

THERE IS one thing that is more binding on a man than party fealty. That thing is personal protection. Your vote for an incompetent official has and will cost you many dollars. You pay it indirectly, of course, but you do pay it. We invite you to re-read the past three issues.

The Servant In The House

During the run of "The Servant in the House" in Chicago, the Chicago Record-Herald published an editorial under the caption, "Things Worth While", in which the writer made the following reference to Charles Rann Kennedy's famous play: "We cannot close these remarks on 'Things Worth While' without reference to that play which is supremely worth while, 'The Servant in the House', now in its final fortnight at Power's Theatre. An extract from an old clergyman in the Presbyterian church (whose name we are not permitted to disclose) will indicate how much Mr. Kennedy's drama means to people.

"I have been a minister in the Presbyterian church for more than 49 years, and have gone to the theatre but few times in my life. I confess I have been greatly disgusted with the stage as represented in the newspapers. I read the Record-Herald's review of the play, 'The Servant in the House', and thought they were quite extravagant. I read the book and my daughter persuaded me to go to the play. I did not suppose that a man of my age could go through such a powerful emotional experience."

When a student of theology in Union Seminary, New York, I had tickets to the Philharmonic concerts. I had never heard much great music, and when I hear Parepa Rosa sing the great solos in 'The Messiah' I was affected for days and was completely carried out of myself. About the same time I heard Henry Ward Beecher in his glorious prime preach, and had a somewhat similar experience. I do not recall anything like these experiences until I heard 'The Servant in the House'. The powerful picture of the Drain-Man haunts me still. I could not but endorse his sending the old bishop to 'hell'. If the stage can present such plays it will become worthy of the name 'school for morals.' I fear, however, this play is a very rare exception. Pardon me for simply pouring out myself in a few minutes under the influence of this wonderful performance."

"The Servant in the House" will be the offering at the North Theatre on Monday November 6, and will be presented by a capable company of payers. The name part being played by Hugo B. Koch. The original New York production will be used.

Season Opens Tomorrow.

Much interest is expressed over the opening of the bowling league season tomorrow (Friday) night, when Ted Novel's Tramps bowl the initial game with Nichol's Scouts. The alleys have been put in the very best of condition and the members of all the local teams show up well in their practice games. In the game with Metz Brothers, of Omaha, last week no player averaged less than five hundred pins, which for this time in the season, is speaking well for the local rollers. The schedule for the local games, as published in this issue, shows an interesting line-up for games which will extend throughout the entire winter. The twenty-five players who will participate have been so divided on the five teams that each team is thought to have about the same strength, which promises exciting games throughout the season and keen interest in the outcome even down to the final games. As an inducement to the players, Manager Whitcomb will put up a substantial sum as prize money, which, with that put up by the individual teams, will make a tidy little sum to be divided among the members of the team which shall prove to have been the strongest at the end of the season.

The line-up for tomorrow night's game will be as follows:

TRAMPS	SCOUTS
F. Novel	J. Nichols

A Mail Carrier's Load

Seems heavier when he has a weak back and kidney trouble. Fred Duenren, Mail Carrier at Atchison, Kansas, says: "I have been bothered with kidney and bladder trouble and had a severe pain across my back. When ever I carried a heavy load of mail, my kidney trouble increased. Some time ago, I started taking Foley Kidney Pills and since taking them I have gotten entirely rid of all my kidney trouble and am as sound now as ever." For sale by all druggists.

Pollock & Co.'s Drug Store, I began their use. No medicine ever gave me such prompt relief. The pain in my back disappeared almost immediately and the other annoying symptoms of my trouble were removed." (Statement given in July, 1907.)

RE-ENDORSEMENT.

On May 7, 1910, Mrs. Weberg was interviewed and she said: "I am emphatic in my praise of Doan's Kidney Pills today as when I recommended them nearly three years ago. During the past year I have had no need of a kidney medicine whatever and I now consider myself completely cured."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.
