A photograph of the assembly was then taken, after which the ladies of the party were taken for a trip to Fort Crook and the delegates retired to the Exchange dining room for a business session. Officers were elected as above given.

At the lunch, Senator J. M. Tanner, of South Omaha, acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers. Senafor Tanner, in behalf of the men engaged in the live stock industry, the local newspaper men, the South Omaha Commercial club, the bankers, merchants and citizens in general extended the visiting editors a most cordial welcome to South Omaha.
