Sleeplessness

is a terrible affliction. The most common cause of it is some form of indigestion. Ripans Tabules positively cure indigestion. They do not act like opiates, producing an unnatural, immediate effect, but gradually exert an influence over the nervous system, which results in ready sleep, sound and refreshing.

"I am glad to give my testimonial in regard to the great worth of Ripans Tabules," writes a middle-aged lady, living in Philadelphia, Pa. "I slowly recovered from a severe illness and was getting along very well, only I could not sleep, which kept me from gaining strength. A friend advised me to take Ripans Tabules which acted like a charm, giving me refreshing slumber and also renewing my strength. I was also troubled with dyspepsia, and found to my great surprise that as my strength returned I was cured of this disease also."

HIS FRUIT WAS BIG AND RED.

B. F. Stuart, who owns the Highland fruit farm, five miles southeast of Rushville, believes he has solved the problem of producing perfect apples in spite of the many enemies of the apple tree. His remedy lies in spraying and he believes it is not thoroughly understood by the apple growers.

"I have been studying horticulture for thirty years," said Mr. Stuart. "I have paid particular attention to the soil and climate of Kansas and Missouri, and I have come to the conclusion that the hour has come when all fruit growers must spray to kill the insects which are destroying the fruits, or complete failure will overtake fruit interests. Haphazard, happy-go-lucky ways must be succeeded by the thorough, intelligent methods. The wants of the tree must be studied, must be understood and administered to, and Western Missouri and Eastern Kansas will then astonish the world with its fine fruit. The climate and the soil need only the intelligent assistance of the farmer to accomplish this result.

"Last season the canker worm suddenly appeared, and in its ravages it blighted crop after crop in my locality. What condition produced the worms I do not know, but they appeared in countless numbers, and nearly every orchard was an easy prey for them. Here are three or four bushels of apples which I brought to town this morning. Look at them. I do not think you will find half a dozen that are not perfectly sound. I had a big crop of the most perfect apples I ever raised. It was an object lesson in the proper spraying of trees."

"What is your exact method of spraying?" was asked.

How Stuart Saves His Fruit.

"Perhaps I can best answer by describing what I did last season. To begin at the very first step, I used Paris green of proportions of about three-fourths of a pound of Paris green to a fifty gallon barrel of water. Bear in mind, however, that such a solution is dangerously strong. With it, quicklime must be used, always taking at least three times more lime than Paris green. That is, the quicklime should weigh at least three times more than the Paris green. The lime absorbs the free arsenic and prevents the scalding of the foliage. But—and this should be carefully heeded—I strongly advise, except in extraordinary occasions, that only one-half the amount of Paris green, as stated above, be used, as all preparations of arsenic are powerful corrosive poisons and very readily destroy the leaves of the trees. I had to use a very strong solution last spring, because it was May 14 when I began the work of destroying the canker worms, which were then full grown, and in almost infinite numbers.
