ITEMS OF INTEREST

ABOUT OUR NEIGHBORS AND FRIENDS CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

BELLEVILLE.

From the Gazette.
Mrs. Jerry Wagener handed us an item this week which was clipped from a Canada paper, which gives the condition of the weather on January 9, 10, 11 and 12. It is as follows: "Lowest thermometer readings for the night of Monday was 58 degrees below; Tuesday 45 below; Wednesday 42 below; Thursday 42 below. We are improving."

There are about twelve members of the G. A. R. left in this neck of woods so on Saturday evening last their wives invited them to the hall, when a spread good enough for president Taft awaited them. The old veterans enjoyed the treat and claim that they had a grand good time. Of course, the children of the soldiers were included in the feast.

Widow Schmit, who lives in the southeastern part of town, near St. Peter's church, while standing on a chair last Friday fixing a stove pipe, fell to the floor, fracturing two of her ribs. Dr. Hansen was summoned and administered to her wounds. She is still confined to her bed chamber, but is improving each day and will again soon be about at her home.

OSCEOLA.

From the Record.
Thos. Land, former section foreman at this place was in Omaha the latter part of the week. Mr. Land will go to Hill City, S. D., in a few days and goes into the employ of the Burlington.

Chester Carson left last night for Grand Island, where he will assume his duties as manager of the state farm at Soldiers' Home. And his friends wish him success in his new line of work.

Last Saturday a bunch of the boys out north of town under the instigation of Charles Curtis, got up a little husking bee for Frank Walker, who has been seriously ill of pneumonia for the past few weeks and a part of whose corn remained unhusked in the field. The boys all assembled at the field early in the morning some thirty-two in all with about twenty teams and by the time dinner was ready, they had that field of twenty acres of corn all taken out, cleaned up slick and clean and they all went home feeling mighty good over the job. And Frank Walker well maybe he didn't feel good. The news of the kindness of his neighbors and friends was the best dose of medicine that Frank has had since he has been sick.

ALBION.

From the News.
Nebraska has attained mature age as evidenced by the fact that we now have a native Nebraskan in the U. S. senate. Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Nevels took their departure Tuesday morning for Texas in hopes that the change in the climate will be beneficial to Mrs. Nevels' health.

Beginning with Monday the two new freighters on the Northwestern road began carrying passengers between Oakdale and Scribner. These trains were put on as an experiment and Agent Day believes that this action indicates that they have proven a good thing.

C. E. Drake sold a quarter section of his land southwest of town to F. I. Houtz and Hans Schroeder last week. Mr. Houtz takes the eighty adjoining his farm and Mr. Schroeder the eighty adjoining him. The price received was $100 per acre and there were no improvements on the place.

The records in the office of the secretary of state show that 5,827 automobiles were sold to the people of Nebraska during the year 1910, at an estimated investment of about six million dollars. And it is not so many years ago that food and clothing was shipped into the state from the east to keep the people from starving and freezing.

GENOA.

From the Times.
Twenty-one years ago this winter the Russian lagrippe first made its appearance in the west and has not failed to visit us annually since that time. This year the complaint is unusually severe and several cases in this vicinity have developed into pneumonia.

In the Madison county jail is a man named Stehr, whose home is in Norfolk; but he will not return there for a long time to come, if the authorities can prevent it by sending him to the penitentiary for one of the most revolting crimes ever perpetrated in the state. Stehr is charged with having caused the death of his 4-year old step son. During the recent cold weather the baby boy was compelled to sleep in a wood shed on the floor. The cold was so intense that the little one's feet were frozen. It was not until one of the baby's feet had rotted off that a physician was called. The doctor reported the case to the authorities and the child was taken to a hospital where his limbs were amputated below the knee. Twenty-four hours after the operation the little sufferer passed away. Investigation disclosed the fact that the baby's body was covered with bruises inflicted by the step father. A short time before death came the mother was sent for. As she bent over and spoke to her dying boy, he lifted his hand and showed her face aside, saying to her in German, "go away!"

MAKE THIS TEST.

How You Can Tell if Your Hair is Diseased.

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. 98 per cent of the people need a hair tonic.

Pull a hair out of your head: if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunken, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want every one whose hair requires treatment to try Rexall "33" Hair Tonic. We promise that it shall not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and cure baldness.

It is because of what Rexall "33" Hair Tonic has done and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store—the Rexall store, Pollock & Co., corner 13th and North streets.

MONROE.

From the Republican.
W. L. Smith is spending the winter with friends and relatives in Illinois.

J. W. Adamson of Fullerton was transacting business in Monroe and vicinity Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Ed Farmer has opened up a meat market in the west room of the J. H. Smith building, making two meat markets for Monroe at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Ohas. Farmer and Jay Farmer left Monday morning for their home in Mannington, Ky., after spending a part of the winter here.

John Keeler is again confined to his bed with his wounds received while in the army. It is only a question of a few more years until all the old soldiers will pass to the Great Beyond.

Lester Kelley went to Columbus last Saturday and entered St. Mary's hospital, and on Tuesday was operated on for appendicitis. He stood the operation very well, and his condition is all that could be expected.

As soon as his carpenter shop is completed and in readiness, J. T. Smith will begin the manufacture of cement blocks in connection with his other work. He has made arrangements to supply the Walrath & Sherwood Lumber Co., with what they will also manufacture for others.

Tuesday afternoon the special meeting of the Monroe Commercial club was held in the town hall, and routine business was transacted such as listening to the reports of committees and communications. The bridge proposition was also up for discussion, and a committee was appointed to measure the river again while the ice was solid, so an exact measurement could be gotten. Several members of the club and residents from Loup township were present and took active part in the meeting. A number of new members were enrolled, and when the club adjourned it was until Thursday evening for the annual election of officers and directors for 1911.

Friday the ice on the river became so soft that it was unsafe for farmers from the south side to haul loads to Monroe, and after hauling two loads that morning they decided to quit and await colder weather. While the ice was strong enough all those who had grain to market put in their time hauling, and sold as much as possible. The distance saved in hauling means considerable to the Loup township farmers, as they could make two trips to Monroe in the same time as they made one elsewhere. These farmers should not be compelled to confine their marketing of grain in Monroe to a few days during the winter when the ice is heavy, but should have a permanent bridge to cross on.

PLATTE CENTER.

From the Signal.
While chopping wood last Tuesday Henry Lohoff had the misfortune to let the axe slip in such a manner as to cut a gash about two inches long in his foot. The wound was not serious, but very painful, and necessitated some surgical mending.

We are pleased to note that the report from the bedside of Henry Gehring are more encouraging. While he is still a very sick man, his present condition permits him to be out of bed and sitting up during a portion of the day. The signal joins most sincerely with his relatives and many friends in their hopes for a continuation of his improved condition.

A. G. Parker received word last Saturday that his sister, Mrs. Dr. C. M. Platz, who has been seriously ill at her home in Torrington the past three weeks was taken last Thursday to a hospital at Scott's Bluffs, a distance of 35 miles for treatment. Dr. and Mrs. Platz formerly resided in Columbus, and have many acquaintances at this place who will regret to hear of their affliction.

Mrs. R. W. Parkinson received a message last Saturday informing her of the serious illness of her sister-in-law, Mrs. P. F. Doody, at her home in Cheyenne. For several years Mrs. Doody has been afflicted with serious heart trouble, and grave fears are entertained for her recovery. Mrs. Parkinson left at once to be present at her bedside. Word has been received that Mrs. Doody is slightly improved.

The prospect of a much coveted visit to the fatherland and a happy family reunion was somewhat marred by the news received by Mr. David Schreiber last Monday that his mother had died at the old home in Dardoff, Russian. Mr. and Mrs. Schreiber contemplated a trip next March at the special invitation issued from the old home for a grand family reunion. They will make the trip, but the mother will be missing at the reunion.

Steel and Iron.
Reaumur discovered the direct process of making steel in 1722, or thereabouts, by immersing malleable iron in a bath of cast iron. A steel manufacturing is said to have been set up by Benjamin Huntsman near Sheffield in 1740. It was about 1800, however, before steel fairly became the fashion. The greatest boost to the trade came from Bessemer in 1850.

Maids of Moors.
"Do your daughters help their mother with the housework?"
"We wouldn't think of expecting it. Muriel is temperamental, and Zaza is intense."—Pittsburg Post.

Hadn't Settled.
Bacon—And you say your brother has settled in Canada? Egbert—No, I didn't say so. I think he went there to get out of settling.—Yeakers Statesman.

Advice is not disliked because it is advice, but because so few people know how to give it.—Leigh Hunt.

TEARS AND LAUGHTER.

God made both tears and laughter, and both for kind purposes, for as laughter enables mirth and surprise to breathe freely, so tears enable sorrow to vent itself patiently. Tears hinder sorrow from becoming despair and madness.—Leigh Hunt.

The Way to Find Him.

"My wife and I are going to spend a few months with her people at Strong's Corners," said the meek little man, "and I want you to mail your paper to me."
"Yes," said the clerk. "What's your name?"
"Well—or to make sure, I guess you'd better address it, 'Mary Strong's Husband, Strong's Corners.'—Catholic Standard and Times.

Tactless.

"I don't think it was a bit nice for the rector to commend women's economy in dress," said the wife to her husband after the service.
"That shouldn't have annoyed you, my dear," was the reply. "Your gown is plain enough."
"Exactly! His remark called every body's attention to what I had on."—Boston Courier.

Suits to a T.

The clause "It suits to a T," meaning it fits exactly, is as old as the familiar instrument, the T square or T rule (so called from its resemblance to the letter T), used by mechanics and draftsmen for making angles true and for obtaining perpendiculars. The expression was in common use in the time of Dr. Johnson, who is quoted by Boswell as saying of Warburton, "You see they have fitted him to a T."

An Economist.

"Of course," said Mr. Sirius Barker, "I want my daughter to have some sort of an artistic education. I think I'll have her study singing."
"Why not art or literature?"
"Art spoils canvas and paint, and literature wastes reams of paper. Singing merely produces a temporary disturbance of the atmosphere."—Washington Star.

How a Meaning Changes.

"Cheat" is a word that now has a very ugly sound. To cheat a man is to defraud him. Originally the word conveyed no such meaning. The old word "escheat" referred to the dues that fell to the crown. It came from the French eschier (Latin, excedere). The modern meaning that attaches to the word tells a sad tale of the extortion and greed that must have been practiced in collecting the dues.

A Journalist's "Copy."

The late Mr. Levy of the London Telegraph once asked G. A. Sala if he had any objection to his copy being edited in the office. "Mr. Levy," he replied, "I am like a butcher. I sell you so much meat. To me it is a matter of profound indifference whether you serve it fried, broiled or roasted."
"Recollections of Mrs. T. P. O'Connor."

Just Dissolved.

"So you broke your engagement with Miss Spensive?"
"No, I didn't break it."
"Oh, she broke it."
"No, she didn't break it."
"But it is broken?"
"Yes, she told me what her clothing cost, and I told her what my income was, then our engagement sagged in the middle and gently dissolved."—Houston Post.

CEDAR RAPIDS.

From the Outlook.
Everett Austine, a young man about 23 years old, committed suicide shortly before noon Wednesday at his father's home by taking a large dose of carbolic acid. The young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Austine, living about three miles northwest of this place. Three or four months ago he was found in an unconscious condition in his father's barn with a wound in the side of his head. How he was hurt still remains a mystery, although it was thought at the time that he fell from the hay loft and in falling struck his head on a nail. He never fully recovered from this accident and up to the time of his death was being treated by the doctors. Wednesday morning he went to the cellar and did not return. Members of the family becoming alarmed at his absence followed him and there found him dead.

W. D. Davis was born in Liverpool, England, on March 10th, 1836, and died at his home at Primrose January 18th 1911, aged 74 years, 10 months, and 8 days. The deceased came to America in 1850, after a period of ten years at sea, which time he spent as cabin boy, able seaman and master. He was married in Boston to Elizabeth Algeo in 1853, to which union were born seven children. When Mr. Davis came to Nebraska in 1867, the country was more like a wilderness than a place for a home, accordingly, much of the hardships of pioneer life had to be endured. They were bravely and manfully borne. During his 23 years of residence in Boone county his industry and thrift brought him into possession of a number of the most valuable farms in this community, one of which forms the residence portion of Primrose.

SILVER CREEK.

From the Star.
John Schiltz sold last Wednesday was a top notcher, the total amounting to about $6,000. One bull sold for $115.00 a cow for $119.00 and all the cows averaged close to $100 per head.

Heber Ford has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late T. E. Horn of Central City. An inventory of the real and personal property of the estate places the value at $1,244,348, the largest ever probated in Merrick county.

Word was received Monday that Ike Barnes was dead at his home in Joliet, Ill. Reports are that he killed himself. Mr. Barnes was a brother of Mrs. Frank Bump and an uncle of Jesse Barnes. Tuesday Mrs. Bump, Jesse Barnes and Miss Rachel Barnes, took the train for Joliet, to attend the funeral. Mr. Barnes was a resident of this county for several years and is well known here. Particulars of the tragedy are meager.

Sunday morning, while attempting to ride one of Russell Merrill's bronchos, John Pope was badly banged up. He was attempting to ride a broncho which Mr. Merrill had purchased recently and was using a single cinch saddle. In its efforts to unseat the rider, the horse slipped the saddle over its head, reared in the air and came down striking John with its front feet. John was laid up in bed for a few days but is now able to be around, though still very sore. John says he will be in good shape in time for Frontier Days next fall.

CAUSES 95 PER CENT OF DISEASE

Advice Concerning Stomach Troubles and How to Remedy Them.

Do not neglect indigestion which leads to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent doctor once said that ninety-five per cent of all the ills of the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

A physician who made a specialty of stomach trouble, particularly dyspepsia, after years of study perfected the formula from which Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are made.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be the greatest remedy known for the relief of acute indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is almost immediate. Their use with persistency and regularity for a short time brings about a cessation of the pains caused by stomach disorders.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will insure healthy appetite, aid digestion and promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask you to try them at our risk. If they do not give you entire satisfaction, we will return you the money you paid us for them, without question or formality. They come in three sizes, prices 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain them only at our store—the Rexall store, Pollock & Co., corner 13th and North streets.

The Big Wind in Ireland.
The night of the big wind in Ireland was Jan. 6 and 7, 1839. It seems to have served for some seventy years as the era point of no little chronology. The gale was by no means confined to Ireland. A score of persons died in Liverpool in the crash of buildings, and the force of the wind was felt through Cheshire, Warwick and Stafford. In Limerick, Galway and Athlone more than 200 houses were blown down and as many more were burned. In 1898 Dublin was swept by a gale quite as great and half the trees in the Phoenix park were put down.—New York Sun.

She Loved Him.
This was after the quarrel. "I can never forgive you," he cried. "Last night you said I was a lobster."
"But you know," she replied, and her tone was conciliatory—"you know how dearly I love lobsters."

With a glad cry he folded her to his breast.—Philadelphia Record.

THE GOLD WAS THERE.

But Mark Twain Missed It by Just One Pail of Water.

With Steve Gillis, a printer of whom he was fond, Mark Twain went up into Calaveras county to a cabin on Jackson hill, where Steve's brother Jim, a lovable, picturesque character (the "Truthful James" of Bret Harte), owned mining claims. Mark intended to spend his vacation in pocket mining and soon added that science to his store of knowledge. It was a halcyon, happy three months that he lingered there. One day with Jim Gillis he was following the specks of gold that led to a pocket somewhere up the hill when a chill, dreary rain set in. Jim was washing and Clemens was carrying water. The "color" became better and better as they ascended, and Gillis, possessed with the mining passion, would have gone on regardless of the rain. Clemens, however, protested and declared that each pail of water was his last. Finally he said in his deliberate, drawing fashion:

"Jim, I won't carry any more water. This work is too disagreeable. Let's go to the house and wait till it clears up."
Gillis had just taken out a pan of earth.
"Bring one more pail, Sam," he pleaded.
"I won't do it, Jim! Not a drop! Not if I knew there was a million dollars in that pan!"
They left the pan standing there and went over to Angel's cabin, which was nearer than their own cabin. The rain kept on, and they sat around the grocery and barroom smoking and telling stories to pass the time.

Meanwhile the rain had washed away the top of the pan of earth left standing on the slope of Jackson hill and exposed a handful of nuggets—pure gold. Two strangers had come along and, observing it, had set down to wait until the thirty day claim notice posted by Jim Gillis should expire. They did not mind the rain—not with that gold in sight—and the minute the thirty days were up they followed the lead a few paces farther and took out $20,000 in all. It was a good pocket. Mark Twain missed it by one pail of water.—Chicago Post.

Dollar Bills From All Over.
"That dollar silver certificate you have there has been gathered together from all over the world," said the bank cashier. "Part of the paper fiber is linen rag from the orient."

"The silk comes from Italy or China. The blue ink is made from German or Canadian cobalt. The black ink is made from Niagara Falls acetylene gas smoke, and most of the green ink is green color mixed in white zinc sulphate made in Germany."
"When the treasury seal is printed in red the color comes from Central America."—New York Sun

No Apology Necessary.
"I congratulate you most heartily," said the nearsighted guest at the wedding, "on this happy—oh, I beg your pardon! I thought I was speaking to the bridegroom."
"That's all right," the other man replied. "I accept your congratulations. I am the father of the bride."—Chicago Tribune.

Very Lucky.
"I don't get what I deserve for my jokes," wailed the humorist.
"You're lucky," sympathized his friend.—Toledo Blade.

INSURANCE MAPS.

Handy Guides For Underwriters in Fixing Premium Rates.

Many persons must have noticed when making application for fire insurance that it is the practice of the underwriter to examine certain maps before he will fix the rate of premium or accept a risk on the property offered. His lithographic surveys marked off in diagrams of red and yellow and other colors are always in evidence, sometimes bound securely in dozens of large volumes, on other occasions laid conveniently in piles of loose sheets for handy reference.

Few persons realize, however, that these maps contain all the information which the underwriter desires to know about the building he is asked to insure and that in most instances more matters are explained to him by a single glance than the applicant could make even though he be the owner of the property.

As a matter of fact the details set forth are most explicit. The map-maker has managed by colors, characters and signs to give a full description of the construction, equipment and occupation of the building, everything which over fifty years of this sort of surveying has proved to be of any possible interest to the insurance man. It is so complete, for instance, that an agent in New York city can readily form a good idea of the character of a risk situated in some town in Missouri or California, or vice versa, agents in towns in these western states can likewise tell the character of a risk in New York city.—Cashier's Magazine.

Poising on Nothing.
Away up in the air, far beyond the mountain tops, the great condors will hang poised as motionless as if perched on solid rock. True, their wings are outstretched, but even through glasses not the slightest motion is perceptible. They remain in this position for many minutes, sometimes for an hour, making a careful scrutiny of everything below them in their search for prey. Then, with a slight tilting of the wings, they flap slowly away, or, having found what they were seeking, dart like a bullet toward it. The eagle, hawk and other species have this same faculty of poising apparently on nothing.

Banked Rails.
In rounding a curve the tendency of the weight of a train is invariably to shift to the outside wheels. To counteract this tendency the outer rail of a curve is raised on a higher level than the inside, the elevation being in an exact proportion to the sharpness of the curve as determined by the principles of engineering. If both rails of a curved track were of exactly the same elevation a train would not dare round it at high speed.

One Formality.
"Oh, joy! She has written a letter saying she will marry me."
"Congratulations. When?"
"Well—er—you see her father has to endorse this promissory note before it's good."—Cleveland Leader.

How Ma Resembled Him.
"Tommy, you don't take after your father much, do you?"
"No, ma'am. But, gee, you ought to see the way ma does sometimes!"—Exchange.

Getting an Education.
"Has your son learned much since he went to college?" asked the new minister.
"Naw," replied Farmer Oatcake, "but I hev, by hen!"—Chicago News.
