Miss Catherine Rusche is expected home Thursday evening from Omaha, where she has been visiting friends since graduating from the Chicago Art Institute at Chicago. Miss Rusche was the youngest of her class, which numbered forty-five and graduated with high honors, having won nineteen honorables. While in Chicago she was entertained by some of the foremost artists, who spoke very highly of her work, among them being Mrs. Esterbrook, Mrs. Thorp and Mr. Harbert. Miss Rusche expects to organize a class in water colors and pastel work as soon as she returns, later moving her studio into the new building, which Mr. Rusche has under construction. Miss Eleanor Rusche will be associated with her in the gift shop, which will be open in the same building.

Columbus has certainly been unopposed the real thing in baseball circles the past week. A fellow by the name of Bockwitz was sent here to do the work of an umpire, but who ever made the blunder—well he may have some excuse but it is not clear what that excuse may be. Columbus fans have at times, like all other fans, roasted the umpire at times during the progress of the game, but last Sunday was the first time that we can remember when that figurehead became so outrageously wrong that the mob spirit got the upper hand in the crowd. It was a matter to be regretted that the boys carried the thing as far as they did, and indeed it might have gone even further but for the cool headedness of Manager Kissell and a few of the real sports present. To the credit of the players, he said that they took no part in the demonstration, neither did they make exception to the rank injustice of some of the decisions they were compelled to abide by. Yet in spite of the fact that they were compelled to play ten men at times the team has won several games, winning today from Grand Island by a score of five to one. Columbus had a new pitcher named, Donnelly in the box, who allowed the Islanders six hits, when the Discoverers gathered in eleven.

Great preparations are being made by the members of the fire department for the Firemen's Day celebration on September 4. Nearly all the business men of the city have been solicited for donations for the prizes in the various events, with but a single exception, every house solicited has responded handsomely. The board of control, as committee on arrangements are now busy in the task of arranging the prizes to suit the different events of the day, and the program will probably be ready for the printer by the first of the week.

Nick Adamy lies at his home with a broken leg as a result of an automobile accident last Monday. He was out riding in a machine with a view to making a purchase, and while the driver was climbing a steep hill, undertook to change from a high to a low gear. The driver made a mistake, however, and got hold of the wrong lever, applying the reverse, with the result that the machine started to back down the hill, and turned turtle. The occupants of the car were thrown out, and Mr. Adamy's leg was broken. We understand no others were injured.

Joseph F. Meyer, died early this (Thursday) morning at the home of his father Theodore Meyer, in the east part of the city. He was born on a farm near Humphrey, June 19, 1887. Last spring he went to Saskatchewan, where he was employed on a ranch belonging to his brother, but on account of failing health returned home a few weeks ago. Last night he was not feeling well but no alarm was felt as to his condition, and he died suddenly this morning from an attack of heart failure. Definite arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, pending an answer from the brother in Canada, but it will probably be held Sunday afternoon from the Catholic church. He is survived by his parents, five brothers, Henry and August Meyers, of Landis, Saskatchewan, and George, John and Michael Meyer, of Columbus, and one sister, Mrs. Anna Kuhlmann, of Melrose, Minnesota.

A rather heavier vote than was generally expected was polled at the primary election held yesterday over Platte county. While the presence of a circus in Columbus was thought to have an appreciable effect on the vote in the country precincts, still many farmers left the city in time to reach home and vote before the polls had closed in the evening. There had been much speculation as to who would be the winners of democratic nominations for county treasurer, judge and clerk, there being seven candidates for the former position, and four each of the two latter. However, the indications today are that Otto Heuer has won by a small margin for treasurer, with Shell Clark a close second and Edmund Miles third. There is no question but that had either Miles or Clark been out of the race, the other would have been an easy winner, as many of those who voted for one would in all probability have voted for the other with the one out of the way. In the first ward, which is the home of both Heuer and Schwarz, the former had a very heavy majority. In the race for county judge, Judge Ratterman appears to have been an easy winner, while John Graf had smooth sailing in his campaign for county clerk. Another interesting fight was on between C. M. Gruenther and Louis Held for clerk of the district court, Mr. Gruenther finally carrying the honors off with a tremendous majority, apparently carrying every voting precinct in the county. No returns are available today on the result for the republican nominations, but it is supposed that John R. Lueschen has been nominated for sheriff, Daniel Schram for treasurer, Gideon Braun for superintendent and F. W. Edwards, of Lindsay, for surveyor. Many republicans wrote in the name of Eugene H. Tiffany for clerk of the district court, and others wrote in the name of Mr. Gruenther. At this writing it is not known whether Mr. Gruenther will have undisputed sway by reason of having the nomination of both parties, or whether he will have an opponent in Mr. Tiffany. Then again, it is reported that Mr. Tiffany has a number of votes for county judge, and that he may decide to file an acceptance for that office, in case no other candidate whose name may have been written in shall have more votes. Nothing like definite news from the state at large are available today, the afternoon papers presenting returns from but a few scattered precincts throughout the state, so that it is impossible to form any conclusion who the state nominees of either party may be.

Chancellor C. A. Fulmer, of the Nebraska Wesleyan university spoke at the Methodist church last Sunday evening. The chancellor is a very pleasing speaker, and entertained his audience for an hour with a magnificent lecture, especially valuable to young people. Mr. Fulmer is not a complete stranger in Columbus, having numerous friends here who are always glad to see him come here.

J. A. Van Schoik, an early-day druggist of Columbus, who left here nineteen years ago, is visiting friends in the city this week. Mr. Van Schoik is now engaged in the coal business at Red Bank, New Jersey. He admits that when he left here nineteen years ago, that he had no idea that when he should return he would find such a wonderful development in this country and the good old town he used to call home.

Editor Cramb of the Fairbury Journal, accompanied by his wife and daughter, and his brother and wife of Lincoln, was in the city Friday. They were making an automobile tour of the eastern portion of the state, having stopped at nearly all the cities south and east of Columbus, and having spent about two weeks on the road. They are taking in the sights at each place with a view of sifting out the good features found in each place and reporting to their home commercial club the conditions found in the various cities, more especially cities about this size, which is about the same as that of Fairbury.

Thomas Roberts, who had been a resident of Burrows and Joliet townships for nearly twenty-five years died last Friday morning at the home of Mrs. James Fauble, in Columbus. Mr. Roberts had been in failing health for several weeks, and a week before his death was brought to this city, that he might be near medical attendance. He was a native of Wales, and was sixty-six years of age. He is survived by his wife, three sons, W. J., D. T. and Robert Roberts, and one daughter, Mrs. James McPhillips, all of whom live in Joliet township. Interment was made in the cemetery at the Zion Welsh church, (Postville), Sunday afternoon.

Jerry Carrig was called to Kearney Saturday by a message announcing the death of a little daughter of his sister, Mrs. N. J. Gentleman. The following account of the little one's death is taken from the Kearney Hub: "Catherine, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Gentleman, died at eleven o'clock Friday night of infantile paralysis. The child was taken ill on Tuesday, but her condition was not alarming until noon of Friday when a physician was called but she grew rapidly worse and died from convulsions. Catherine was a remarkably beautiful child, and was the idol of her parents and her brother and sister. The sadness of her death comes as a fearful shock to the family and friends."

S. E. Baker and family spent Sunday with relatives in Schuyler.

Bert Johnson, the eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Johnson, has been seriously ill this week, but as we go to press is reported much better.

All members of the Columbus camp 299 M. W. A. and all other Modern Woodmen, who can come are requested and invited to meet at the regular hour on Tuesday evening August 22 at our regular meeting place. At that time we will hear the report of one of Nebraska's delegates to the Buffalo Head Camp, Carl Kramer, of this city. In addition to this report there will be addresses by other well known speakers and orators of this city and elsewhere. Other matters of importance will be considered and we hope for a large attendance. Fraternally, W. R. Snell, V. C.

Bright and early Tuesday morning the circus came to town, accompanied by the usual quota of horses, wagons, elephants, camels, and other paraphernalia and followed by the usual number of small boys, who were on hand ready to give them the necessary welcome to the city. The crowd that was here from all parts of the surrounding country, is estimated by many to have been one of the largest ever assembled in Columbus, some, having driven as far as forty miles. It was a banner day for everybody that had anything to offer to eat for he hungry masses, and as one restaurateur said this morning, "When we got through, there was nothing but myself, the ice box and the stove left in the kitchen." By the way, did you ever go out and see a circus crowd when they are not busy? A representative of The Tribune-Journal took advantage of the opportunity to see a few things aside from the regular show. Some were doing their laundry work, some washing dishes, some eating, some had sought a shady spot in the shade of a tent and were enjoying a midday nap, others had gathered in little knots and were talking of something—perhaps of home, or possibly of their experiences in some other town where they had appeared—and in one place, apart from any of her companions, one young lady was writing a letter. And as we watched this phase of life, we thought of the old saying that "One half the people do not know how the other half lives." Where do all these people come from, and why do they submit to the hardships incident to their lives of apparent pleasure and luxury? Far from home and friends, exposed to a score of perils, and all for the sake of the few paltry dollars which the spectators are willing to pay for this entertainment, a single mis-paced step of which might provoke a tragedy before your very eyes. Yet, as you look at all this and think of it, the words of the world's greatest showman come instinctively to your mind, that "the American people like to be humbugged."
