The reports from his bedside today are very encouraging and his many friends hope to see him soon on the street.

"At the End of the Rainbow" is the name of the college comedy at the North next Wednesday evening, May 31. The twenty people in the cast are well-known to Columbus people, all being members of the high school Senior class. They have been practicing steadily for the past month, and promise to give our people a genuine surprise. Some swell song hits will be introduced, and a six-piece orchestra will furnish the music between acts. The Seniors of several colleges are playing this comedy this year, assuring us of its high standing. 25c, 35c and 50c will be the prices, and seats can be reserved at Pollock's beginning Monday morning. Needless to say, this splendid evening's entertainment will be given to a full house.

Charles Kozial, of Tarnov, has brought suit in the district court against the German Fire Insurance Company, of Omaha, to compel them to rectify a mistake which he claims they made in writing a policy which they sold him on his home some time ago. The petition alleges that at the time the policy was written, he had a policy for six hundred dollars on the house, and that the new policy was for an additional amount of five hundred dollars. Instead of placing the insurance on the house as agreed, however, the company made a mistake and placed the entire amount on the household furniture, which was contrary to his instruction and agreement. Some time ago the house was burned, and it was then that the error was discovered, and the suit is now for the collection of the insurance money.

Following the meeting of the club there was held a meeting of the finance committee for the building fund, and a committee from the board of directors. It was decided to take up the work of raising the $4,000 still needed for the building, and the $1,000 to cover the deficit for the two years' running expenses and for additional improvements during this year. A soliciting committee was appointed to do this work, and it is understood that the subscriptions secured will become binding only when the whole amount is pledged.

Now is the time for Columbus to respond and turn over to the association the building free of debt and with expense money for the coming year.

Business Men Banquet.
The regular monthly meeting and banquet of the Business Men's Club of the Y. M. C. A. was held at the association building last evening.

Following an unusually good supper served by the Japs, a good program of speeches was rendered. W. A. McAllister, as toast master, presented C. A. Sheldon as a Hoosier, who would tell his impressions of Nebraska. He spoke of the way his brother, C. H. Sheldon, and his nephew, C. C. Sheldon, had promised him good weather for his visit and had then treated him with the variety which we have all enjoyed during the past ten days. In a more serious vein, he said his one regret in regard to this county was that he had not cast his lot here at the time his brother did. In closing he referred to his former visit to Nebraska, when he had the privilege of taking a trip to the Pacific with the governor's party, and formed the acquaintance of Hon. J. E. North and Hon. Henry Ragatz. He expressed to Mr. North his appreciation of this friendship, and asked that the same might be conveyed to Mr. Ragatz through his son.

Miss Dora Babcock sang very beautifully, and was called back for a repetition of her song. Miss Greta Mace presided at the piano. Superintendent R. M. Campbell was next introduced and spoke of the advantages of outlining for a year in advance the programs and the committees. In this way each committee would know several months in advance that they are to serve and a connected plan could be carried through in the programs.

Rev. C. W. Ray was presented and spoke of a number of different subjects which the club might helpfully take up. Literature, authors, history, travels and various other lines of interest were mentioned, but the things pertaining to the business, moral and social life of Columbus seemed to him more practical.

The meeting was then opened up for general discussion and several spoke of plans for next year. Rev. W. H. Xanders was called on, and made an eloquent appeal for the club to stand together for the civic improvement of the city and for the bettering of social conditions. He asserted that any forty of the men of the club could do practically what they set out to do in the way of freeing the town of the germ carrying fly, enforcing Sabbath observance and bringing to bear Christian influences on the lives of the children. His remarks met with hearty applause.

Hon. J. E. North was then called upon, but said that while he did not care to make a speech, he did want to commend the spirit and loyalty of the men who made possible for Columbus such a building as the Y. M. C. A. has. The building and operation, he said of such an association means more to the city than any other organization of which we know, and any business man may well be proud of it and the privilege of aiding in its work.

After a short business session the club adjourned. Following the meeting of the club there was held a meeting of the finance committee for the building fund, and a committee from the board of directors. It was decided to take up the work of raising the $4,000 still needed for the building, and the $1,000 to cover the deficit for the two years' running expenses and for additional improvements during this year. A soliciting committee was appointed to do this work, and it is understood that the subscriptions secured will become binding only when the whole amount is pledged.

Now is the time for Columbus to respond and turn over to the association the building free of debt and with expense money for the coming year.

The report shows that total receipts of $3,565.49 were received and the expense was $2,171.09, adding uncollected bills amounting to $50.78 to the difference between these figures leaves a balance of $1,445.18, as the total profit during the six months.

The Domestic science class of the Columbus high school entertained their mothers Thursday at a twelve o'clock dinner. Friday they entertained the school board at a six o'clock dinner and Tuesday the same class gave a dinner to the faculty. The menu cards were hand-painted, the work of Miss Anna Bonner. The table was prettily decorated with flowers. The young ladies of the class are getting quite a reputation in culinary, an art which is practical.

Mrs. LaBook returned home from Omaha the forepart of the week, during which time she had the pleasure of seeing Sarah Bernhardt, the famous French actress. Mrs. LaBook takes exception to the criticisms of the Omaha newspapers in saying that the famous lady is not as youthful on the stage as on her previous trip. "She of course is growing quite old," asserts Mrs. LaBook, "but never-the-less her acting is excellent. I have seen her in several other parts and her impersonation of a young man in the last was to me as perfect as anything I have ever seen her do."

Two years ago one of Uncle Sam's soldiers filed on a 40-acre homestead adjoining the town of Powell, Wyoming. By applying his time served in the Army, this homesteader has now made final proof. He has paid out only $500.00 on the ten payment plan, towards water rights and improvements, and has just refused a $3000.00 offer for his 40-acre farm.
This illustrates the value of irrigated farms under Government Canals in the Big Horn Basin.

The next one will be announced very soon.
