

BRYAN AND ST. LOUIS.

Commenting on Bryan's meddling in the local politics of St. Louis, the Nashville American (dem.) says: "His conduct is giving the people an opportunity, in calm, sober, thinking moments, to take something like an accurate measure of the man. His narrowness and intolerance are being revealed in the clearer light. His honesty may not be denied, but neither does anybody deny the honesty and sincerity of belief of the New England witch-burners."

The Philadelphia Record (ind. dem.) is rejoicing over the news that the now discredited and disreputable democratic party in that city is to be reorganized, "to stand unabashed upon its feet and ask the solid support of the friends of good government."

"A large and rapidly growing percentage of the republican voters are resolved that the tariff shall not be perverted from its proper and laudable uses to the enormous enrichment of monopolies," the Hartford Courant (rep.) tells Senator Hanna. "They intend to 'disturb' it to whatever extent may prove to be necessary to prevent that abuse of it."
