AMES SUCCUMBS EASILY.

Agriculturists Beaten by a Decisive Score. Nebraska Plays Picked Team. Systematic Rooting.

They came, they saw, they were conquered. Iowa Agricultural college proved easy picking for Nebraska last Saturday, going down by a score of 17 to 0. The game was played on a muddy field with Bender, G. Shedd, Westover, Ringer and Stringer out of the game. Ames had every advantage. They would have won yesterday if ever they could. The most ardent Nebraska supporters were fearful about the results. Captain Westover's face was hard set before the game while Manager Cowgill advised Nebraska supporters not to be too sure. Ames had held Iowa state down 12-0 only two weeks ago. They claimed to be in far better condition now than when the Iowa game was played. Their team was husky. Their coach was hot outspoken, but confident. The players said if Nebraska scored six points she could beat Iowa. But when the smoke of conflict blew off the field Nebraska had won and that easily. Eager and Crandall at halves covered themselves with glory and fame. Pillsbury at full was the same old Pill—enough said. Corcelyou got down the field on punts like a race horse repeatedly downing the man in his tracks when catching the ball. Corcelyou also interfered like an elephant and helped the halves on half back plays dragging and pulling the runner on for a yard or two extra. Voss filled Captain Westover's position with snap and vigor. Tobin played as guard for his first time in a Varsity game. 'Tob' filled the place so very few Ames men got through. Acting captain Drain played a star game at quarter showing rare judgment in his choice of plays. Brew was in old time form tearing through the Ames line and breaking plays again and again.

Knigbury stacked up at right tackle for the first time. He did it with credit to himself. Koehler at center was a stone wall every time. Ames didn't puncture the line there once. C. Shedd played a hard steady left end. Johnson replaced him far in the second half while Bell took Pill's place at full.

Nebraska's play was soul-inspiring. It worked right along. There was a hole when the backs wanted one and they tore through. At no stage of the game was Nebraska's goal in danger. Ames only advanced the ball by play about forty yards the whole game. Deshler knocked considerably for the Farmers, in fact he did it regularly every time they got the ball.

Coach Booth was more than pleased with the result of things. Coach Clinton, of the Ames team stated after the game was over that he thought Nebraska could undoubtedly beat Iowa as the Cowboys put up a better and harder article of ball.

One feature on Nebraska field Saturday was the rooting. It was a thing not seen by the university for many days—years it might be added. Four squads under the generalship of Boscoe Pound and captained by Sherman Shidler, King and Teach made a noise that would have done credit to the Board of Trade. Squads one and two were on the west benches, three and four on the east side. The squads yelled in rotation thus keeping up a continual fire of howls the game through. Ames men after the game said the rooting was a revelation to them.

DETAILS OF THE GAME.

Deshler kicked off twenty yards to Drain. On the line up Eager made seven yards around Ames' right end. Crandall made three more around the opposite end. Pillsbury blocked the line and Crandall gained two more.

Pillsbury followed with a ten yard gain on a right tackle back play. Eager skirted the end for ten more and Pillsbury punted twenty-five. Ames got the ball on the ten yard line and failing on an end run, attempted the tandem back play. One yard gained. Deshler kicked for thirty-five yards. Nebraska advanced the ball to Ames ten yard line again where it was lost on downs. Ames was forced to kick. Drain was

DEBATERS DISAGREE.

Debating Association Fails to Adopt New Constitution. Restriction of Membership to Men the Cause.

The new constitution which has been prepared for the Debating association was rejected at its meeting Saturday morning. This action was due to the restriction in the membership clause whereby women are prevented from becoming members of the association. This clause precipitated a warm discussion which took up a large part of the time. The action holds the adoption of the constitution and the ratification of the new plans for the association in abeyance until some future meeting.

The association met in the law recitation room. After a stormy session in which debate and personalities were indulged into a degree, dangerous to the harmonious action of

of the debates.

A motion to reconsider the clause on membership was lost. Association failed on final adoption of the constitution as read. The constitution is still open for amendments and will come up for final adoption again next Saturday.

There is danger at present of a factional fight over the adoption of the constitution. All the students and professors who are interested in debating are anxious that the matter may be settled amicably and that we may have a strong harmonious debating association this year.

Art VII Section 2—"It shall be the duty of the university debating board to draft all needful rules and regulations for conducting the preliminary debates" was amended by the following proviso, "providing that no plan be adopted such as will deprive any member of the association from participating in the preliminary debates."

A motion to reconsider the clause relative to membership failed.

The constitution as revised was then proposed for adoption but failed. The vote stood ten to nine in favor of adoption. As the new constitution is virtually an amendment to the old one a two-thirds vote is required.

There is danger at present of a factional fight over the matter of the membership clause. A petition calling for a meeting Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock was circulated Saturday and received sufficient names to insure a meeting then. The matter of adopting a new constitution will be considered again at that time.

not playing far enough back. The ball went over him and rolled down the field for a fifty-five yard punt. Nebraska carried the ball back to the twenty yard line by constant application to line bucking. Nebraska got ten yards on off side play. With splendid assistance Eager made nine yards and on the next line up was pushed over for the first touch down. Drain kicked goal. Score 6-0.

Deshler kicked off a second time and Nebraska went about her business in the same old way.

The half closed with the ball in Ames' twenty-five yard line.

The second half was a repetition of the first except that Nebraska played harder ball and made larger gains. Nebraska hammered the line. Eight minutes after the play started, Pillsbury was forced over for a touch down. Drain failed to kick goal. The last touch down was made one minute before time was called. Crandall was pushed over. Drain kicked goal making a total of 17 points scored. Thus ended the game, Ames had not scored.

the association as a whole, the meeting adjourned to meet next Saturday.

The matter of the Leland Stanford debate was brought up and discussed. Definite action is withheld pending the adoption of the constitution.

The constitution and by-laws were then considered carefully section by section. An attempt was made to "strike out" the word "male" which had been inserted in the committee's report last week in article II Section 1 on membership by the association. The clause reads as follows: "Any duly matriculated male student of the university shall be eligible to membership." The motion to strike out the word male was lost by a vote of 15 to 8.

The membership fee was reduced to $1. It was recommended by the committee as $1.25. This was practically the same as the fees have been heretofore for persons who went into the debates, but the fees for membership alone were in former years only 25 cents. The fee of $1 will also admit the member to the debates without further payment of registration fees. It is hoped that the higher rate of membership fee will make the membership a more stable numerical quantity.

According to the constitution as proposed the steward of university will have charge of the association moneys. These are to be paid out only on the written order of the president and secretary-treasurer.

The name of the dean of the law school was added to the board of professors who will have general charge

MISSOURI GAME GOES TO OMAHA.

The Missouri-Nebraska game has been shifted from Nebraska Field to Omaha. November 9th.

Rourke and Harry Tukey came down from the Metropolis and closed the deal. Mr. Tukey guaranteed $800 and a glorious crowd of rooters. He argues that Omahans have supported Nebraska loyally and should be given a chance to see a game in that city. Manager Cowgill has made arrangements whereby anyone holding season tickets will be admitted to the game in Omaha or have their fifty-cents refunded on application to himself or Librarian Wyer.

Wisconsin will have a new agricultural building costing $143,179.
