THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

The Union society gave a very pleasant program. Since their rooms were remodelled the attractiveness of their programs is greatly increased. The program Friday night was as follows: Recitation, Mr. Baldwin; Sketches, Mr. Vandervert; Reading, Miss Sparks; Music, Selected; Medley, Mr. Harrison; Music.

The Dellian society held its annual "Riley" program last Friday evening. The numbers were very entertaining. An evening with Riley makes one realize that although his biographers are few his songs are in the hearts of every American. Miss Susie Doane rendered a piano solo in her easy and pleasing style. R. A. Harrison and Misses Ruth Bailey, May Edholm and Susie Doane gave several readings from the gems of Riley's works. The impersonations were nicely presented. A pleasing vocal duet by Misses Countryman and Williams closed the program.

Miss Mary Meeker and Herman Linderman were elected members of the society.

The Palladians met in honor of the thirtieth anniversary of the founding of their society. An interesting program was given by the alumni members. Mrs. Maude Hammond-Fling rendered an instrumental solo and Miss Upton a vocal solo. Both responded to encores. O. B. Polk told of the halcyon days of his youth and humorous incidents connected with the society. Judge Holmes discussed the woman question, and the feminine portion of the audience became very indignant at the views expressed. A vocal solo was expected from Miss Hullborst, but she was not present. Some interesting remarks were made by Will Owen Jones as critic. Professor Taylor of Geneva filled the chair and Miss Tremain acted as secretary.

THE ZOOLOGICAL CLUB.

The Zoological Club will meet at 8 p. m., Tuesday evening, October 22, in the Zoological Library. Program, Summer work of the department. T. W. Graybill, The Echinorhynch of the Fishes of Lake Erie; A. B. Lewis, The Results of Some Summer Excursions; Henry B. Ward, Further Studies on Lake Erie for the Fish Commission. Visitors are cordially welcome to the meetings of the club.

FRESHMAN CLASS MEETS.

The freshman class took its first step toward organization Saturday. Warren Mulliken was chosen temporary chairman. Only a temporary organization was effected. A committee was chosen to draft a constitution for the class. The regular election will be held next week. There is much rivalry among the candidates and their factions, and a stormy time is expected.

The bacteriologists in the department of botany are pleased over the discovery of a crimson colored bacterium, which they believe have something to do with one of the diseases of sugar beets. Another bacterium which has the remarkable color of dark brown or black, has been isolated and is being studied.

Joel Stebbins, '99, has an important contribution in bulletin No. 8 of the Lick Observatory, which has just been issued. The bulletin treats of the new star, Nova Persei. Mr. Stebbins' article is "Observations of the Spectrum of Nova Persei." While here he specialized in mathematics and astronomy. He has been connected with the Lick Observatory since the beginning of the school year.

Mrs. Ode Rector entertained Saturday afternoon for active, alumnae and pledged members of Delta Delta Delta. Miss Auld won first prize in a musical guessing game and Miss Bonnell for the most clever piece of poetry. The following were the guests: Mrs. Jas. Manahan, Mrs. Woodard Jones of Wayne; Misses Cora Smith, Auld, Grimsion, Mamie Miller, Cady, Mackin, Ames, Casebeer, DuTeil, Walker, Powers, Nicholson, Bonnell, Winnifred Bonnell, Whittier, Bignell, Salls, Murray and Lasch. Mrs. Rector was assisted by Mrs. H. P. Lau.

Attention is called by the professor of botany to the frequent examinations which are set by the civil service commission for the entrance to the scientific work of the government service. Within the past six months at least four such examinations have been open to those who are properly prepared. It would be wise for those students who look forward to such work to counsel with the professors in regard to the subjects required. The positions are productive of good salaries and are well worth looking for. Several notices in regard to these examinations are posted in Nebraska hall.

The Eleventh Hour club met Friday evening as guests of Misses Laura White and Winifred Wolgarmot. The following officers were unanimously elected: President, Bessie Brown; secretary, Grace Evans; treasurer, Winifred Wolgarmot; sergeant-at-arms, Lila Spurlock; assistant sergeant-at-arms, Laura White. The application for membership filed by two young men was black-balled. Refreshments for the evening were fudge and fruit cake.

W. P. Snyder, '01, is principal of the schools in Portland, Colo.
