The Conservative.

VOLUME II.

THE CONSERVA-TIVE will end the first year of its existence with number fifty-two. The first number was issued July 14, 1898.

THE CONSERVATIVE'S circulation is now more than six thousand (6,000.) It is steadily becoming a most valuable medium of advertising. It is patronized by industrious, thrifty and successful citizens who think and read for themselves.

THE CONSERVATIVE'S patrons and supporters have, as a rule, faithfully labored to achieve and, by self-denial and self-respect, to conserve homes for themselves with comfortable competency to match them.

Every subscriber must observe when his year expires. He will find the date with his name printed on each CONSER-VATIVE. Renewals and remittances are now in order. Address Morton Printing Company, Overland theatre block, Nebraska City, Nebraska.

INTROSPECTIVE REFORMATION.

The Bryanarchists denounce the use of money by corporations for the purpose of influencing elections and legislation. Reading the subjoined from The Kansas City Star of Monday, June 20, suggests introspection by Coin Harvey, Sam B. Cook and the other concentrators of campaign cash. Looking into their own minds, recalling their own methods of distribution of money, in Nebraska particularly, at the closing of the canvass for the presidency in 1896, they will observe inflammation of ambitions and corruption of methods which need reforming.

The two hundred thousand dollars which they propose to use for pumping votes into the free-silver reservoir could be better expended in teaching citizens their obligations to the government. A college of citizenship inculcating the fact that partyism is not patriotism and that the individual conscience is a safer guide and governor than a party platform would be a splendid institution which the $200,000 could establish.

$150,000 CASH FOR FREE SILVER.

ALREADY HAS THAT AMOUNT IN THE BANK.

is in Chicago. Mr. Cook was at Congressman Bland's funeral Saturday. He said of the fund to a reporter for The Star:

"We have about $150,000 now. This money came from all parts of the country and came mostly in small subscriptions of from $5 to $25. It was given by friends of the free-silver and anti-trust cause. The money will be spent as the national committee directs."

Alfred Henry THE NEW YORK Lewis is an origi-VERDICT.

nal writer and he jolts the proprieties and tranquillities of ordinary newspaper style with The New York Verdict in a manner quite shocking to staid and solemn citizens of all sects and parties.

In the Verdict of June 26, on page 5, Mr. Lewis begins a drastic article with :

"There are too many of Bryan's fool friends going about New York. And they talk. When they aren't talking through their papers, they're talking through their hats."

If the "fool friends" are weaned from Mr. Bryan how can he be elected president? A minority could not even nominate him. "Fool friends" must dominate the disciples of Bryan or the Chicago platform and sixteen-to-one-the one being Bryan-cannot be rehabilitated and made a recurrence for 1900.

The Bryanarch-HARD LABOR.

ists in Nebraska and elsewhere prate everlastingly of their high regard and affectionate solicitude for all the plain people who do hard work. Their universal adoration of labor is possibly the cause of their never defiling it with their own hands or heads.

THE CONSERVATIVE will pay a round sum in gold coin for proof that any leader of fusion and confusion in the state of Nebraska has ever by any effort mental or manual, outside of endeavors to get or hold office, made twenty-five hundred dollars in a single year.

CONSERVATISMS.

No true conservative is liberal.

Self-denial is self-righteousness. Self-sacrifice is acute or chronic.

Liberalism is indifference to the truth.

Truth and wisdom fecundate in the same womb.

Only the wise are conscious of their own ignorance.

Truth is a perennial plant that needs no cultivation.

Truth requires no fig-leaves to shade its immodesty.

The toleration of indifferentism is fool conservatism.

Ignorant toleration is the conceit of self-righteousness.

He who is not infallible in his own reason is incapable of trust.

True conservatism is the positivism of an intelligent individualism.

Intelligent toleration is inseparable from rational self-presarvation.

The martyr has been and still is the unfit in his day and generation.

'Twas a wise man who said "the child is wise that misseth being born."

Money is the golden crown with which Nature designates imperial individualism.

Intelligent toleration is that degree of self-confidence which fears not the scalpel of truth.

The weeds of error grow but on stony soil while truth blossoms only on the tree of knowledge.

Monuments to martyrs are gravestones raised by penitential ignorance to its own memory.

The emancipated woman is a public benefactor for she neither multiplies her own nor any other kind.

"It is a wise child that knoweth its own father." That is why there are so many Japhets in the world.

That which has been and still is the root of salvation to the race has often
