MANY YEARS AGO

Prices of the Journal, May 1, 1878
Sixteen persons arrived here Monday from Austria, and will probably locate in this country.

Nearly all the corn for this season's crop will have to be planted by the end of this week, "if it don't rain."

D. Snyder of Stearns Prairie leaves us a sample of rye in full head taken from a forty acre field of the same kind. Rye in full head on the 29th day of April, certainly gives evidence of a very healthy and rapid growth.

Part of the lumber for the Silver Creek Loop bridge has arrived, and work began on Monday. The bridge will be located about two miles above the mouth of the Beaver. Silver Creek is a tributary, as she expects a great accession to her trade with Boone county and the western portion of Platte when the bridge is completed.

After July 1st Albion is to have a daily mail from Columbus. This will be a great improvement on the present arrangement. It is wonderful the growth in the amount of mail matter in that direction in the last two years. We congratulate our friends all along the line on their close connection with the rest of the civilized world.

Our old friend "Hoot" Long of Boone county, near St. Edward, was in the city Tuesday on his way to Omaha. For something like forty years Mr. Long has been a tiller of Boone county soil, but recently has rented his farm land and sold off his stock, etc. He may return from Omaha in an automobile, which will be somewhat of a change compared to the old ox team which brought him over about the same trail many years ago. In the early days "Hoot" was reckoned one of the very best "cornfield fiddlers" in all this region, and many pleasant evenings were enjoyed by the old guard at John Haber's livery barn when he would walk all the way from Boone county beside that ox team, and he never failed to bring along that "good old fiddle." Talk about music. We seldom hear "Turkey in the Straw," and then times that made your feet move whether you wanted them to or not. Back in those days "Hoot" was also a foot racer, a ball player and a mighty fine all-around boy. His old friends here are pleased to know that he is now taking life easy, and during the summer will take his family for a sight seeing tour through the west.

Thursday afternoon Coroner Gass held an inquest over George T. Mayboro who was killed by No. 11 last Tuesday morning. No new facts were brought out and the testimony of the trainmen was to the effect that Mayboro had been given ample warning and did not heed it. After the inquest Mr. Mayboro's car was started to its destination, being in charge of Sam McFarland of this city, who was employed by the railroad company. Friday evening S. S. Swickard of Esburg, Ore., arrived here to take charge of Mayboro's body and arrange for having it shipped to Oregon and also look after his boy, who was found in the car Wednesday morning. The boy was not informed of his father's death, until just before they were preparing to continue their journey, he having been under the impression that his father had been left and would join him in a day or two. Besides the son who was accompanying him, Mayboro leaves a wife and two daughters, the latter having made the trip from Michigan to Oregon during the reduced rates of last month.

Two applications for the inheritance tax, to be used for permanent roads, were before the board of supervisors at their meeting, held last week. Oregon township asked for $400 for a permanent road leading to that village, the present road being in bad condition a good share of the time. Barrows township, through Supervisor Sehere, asked for $25 for a stretch of road over which two rural mail routes pass, and which is next to impassible during rainy weather. The county board granted both of these requests, and the money will be turned over to them as soon as available. And in this connection, the board made provision for the $800 recently appropriated for the permanent road between this city and the south approach of the Platte river bridge, which will be built during the coming summer.

A request for a government expert to supervise the building of the permanent road between this city and the Platte river bridge, has been forwarded to the Good Roads department of the department of agriculture at Washington by President Frischholz of the Commercial club. The request was filled out on a blank forwarded to Mr. Frischholz from Washington, and there were a number of questions to be answered by the chairman of the county board. This was done and the request signed by Chairman Schwarz in compliance with the rules of the department. A special request was made that Mr. Dodge, who was here for the preliminary work, be sent to superintend the construction.

Building permits were granted by the city council last Friday night to Leander Gerrard for a one story brick building on Thirteenth street, and C. L. Lund was granted a permit for a lumber shed on his plating mill. The request of contractor Parker for permission to move the Pusch and Becher, Hockenberger & Chambers buildings west to the sidewalk line of the park was also granted; as was John Branagan's permit for an electric sign at his garage on West Thirteenth street. Bonds of the city treasurer, city clerk and police judge were presented and accepted, and the council then adjourned until Friday evening, April 28, to complete the business before them.

A short program has been prepared for Patrons' day at the public schools on Friday, April 29, and will be given at the High school at 2:30 and at 3:30 in the Second ward building. A special program has also been prepared for the kindergarten department, and will be given at the High school and also at the Second ward. Much interest is being taken in Patrons' day by the parents, and the teachers and faculty are anxious that as many as can conveniently attend, will avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing what is being accomplished in the schools. The art exhibit will be open beginning with Wednesday afternoon, each afternoon for the balance of the week.

At one o'clock last Thursday the fire department was called to the Union Pacific round house, a blaze having started in a pile of kindling near the building. The fire did not gain any headway and there was no damage done.

"The Whirl o' th' Town."

An unusually large cast of the best Columbus amateur players has been very busy and are now adding the finishing touches to what is anticipated to be the most pretentious home talent production ever given here.

"The Whirl o' th' Town" is a very lively musical comedy in three acts and previous presentations in other cities, holds for it a record of being in a class by itself for excellency and high class comedy. Norfolk's people thought it superior to anything of the kind they had ever seen.

A packed house will undoubtedly greet the event here on Friday evening, inasmuch as it will add a needed benefit to the Y. M. C. A. Among those who will take part are:

Andrew Jackson Squills, the newly elected senator, S. L. Whitney; John D. Astergould, financier and lover, F. J. Housh; Lem Tucker, private secretary, A. L. Rush; Tamarack Hankinson, country detective, C. E. Shaw; Tom Quills, the prodigal son, C. A. Ross; Jim Freely, political boss, Matt Abte; Foyle Knott tramp, Fred Babcock; Arizona Pete, a bad cowboy, Grover Long; Alger-norn Snitzmoodle, duxed, Floyd Snyder; Tucker Jenkins, hired man, Fred Recktor; Hap Hazard, farm boy, H. F. Frankfurt; bellboy, Everett Welch; Indian chief, C. E. Collett; Bughouse Jake, Mr. Ross; waiter, Alex Anderson; Truly Yours Squills, the village belle, Miss Kavanagh; Agnes Watson, her friend, Margaret Steiner; Vivian Darling, the actress, Pauline Elias; Pretty Soon, a regular cutup, Irene Xanders; Miss Mandy Sparks, a coy maidenly lady, Mrs. Hoyt; manicurist, Miss Meistrick; book agent, Miss Reed; pianist, Pauline Kavanagh; city boys and girls, Margaret Nammann, Clara Reeder, Minnie Biers, Marnie Elliott, Catherine Kusche, Mable Duke, Mary Kipple, Mabel Swift, Howard Whaley, A. T. Mitchell, Steve Kent, Don Fauble, Phil Hockenberger, Lester Dibble, H. R. Moffit, W. E. Hockenberger; country boys and girls, Opal Snyder, Florence McFarland, Neva Muses, Ruby Beckley, Elsie Jaeggi, Misses Pittman, Meistrick and Allness, J. Colton, Everett Welch, Harry Colton, Harry Hagel, Willard Prather, Fred Babcock, Roy Hall, George Brown; fancy dancing girls, Faye Scofield, Grace McTaggart, Ella Bucher, Helen Hagel, Clara Covert, Olga Oehrich. Besides these there will be the Indian dancers and the Fastown Screamer Band. By the way watch for the Screamers parade next Friday.

The songs are especially adapted to this merry comedy being of a catchy order and include "The Indians Ride," "Take me where there's a big brass band," "Would you if you could," "Tinkling Star," "Don't forget the number," (Miss From), "I've taken quite a fancy to you dear," "Great to be a soldier man" and others.

The author of the skit James W. Evans assisted by Mrs. Evans is here, personally directing the work and is much pleased with results so far and the excellent talent Columbus possesses. He anticipates an unusually successful and enthusiastic performance here.

Like many musical comedies there is not sufficient plot to burden the hearer, for fun and good cheer are allowed to predominate, but of the plot which does exist it concerns Squills a farmer politician who is after a sharp struggle elected to the state senate. His election is celebrated by the whole district assisted by the Fastown Band, and in the second act he gets into the "whirl o' th' town." Here his troubles magnify and his enemies test his strength so that he is glad to return to the farm which is the location of the third act.
