MANY YEARS AGO

Files of the Journal May 15, 1878.
There are a great many different opinions in regard to the fashions, but one theory will always be in vogue with reasonable men and women, and that is to dress as to not attract particular attention, either to new or old style.

The frost Thursday night last was very severe on fruit of all kinds, and there will probably nothing come to maturity of all our fruit, except perhaps some cherries and peaches in protected places. Several mornings the ice was a quarter of an inch thick.

One day recently in David City there were sixteen lightning rod wagons. Just think of it! Sixteen lightning rods, with all their lightning tongues, talking like lightning for a day, less or more. Even acknowledging the utility of lightning rods (which is exceedingly doubtful) would not a little lightning itself be preferable to sixteen lightning rod agents all in one day?

As difficulty has been experienced in securing sufficient eligibles to meet the demands of the service, the commission urges qualified persons to enter the examination. Last Wednesday afternoon Ora Milburn, aged fourteen, was committed to the Girls' Industrial school at Geneva by County Judge Ratterman. The hearing, which was the result of a complaint filed by the parents of the girl, Mr. and Mrs. Perry Milburn, was conducted by County Attorney McElfresh, and the evidence brought out the fact that neither parent was able to control the child. This has been the case for several years, she refusing to do household work, and when compelled to do so broke all the dishes and in other ways made herself disagreeable.

Edmund Miles of Joliet township, one of the avowed candidates for the democratic nomination for county treasurer, to succeed Louis Held, was in the city Monday. Mr. Miles figures that the time is ripe for Joliet township to furnish another county treasurer, and as he has strong backing in his own and adjacent townships, that are strongly democratic he feels that he can make an excellent race. He has long been one of the democratic wheel horses of the northwest part of the county and enjoys an extensive acquaintance.

Last Thursday County Assessor Shell Clark received the first complete precinct returns for 1911—and it was from his old home precinct, Woodville, the assessor being Allen Bennett. Owing to the decrease in the price of farm products the showing is lower than last year, being $231,495 as compared with $248,630 for 1910, a decrease of over $17,000. And in speaking of the decreased values, Assessor Clark says he expects the same ratio to hold good all over the county, for the same cause that affected Woodville township.

There is a probability that band concerts will begin Friday evening of this week, as arrangements for the summer season have been practically completed. The city council have made their regular appropriation for these concerts and the Commercial club will look after the remainder. Should they begin Friday, this will mean a double concert that day, as the band will play a concert before 2:15 that afternoon, when the parade starts for the ball park.

Last Saturday afternoon the fire department was called to a barn in the rear of 909 Olive street, owned by Jacob Gielochs, the fire having been started from children using matches or smoking. While the loss was nominal—about $40, the fire threatened much more damage on account of the high wind prevailing. A barn and contents belonging to W. A. Green, adjoining, was damaged to the extent of $50 in spite of the efficient work of the department.

On the Diamond.

Arrangements for the formal opening of the 1911 season of the Nebraska state league in this city, on Friday, May 12, are practically completed. It is proposed by the management to make this day one of the occasions of the year, and there is no doubt but that their plans will materialize. After a band concert in the park, which will conclude at 2:15, there will be an automobile parade to the grounds, headed by the band and the ball teams. So far many automobilists have signified their intention of taking part in this parade.

Practically all of the business houses in the city have agreed to close during the exercises and the game, and it is hoped by the management will assist in making the attendance at the opening game a record breaker.

There has been some misunderstanding regarding the sale of tickets, the impression being that the admission for the opening day will be $1. This dollar charge, however, will not be for the general admission, that remaining the same as last year 25 cents for admission and 25 cents for the grand stand. The $1 tickets will be souvenir tickets and purchased by those who desire to give the team an extra boost, and do not wish to subscribe for stock. And the sale of these souvenir tickets so far has been gratifying to the management.

Manager Corbett has his lineup for the season perfected and for the opening game it will be as follows: Meitzel, rf; Coppel, lb; E. Brown, 2b; B. Brown, ss; Weisenberger, cf; Badura, lf; Malum, 3b; Corbett, c; Kiesel, p.

Besides the regular lineup for Friday, there are four other members of the club, Tony Gutcher of Columbus, short; Spaid, pitcher; Bookmuhl, pitcher and Town, pitcher.

During the last week Manager Corbett has been selecting his team, and after giving the twenty-one men here a tryout, the following were released Monday evening: Atterbury, McBeth, Mason and McKenzie, pitchers, and Anstine, outfielder. Catcher Tift, who has been laid up with a sore arm, has gone to his home at Carroll, Neb., to recuperate, and will report to the home team later.

Saturday and Sunday of this week the local fans had an opportunity to witness two exhibition games between Columbus and the Omaha Shamrocks, the latter being considered the best amateur team in that city. Saturday's game was a close one, being 9 and 10 in favor of the Omaha aggregation. For the locals Spaid, Town and Atterbury, were in the box and Tift caught. The local team showed up well, but they were at a disadvantage as the Omaha team already has a good start on the season, having commenced playing a month ago.

Sunday's game, which also went to the Omaha bunch by a score of 12 to 7, was a good, clean exhibition, and Kiesel, Atterbury and Mason were on the slab for Columbus, and Tift received.

These are the last and only exhibition games before the opening of the season, and the work of the home team was entirely satisfactory to the fans.

Congregational Church.

More and more the teaching of the church must converge on the inner sanctity of the soul God regards nothing but the heart. We look at deeds, words, acts, and judge men accordingly. God looks beyond these as Christ penetrated the pious ceremonies of his day and said: "Ye devour widow's houses." If we could behold a pure heart as God beholds it all outward distinction would fade away. The robes of the gorgeous altar, the great assembly, the pealing organ would be secondary to a good heart; holy and disinterested love.

A life-long missionary said that the greatest heart he ever saw in its making was in a poor heathen convert. He was administering the communion. Suddenly a man rose from the altar and went back to his accustomed seat in the audience. After a time he returned to the same place at the altar and knelt down. The minister asked him the meaning of this strange action. In deep humility he said: "When I found myself kneeling side by side with a man who, in the days of heathendom murdered my father, and against whom I had sworn eternal vengeance, for a moment I was overcome by sudden temptation. It did not seem possible for me to remain kneeling by his side." But, he added with profound repentance in his look, "I earnestly prayed God to give me a pure heart and help me love him for Christ's sake, and He did it."

The pastor of the Congregational church will speak along this line next Sunday night from the subject: Christianity and my Heart. The morning theme will be: Christianity and an Intellectual Belief. We invite you to these services.

WILLIAM L. DINGLE, Minister.

May 1st was the close of our fiscal year and the committee reports have been prepared for the annual meeting of the association which is to be held this Wednesday evening when the new directors will hold a meeting and a new year work started.

The boys are anxiously looking forward to their trip to Genoa next Friday night where they are to give a gymnastic exhibition for the benefit of the proposed gymnasium for the Presbyterian church. They gave such an exhibition at Monroe a few weeks ago and are now asked to do the same at Genoa.

These are busy days at the association building. The lot at the rear of the building has been leveled up and the regular classes are meeting there instead of indoors. The tennis courts have been built up by the hauling in of 40 loads of clay and we now have two good clay courts ready for use.

Next Sunday at 3:30 will be held the Annual Mother's Day meeting in the association building. This service is open to men and women and we hope that a good crowd will turn out in honor to the memory of mother. Rev. Ray will deliver the address. Special music is provided and we will be looking for you.
