THREE CENTS

NEW RATE TO OMAHA.

Railroads Promise Special Trains at $1.10—Yesterday's Practice —Coach Outland Hopeful for a Victory.

A war of small dimensions between the competing railroads has resulted in lowering the rate to Omaha $1.10 for the round trip. This rate is made by both the Burlington and the Rock Island and both will run special trains. The trains will leave Lincoln in the morning and return about eleven o'clock Saturday night.

Chairman Wyer of the athletic board announced yesterday that while both roads had made the rate the Rock Island was the official route and unless some changes were made between now and Saturday the team would go over that road. There is no guarantee, however, to either road and it is left to the choice of the individual which road he shall patronize.

A bunch of four hundred tickets is now in the possession of Librarian Wyer and may be had at the library until tonight when they will be returned to Omaha. Reports from there indicate that the sale of seats is progressing rapidly and a large crowd is assured. Those who want seats will have to procure them at once as the chances are that there will be none on sale at Omaha when the crowd reaches there Saturday. General admission will be fifty cents. This will include standing room only. Seats will be fifty cents additional. Holders of season tickets will be admitted on them.

THE PRACTICE.

Yesterday's practice was the freest for many a day. Although Pillsbury, Kingsbury and Shedd were not out. The remainder of the team with several substitutes put up a snappy game against the scrubs. The plunging by Cuff was one of the interesting features of the practice. Several times he darted through the line for long gains before he could be downed. The team is still showing the effects of the Wisconsin game and it will be a day or two before it regains its old form.

KANSAS SLOW BUT CONFIDENT.

Since the return of the team from its northern trip, practice at K. U. seems to have lost its snap and vigor. The return of Coach Outland from Wisconsin added new zest to the play Monday. The team made a very unsatisfactory showing against the scrubs, however. Fumbling appears to be their worst fault and it seems to come at critical times. In spite of poor practice they succeeded in making two touchdowns against the second team.

Concerning the Nebraska game Coach Outland said: "They play hard football and K. U. will have to hurry to beat them. We expect to do it, however and when we leave for Lincoln in a couple of weeks if our team is in condition, we will give them one of the liveliest games of their life."

Coach Murphy of Missouri University and Wiffin of Kansas City have been agreed upon as officials for the Kansas game.

The Kirksville Osteopaths sprung a surprise Monday by defeating the Ottawa team by a score of 39 to 0. From all accounts the game was a walk away for the doctors. The Ottawas had no chance of a score at any time in the game. The only excuse that can be offered for the Kansans is that they had a hard game Saturday and were not in the best of condition.

CLASS FOOTBALL.

The interest in the class football teams is lively this week. The sophomores, freshmen and seniors have teams on the field every morning for practice. The juniors have not organized a team owing to lack of material. The Junior-Senior game will probably be forfeited to the seniors.

The sophomores and "scrubs" will line up Friday afternoon for a practice game.

The freshmen have a strong aggregation and they have more candidates for places than any other class team. They will play the sophomores early next week. The sophomores are very confident, as they very easily defeated the Lincoln High school scrubs last Saturday 5-0 in a short half. The seniors will play the winners of this contest as soon after as possible.

The senior laws and senior academics will probably play next Monday afternoon.

Sam Crawford of the Cincinnati baseball team and a Nebraska boy, was married October 31 to Ada M. Latin, daughter of J. W. Lattin, an Omaha stockman. In the season of 1901 he made more home runs than any other player in the national league. He has signed with Cincinnati for 1902 and will make that city his home.

RECEP'TN TO PLAYERS

Missouri Girls' Basket Ball Team to be Royally Entertained—Both Teams Developing New Strength.

Arrangements continue for the intercollegiate basketball meet Saturday night. One of the patronesses, Mrs. John B. Horton, will entertain the Missouri players and the Nebraska first team at luncheon Saturday noon. Later in the day comes the informal reception in honor of the Missouri players in the "rest room." To this, members of the faculty and the women students of the university are invited since it will not be possible to invite all.

The Missouri team will be in charge of Miss Helen Bender, of the University of Michigan. The players come as the guests of the 'varsity team, who bring them from Columbia and entertain them. The invitation was extended in September and the team should be a strong one. It is expected to reach Omaha with the football team and to come to Lincoln Friday.

The 'varsity team for Nebraska consists of three new players and three old. Miss Eleanor Miller was captain for two years and her clever and experienced work as forward needs no comment. She is a good general, knows the game well and is swift and reliable. Her colleague this year is Miss Minnie Jansa, a tall freshman, who distinguished herself as guard on the Wahoo team in the tournament last year. Miss Jansa prefers to play guard, but is sure at catching and a brilliant thrower, so that her services were demanded as forward, in place of Bianche Emmons. The centers are Hannah Pillsbury (captain) and Gertrude Macomber, promoted from the position of captain of the second team. Miss Pillsbury retains her old time speed and activity and her ability to rise to crises. To Miss Macomber has fallen the difficult lot of filling the place left vacant by Minnie Guile. Miss Macomber is steady in match games, keeps her head well, and is always likely to emerge from a scrimmage with the ball. Her work as guard is generally reliable. When these two centers have had opportunity to get used to each other and to work together better, they should make a strong quartet.

Miss Sly, guard from last year's team, now counts as one of the strongest guards the 'varsity team has had. With the possible exception of Miss Jansa, she is the surest of the team at catching, is strong at throwing and never fouls. So far this season no player matched against her has been able to score a single goal. Except for Miss Taylor's ability to co-operate with the centers, Miss Sly's work seems not less faultless. The second guard, Miss Taylor's successor, is a player promoted from the second team, Miss Zora Shields. There are many promising guards in school, some of them in some ways more brilliant. Miss Shields was selected to help defend the Missouri goal because experienced and "safe." She has demonstrated her reliability in practice games this fall, never straying from her post and combining reckless disregard of injury with trustworthy guarding. It is felt that those forwards must do well who score against Miss Sly and Miss Shields.

So far, the team as a whole is somewhat disorganized, owing to the fact that they have played together but five or six times this season and have been out of training; but it is likely that by the end of the week team work will be smoother and will pass under better control.

CHANCELLOR ANDREWS RECEPTION AT BROWN.

A private letter from a professor in Brown University to Professor Metcalf of the Botany department, contains the following account of Chancellor Andrews' reception at Brown.

"We have been giving 'Benny' a warm reception; never since I have been professor here has any man received such an ovation from students and faculty and alumni. It was prearranged that the faculty should meet and entertain him on Thursday evening at the German seminar. The students, however, to whom his fame has descended added extra features to the program. They first rang the University bell for about an hour; then with drum and pipe, red fire and roman candles went down the Infantry hall where he was speaking and just after 9 pm. escorted him with immense enthusiasm and cheering, back up the hill to the University. There they forced open the gates and forming in double columns escorted him and President France to the front steps of Soyle's Hall. There he turned and addressed the sea of young eager faces, who hung upon his every word. Comments all around were: "This is a man!" Then while the faculty were entertaining Andrews, the boys adjourned to Lincoln field, where they built several big bonfires, and cheered and sang "For Benny's a jolly good fellow!" After our faculty entertainment they crowded into the chapel and yelled "We want Benny" until he came in and addressed them from the gallery."

"Next morning at chapel there was the repetition of enthusiasm and after service the boys deserted class and formed in triumphal processions, escorting him about as he inspected the recent changes in the University."
