

ANNOUNCEMENT.

The publishers of THE CONSERVATIVE take pleasure in announcing, to its increasing number of patrons, that the third volume of the paper will be completed with the issue of July 4th, 1901.

We take pleasure in making this announcement, because the volume closes with a larger number of bona-fide subscribers than we have ever before had upon our mailing lists.

The expiration of volume one witnessed THE CONSERVATIVE firmly established. With the commencement of volume three our patronage had increased over 100 per cent., and we have more than doubled our list of readers with the close of this, our most successful year.

We now are pleased to inform our friends that the ensuing year will find THE CONSERVATIVE still occupying the same position upon economic questions and still advocating honesty in all departments of public life.

The reading public are informed that volume four will contain many new and highly interesting features.

For the month of July we will introduce a symposium upon the subject: "What Are the Young Man's Chances?"

The following gentlemen have been invited to contribute: N. K. Fairbank, Clem Studebaker, manufacturers; W. C. Brown, general manager C., B. & Q. R. R.; E. D. Kenna, attorney, A., T. & S. F. Ry.; J. R. Kippax, M. D.; Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones, H. H. Kohlsaatt, editor Chicago Record-Herald; Rev. John R. H. Latchaw, president Defiance College; Matthew Gault, city engineer, Worcester, Mass.; Hon. B. McCaffrey, mine owner; James H. Eckels, president Commercial National Bank, Chicago, and Bayard Holmes, of Chicago, an advanced thinker upon sociological problems.

The symposium not only promises to be of great interest to readers of THE CONSERVATIVE, but is undoubtedly one of the ablest presentations of a subject of this character ever attempted by any publication.

It is an indication of the kind of matter that will be served to our patrons, which, together with Mr. Morton's original and entertaining editorials will make-up one of the foremost periodicals of the year. We invite the co-operation of our many friends in extending the good name of THE CONSERVATIVE everywhere.

Reads Like A Fairy Tale

Crossing the Rockies on a 43 foot grade, light, easy curves, 80 lb. steel rails, a perfectly ballasted roadbed, gigantic embankments of disintegrated granite, through tunnels bored in solid granite, over stone and steel bridges, is now an accomplished fact.

A fascinating panorama of marvelous engineering.
