Republican County Ticket.

For Clerk of the District Court, . . C. M. Gruenther. For County Treasurer, ..... Daniel Schram. For County Judge, .......T. DeWitt Robison. For County Clerk......John Hayes. For County Superintendent, . . . . . . Gideon Braun. For County Surveyor, . . . . . . . . F. W. Edwadrs. The above is the personnel of the republican county

eral election to be held on November 7. In some way down and permit a handful of professional politicians to the report had gone abroad that some of the candidates continue to munch at the public crib. would not make the campaign, but they have all decided to go into the campaign, and from now until the election an effort will be made to show the people of Platte county why they should make a change in their county offices, and place some of the hungry gentlmen who have become accustomed to feeding at the public crib into berths of their own and permit them to earn their living at some other and perhaps more private enterprise.

The gentlemen whose names appear at the head of this column are not strangers to the people of the county, and the only men who have ever held county offices are Mr. Gruenther and Mr. Robison. Mr. Gruenther ran a tie race with E. H. Tiffnay, and when the lots were cast, as provided by law, the fates favored him, and he became the nominee of the republicans as well as of the democrats.

Judge Robison served as county judge from 1898 to 1902, when he was succeeded by Judge Ratterman, who has held the position since, and is now a candidate for the sixth term. Robison was one of the candidates for territory tributary to Columbus, the democratic nomination, and received about one--third surrounding towns, with an inferior make of stove, which of the vote cast against the present county judge, who, was sold at a price far above that charged by the dealers however received but forty per cent of the strength of for standard stoves. Daniel Schram the candidate for county treasurer is one of the really strong business men of the county hav- ors in New Jersey last week, and while there took ocing been for nearly a quarter of a century connected with casion to severely criticise Judge Sanborn, in particular, Schram possesses the absolute confidence of the peeple of corporations. ceived much encouragement, and finally decided that he has a good chance.

For county clerk John Hayes is the republican candidate against John Graf. Mr. Hayes is a young man and is thoroughly capable of filling the position to which he aspires. We will have more to say about him later.

Gideon Braun will make an ideal superintendent of the public schools. We do not mean by this that he will attempt to apply conditions that are ideal in theory without a thought as to their practical application, but that he will study the idea from its practical as well as its Subscription Price-One dollar and a half a year, seventy-five ethical view point, and if it appears good, then apply it.

> It has been twenty-two years since Platte county elected a county surveyor, Richard L. Rossiter having been elected in 1889, and continuously every who years since that time. But Mr. Rossiter has recently moved to Omaha, which makes him ineligible for election to a Platte county office, and there fore the republicans are asking for the election of F. W. Edwards of Lindsay to that position. We do not know at this time whether Mr. Edwards will have any opposition or not, as none as as yet shown itself upon the surface.

Now Mr. Voter, there you have it. There is the For Sheriff, . . . . . . . . . . . John R. Lueschen, republican county ticket in its entirety. The election in Platte county this fall is not a question of politics, but rather of whether the people of the county are satisfied to retain in their employ the same men who have managed and manipulated their political affairs for so many years; whether they will assert their rights as Ameriticket as it will appear on the official ballots at the gen- can citizens, or whether they are content to lie supinely

Mail Order Versus Home Trade.

Did you ever stop to consider the reason why so many people turn down their home merchants and send so much of their money away to some corporation who never heard of them before and never cares to hear from them again, except with a remittane? Take up almost any farm peaper and the reason becomes plain.

For instance, in three farm journals last week, appeared 318 inches of mail order advertising, appealing himself in about the same position as was a certain deto the farmers; of this amount one great farm paper, published in Des Moines had nearly 200 inches.

It is just this kind of advertising, coupled with the laxity of the same kind of enterprise by the home mer- the resut of the primary, has this to say: chants that has built up the mail order business in this
