WRECK ON THE RAIL

SEVEN PEOPLE KILLED AND LARGE NUMBER INJURED.

PASSENGER AND FREIGHT MEET

Conductor of Freight Fails to Obey Orders About Passenger and Trains Meet Head On.

Omaha.—Seven passengers were killed and thirty-one injured in a head on collision between the north-bound passenger 105 and extra south-bound freight on the Missouri Pacific Railroad one half mile north of the Fort Crook city station at 8:43 o'clock Sunday morning. The cause of the wreck was failure upon the part of L. P. Gross, conductor on the freight to check the register at South Omaha for orders regarding the passenger.

Physicians and nurses were rushed from South Omaha and Omaha to the scene of the wreck, where Dr. Joan A. Coliver of Los Angeles, a passenger, and the medical corps under Major F. A. Dale and Lieutenant Howard Clark had already begun the work of rendering first aid. The seriously injured were transferred to the hospital, where the nurses and doctors worked like trojans for hours to relieve the sufferings of the unfortunate victims of the wreck.

A squad of infantry, under Captains Doray and Butler, aided in the work of removing the bodies of the dead from the wreck to the post morgue, where they are held awaiting instructions from relatives. The wreck occurred about 8:40 o'clock on the curve at the north end of the government reservation at Fort Crook and half a mile north of the Missouri Pacific station.

Passenger train 105 out of Kansas City, in charge of Conductor F. R. Travers, was running one hour and a quarter late. Conductor L. P. Gross of the freight passed South Omaha at 8:30. He had signed off, but evidently did not check the train register as to the whereabouts of 105. At the point of the collision the track makes a sharp curve, shutting off the view of the Fort Crook station. It was at this point that Engineer E. C. Crawford of the freight train caught sight of No. 105, which was coming at a high rate of speed.

The impact of the flying passenger against the slow moving freight derailed both engines and telescoped the mail cars onto the passenger coach in which about forty people were riding. Shrieks and groans mingled with the hiss of steam and the crackling tinbers of the cars instantly broke the stillness of the morning and brought the passengers in the Pullman rushing to the front of the train.

EVER TAKE A MUSIC BATH?

They Are as Good for the Soul, Holmes Says, as Water for the Body.

One must be educated, no doubt, to understand the more complex and difficult kinds of musical composition. Go to the concert where you know that the music is good, and that you ought to like it whether you do or not. Take a music bath once or twice a week for a few seasons, and you will find that it is to the soul what the water bath is to the body. I wouldn't trouble myself about the affectations of people who go to this or that series of concerts chiefly because it is fashionable. Some of these people whom we think so silly will perhaps find, sooner or later, that they have a dormant faculty which is at last waking up, and that they who came because others came, are began by starting at the audience, are listening with a newly found delight. Everyone of us has a harp under the bodice or waistcoat, and if it can only once get properly strung and tuned it will respond to all outside harmonies.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Rhode Island First to Have Navy. Rhode Island was the first state to create a navy of its own, and captured the first prize, a British frigate, off Newport. Seeing its success, the continental congress chose Rhode Island to execute plans for a colonial navy, and Esch Hopkins, the first commander-in-chief, and three-fourths of all the officers were from this state. In the later war of 1812 it was another Rhode Islander, Commodore Perry, who fought the immortal battle on Lake Erie when he "met the enemy and they are ours!"—National Magazine.

For Cramps. A piece of old-fashioned candlewick worn around the leg in the garter place, next to the skin, will prevent or cure cramp in the calf of the leg or in the foot. I have proved this by personal experience; I believe this would prove effective in preventing swimmers' cramp; those liable to cramp while in the water would be wise to try it. Cottonbatting, wrapped round the body from the arm-pits downward, saved the life of a man suffering agony from painters' cramp; it gave almost instant relief.—National Magazine.

About the only pure woman needs that she is in love with a man is to feel perfectly sure that she isn't. CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE. Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Grantville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. GRAS. BANCLIFF, B. E. D. Grantville, Vt. No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., writes all sick women to write her for advice. My advice is free, and always helpful.

FARM ANIMALS IN BIG DEMAND. Every Farmer Should Have Number of Horses Growing and Coming on for Use and Sale. (By J. BAILEY BRUCE.) In spite of the electric car, the automobile and other motive power, horses have increased in price commensurate with other farm animals. Every farmer should have a number of young horses growing and coming on for home use and for sale. A colt can be grown as easily and cheaply as a calf, and at the same time the mare which mothers it will work the writer has a team of young mares of nearly the same size and age. During the past season one of them has raised a colt now worth at least $75 while the other mare working by her side has raised none. The mare with the colt has done exactly the same work as the mare which has no colt and now at the close of the summer's work she is as good condition as her mate, with both on the same feed and care. A colt, of course, is some other and consumes some feed. The same is true in growing any domestic animals. But with a little patience in the handling of the mare and foal, a mare doing general farm work should raise two colts every three years and do about as well with as none. The colt will represent at least ten per cent profit on the money and labor invested in it. In fact, so little extra care and feed are required that the young animal can be grown without noticing the feed it consumes.

Care of Stock. No matter how good the stock may be, if they have not the proper care they will be no better than mongrels. Poultry on the farm, as a rule, receives indifferent treatment. All Favor Affairs. Everything on the farm will eat alfalfa, and like it and thrive upon it.

DEMAND FOR HEAVY DRAFT HORSES STILL CONTINUES BIG

No Mechanical Contrivance or Motor Vehicle Has Yet Been Discovered to Replace This Magnificent Animal—Most Valuable Asset, the Farmer Has Who Breeds Him Properly.

One of Clydesdale Goldings That Bring High Prices for Six-Horse Team.

(By CAPTAIN A. H. WADELL.) Never in the history of this country, or any other, for that matter, has the heavy draught horse been in such demand or so valuable as he is today. Indeed, he is the most valuable asset the farmer has who breeds him right. No mechanical contrivance or motor vehicle has been discovered that will fill the place of this magnificent, animate creature of flesh and blood, and will any contrivance of any kind be perfected for many a long day, that will accomplish what he can, and do the work as well and so thoroughly, as well as, as cheaply as he can. Motor trucks have failed not only to cope with the heavy loads imposed upon the brewers draft for instance, and the hauling of cumbersome and heavy machinery, but have been unable to handle them in the narrow and congested thoroughfares of the great cities, where backing and twisting and turning is absolutely necessary. Besides the great service and imperative use of these mighty animals in the large towns and cities of the country where their demand and value is increasing day by day, they are a power that cannot possibly be done without in the agriculture districts where the farm produce requires great hauling power; and in those sections of the country which

Experience has proved that no stock is equal to a willow when durable baskets are demanded. The high-class basket has made a place for itself in the market even under present circumstances, and the entire decline in the trade has been in the low priced basket, which competes with the foreign willow product or the American made wooden basket. To put a low priced basket on the market with raw willow at its present price the wages must be cut lower than the normal standard in America. For this reason the trade is almost entirely in the hands of immigrant basket makers, who know no other trade and who are seldom or never reinforced by native workmen. The remedy lies in a reduction in the cost of the raw material. The cheaper the willow (when good in quality) the better the wages which can be paid to produce a low priced basket, and a low priced basket of good quality will find an almost unlimited market. On this point the entire trade agrees. Great care should be taken in the selection of the willow bed. Rich, permanently moist sandy loam gives best returns, though ordinary moist, sandy land often yields profitable crops of willow. Plow 10 or 12 inches deep in the fall, prior to planting the following spring. This turns the top layer of the soil so deep that weed seeds cannot spring up. Returns depend very largely upon the method of culture, but more upon the variety of willow planted, because the shoots of even the best varieties and in the most suitable soil, grow brittle after the stools become old.

MUCH PROFIT IN BASKET WILLOW. American Grown Rods are of Good Quality When Proper Care is Taken in Their Culture. (By WILLIAM F. HUBBARD.) Willow growing gives an uncommonly high margin of profit. A large demand for willow is now supplied by import, and as American grown rods are of good quality when proper care is taken of their culture, there is no reason why the further development of the industry should not be possible.

Machine for Budding Willows. If more American farmers can be convinced of its practicability. Of late years willow furniture has sprung into fashion, and today no minor industry is more prosperous than that devoted to its supply. The wages are good and the manufacturers demand a steady supply of superior willow. This is now almost entirely received from France at a price which will give the entire trade to the American if he can equal the quality.

MISS SUSAN GLASPELL'S DOG

Voila the Original of the Puppies in Her Story 'The Visioning'.

Miss Susan Glaspell, the author, has a dog, which fact is of, more importance than might at first appear. For Bohemian beast, that inspired the creation of two frolicsome puppies named Pourquoi and N'est-ce-pas. And there are no two more real characters in the whole book than Why and Ain't it, to use their names in English form. It was Miss Glaspell's own dog, a Bechman bear, that inspired the creation of 'The Visioning's' twin puppy clowns. The real dog also has a French name, Voila. When its owner bought it, over in Paris, she wanted at first to name it Raspail, both in memory of the boulevard on which she lived and as a sympathetic cognomen for a sensitive souled Parisian dog. But her family objected. They could not see their way clear to shouting, "Come Raspail! Raspail! Raspail!" So Miss Glaspell compromised on Voila.

Voila has vagaries. It is a wanderer. It is a coolie, and a coolie, it evidently thinks, ought to be afraid. Whenever it feels that way, away Voila goes. Fortunately it wears a collar with Miss Glaspell's name and address. She has come to think nothing of such a phone message as this: "Hello! Is dis Miss Glaspell! Veil, dis is der bartender bet Hans Bumeltrassen's saloon. No, no, valt! I didn't get der wrong phone number. I choost vant to say I got here your toz. Vell you come for him!" Then the author of 'The Visioning' has to drop chapter plans and seek out Herr Bumeltrassen's place with sorrow—and a dollar. But were it not so there might never have been a N'est-ce-pas and a Pourquoi.
