SCHUYLER.

From the Sun.
Louis Stubb had what might have been a serious accident on Saturday last. While driving his car along the road about two miles southwest of town the machine ran into a ditch turned completely over and caught the driver beneath. Aside from a few bruises and a dislocated forearm the patient made his escape and is up and around.

An organization has been formed among the retail merchants of Schuyler to protect themselves against the professional deadbeats. The system of the deadbeats will be met by a system. Here-to-for parties who had accounts with one merchant and refused to pay the bill would open an account with another merchant, and thus go the rounds of every store in town. That cannot be done now. When a merchant is beaten out of an account he reports to the secretary of the organization and he in turn reports to all other merchants that that person is on the blacklist and to require cash. This should make the dead beats come to time, at least it will be a great saving to the merchants.

SHELBY.

From the Sun.
E. S. Mitchell bid his Shelby friends goodbye last Friday and left for Madison to take charge of the station at that place. Mrs. Mitchell will remain here a short time as they have not shipped their household goods yet.

Farmers in the vicinity of Johnson shipped the other day what is supposed to have been the most valuable carload of farm produce ever sent out of the state. It was a carload of clover seed, which, at the market price of eight dollars a bushel brought the producers more than $5,000 for the load.

Geo. Liebee, who was found on the sidewalk Wednesday evening of last week in an unconscious condition and seriously injured, died about noon on Friday. Just how the accident occurred which caused his death will probably never be known, as no one saw him fall and he did not regain consciousness before he died. It is believed that he fell from a door leading out from the second story of his rooming house. The remains were taken to Kearney for burial.

ALBION.

From the Argus.
Uncle Charley Quinlann came down from South Dakota Saturday. He says they are dried out in that part of the state. He said Fitz Sackett was busy with his cows and raising turkeys and chickens.

As R. W. Stillinger was going to his home in Boone from here Sunday evening about 6:30, with his family and mother aboard his auto, he met with a serious accident at the Abe Smith slough. Here the county is putting in a cement bridge and temporarily the public has to go around, cross a temporary bridge and up a pretty steep bluff, or bank. In going up this last patch his machine failed to climb it so ran backward. He applied his brake and it held all right but he says the wheels slid on the grass he guided the car so it went as near endwise over the bank and about 8 feet down in the ditch as possible. It was a frightful plunge. No one was seriously hurt only the mother, who was unconscious for several hours. The next day she was getting over the shock although pretty sore. It is a marvel that they got out as they did. The car was not badly broken either.

BELLWOOD.

From the Gazette.
Edward Barlsen, a farmer living west of David City died Sunday afternoon as a result of falling from a horse which he was riding. One of his legs was broken and he was injured internally.

Word reached Bellwood Wednesday forenoon that Mrs. Want, who resides on the tableland south of Bellwood, was very ill and not expected to live many days. It seems that on that morning she went out to milk; that her husband followed her some time after and found her lying in a prostrate condition in the barn.

Ed Warren, who has been quite ill for some time at the home of his sister at David City, was brought to Bellwood Sunday last. Shortly after his arrival here he was stricken down with paralysis, which was his second attack. He lingered in an unconscious condition until Wednesday evening about seven o'clock, when he passed to the beyond. Deceased was the son of Capt. Warren, who formerly owned the farm south of J. D. Bell's residence. He was a man who was always held in high esteem by all who became acquainted with him.

SILVER CREEK.

From the Star.
W. H. McCullough, the well known sheep feeder of Central City, has leased the James Gagan ranch south of the river for the winter and will feed 3,000 head of the woolly animals there.

While playing teeter-totter last Sunday afternoon Jefferson, nine year old son of Frank Bump fell and broke both bones of his right arm just above the wrist. He is doing as well as could be expected. This affliction seems to be catching in the Bump family as it is only a short time since his father suffered a similar injury.

Grandpa Levi S. Eby was surprised as you can only suppose a Dutchman, last Wednesday evening. Some of his neighbors were mean enough to slip up on his back porch just at dark and began to throw things at him. One of the worst parts of it was that his daughter, Mrs. Sam Munger of Columbus, whom he did not know was in the neighborhood, was one of the party. After the unprovoked assault had allowed Mr. Eby to recover his senses, he identified the most of his neighbors as his assailants, and instead of having them arrested, invited them into the house and generously divided the good things they brought, with the exception of some fine presents presented to the youngest man of his age in the country, he being only 25 years old that day.

CURIOS.

Isn't it curious that when it is one minute after 8 o'clock it is past 8, when it is thirty minutes after it is only half past 8?

CENTRAL CITY.

From the Nonpareil.
Ingratitude is a vice that is not confined to the politicians. A woman in Douglas county, Kansas, reared twenty-one children, none of them her own, and when they grew up every one forgot her. She is now at the place where she secured most of the children.

This has been a pretty good season for strawberries but it appears to be a better one for stories about them. Lis ten to this from the Aurora Register: "M. D. Haddox, a real estate man of Central City, who was not long ago a partner of Arthur Bald of this city, has evolved a variety of strawberry that bears a fall as well as a spring crop. He reports a patch of two acres that is now bearing fruit of good size, color and flavor.

Sheriff Her received a telegram the first of the week from the warden of the penitentiary at Chester, Illinois, asking him for information regarding Ralph Blakely, who was convicted here last week on the charge of assault and battery. The telegram stated that Blakely had been released on parole from the penitentiary, where he had been sent on a charge of committing an assault with intent to kill. Mr. Her has answered the telegram and an officer will be here shortly to take charge of Blakely.

Clark Newcomer, one of the community's oldest and most prominent citizens, died at his home in this city Tuesday night. Mr. Newcomer has been in feeble health for some time, but about two weeks ago he caught a cold that affected his lungs and from which he was unable to rally. Since moving to town from the farm a year ago he has had several sick spells, an old bullet wound inflicted in the army giving him much trouble. His brother, Dr. G. W. Newcomer, of Conneville, Pennsylvania, is, was here at the time of his death. He settled on a farm about ten miles north of town and for thirty-six years has resided in this county. He was successful in business and acquired considerable property. About a year ago Mr. and Mrs. Newcomer bought property in Central City and retired from active work.

LEIGH.

From the World.
Mrs. Dora Aache and little son left for their home in Maryland last Sunday. The relatives gave them a farewell party at Mackonstedt's on Saturday evening.

While shelling corn last Friday, Wm. Mueller, a Stanton county farmer, caught his right hand in the sheller while it entirely cut off. The arm was so badly lacerated that Dr. E. C. Underberg, of Stanton, amputated it two inches below the elbow. Mr. Mueller is a renter, is about 35 years old and has a wife and three young children.

More evidence of California climate in Nebraska has been brought to our notice this week. Encouraged by the extremely warm weather which we are enjoying this fall, the raspberry bushes in the garden at the home of John Wurdeman have seen fit to "blossom and bring forth fruit," and any number of ripe berries may be found on them. Now if some one will present us with a bouquet of June roses we shall alter our plans immediately and decide not to go to California to spend the winter.

While on his way to Clarkson last Saturday afternoon Louis Stubb met with an auto accident which might have cost him his life. At the John Wullechlegler corner he made a sudden turn which upset the machine causing it to turn over twice. The auto was being driven at a high rate to speed and Louis was pinned underneath. Members of the Wullechlegler family went to his assistance and he was brought to town for medical care. Louis is indeed fortunate in escaping with only a dislocated elbow, although his machine is pretty badly broken up.

FOR BALD HEADS.

A Treatment That Costs Nothing if It Fails.

We want you to try three large bottles of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic on our personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith in this remedy, and it should indisputably demonstrate that we know what we are talking about when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the follicles closed and grown over, and the scalp is glazed.

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done for thousands of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—the Rexall store. Pollock & Co., corner 13th and North streets.

Prompt Punishment of a Liar.
Years ago the courthouse in San Francisco fronted the old Plaza. A trial was in progress, and counsel for the defendant was cross examining the plaintiff. An earthquake shook the chandeliers and dislodged some of the ceiling. Judge, jurors, witnesses and spectators rushed for the door; but, finding that the seismic disturbance was over, they returned.
"You can proceed with the cross examination of the witness," said the judge.
"Pardon me, your honor," said counsel for the defendant, "but after the late exhibition of the displeasure of the Almighty at the lies this witness was telling I do not care to further invoke divine wrath. I will ask him no more questions."—Los Angeles Times.

ROAR OF BIG GUNS.

The Effect Upon the Nerves and the Sense of Hearing.

One of the penalties attendant on firing off big guns is deafness. So sure is this penalty to be exacted that, it is asserted, no man can go through a long series of gunnery practice without having his hearing affected. A stranger on deck who hears a big gun speak for the first time will not soon forget the stunning report.

One gun is enough to startle a stranger, but the shattering effect of the whole armament when in action together can hardly be conceived. The strain upon nerves and senses when the rending concussion takes place is terrible.

There is not a great difference between the effect of the big guns and that of the smaller pieces, strange as it may seem. If the visitor places himself beside one of the smaller guns and then listens to the roar of the big one, the sound will not appear much louder than that of the gun by his side. The extra distance to the muzzle of the big piece discounts the sound. The only apparent difference between the two will be that the smaller piece has a sharper, higher pitched tone, and that the big guns speak with a more hollowing roar.

If one watches the firing of the gun the crash has not such a startling effect as when it comes unexpectedly. Loud as it is, nature has prepared the watcher to resist the shock which he knows is impending.—Exchange.

MONROE.

From the Republican.
Mr. and Mrs. John Sacreider and son Mel returned to their home in David City Monday, after a visit with their daughter, Mrs. H. Lieber.

Cement walks are soon to be built in front of the old hardware store a room, now owned by H. A. Hanson, which will go quite a ways toward completing the line of cement walks on that side of the street.

Ellis Williams and family arrived last Saturday from Zee, N. D., and will make Monroe their home for the present. Ellis is again employed in Franklin's store, and they will move to town as soon as they can secure a home.

Albert Saline, son of John Saline, died Thursday morning in Colorado, where he has been in the hope that he might stay the ravages of consumption. This is the third death in the family in the last few months, two sisters of the deceased being taken by the same disease.

Wm. Webster, who has been attending the Bankers' convention at Los Angeles, Cal., returned this week accompanied by Mrs. Webster and the children. Mrs. Webster, who has been in the west for her health for some time, returns much improved and will report a nice outing during the trip.

Will Talbitter returned Wednesday from Chicago, where he underwent an operation for his injured knee. At present the injured member is incased in a rubber stocking, and while there has been some improvement, the chances are that he will have to undergo another operation before he is able to resume work.

PLATTE CENTER.

From the Signal.
The majority of farmers hereabouts are gathering their corn this week. The corn is not in the best condition for cribbing, owing to the lateness of frost, but the time for harvesting it is here and for fear of bad weather next month they are getting busy.

Fred Meyer last Saturday left at the Signal office a fresh stalk of corn which was grown on his farm in Shell Creek township. This stalk contains three good sized, well developed and matured ears of corn. In addition another ear had started and developed to the silking stage. Two well developed ears on one stalk is a rare occurrence, but three ears is something few corn raisers ever witnessed.

An important business change took place in Platte Center last week, the Glodowski Brothers disposing of their hardware and implement stock to Homer Robinson, of Columbus. The doors were locked Monday morning and invoices, which will probably take all the week, is being taken. The Glodowski took a quarter section of land, northeast of Columbus, in the deal. Mr. Robinson says he does not intend to conduct the business himself but will have a man here to attend to it. The Glodowski have not yet determined what they will do.

FOR DISPEPSIA.

You Risk Nothing by Trying This Remedy.

We want every one troubled with indigestion and dyspepsia to come to our store and obtain a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. They contain Bismuth Subnitrate and Pepsin prepared by a process which develops their greatest power to overcome digestive disturbance.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are very pleasant to take. They soothe the irritable, weak stomach, strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, relieve nausea and indigestion, promote nutrition and bring about a feeling of comfort.

If you give Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets a reasonable trial we will return your money if you are not satisfied with the result. Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at the Rexall store. Pollock & Co., corner 13th and North streets.

REINDEER IN LAPLAND.

They Furnish the People With Shelter, Clothing and Food.

Some people have said that the reindeer of the northern regions is to the inhabitants of those countries what the horse, cow and sheep together are to the dwellers in southern lands, and very probably they are right. What would the Laplander be were he deprived of his favorite? How could he travel without his pair of reindeer harnessed to his sledges?

The reindeer has large black hoofs, behind which are false or secondary hoofs; the result is that when running they make a clattering sound, which may be heard a good distance away. The reindeer has much endurance and takes a long journey without seeming tired, though it is only about four and a half feet in height and not very strong. Its horns are long and slender, with branched, rounded antlers, but they are not much used in combat, like those of some other deer.

The largest reindeer are found where the weather is coldest, and their color is lighter. Usually it is brown and white, but in the case of old animals the hair is sometimes quite white. From the skin of the reindeer the Laplanders get not only their clothes, but also bedding and tents; the milk is drunk and made into cheese and the flesh is also good to eat, and the tongue and haunches being particularly liked. Pemman, an important article of food, is made by pouring fat over the pounded meat and mixing them well together.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

OLD ENGLISH BOXERS.

Hired to Prevent Trouble at George IV's Coronation.

Boxing was introduced into England in the earlier part of the eighteenth century. Its first practitioner being John Broughton, who kept a booth for exhibitions in Tottenham Court road, London, and rules were drawn up Aug. 10, 1743. The vogue was due to the decline of sword combat exhibitions in the reign of George I. Broughton himself was the first who stood in the position of champion, a distinction which he held for eighteen years, but eventually he was knocked out by a butcher named Slack. Broughton was a great pet of the Duke of Cumberland, who took the pugilist with him to Berlin, when he declared himself ready to take on the entire regiment of grenadier guards there "if he were only allowed a breakfast between each two battles."

The English fighter Tom Cribb once secured a very remarkable engagement. Just before the coronation of George IV, certain sympathizers with Queen Caroline bragged that on the day of the coronation they would make matters warm in the neighborhood of Westminster abbey, and this reached the ears of the earl marshal. That high functionary sought an interview with the pugilist "Gentleman" Jackson, who taught Lord Byron to box.

Jackson got together some two dozen bruisers. Besides Cribb, the band included John Gully, in turn fighting man, racing man, colliery proprietor and member of parliament. They were attired as king's pages and gathered about the abbey doors. There was no trouble.—Chicago News.

The Man Behind the Message.

The value of a thing depends largely upon who says it. Words may be bullets, but character must be the powder at the back of them to give them projectile force. The man behind the message is as important as the man behind the gun.

NEBRASKA HER GREAT CROPS AND WEALTH

Send these figures to your friends in the east. They will interest them. The first railroad to build in Nebraska was the Union Pacific; that was in 1863. Today the Union Pacific covers 3,411 miles of splendid roadbed, safeguarded by an automatic electric system of signals. More than 26,000 freight and passenger cars and 1,000 monster locomotives are required to meet the public demands. An army of men receives millions per year in wages. Such activities are important factors in the building up of a state, and Nebraska needs prosperous railroads as the Union Pacific needs the support of the people of Nebraska.

We have a book on Nebraska and its resources which will be mailed to some friend in the East for the asking. Please send us his address. Every Union Pacific ticket office is a bureau of railroad information. Make your wants known there or write to me.
