed you with and answer me. What relationship does the defendant bear to you?" "Right-ho!" responded the good lady. "Is father's cousin was my cousin once removed, and is mother, marry-in-me uncle's only brother."

"My good lady," interrupted the judge despairingly. "I am not here to solve puzzles!" "Well, I'm blowed!" ejaculated the lady. "You was talkin' jest nah as though you'd cornered most o' the brain pair goin'." If you "adn't swanked quite so much I'd 'a' told yer plain—London Anvers.

Old Moon Beliefs.

The health, growth and development of children and animals were years ago supposed to be influenced by the moon. If the sign was right at the time of birth they would be well formed and intellectual, but if it was wrong there was no telling what sort of creatures they would become. Every worthless fellow, every dog, rooting hog, fence jumping cow or kicking horse was believed to have been born under an unfavorable phase of the moon of night. Queer people or those who were of hateful disposition—were children of the dark moon, with the sign below the heart.

His Mistake.

Edward—What do you think I carry in my watch case, darling? It is always the stamp of your last letter. Your lips have touched it, and mine often kiss the place where yours have been. Angelina—Oh, Edward! I'm awfully sorry, but I always use Fido's damp nose.—Illustrated Bits.

His Birthday Present.

Fair Customer—I want a birthday present for my husband. Dealer—Yes, mum. How would this old clock suit you? Fair Customer—Let me see. I've got a corner in my boudoir that will just do for it! And I've been wanting an old clock for a long time. Yes, that will do!

The Error.

Sandy—Doctor, man, there's a wee bit error in this bill o' yours. Ye've charged me for advice. Ah never tak it.—London Punch.

GENOA.

From the Times.
A writer in the Lincoln Journal, who recently visited Nance county, says: Nance county was once the Pawnee Indian reservation, and every once in awhile some of the old burying places in the vicinity of Genoa are uncovered. Fullerton is located on a part of the old reservation. Its first resident was Randall Fuller, for whom the town was named. Way back in 1876 Fuller lived in a little shack on the townsite. A short distance above town lies the farm where Alfred Bixby, father of the Journal poet-philosopher, A. L. Bixby, located when he came down from Minnesota in search of a climate that included more than three months of good weather. "Bix" helped break the greatest part of the farm land, and later edited a paper in the town. He also won the title of "Doc," through his endeavor to heal the physical ills of his fellows. A heartless board of health ended his usefulness in that line by asking him bothersome questions. One of the little tales of interest the visitor hears is how a Pennsylvania man got rich through trouble that came upon him at home. He was mixed up in the star route scandals of many years ago, nobody knew just how, and came west until things blew over. He had money and he invested it in Nance county lands when the government was selling them for a song after the Indians had been moved away. He purchased about five thousand acres for $10,000, and although he long since died back in his old home, whether he returned a short time after his trip to Nebraska, his heirs still own the lands. Their present worth is in the neighborhood of $400,000. Along the south side of the Loup valley is a lot of bad land or at least it was so considered by the first settlers, being sandy. On this Jim North, of Columbus, years ago, located about twenty-five families of Poles. They extracted much riches from the soil, living very frugally and working hard. They have made so much money and have increased so greatly in numbers that they crossed the valley and are buying the $30 an acre lands north and west of Genoa.

CASTE IN THE ARMY.

Civilians Find It Difficult to Understand Military Discipline.

One thing not commonly understood among civilians is the completeness of the barrier which divides army officers from the soldiers, or, as they are more generally called, the "men." It is always vastly amusing to those familiar with the service to observe the errors in this respect frequently made by the novelist and the playwright. Personal qualifications have nothing whatever to do with the matter. A soldier may be a gentleman who has enlisted with the purpose of obtaining a commission, yet there can be between him and his officers no social intercourse of any sort, and severe penalties would be inflicted upon the officer who would attempt to disregard the rule.

It might seem that this enforcement of a caste sense would result in much hard feeling on the side of the men. Such, however, is not actually the case. It is taken for granted and recognized as conducive to "good order and military discipline." It is a military regulation like any other and implies no disgrace. Directly a soldier's enlistment is out or directly he rises from the ranks the prohibition is removed.—Delineator.

Real Laziness.

The Little Russians—those of the south—are said to be cleverer than the Russians of the north, but they are lazy—just how lazy may be gathered from this quotation from Mr. Maurice Baring's book, "Russian Essays and Stories":

"The Little Russian," said a Little Russian gentleman to me, "is so lazy that he will say to his wife, 'Little wife, say woin to my horse. I have a pain in my tongue.'"

Progressive.

"When did you commit your first fatal extravagance?"
"When my boss referred to my wages as my 'salary.'"
"And when did you perpetrate this latest folly?"
"The day my wife called my salary my 'income.'"—Cleveland Leader.

Not Worth While.

"I notice that you usually tell the truth."
"Yes; I found that telling lies gets you into almost as much trouble."—Kansas City Journal.

EVADING THE LAW.

The Pictures of Flying Birds in a Mohammedan Mosque.

According to one of the tenets of the Mohammedan religion, it is a sin to make a picture of any living thing. The elaborate decorations of the palaces and mosques of the east are almost exclusively made up of ingeniously interlaced geometric designs, arabesques or flowers, intermixed with sentences of the Koran.

There is a belief among Mussulmans that at the day of judgment Allah will demand that the artist who has made the image of a living thing shall endow that image with life and that, failing to do this, the artist will be sent to perdition for his sin.

A gentleman who visited a mosque in Algiers found that the tiles with which the building is decorated, which are very old and very beautiful, are adorned with flights of birds. He expressed surprise at this and asked if the command against such representation was a modern edict.

"Oh, no," answered the pious Algerian to whom he addressed the question. "These are not pictures of living birds."

"But they are painted as if flying across the tiles," the other said in some astonishment.

"Yes," the Mussulman replied, "but do you not see that about the neck of each there is a fine black line? That is to show that the artist painted only dead birds, and the command of the Koran is not violated."

The Astonishing Part.

Lord Townshend at the battle of Dettingen was standing quite near a drummer boy whose brains were dashed out by a cannon ball. His lordship gazed on the horrible spectacle for some moments in silence.

At last an old officer spoke up and said: "Why is your lordship surprised? Such things must happen in war."
"I know it," was the reply, "but what astonishes me is that a boy with so much brains should be here at all."

A Bright Outlook.

"Do you ever do you think, Miss Dobleigh, that you will be engaged next Thursday evening?" asked Tompy very bashfully.

"Well, really, Mr. Tompy," replied Ethel, "I don't know, but if you can get up spunk enough between now and then to do your share I think there's a fair prospect that I shall be."
And Tompy did.—Harper's Weekly.

The Real Victim.
After a man has been sick a week his wife looks worse than he does Tom taking care of him.—Atchison Globe.

Advantage is a better soldier than wisdom.—Shakespeare.
