High School Commencement.

Twenty-four young people, seventeen young ladies and seven young men, received their diplomas from the Columbus high school in the presence of a large crowd, last Thursday evening.

The usual custom of each member of the class presenting an original oration on some chosen subject was departed from this year, only three of the members appearing on the final program-Miss Elsie Matzen, who delivered the salutatory, Fred L. Babcock, the class prophet, and Miss Vera Freeman, the valedictorian.
